One street lounger to another when it was raining on Tuesday "How does this strike you?" "On the head."

Miss Jennie Archbold leaves today for Portland where she will attend the Portland High school the coming winter.

Thomas F. Fairkanks, at Wood Lawn, Portland, wants to bartin suburban property for farm lands. He advertises to that effect.

The Oregon State Press Association meets in Portland next week. The Oregon folks will be joined by the Washington editors.

The cash is ready for 150 bushels of oats to be taken from the machine or barn. Gault, at the INDEPENDENT office, knows the particulars.

Henry Ford has plans ready for a cottage residence to be built this fall on his lots in the south part of town. The contract will be let in a few days.

J. J. Morgan is selling lumber from the cars at a figure below what he can afford after it is brought to the yard, on Third street. Now is the time to buy.

The flies are exceedingly annoying. Into one's nose they dart and then buzz. The only way to even up is to dust the room with insect powder which is found in bulk at Brock & Sels'.

The rain of Monday night and Tuesday put a veto on farming operations. About one of the wettest showers that has passed over this burg occurred Tuesday afternoon. Three miles north of town there was hail.

Esquire Knight, who for several months has been living across the railroad track, toward Lafayette, has moved into town. His residence is on Second street, between Washington and Baseline, nearly opposite the city hall.

S. F. Southard will next week move his lime, cement and feed store from his present quarters to the Masonic Temple brick, now occupied by Reid & Berdan. Mr Southard will at that place put in machinery for chopping all kinds of grain.

H. B. Luce is shipping several car loads of silver prunes to Chicago through the Earl Fruit company. Every prune is wrapped in paper. If the price is as good when this shipment reaches Chicago as it is now, Mr. Luce will realize a handsome profit for this crop.

Mr. Johnnie Willis has been engaged to teach the winter term of school out in the Pumpkin Ridge neighborhood, and commences his arduous labors next Monday. Mr. Willis is a graduate from the Hillsboro public schools, and is thoroughly competent.

An action in replevin was tried in Esquire Knight's court last Tuesday, wherein Hulda A. Wilson was plaintiff and Frank Lafferty was defenant. The dispute was over the ownership of a horse which Mr. Lafferty held under an attachment. Mrs. Wilson was not a party in the attachment proceedings but she did prove by the bill of sale that she is the owner of the horse, which was given to her by the verdict.

A few nights ago some belated travelers passing the cemetary, this side of the long bridge, about one o'clock in the night, engaged in the questionable passtime of dicharging their guns. About twenty shots were fired without any appearant cause. Estray pellets of lead flying through the air are not agreable either to man or beast and he is not a well disposed person who engages in the recreation.

Washington county is one of the oldest in the state, and the records beginning in the forties are becoming quite voluminous so that much time is frequently required to dig up matters. To make less labor Clerk Goodin has procured several fine and well arranged indexes, which will be written up at once. The one for county roads is especially valuable, and will be the means of saving many hours of hunting over old records.

Assessor Deichman has completed the total footings of the assessment roll in this county for 1893. He found property valued at $5,698,870, from which must be deducted for exemption $390,505, leaving a net valuation of $5,308,365. From the 1892 roll the same footings showed gross voluation $7,263,190, from which must be deducted $2,059,220, and exemption $409,480, leaving a net valuation of $4,794,490. In 1892 there were 2055 polls; this year there are 2137.

Professor Washburn, of the State Agricultural College, writes that the caterpillar mentioned last week is the "Plumtree Catocala" (Catocala ultronia). It is not numerous enough to be regarded as a pest and the professor thinks it will never call for very vigerous efforts on the part of the orchardist. As it eats the leaves it may be destroyed by using any of the sprays that is employed against codlin moth, or it may be, by hand, picked from the tree. The caterpillar turns to a moth later.

The entertainment given by the ladies of the Congregational church at the residence of Dr. F. A. Bailey on last Friday evening was a splendid success, both financially and socialy. The crowd was large, yet not too large to have a good time. The supply of ice cream and peaches was also large, but gradualy diminished as the evening wore away. We either arrived too late or else departed too early to hear the musical and literay part of the programme, but presume it was enjoyed equally as well as the more substantial part of the performance.

Esquire McQuillan had an experience with a Jersey calf last Sunday. He bought a cow and calf a few weeks ago and took them to his farm on Tualatin. The calf is a well bred critter, registered in an aristocratic herd book, and felt insulted when taken from his native pasture. To wipe out this foul stain, he crawled through the fence, around his new home, and went back. The squire went after that calf and led him home again but he didn't do it by sitting comfortably in his buggy while Jersey meekly walked behind. Not he. The procession was reversed. He walked when he pulled the calf after him, and ran when the calf was ahead, while Walter, at his ease, rode behind in the buggy enjoying the fun. At one time the young piece of personal property became very personal. The squire believes in petting his stock but little vicious would not allow his ear to be scratched, but resented that fondling with a lunge at his master's breadbasket, striking him below the fifth rib. By this time how damp was the brow of the land holder, how red his face and how hot his temper, but Walter's laughter had a restraining influence so that the bovine was in no great danger, especially as home was in sight. It is safe to predict that care will be taken that the diminutive specimen of the ox family will not soon get away again.

Hop picking is looked upon by many as a sort of picnic, and the assortment of people found in the hop fields this season is a surprise to many who go to pick, says the Oregonian. A person who went to the fields near Gaston to amuse himself and earn a few dollars, returned yesterday. He says that among the 110 pickers employed there was one doctor, one editor, two druggists and three printers. It is not unlikely that many others of these professions might be more profitably employed in the hop fields than at their own vocation.

President McClelland and family returned on the first of the week from his vacation trip East. He thinks the depression in the business world here is a little lower than in the older states. There the reaction has set in and business is better than when he first reached there in June. Then money could not be obtained at all. Tourists who depended on drafts for traveling expenses were absolutely in want. They saw the form of poverty's pinched countenance.

This has been a bad week for canines. J. W. Morgan's house dog found in his wandering a dainty morsel that concealed bitter strychnine. So he laid down to rise no more. Warren William's house pet is missing. Deputy Recorder Willson Taylor's beautiful Cocker spaniel was worried to death by boys who harnessed him to their wagon. Those lads ought to become constant readers of "Our Dumb Animals."

Mr. T. E. Brown, well known in Hillsboro, who has been selling fruit trees this summer for The Brown Brothers company, of Rochester, N. Y., has been selected to take charge of the company's branch house in Portland, which duty he assumes in about three weeks. Mr. Brown is a rustler and carries with him the good will of Hillsboro's best people.

Senator Huston left Wednesday evening for Astoria where he had been invited by the W. C. T. U. to deliver a lecture last night before that body. The subject of his lecture was "The World's Fair." Mr. Huston lectured in the Congregational church here on this subject some time ago and it was greatly appreciated by the audience.

Samuel Rafferty, of Mountaindale, was in town Wednesday and says that the recent rains have almost stopped harvest operations, leaving large fields of grain unthreshed, a large part of which will be entirely spoiled. This, he says, is particularly the case in the vicinity of West Union and westward.

At a special metting of the Hillsboro fire department on Tuesday night Mr. T. S. Weatherred was elected chief engineer, vice D. Rankin, resigned. The new chief says he intends to use every effort to enthuse new life into the department and thereby make it more efficient.

Word reaches us that Grant Dix, a former resident of Hillsboro and well known in this county, accidently had one of his hands cut off just above the wrist in a sawmill at Rocky Point, Multnomah county last week. Dix has a wife and one child.

The many friends of Mr. Alex Chalmers, whose contributions on agricultural matters have been often seen in these columns, will regret to learn that he has of late been quite sick. At last accounts he was improving quite satisfactorily, we are glad to note.

William Lida is sawing lumber only on orders. He says at the present price of lumber he is manufacturing at a loss, but he has the logs and cannot afford to hold them. He is cutting no logs to keep up his stock.

For the first time in many months Hillsboro had no physician last Tuesday afternoon. All the disciples attended the fortnight meeting of the County Medical Society, which was held at Forest Grove that afternoon.

Mr. I. C. Mosher, of Witch Hazel, was thrown from his sulkey just as he was starting is a trotting contest at the State Fair grounds on Saturday last, and sustained a dislocation of his shoulder. A rotten belly band was the cause of the accident.

The Salem Statesman is about to get possession of a diary written up by Duncan McDougal, a passenger in the Tonquin on that memorable voyage from New York to Astoria. The record reaches from September 6th, 1810 to October 20, 1813.

Misses Rosa Wilcox, Ethel Merryman, Maude Pittenger, Lura and Lena Waggener have been in Portland during the past week, and in the meantime greatly enjoyed Irving and Terry in the "Merchant of Venice."

The Oregon City Woolen mills have practically shut down indefinitely. Only the finishing department is running. The unsettled market is the reason for this step. Machinery will be put in motion again only on bonafide orders.

Miss Alta Lamkin, who went to Seattle a short time ago on a visit, has decided to remain in that city during the winter and attend college.

Mr. John Bovey, of Portland, was in Hillsboro on Tuesday looking after business interests.

Miss Lena Waggener is attending the Portland high school which opened on Monday last.

President McClelland, of Pacific University, Forest Grove, looked in on us for a minute yesterday.

Rev. D. A. Lynch will preach in the Baptist church in Hillsboro next Sunday, morning and evening.

J. W. Morgan offers a reward of $100 for the name of the person who willfully put out poison for his dog.

Miss Jennie Sawyer returned Tuesday from Amity, Yamhill county, where she has been visiting for the past six weeks.

Miss Ollie Hanley returned from Portland Wednesday morning, where she had been visiting for a couple of weeks.

Charles Wilcox, of Reedville, cut his foot on Wednesday, September 20th. The injury is so serious that he had to call a surgeon from Hillsboro.

D. O. Clark, of Reedville, fractured his colar bone by being thrown from a horse. Dr. Tamiesie placed the bones in position for growing together again.

Next Monday is the time for the dissatisfied ones to meet the county equalization board. The assessment will at that time be revised if found necessary.

In mentioning the reception at the Methodist parsonage last week we should have said it was given by the ladies of the Methodist church instead of the Epworth League.

The farmers on the Gales creek hills have been favored this week, for while it has been raining on the low lands threshing has not been interrupted on the hill farms above Forest Grove.

Estray—One light-colored pony, with light sorrel mane and tail, right glass eye, weight about 650 pounds. Finder will be rewarded by returning the same to R. A. Carlile, Hillsboro, Oregon.

People at Forest Grove are taking advantage of the opportunity of getting cheap lumber and are improving their properties. Mrs. Sloan is building a very neat residence at the west side of town and surrounding it with convenient outbuildings. It is to be occupied by her son and his bride.

Studies were resumed at T. A. and P. U. Wednesday. President McClelland and the faculty were greatly cheered. The matriculations were quite as numerous as they were a year ago. There is every promise of as prosperous a year as last. The school has added some features which makes its facilities for doing good work better than ever before.

HOPS AND HOP-PICKING.

THE INDEPENDENT's representative visited the hop yards of Mr. William Jolly, near Glencoe on last Saturday afternoon, purely as a matter of curiosity, to see how hop yards are operated and examine the process of picking, drying and packing. Mr. Jolly, who truly has the right name, in his good-natured way, took particular pains to show us all about the procedure, which was very interesting. There in midfield were probably fifty men, women and children as busy as bees picking the great beer product at the rate of perhaps over 100 boxes, of nine bushels each, per day.

It was really amusing as the sound would come "here's another box full," to see Mr. Jolly walk over to the person calling out and hand them 50 cents and at the same time thank them for having earned another half dollar. After a box is reported full a sled comes along and transports it off to the dryhouse, where the hops are carried to the loft and spread out at a depth of about twenty-six inches. This floor is made of slats placed about a half an inch apart and covered over with thin canvas, so that the heat from the furnace, which is immediately below, can penetrate to and through the great bulk of green hops. This house is capable of drying 100 boxes or 900 bushels at a time. The time required to dry each floor is from twenty-one to twenty-three hours, after which they are dumped into a warehouse adjoining and a part of the same building, where they are baled for shipment. In the furnace room is simply a heater large enough to burn four-foot wood, which sits at the center of one side and from which a large pipe encircles the room in either direction to the center of the opposite side where the two again merge into one pipe of larger diameter which leads directly to the main flue. A thermometer is kept hanging near the furnace so that the temperature may be kept even.

The average picker at these yards make about $1 per day or in other words pick two boxes of hops.

While there is some complaint of a shortage in the hop crop this year, Mr. Jolly says this is the best crop he ever raised on the place. He has this season nine acres bearing, and a few acres of young vines which will yield next year.

TIGARDVILLE.

Mr. Charles Burnham fell down last Thursday evening and fractured a rib.

The ball given by the social club on Saturday evening was well attended.

Mr. John Burroughs has started for the East to visit friends, relatives and the world's fair.

M. A. McMahon, our popular school teacher, will begin school in the Vaughn district the first of next month.

Mr. John Nehring, of St. Cloud, Minnesota, was summoned here on account of his mother's illness, but arrived after her funeral.

Peter Beck, our photographer, has been doing a rushing business among the hop pickers and intends starting a gallery as he has over $100 worth of orders now.

W. P. Graham will leave for southern Oregon in a few days to look after his interest in a gold mine from which he has received some very flattering reports.

The Grange here will hold its annual fair on October 11th, finishing with a grand ball in the evening. Everybody is invited to come and bring whatever exhibits he may have.

In my last letter I said that about $3,700 would be expended for hop pickers in this vicinity, meaning within two miles. The types made me say in the county which is far from right.

COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY.

The Washington County Medical Society met in the Odd Fellows hall, Forest Grove, Tuesday, September 19, 1893, at 2 p. m. Those present were Dr. F. A. Bailey, chairman; and Drs. W. G. Cole, F. J. Bailey, W. D. Wood, W. D. Ward, C. L. Large, W. P. Via, F. Crang, Charles Hines, Clark Smith, S. T. Linklater and F. L. Taylor.

Dr. Tamiesie, the secretary, being absent, Dr. F. L. Taylor was elected secretary pro-tem.

After the reading of the minutes of the preceding meeting, the committee on constitution and by-laws reported and a permanent organization was effected by the adoption of the report and the election of the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Dr. Clark Smith, of Cornelius; vice-president, Dr. W. G. Cole, of Forest Grove; secretary-treasurer, Dr. Frank Bailey, of Hillsboro.

Dr. Smith was then escorted to the chair and introduced by Dr. F. A. Bailey, and in a few well chosen remarks thanked the society for the honor they had conferred on him.

The papers to be read at this meeting were carried over and Dr. Cole was appointed by the chair to read a paper at the next meeting, and Dr. Frank Bailey to lead in the discussion.

The first Tuesday in each month was fixed for the regular meetings of the society, and Hillsboro the next place of meeting.

F. J. BAILEY, M. D.,
Secretary.

WEST UNION.

Schools have all opened in this vicinity.

County Superintendent Stanley visited Rock Creek school last Tuesday.

Considerable grain is in the field yet and will spoil if the rain does not cease.

Some buildings are in course of construction in this vicinity in spite of the hard times.

Willie Quay, a 14-year-old son of Mr. Quay, died last Thursday of inflammation of the bowles.

A matched game of baseball was played last Sunday at Beaverton between the Mountaineers and Beavertons. The result was twenty-nine to fifteen in favor of the Mountaineers. A return game will be played September 24th, near the Rock Creek schoolhouse.

WEATHER AND CROP BULLETIN.

WESTERN OREGON.

WEATAER—During the past week the temperature averaged fifty-seven degrees, which was cooler than the normal. The daily normal rainfall for western Oregon for the past week was 0.05 of an inch, and the daily actual average rainfall was 0.04 of an inch. The sunshine was about the average. The week closed with threatening conditions.

CROPS—Harvesting and threshing is practically at an end. All grain and hay crops have been secured. An occasional report is received recounting the damage caused by the rain which occurred during the week ending September 12th. We learn that the damage consisted principally in blowing down late spring wheat or oats, and causing grain to mould or heat which had been left in the shock. Such damages occurred in widely separated localities and were not general. It is the universal opinion that the rain of the previous week proved a benefit, on the whole. Farmers hail with pleasure the condition of the ground to receive the plough. Preprations are being made to fallow, in fact, some have already begun. In southern counties and coast districts where fruit had ripened much, plums cracked slightly and some were blown from the trees. The damage was not so great as to injure their market value. Since the rain, winter apples have begun to color, vegetables are growing more vigorously, pastures have become green and the face of nature is more pleasant to look upon. The dairy product has increased in quantity and quality. In some sections a third crop of alfalfa will be cut. It has become too cool for melons and late tomatoes, which will not ripen without the assistance of the sun and warm weather. The potato crop is too far advanced to be benefited by rain and it is thought the crop will average well. Hop picking was first retarded by showers, but the weather of the past week was favorable and and progress has been made. The crop will be large and the quality excellent. There is a noticeable absence of damaging insects. The weather was too cool to assist lice in multiplying, consequently the product will be unusually clean. Wheat is being marketed slowly.

EASTERN OREGON.

WEATHER—Heavy rains occurred on the first three days of the week which were followed on Thursday and Friday by light (and in exposed places) killing frosts. The temperature became much warmer toward the decline of the week, averaging fifty-six degrees. The sunshine was below the average. All forest fires have ceased and the air has again become pure, healthful and exhilerating.

CROPS—Farmers in the Columbia and Walla Walla valleys have not entirely finished their harvest, and there is considerable wheat to thresh in some localities. The heavy rains damaged standing grain, also grain shock; but the rains were much needed to assist fruit in maturing and start new growth of root crops. Vegetables and pastures are improving. Streams have begun to flow anew, and stock is reaping the benefits of the above conditions and improving thereby. Farmers are prepared to enter the winter season. Hay is abundant. Some farmers are fallowing and preparing to sow the fall wheat crop.

Owing to the advanced condition of farm work and maturity of crops, the weekly crop report will be discontinued from this date. It will be resumed in the spring of 1894.

CIRCULAR LETTER.

At the solicitation of many persons interested in the subject, the Portland Industrial Exposition has undertaken to gather fruit to be used in showing the pomological products of Oregon, at the Midwinter Fair, in San Francisco. This fruit will be gathered and placed on display at the exposition, in Portland, and will be combined with what may be gathered from other sources for the Midwinter Fair. Although every orchardist should exert himself to see that the interests of the fruit industry are properly represented at all times as should every person desirous of promoting the welfare of the state, the exposition has decided to encourage and stimulate growers to send their best products by offering the following prizes:

For the largest five pears	$5 00
For the largest five apples	5 00
For the best ten varieties of apples	5 00
For the greatest variety of pears	5 00
For the largest bunch of grapes	5 00
For the greatest variety of apples	5 00

All fruit should be carefully labeled with the name and address of the sender and in packing it on exhibition both at Portland and San Francisco it will be identified in this way, so that due credit will be received by the producers. Fruit should be carefully packed and shipped by express to the Portland Industrial Exposition, Portland, Oregon. There will be no express charges for the shipper to pay. Entries for the prizes will not be received later than October 7th, but choice fruit for exhibit will be taken at any time prior to October 20th.

Orchardists are urged to give this matter the attention it deserves.

BETHANY.

Mr. Quay and wife have the sympathy of their many friends for the loss of their son Willie, who died on Thursday, the 14th.

Mr. Otto Hoffman left home this week to attend school at University Park, Oregon. His society will be missed by many of his friends.

The ball game at Beaverton was played in number-one style. At the close of the game the Mountaineer boys rejoiced on gaining the victory.

F. Krager, who has been visiting his parents for a short time, has returned to Spokane Falls, Washington.

Squire's Amendment.

In the senate on Tuesday Squire of Washington submitted an amendment in the nature of a substitute for the silver repeal bill. "It provides that silver bullion may be deposited at any mint, to be formed into standard dollars of the present weight and fineness (to be legal tender) for the benefit of the owner, but there shall only be paid to the person so depositing it such number of standard silver dollars as shall equal the commercial value of the silver bullion deposited. This difference, if any, between the coin value and commercial value shall be retained by the government as seigniorage. The coinage shall not exceed $4,000,000 per month, and when the gross amount reaches $200,000,000 it is to cease, the dollars thus coined to be legal tender.

"The senate today agreed to allow A. C. Beckwith $2,000, Lee Mantle $2,500 and John B. Allen $2,500 in compensation for time and expenses in prosecuting claims to seats in the senate from Wyoming, Montana and Washington respectively."
