Governor Sylvester Pennoyer, of Oregon, who has distinguished himself by flagrant and gratuitous discourtesy to two separate presidents of the United States, has appeared as the champion of financial and comthe young and progressive west cut loose from the effete east and form an alliance, offensive and defensive with the south, and the effect of which would be to cause the wharves of New York to crumble away with dry rot and the grass to grow in the streets of the now metropolis of

It does not thus far appear that anybody is opposing the scheme fathered by Pennover and accepted in its entirety by Governors Stone of Missouri and Leweling of Kanson. Governor McGraw of Washington does not favor it-in fact, he denounces it as a new variety of secession-and other western governors are not at all enthusiastic over it, but that will not set Pennoyer back in the least, for he has a very clear and well defined notion that anybody who contradicts him is an idiot and Governor Pennorov has left out of his scheme of securion one factor, and that is that the business men of Oregon, or of any other state, are not in the habit of going to the executive for advice as to how they shall conduct their business. They buy what they need in their business where they can get the best bargains, and there is no sentiment about the matter at all.
