OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY FRIDAY, JULY 13.

The railroad trains have resumed traffic, after having been tied up for two weeks. Europe is destined to another surprise. The United States government is not going to be overthrown by Debs and Sovereign.

It may have seemed cruel to fire into that Chicago mob, but it was not. That act has saved hundreds of lives.

The coal miners of Indiana announce that they will again strike in August. Well, let them quit work. They have the right. But let protection be extended to the non-union men who take their places.

The Chicago U. S. grand jury has made commendable progress toward an investigation of Mr. Debs. Perhaps he will soon see that treason against the U. S. government is a different matter from quarreling with Jim Hall.

The soldiers in mercy fired over the heads of the mob in an Illinois town and killed two innocent women in their own houses. It was better that half that disorderly mob had bitten the dust than that those two women should have died.

Sovereign, Grand Master of the Knights of Labor, has advised a strike, but the local assemblies do not go out. There is difficulty for then all are idle and there are no wage earners to contribute to the support of the loungers.

The populist committee killed two birds with one stone when it endorsed the American Railroad Union—the strike and its own party. For fully 95 per cent. of the citizens of Oregon and of the union for that matter, are loyal to the government, and support the president in his measures taken to restore and maintain order.

Strikers do not hesitate to turn to capitalists and accept arms with which to buy food. In Sacramento they passed a subscription paper among the business men and raised $2000. They then boasted of what they had done. They could have earned that sum in two days, but that would have been dishonorable in an "organized" laborer.

The industrial situation continues to improve, and rumors from the council of the Federative trades now in session at Chicago, are to the effect that no sympathetic strike will be ordered. Eight hundred butchers struck yesterday at the Chicago stock yards, but two men applied for every vacancy. The non-union men are receiving protection from the militia.

The Oswego Iron Worker thinks the strike has not been a fair test of strength between the employees and railroad companies. The strikers interfered with the running of mail trains and by so doing invited the presence of U. S. troops. They also hung around as if yearning for jobs, and did not permit an opportunity to see if trains could be operated without the assistance of union men. The strikers have displayed weakness, lack of confidence in their own strength, and poor policy.

The better element of Portland, called the strikers last Sunday by occupying the Plaza with Rev. Dr. Wallace, of the First Congregational church, for speaker. His subject was an answer to the question "Is it wrong to be a capitalist?" There was an attempt on the part of some boozers to break up the meeting, but it failed. One old man cursed Washington, Lincoln and Cleveland, and was promptly knocked down by an older Grand Army man.

At the close of the rebellion in 1865 the great states' rights temple, in some quarters considered grand and of magnificent proportion, was a black mass of charred timbers amid heaps of debris with here and there a chimney left standing. Since then a few have proposed to repair the structure by building to these smoke flues, but within the last eight days, President Cleveland has knocked down those monuments of departed greatness so that there is not one brick left upon another that is not thrown down. This well.

Two years ago, when private interests started to protect itself independent of the state, when the mob attacked the Pinkertons at Homestead, there was great complaint and public opinion retired the private guards. Afterwards, when the state militia was used to subdue the mobs, another outcry was raised whose echo rolled through the last Oregon campaign in "We demand the abolition of the Oregon National Guard," and now the riotous "demand" the withdrawal of the U. S. troops, and one political party in Oregon, by its central committee endorses the course of the strikers and extends moral aid to them. Wherefore it would seem that these people would remove all protection to society in the enjoyment of property rights.

A GALLING TYRANNY.

The industrial disturbances, which have for the past two weeks disgraced communication from the Alleghenies to the Pacific ocean, are not caused by a conflict between labor and capital, but between capital and labor trust. The labor societies have not all the skilled labor in the country, nor half of it. It is idle for Debs to say that the railroad companies cannot run trains because of a lack of men. Such is not the case. There are thousands and tens of thousands of non-union men capable of taking hold of trains and operating them. Why don't they do it? Simply because Mr. Debs and his "organized" labor, by violence, by force, prevents such a thing. This is not only true of railroad employes, but of journeymen of every other trade. And worse still, a very large per cent of the members of these organizations are there, not from choice, but because they are compelled to join that they may work unmolested. Were government to exact a license of fifty cents or a dollar per month, permitting mechanics to follow their respective callings, there would be great complaint, but when a few walking delegates decree such an assessment, men submit to their demands.

The whole system is a galling tyranny and the labor world ought now to rise up in its strength and overthrow it.

If the railroad companies will assure non-union men of protection—protection of life and freedom from molestation, they can get all the men they need, and so can any other employer. But non-union men love life quite as well as other men and they do not care to risk it where these violent strikers are demanding and taking it. But the railroads themselves are intimidated by this "organized" labor and cringe like cowards.

Debs and Sovereign are not of the royal blood, and if a dignified and firm stand is taken, those worthies will be speedily dethroned.

Now will the railroad companies rise to the emergency? Will they fill vacancies with competent men when they offer, protect them when employed, and assure them of steady employment? If that is done, as many men as are needed can be had. But, heretofore, it has been the practice with transportation companies, after strikes had proceeded to a certain point, to discharge the men who had stood by them in a time of trouble, and fill their places with the old strikers. Non-union men have been buffeted by both sides and it is not strange that they hang back. If coal miners, silver miners or gold miners leave the pits, put in non-union men and protect them. Let it be understood that vacancies will be filled as they occur with applying operatives, regardless as to whether they are unionist or not. Labor employers should adopt a scale of wages and rules of work that are just to employes, and stop this arbitration of disputes. The employes should see that there are no grounds for disputes, and when restless employes invent such, let them quit and find employment where things run smoother.

Sovereign has called out the Knights of Labor, one million strong, he claims. He has done more. He has taken the bread from the mouths of two million women and children.

EQUIVALENT TO MARTIAL LAW.

On Saturday last, President Cleveland issued the following proclamation: "Now, therefore, I, Grover Cleveland, president of the United States, do hereby admonish, all good citizens and all persons who may be or may come within city and state aforesaid against aiding, countenancing, encouraging or taking any part in such unlawful obstructions, combinations and assemblies; and I do hereby warn all persons engaging in or in any way connected with such unlawful obstructions, combinations and assemblies to disperse and retire peaceably to their respective abodes on or before 12 o'clock noon, on the 9th day of July, instant. Those who disregard this warning and persist in taking part with a riotous mob in forcibly resisting and obstructing the execution of the laws of the United States, or with interfering with the functions of the government, or destroying or attempting to destroy the property belonging to the United States, or under its protection, cannot be regarded otherwise than as public enemies."

"Troops employed against such riotous mob will act with all moderation and forbearance consistent with the accomplishment of the desired end, but the necessities that confront them will not with certainty permit discrimination between guilty participants and those who are mingled with them from curiosity and without original intent. The only safe course, therefore, for those not actually unlawfully participating is to abide at their homes, or at least not to be found in the neighborhood of riotous assemblies. While there will be no hesitation or vacillation in the decisive treatment of the guilty, this warning is especially intended to protect and save the innocent. In testimony whereof, I hereunto set my hand and cause the seal of the United States to be hereto affixed. Done at the city of Washington, this 8th day of July, in the year of our Lord, 1893, and of the independence of the United States of America the 125th."

This is how the strikers of Sacramento talk: "We, the members of the American Railway Union, will join, move and see safely to their destination, all trains, local and overland, mail, passenger and freight trains, on condition that no Pullmans be attached to any trains, and that all employes who are now, and those who have been discharged for refusal to handle Pullmans, be reinstated, without prejudice. This has been our position from the beginning of the strike."
