HILLSBORO INDEPENDENT

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1893.

For bargains see Hughes, Morgan & Rogers.

Found—A bunch of keys. See H. P. Ford.

Monthly collections are reported easier this week than heretofore.

Some of the very late sown grain has not yet been cut. It will stand over.

First-class hand-picked Gravenstein and King apples wanted at the Bakery at Hillsboro.

See Hughes, Morgan & Rogers for bargains in dress goods, clothing, boots and shoes and furnishing goods.

Business is looking up in the county clerk's office. Mr. Goodin says he has not been so busy for many months, as for the past week.

A few more rains like we have had this week will soften the ground so that the plows may scratch the earth for another years planting.

If you want to get a ladies cloak or cape go to Schulmerich & Son. They have just received a nice lot from the factory, and will sell them below Portland prices.

The public school at Beaverton, reports the Chronicle, opened on Monday with and enrollment of ninety-seven names, a bigger first day than ever before.

The people about Glencoe who are interested, should keep in mind the public meeting on Saturday night, to be addressed by Frank Davey, official instructor of the A. O. U. W.

Rev. B. F. Moody was in the pulpit at the Congregational church last Sunday morning and preached a sermon that is spoken of in the highest terms by the members of his audience.

The Grange fair, at Tigardville, will be held next Wednesday. Reports are to the effect that the exhibition promises to be a notable one, and well worth the patronage of our citizens.

Dr. T. S. Thomas dentist, was in town late last week making preperations for opening an office. Dr. T. planned to be in his office the first of next week and no doubt will be prepared at that time to receive patients.

Rev. J. S. Griffin has caused to be placed on a desk of this office tips of raspberry bush in full fruit, with the message that he had from the bush furnishing these, enough for brakfast this morning, October 5th. The berries are perfect and very large.

The wool display at the exposition in Portland is from Washington county, and is a good one. The exhibit is made in a wool palace, which is a frame of appropriate design covered with wool. This extravagance is made possible by the tariff reform which has decreed free raw material. Inside the palace is temptingly displayed seventeen fleeces from D. C. Stewart's Merinos and twenty from Withycomb's flock. The cereal palace near by is built of grains from this county.

The Grand Lodge of the Knights of Pythias meets at Heppner next week. The delegates from this county will go up on Saturday or Monday's train. From Hillsboro, Messrs. Geo. Schulmerich and R. H. Greer go to represent Phœnix lodge 34; R. B. Goodin and G. W. Marsh go to represent Simonides 37, at Cornelius; Dr. W. P. Via and Jos. Bailey go for Delphos lodge No. 39 at Forest Grove, while Glencoe, No. 22, the fourth lodge, is to be represented by J. C. Corey and B. P. Cornelius.

Any of our citizens who visit the Portland fair should not fail to see the exhibit of precious stones and crystals, owned and shown by Rev. R. D. Grant, of the first Baptist church, Portland. The show-cases are on the main floor to the left of music hall, entering from Washington street. Another thing of interest to machinists and engineers is the rotary steam engine. In the great engine room is the boiler battery. This machine is a new invention, and if it will do what is claimed for it by its inventor, is bound to revolutionize the method of application of power through the steam engine. The ten horse power machine now in use is the first that has been made and was completed only in time for this fair. The inventor is a Portland mechanic.

The Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club has a new home in Portland, corner of Tenth and Yamhill streets, which will be formally opened in a few days. The structure was built specially for the society, and is occupied at a rental of $400 per month. The first or basement story is divided longitudinally into two parts. In one is the bowling alley and in the other is the swimming bath, in size about twenty feet wide by sixty long. At one end the water is four feet deep, while at the other it is twelve. This bath is cemented with water lime. Along each side extends a hot-air pipe for warming the water when necessary. In the center of bottom of the bath is an incandescent electric light, intended to illuminate the water. On the second floor over the bowling alley is the billiard tables, and across the hall, the reading and games room. The floors of these rooms are luxuriously carpeted, and furnished with furniture of rich and fine design. The gymnasium uses the whole of the third floor. This is furnished with every appliance used for exercise or the development of muscle. A superintendent or physical instructor is employed by the club, who has a salary, and has no other business except the superintending of the athletics of the club. No gambling is allowed on the premises, and no liquors or beverages other than water is permitted, though cigars and tobacco pipes may be used. The membership is carefully selected, and only men of well known good moral character may be proposed or elected. The minor sons of members have the privilege of receiving instruction in physical training. The revenues of the club are derived from an initiation fee, and from monthly dues. These are ample for all the expenses which so far have been necessary to incur. The membership at this time is about 500. Altogether the club is of the best type, and the only objection that now occurs is the temptation to keep young men out of bed too long. In such pleasant quarters time is apt to be passed that is taken from sleep.

On Thursday of last week Samuel C. Snider, aged about 75 years, who lives in the hills north of Glencoe, accompanied by his son-in-law, went out on the range to round up some cattle that he planned to sell at auction on the following Saturday. After scouring the canyons and hills the cattle were found and headed toward home, but as the way around was long the old gentleman left the younger man to follow the stock, while he took a near way over the hills. In due time the son-in-law reached home, but found that the father had not yet come in. Alarmed at his absence he started out to find him, but a diligent search till dark was unavailing. No halloos or rifle discharge received answer. Next morning the search was again resumed, but not succeeding the young man asked aid of the neighbors. Soon a posse was organized and a systematic search undertaken. This was soon rewarded by finding the corpse of the old mountaineer by the side of a log where he had evidently sought shelter from the cold rain that was falling Thursday afternoon. The fog hanging about the hills caused bewilderment, as his tracks showed that he was going away from home. Coroner Wood was notified of the death, but after hearing the circumstances thought it unnecessary to call a jury, as it was a plain case of death from exhaustion and exposure.

Last Saturday Benjamin J. Easterly, aged 36 years, who lived three and one-half miles northeast of Glencoe, died suddenly of an obscure cause. Coroner Wood was notified and at once responded to the call. By investigation he learned that Easterly was a married man, but living apart from his wife. He leaves a daughter about nine years old. His mother-in-law kept house for him and gave a mother's care to her granddaughter. The old lady came to her son's place some years since on transportation furnished by him. Her support depended on the son-in-law. Easterly was a neighborhood trader or peddler and made a fair living. He had been away from home all the week till Saturday morning. Soon after coming home he complained of feeling "queer" but busied himself about the place with the chores that had fallen behind during the week's absence. He had supper at 5 o'clock and soon after was attacked with twitchings of the muscles and soon lay dead. He leaves no property, and his daughter is far from her mother who is understood to be penniless. No post-mortem examination was made, as only an expensive chemical analysis could reveal any new facts, and no motive for a crime is hinted. The deceased had the respect of his neighbors and was considered an industrious and honest citizen.

Mr. C. E. Kindt, who last month went to Chicago sightseeing has returned, and was in town on Monday last. Mr. Kindt is a lover of a good horse, and while in Chicago visited on September 15th, Washington Driving park and saw Directum, black stallion 4-years-old, trot a mile against time in 2:06¼, which stands as the world's stallion record also the world's 4-year-old record. The same day he saw Flying Jib, pacer, go a mile in 2:04, equaling the world's pacing record held by Mascot. Both these animals are California horses. The great event of the day was a trotting contest for a purse of $15,000, participated in by a road full of flyers, and not decided till nine heats had been trotted. The winner was Alix, sired by Patronage, a half brother to Honorable T. H Tongue's Planter. Alix's time is 2:07¼, the fastest time ever trotted in a race, 2:04¼ and 2:09¼ the latter being in the ninth heat and the fastest ninth ever trotted.

An enjoyable ride was that taken last Saturday up the Columbia with Engineer John Christian, who drove the engine that pulled the excursion train to Hood river. Something was realized of the responsibility that rests on the shoulders of those nervy men who care for the safety of so many passengers in the luxurious coaches behind them. John didn't talk much, but he did keep his eye on that crooked track ahead of his machinery, which, over that road, was more entertaining than a well-told story.

The good citizens of Hood River invited the visiting editors from Oregon and Washington to their homes for dinner on Saturday last. It was the lot of THE INDEPENDENT to enjoy the hospitality of Honorable E. L. Smith, one of the most active and public-spirited men of that live town. He has a beautiful home partly in a grove of native oaks. In so pleasant a home it is no wonder he refuses public trusts except at the most urgent calls.

The new law firm of Barin, Ward & Gregg has taken chambers at rooms 417, 418 and 419, chamber of Commerce, Portland. L. T. Barin, formerly in the land office at Oregon City is well known, Peter H. Ward, recently from Indiana, was for a number of years on the bench in that state, and J. T. Gregg is also an old Oregonian, and well known to the public men of the state. The new firm is a strong one.

Mr. I. C. Mosher, of Reedyille, was on Sunday last thrown from his road wagon, which was behind the trotting stallion Couer d'Alene, at Sylvan, this side of Portland. The horse ran to Beaverton, a distance of four miles, before he was caught. It will be remembered that Mr. Mosher had a shoulder injured at Salem recently. The Beaverton Chronicle reports these facts.

With the editors last Saturday traveled Fred C. Smith, special correspondent for six papers in Australia, and special government agent sent to America to investigate horticulture. He is much pleased with Oregon and the fruit possibilities which he sees hereabouts.

An agent is wanted for the sale of Bancroft's book of the fair in Washington county. For the right man there is money in handling this magnificient work. Any one desiring to do so may write to the publishers, The Bancroft Compauy, 723 Market street San Francisco, California.

John Henrici, at Portland, wants some white Chester hogs for breeding and some for stock. Who can furnish them? Notice his advertisement.

Rev. Beattie, of Portland, will preach in the M. E. church next Sunday, morning and evening.

Now is the time to buy clothing at Hughes, Morgan & Rogers.

See Hughes, Morgan & Rogers for dress goods.

Mr. J. N. Grabel has moved from the farm, and hereafter will reside in the city.

Cash will buy goods cheaper of Hughes, Morgan & Rogers than ever before offered.

Mr. Thos. Talbot, of Cornelius, contemplates the immediate erection of a commodious residence on his fine property in that town.

Senator S. B. Huston went Wednesday to Goldendale, Washington. A claim for money is pending there and his client wants his money.

John Shute, Esq., president of the First National bank, this city, will start on Monday for a visit to the world's fair. He will be away a month or six weeks.

The Commercial National bank of Portland opened its doors for business last Monday. It is said that the Portland Savings Bank will open in a week or ten days.

Young Anderson was pitched from his horse when he turned a street corner a few days ago. He was picked up and carried to the Pharmacy, when looked over and properly repaired.

Mr. Varney and wife are in town this week visiting Mrs. V's mother, Mrs. Reynolds. Mr. Varney has just completed a new theatrical engagement in Chicago, and after his visit here is ended, will go to California to spend the winter.

Wm. Reidt was in town on Tuesday. He reports that business in Portland has much improved within the past week. The prediction is hazarded that times this winter will be better than they have been during the summer.

W. E. Brock, of the firm of Brock & Sels, druggists, was united in wedlock with Miss Ellor Rhea, at Rhea Creek near Heppner, on Wednesday, October 4. Mr. Brock with his bride will be at home in Hillsboro after October 11.

Congregational church, J. M. Dick, pastor. Services next Sunday as follows: Sunday school at 10 a. m. Preaching at 11 a. m., subject, "Alone with God on the mount." Y. P. S. C. E. at 6:30 p. m., followed by preaching at 7:30 p. m. All are cordially invited.

Some two months ago the secretary of the interior made an order, that all patents to lands in the quadrant that were tied up when the suits affecting titles in that tract were commenced, may now be signed and delivered. Some of these deeds are now arriving at the Oregon City land office.

Last winter M. S. Dailey lost some blocks and several long ropes which he used in bridge building. Some one stole the articles. Well, a few days ago the identical blocks and a lot of tackle was found in the possession of Jas. Lee, living near Gaston. The sheriff brought Lee to Hillsboro and he will have to explain next week how he came in possession of the property.

Now that a smart shower of rain has fallen the road supervisors who have kept back a balance, will have opportunity for spending it on the roads. All low places or ruts ought to be filled so no water will stand on the road to be worked up into a quagmire. The streets of Hillsboro, too, ought to be freed of ruts. A few shovels of dirt now will be of inestimable benefit to winter travel.

Dr. Linklater, will, in a day or two, start for the Physician's Congress, held at the world's fair in Chicago, commencing week after next. A pencil and note book is in the doctor's possession, and he promises some more of those excellent letters for which he is noted. Nothing equal to his European letters has ever appeared in the Oregon press, and very few eastern journals have been so well served as was THE INDEPENDENT.

The public school in Hillsboro this year is fortunate in having musicians to help the boys and girls to put their feet down at the proper place at the right time. Miss Nellie Powell fingers the ivories, Charles Hicks plays the violin while little Charlie Clow, a tad of only 8 years, blows a B flat cornet. At assembly and dismission the neighbors for a block around step into their yards to hear the clear notes of Charlie's horn. The orderly marching to such music is a pleasure. It is not the same pieces over and over again, for each performer rends music at sight and anything new that promises to be appropriate and taking is used.

The Medical Association.

The Washington County Medical Society met in the city hall in Hillsboro, at 2 p. m., October 3.

Those present were Dr. Clark Smith, president; W. G. Cole, vice-president; F. J. Bailey, secretary; F. A. Bailey, S. T. Linklater, W. D. Wood, J. P. Tamiesie and F. L. Taylor. After the reading of the minutes of the preceding meeting and the appointment of committees, the application for membership of Dr. F. M. Robinson, of Beaverton, was read, and the doctor elected a member.

Dr. Cole then read a paper which was discussed by Drs. F. J. Bailey, S. T. Linklater and F. A. Bailey.

The chair appointed Dr. F. J. Bailey to read a paper at the next meeting, and Dr. W. D. Wood to lead in the discussion.

After deciding on Cornelius as the next place of meeting, the society adjourned to meet on the first Tuesday in November.

BETHANY.

Schools in this vicinity have all begun.

Miss Katie Sholhuiner, of Portland spent Sunday with her parents.

John Hoffman, of Portland, visited his brother, of this place.

Mr. Gross, of Portland, spent some days hunting in the mountains.

Miss W. Miller was the guest of her sister, last Sunday.

Mr. Otto Hoffman, of University Park, spent a few hours at home last week.

Miss Lulu Mann, of Farmington, made a short business call on some of her old friends in Bethany.

One of our young gentlemen went out buggy riding in company with a friend, but arriving near the post-office a small accident occurred to them. A close examination revealed the fact that the horse was nearly unharnessed.

MARRIAGE LICENSE.

Marriage licenses were issued on September 28 to James Kertson aged 25 years and Fannie Sappington aged 24 years. On September 30, to Delie Gardner aged 26 years, and Mollie Williams aged 16 years. On October 2, Julius Wedeking aged 40 years and Lovina E. Warren aged 18 years.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

The city council met in regular session last Tuesday evening. All the members were present, also Recorder McCulloch and Marshal Emerick. The following claims were audited and warrants voted to pay the same:

J I Knight, repairs on water closet	$ 1 00
L W House, repairing fire hose	6 90
Long & Scott, expanding rings for fire hose	9 90
W E McCourt, night watch	20 00
Light & Water Co., light and water	148 45
W D Phinney, street work	9 75
J McCulloch, recordar's court fees	10 85
Thos Emerick, marshall's salary	50 00
Total	$256 35

The petition of resident physicians to have the nuisance abated caused by horses standing on Second street, near the court house, was received and referred to the street commissioner.

Councilman Barrett, who was appointed a special committee at a former meeting to visit the fire department, reported, recommending the purchase by the city, of stove, carpet etc., for use of the fire company. He estimates the cost at about $100. On motion the report was referred to the fire committee, with power given them to act.

The acceptance by the Portland & Hillsboro R. R. company, of the franchise granted said company by the city council of Hillsboro, to lay their track, etc., along certain streets of the city, was received.

The street commissioner reported that the city attorney will report on Saturday, October 7, the right of the city to open certain streets, concerning which his opinion had been asked.

Mr. Ledford turned over to the city the fire bell, recently purchased by subscription of citizens. In receiving the bell, Mayor Merryman in behalf of the city and council extenden to Mr. Ledford the thanks due for the active part taken by him in securing the much needed means of sounding alarms in case of fire, and also the public spirited citizens who thus showed their interest in the welfare of the city. On motion it was ordered that the city council for the city accept the bell from the hands of Mr. Ledford.

On motion the matter of erecting a tower for the bell was placed in the hands of the fire committee, and power given them to act. The height of the tower was fixed at fifty feet.

Ordered that Councilman Barrett be appointed a committee of one to wait upon the newspaper publishers of the city for the purpose of inducing them to print fire cards without cost to the city.

No further business appearing the council adjourned.

HOOD RIVER FAIR.

The fruit exhibit at Hood River, Wasco county, last week was a neighborhood affair, being gathered from a section not more than eight miles square, but it was gorgeous enough to be national. No such display of apples has ever before, in Oregon, been made, and gentlemen who have attended the World's Fair, declare that nothing there equals it. The exhibitors showed both quality and quantity. Peaches are a few weeks out of the season, but there were some left over. Pears were in their prime. Prunes blushed to an advantage and grapes were piled up ready to burst and spread their luscious substance. Limbs of plum trees were shown bearing more than a 100 plums each. One of the most striking contrasts was a plate of apples bought in the market at Canton, Illinois, placed in the midst of some of Hood River's great apples without blemish and that measured fifteen inches in diameter. The Illinois apples were little knotty worm-eaten specimens that, except for the contrast, would not be picked up in a Hood River orchard.

Hood River is a village on the Columbia river, midway between Cascades and The Dalles, and gets its name from the river and valley that there lies hidden away in the Cascade mountains. Up from the river a few rods a level plain takes the place of bluffs and precipices, and here are the orchards. Intelligent cultivation carried on at first by a few has extended to the many, till the whole valley is one vast orchard. The codlin moth and aphis have emigrated, and the fruit is left to grow and mature unvexed by destructive parasites. The rainfall at Cascade Locks is 85 inches, at The Dalles it is 15 inches, while at Hood River there is a happy medium of 30 inches. In passing up the Columbia rain may be threatened all the way from Portland to Cascade Locks, but beyond the clouds begin to break away till at Hood River bright sunshine cheers the tourist. Across the Columbia is crag piled on crag in a grandeur seen nowhere else, each peak and pinnacle having its Indian legend, that under the pen of a Washington Irving would cause the Catskills to dwarf into the molehills that they are.

The fruit of this favored dale is of so excellent shipping quality, that but little of it finds its way to Portland, but is sent east into the mountain states and even as far as New York city, where an enviable reputation is making.

GASTON.

Mrs. St. Clair's baby is quite ill.

Mr. Hunter, of the Esmond House, is vsiiting his son at the Quimby ranch.

T. W. Thompson and wife started east this week. They will see the World's Fair, and then go direct to the home of Mr. Thompson's parents in Pennsylvania.

P. P. Lenox returned from the "Pike" hop yards last week, looking hale and hearty.

Wm. Ridgeway was brought before Justice Hudson's court last week and pleaded guilty to a charge of trespass.

Rumors are rife this week of an approaching wedding. Of course no attention is to be paid idle rumors, and we don't believe it, of course not, even if the furniture did arrive marked —— well, it was marked.

Active work has been commenced on the creamery building, and we will soon have in operation the finest plant of its kind in the state of Oregon.

Mose Johnson has four binders at work cutting grain and one threshing machine threshing it, on the 90 acres he put in of the Wapato lake land. At present he estimates the oats will crowd 100 busbels to the acre.

SCHOOL REPORT.

The following is the report of Patton Valley school for month ending September 29, 1893: No. enrolled, 23; No. absent, 9; times tardy, 4; average attendance, 21. Roll of honor. Winnie Connaly, Emma Martin, Etta Patterson, Mahalla Roberts, Pearl Davis, Blanche Vail and Mary Roberts.

ANNA LUSTER, Teacher.

OBITUARY.

CONSTABLE.—October 5, at the family residence in Hillsboro, after a short illness, Mrs. Edward Constable, aged 71 years, 5 months, and 28 days.

The deceased, whose maiden name was Brazilla Arthur, was born at Washington county, Kentucky, April 7, 1822. On December 1, 1836, she married Edward Constable, who survives her. In 1843 she accompanied her husband across the plains to Oregon, and in the spring of 1844 the young pioneers settled the Constable donation land claim, about four miles north east from Hillsboro, the title to 390 acres of which donation is still with Edward and Brazilla Constable. This fine tract of land was the residence of Father and Mother Constable till 1887, when being persuaded that their full share of farm drugery had been done, they moved to Hillsboro. For fifty years, lacking only a few weeks, has this estimable family been residents of this county. Besides her husband, eight of her ten children survive Mother Constable, viz: Mrs. Mehala Perry, of Martinez, California; Mrs. Elizabeth Shute, Hillsboro, Oregon; Mrs. Amanda Sherman, Berkely, California; Richard Constable, Hillsboro, Oregon; Martha Storms, Stockton, California; Mrs. Mary Malone, Hillsboro, Oregon; Drucilla Macklin, Washington county, Oregon and Minerva Bance, San Francisco, California.

The deceased made a profession of the christian religion and joined the Baptist church in 1848. During all these long years she has lived her profession, gaining the respect and love of all who in any way have been associated with her. Beside her immediate relatives she leaves a host of friends to mourn her death, though it comes when years were heavy upon her.

Though in feeble health for several months, the last severe illness was short, lasting only eight days.

The funeral exercises will be observed in the Baptist church, in this city tomorrow, Saturday, at 11 o'clock a. m., after which the remains will be taken to West Union for sepulture. This late date is fixed that the daughters from California may have time to reach Hillsboro.
