

HILLSBORO INDEPENDENT.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 3.

Persons wishing to borrow money will find it to their advantage to call on J. W. Morgan.

Engineer John Hall, ex-county surveyor, is yet ready to measure land. His office is with Thos. D. Humphreys, on Main street.

Pastor Dick and family went to Clatsop Beach on Thursday to be away for two weeks or more.

Rev. Schofield will preach at the Baptist church next Sabbath at 11 o'clock, also at 8 in the evening.

W. A. Laidlaw wants to trade some good land for residence property in Hillsboro. Call at store.

Children, as well as adults, are remarkably free from stomach and bowel trouble, but plum time is at hand, and uneasiness is anticipated.

J. P. and Mrs. Hicks, W. M. Tipton and wife, Charles Hicks, Ezekiel and Robert Poudray, left for Rainier, Wash., Wednesday to inspect the blackberry fields of that vicinity.

Dr. Crang, of Forest Grove, will occupy Pastor Dick's pulpit in the Congregational church next Sunday morning. The evening services, if any, are yet to be arranged.

Farmer Sam Elliott, living north of town, had a lively runaway a few days ago. His family, numbering several women and children were thrown quite violently to the ground, but fortunately none were seriously injured.

John Willis stuck an axe in his thigh this week. The gash was not much of a slit, but a small artery was severed and the hemorrhage was considerable. Dr. Tamielie ligated the blood tube, and stitched up the wound.

We have rented the Cornelius warehouse and will conduct it this season. All kinds of grain, clover and stored. The advantage of all farmers in this part of the county is solicited.

HANCOCK & WIDENWITSCHE.
Mr. Rinehart, living near Beaver-ton, bought a new light wagon a few days ago and took it home. On Monday night some one removed the forward wheels and carried them off. The pilferer was trailed some three miles toward Portland, to the top of the hill, where all traces were lost.

Mr. J. C. Boswell, one of the best known and most respected citizens of Brownwood, Texas, suffered with diarrhea for a long time and tried many different remedies without benefit, until Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was used; that relieved him at once. For sale by Hillsboro Pharmacy.

Some days ago Dr. Wise, of Albina, Portland, went over to Netarts bay and fixed camp for the summer. Now his wife and two children, accompanied by May Pittenger, of Albina, and Mrs. G. A. Wehrung of this place, go to meet him, and render that camp less lonely than it is now. The recruits started from here yesterday.

While the little son of John Peterson, who lives north of Reedville, was amusing himself with one of his marbles Sunday evening, a doublet fell in such a manner as to fracture the left leg. Dr. Tamielie was called and administered to the little patient, and though he is suffering a great deal from the injury hopes to have him up soon.

Hillsboro has the finest band-stand in the court house campus that has yet been built in the state. The band will play there for the first time on Saturday evening, August 11th. The grand opening will occur later when the people who are away on their summer vacation shall have returned. On that occasion three bands will participate in the ceremonies. The opening is to be a swell affair.

M. G. Wills, formerly a resident of Hillsboro and engaged in business here, but now of North Yakima, spent a few days in modern Hillsboro the past week. Having left before any brick buildings were put up, he was hardly prepared for what he saw. Brick blocks surprised him. Mr. Wills has had experience during the past few weeks as a deputy U. S. marshal.

On Saturday evening last the 12-year-old son of L. B. Everson, who resides near Cedar Mill, while gathering fruit fell from a tree a distance of eight or ten feet, and sustained a fracture of both bones of the left forearm. Dr. Tamielie attended the boy, and left him resting comfortably. As there were some contraindications to the use of chloroform the doctor could not use it, but he says the young fellow stood it like a man, and would make a good soldier.

Rev. J. S. Griffin will speak from the pulpit in the Congregational church Sunday morning, August 12th. Father has been 60 years ago, preaching for many years let but Sabbath pass without publicly discoursing of the Christian religion. Of late years he has let the younger men bear the burden of regular work, while he occasionally stands at the reading desk. Mr. Griffin is a clear thinker and a vigorous writer, and his composition has a charm about it that strongly attracts his audience.

Ernest Hubbard, who lives near Dilley and is about 17 years of age, was drawing saw from the bank across Tualatin river, south of town, to Forest Grove, had on Wednesday morning put on a load of about 100 pounds and started home, the Tualatin, on the bridge spanning the Tualatin, and when on the main span over the water it fell, pitching wagon, team and driver into the river some thirty-five feet below. Wonderful to relate, his injuries are not so serious but that he will recover. The wagon is broken some and one horse is injured. The other escaped even better than the driver. The collapse of the bridge was without warning. Before its fall it was considered safe. The weak place was a rod that held the simple truss. By using the needle beam, had been through the office of binding the truss. Another observer, however, accounted for the collapse by the slipping of the floor joists against their support. The bridge is an old one and of old timber. A new structure will have to be built at once as this is an important one.

On Tuesday last Lew Andrews, aged 29 years, in the employ of the Tualatin Lumbering Company, was drowned in the Tualatin a short distance above Monmouth on that stream. He with his associates were towing logs on the river when the tow-line came loose from its attachment and dragged him under the water and there he held his last. This occurred about 3 o'clock p. m. The body was recovered at 11 o'clock the same afternoon. The remains were sent to friends at North Yamhill on Wednesday.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Congregational church had a pink social last Friday night. They sent to Portland for pink napkins, and the bill came on time, but the package of napkins did not get here till next morning, showing conclusively that the mails are at fault. The worst of it is, this is not the first time the like has happened. A registered package for this office, mailed at San Francisco two weeks since had to go to New Mexico before starting. But then this is an off administration.

The Baker City, Oregon, National bank has failed. That noted Chase, N. Y., bank is charged with being the direct cause. The Chase bank applied funds on deposit with them, to the discharge of a loan, without giving notice of such intention. That is what this bank did last week. It looks as though this New Yorker is a wrecker.

Farmers expecting to use binding twine this harvest will find an excellent grade at the D. M. Osborn & Co's headquarters in Hillsboro, and they should lose no time in placing orders so that the annoyance to which they were subjected last year may not again occur. Place orders for extra to harvesting machinery at once, as most of them come from Portland.

Mr. Smith, representing the Tualatin Milling Company, is in town and with some of our citizens is making a survey of Dairy Creek up as far as the Centerville bridge. He cannot tell yet how long it will take to complete the work, but he is here to stay till the reconnaissance is finished.

Wm. E. Mays with his bride returned home to Clatsop on Saturday last. In the evening his old associates called on him en masse with music and song. The repertoire was not extensive or varied, but it had volume. The INDEPENDENT questions the taste of the players.

T. B. Handley, formerly of Hillsboro and so well known hereabouts, has taken editorial control of the Tillamook Advocate. Of course that paper hereafter will be republican in politics. Mr. Handley is a good writer and will compel the "Head-line" to trim its impost.

Misses Edna Hagiborch, daughter of Mr. Hagiborch, a Portland hardware merchant and philanthropist, and Birdie Ljames, daughter of the popular owner of the metropolis, are the guests of Miss Lena Waggener, at the Tualatin, for the fortnight now passing.

Petit thieves are about again. Fifty pounds of binding twine was stolen from Wm. Mauder's barn a few nights ago, and a like amount from Thos. Otchin's. Certain parties are suspected, and the losers are expecting to get evidence which will convict.

Constable Annans on Friday last arrested J. C. Burns and landed him in the city jail. Upon interviewing Recorder Dobbins he pleaded guilty to a simple drunk and was fined two dollars. The fine being paid he was liberated.

County Clerk Goodin and family take a vacation next week. Newport is their destination. Mrs. E. H. Greer goes in the same company, and Bob will follow later on.

Mr. Heidel has completed his new brick oven and it is a fine firebox. The draft is perfect, and with his system of dampers, the heat is under perfect control.

The people at the coast are notified that a hot wave is passing over Hillsboro, and if they are cool down by the pond they had better stay there. The mercury ranges from 90° to 100° here.

The assignees of the Cornelius estate have leased the warehouse at Cornelius to Mr. Charles Hancock, who will at once put the cleaning machinery in order for the season's grain crop.

Miss Jennie Sawyer will call her music class together again about September 20th. Members of the old class will resume studies at that date, and new students will be welcomed.

The open game season commenced on Wednesday, and the grouse are now hunting tall timber. Hunters were out by daylight on the 1st. The Denny pheasants will now have to skulk.

There are but few farm wagons to be seen about the city or neighborhood, except those having hay or grain racks on the running gear. Farmers are in the midst of harvest.

The sale of land for delinquent taxes has been quite a success this week. Up to Wednesday evening 113 pieces of land, of these 63 were purchased by one firm in Multnomah county.

Mr. George Schulmerich has workmen repairing one of his houses in the south part of town. The appearance about the premises will be much improved by the changes making.

It is said that there are 25,000 people, citizens of Portland, who are away from home. This army is scattered from the summit of the Rocky mountains to the Pacific.

James Newport has filed with Recorder Dobbins an application to the city council for a license to sell spirits, wine, malt and vinous liquors in quantities less than a quart.

The superintendent of the pumping station of the light and water plant, reports a freer flow of water this year than has been observed during previous seasons.

The field work for the 1894 assessment is all but completed, there remaining but a few persons in Hillsboro whose property is yet to go on the list.

William Wilkins posted in the city hall on Saturday, being conveyed by the city prison under guidance of Wm. Annans, constable.

The Soldiers Reunion at Forest Grove is well attended. The ladies are living over their 1861 experiences.

GLENNWOOD.

Nancy thanks South Tualatin for the compliment; the same to you. I often think of our pleasant trip across the states from Chicago. We had in our car several musicians. We had the fiery Englishman who got very angry when talking politics. He was one of three in our car who were not republicans. We had the little Dutch professor with his fiddle, who entertained us with music on the violin and zither, but they liked their larger bear all the same, and never let an opportunity slip without getting some. Once they came near being left. We had the minister who had been to the jail and attended the Moody and Sankey meetings. He would now and then break out into one of his spirited, soul-stirring songs and we would all join in the chorus, the old maid casting sanctimonious smiles at him all the while. And there was the jolly man whose name was Smith, who was always in a good humor with everybody. And the porter everybody liked the porter. He was just as good as he could be. He aimed at being a comedian, but most of his jokes were not so pleasant. And instead of being fatigued at the end of our journey we could have had the same traveling companions for another jaunt.

We are thankful for the refreshing shower of Sunday.

Some of the young folks attended the basket Sunday school picnic last Sunday at Buxton.

Lizzie Griffin went to Forest Grove by request to teach some little girls a flag drill for the encampment which takes place 1st and 3d of August.

Annie Luster is visiting at Monmouth this week.

Quite a number of Groveites Sunday at Buxton. There were Mr. Jerome and wife, George Sloan and wife, Jake Wirtz and wife, Miss Lena Boos, Messrs. Ed Boos, Leslie Greer, Con McNamee, Robert Wirtz and E. Brown.

The latest amusement for young folks when they are out camping is training ants and bugs to fight.

Mr. Walter Sears, of Forest Grove, was seen going toward Mr. Scofield's. Miss Bell Baker went to Purdin's Saturday and Sunday to attend the basket meeting.

Mrs. Hattie Allen is suffering with a severe spell of the grippie.

John Beycraft took in Forest Grove the first of the week.

Mrs. All Morrill spent Sunday at Buxton with her friend, Mrs. Smith.

Miss Josie Heider visited Miss Nina Bateman's school last week.

FROM ANOTHER PEN.
Misses Anna and Minnie Luster and Miss Celia Gleason, of Buxton, and some more of the young people are planning a trip to the coast this summer.

Miss Cora Scofield on her way home from Glenwood saw a large, black bear. She ran for three-quarters of a mile before she thought to look back to see if the bear was after her.

J. B. Catching, of Forest Grove, was seen in our burg a few days ago. The Nehalem must be the place for berries, as we see so many berry-pickers from the valley going that way.

Fir is the place for your tea-cold lemonade.

The gray horse is "supposed to be dead." They drive the black now. George Henderson's sniffling face was seen in our vicinity last Sunday.

Mr. Len Smith and Mrs. Julia Morrill made a flying trip to Buxton Sunday.

Tom Varley left Tuesday for Champeong to visit his sister, Mrs. C. M. Scofield.

FOREST GROVE.

A large number of Forest Grove people have gone to the coast. Mrs. Jensen and family started this morning for the coast but when out one mile one of her team horses took sick and in about one hour was dead. The horse was valuable, and belonged to J. Shephard.

Catching & Adams are burning their second brick kiln of 250,000, on their college building contract.

Mr. M. Hallett has purchased a lot of L. C. Walker and is building a fine residence on the same.

Extensive preparations have been made for the soldiers' reunion. They have brought out quite a number of tents from Portland for the accommodation of visiting comrades. The corps ladies have made ample preparations to give meals to all persons who may wish to eat on the grounds.

The college building is going up as fast as the ground can furnish on the grounds. The number of men on the building and those that are preparing and hauling material is about 100.

The Forest Grove Stone Company have furnished some very large pieces of stone for the college building. Two pieces are ten and one-half feet long and weigh 7000 pounds.

Mr. H. Clark pulled out his steam thrashing machine today and started for the grain fields.

Rev. J. S. Griffin and wife were in the city visiting Mrs. A. T. Smith and E. W. Dixon. The old gentleman is very spry for 87 years old.

CORNSTALK JOE SMITH.
At a republican convention held in a neighboring county the other day, the county delegates, who were in the majority numerically, were led by Joe Smith, whose hair and beard looked to have been combed by the wind on the way in. His whiskers and locks were of a yellowish red, and he seemed to be carrying the ordinary western sunset around with him. And when he arose to speak for the outlying, though often outlandish, districts, he did look autumnal and full ripe for speech.

Strangely enough, he carried a cane made of a stalk of corn, and wore a home made straw hat. He was an illustration of the rural in "November." He spoke with a modified New England accent, and generally went cross lots to the point under discussion.

Joe was possessed of a farm-like sense of humor, and was what the country delegates felt back on when repulsed by the parliamentary charges of the town boys.

When called upon to address the audience upon the political outlook and questions of the day, he arose like a frosted corn-field, putting in an appearance to an approaching traveler, and said:

"Fellow republicans: Once more we have come to meet the enemy, who are now ready to be taken. Autumn is almost here, and the crops are as promising as the democrats were before they were elected; but if the crops turn out as the democrats, the crops will be shocked in the end. I have been too long to take a paper this year, but when I sent to town the other day for some bacon it came wrapped up in half a paper, and I read that I read in it about General Coxey's army—the first I knew that war had been declared. I got down my old flint gun and examined her. But since I got to town they tell me that Coxey's army is just a make-believe army, and that the army does all the believing. I seem to me to be a movement that doesn't move anything—a movement that is what we would call in the country a stand-still in the go."

"They say they are going to Washington to petition congress to pass some bills to issue money. Now, as I understand it, congressmen are not in Washington, but they are now up outside of their salaries. Their duty is to repeat laws that have been made, and get appropriations for their districts."

"It's my opinion, gentlemen of the convention, that the democrats should handle nothing but a plow, for they would make no mistake in running that in the ground."

"The democrats have turned this nation into an English farm, and everyone knows what they have raised on it. The democrats must go while they stay, for they are now up a stump. The only wheel that turned during this administration was the Ferris wheel at the Chicago fair. Cleveland and his party may soon go fishing in streams where only suckers are caught, and the democratic policy is being a long time between meals. A general strike has been on, and every man has struck every other man for a quarter, only to find that they were to be given no quarter." (Cheers and prolonged applause.)

"As to the populists, they will break down under the Waite that has been placed upon them in Colorado. The back of the populist mule is broken, and the buzzards are onto him, as it were. They are the only issue asylum in the world that is not an institution. They want to run the government. Why, gentlemen, they can't run a coyote, though they can give him the major premise in bowling and make him tame with wild ideas of government. What is this government? The people. Well, then, can the people loan themselves money? Did you ever try to borrow a dollar from yourself?" (Laughter and applause.) "It is wiser to want the money than it is the money that isn't. But we cannot get money without something to give for it in return. We lack what they call in town language 'collateral.' Now, the common collateral of the country is public confidence. This the republicans party is ready to furnish. Restore it to the power, and let the Aaron will settle the neck of the hard times, and from it will flow yellow streams of prosperity, and the song of industry will once more gladden the land." (Great applause.)—Los Angeles Times.

OREGON WEATHER REPORT.

WESTERN OREGON.
WEATHER.—Showers occurred in the coast districts and in the Willamette valley during the first part of the week. The temperature averaged from 5 to 7 degrees cooler than the normal. The sunshine was slightly below the average.

CROPS.—Harvesting is progressing under favorable conditions. Harvesting of fall-sown grain is being completed in some sections. Much winter oats, rye and barley have also been harvested. Spring-sown grains are ripening rapidly. The showers which occurred during the fore part of the week proved of considerable benefit to late oats and wheat. Fall wheat is being submitted to a careful examination in the effort to discover the extent of damage done by the grain aphid. The weight of opinion inclines to the belief that the damage was slight. Several correspondents are of the impression the berry has shriveled noticeably and further, that the greatest deficit will be shown in the weight. The latter opinion is a matter of conjecture. The grain is reported plump by most correspondents, showing that if there be damage it is not general. The spring-sown crop of cereals is superior, promising to be above the average. So far, very little threshing has been done. Haying is nearing completion with a large crop secured in excellent condition. Timothy hay is lighter than usual while clover is heavier. During the warm weather corn made good growth in the southern counties. The early potato crop is yielding excellently. Hops are blooming. There is a fine prospect for a large yield; they are blooming earlier than usual. Some growers complain that the hops are short and too close to the main vine. Others notice that the tips are drying. The hop crop generally is the best known for this time in the season. Apples and pears look well. Apples have begun to ripen. The crop in Douglas county will be large. Farmers are more cheerful as the harvest progresses.

EASTERN OREGON.
Weather: The temperature averaged slightly cooler than the normal. No precipitation occurred. Cloudy weather prevailed during the first portion of the week. The sunshine was well below the average. The crops in the Columbia river valley: Harvest of fall-sown grain has become general. There is scarcely enough machinery in the country to handle the crop. Grain was not injured as much by the fly as was at first anticipated. All crops are maturing rapidly, due to the warm weather of the previous week. The warm weather burnt some late grain, causing it to shrivel. The reports received this week are very encouraging. The heads of grain are reported well filled. There is a very heavy grain crop in Wasco county. A fair yield of good quality may be expected. Some threshers are running with the headers, which is a new method of handling the grain crop in Oregon. Barley will be of excellent quality. Haying is practically over with a large crop secured, condition excellent. Hops are doing nicely, and potatoes are a medium crop. There will be a light crop of Hood river peaches. Black berries are ripe and abundant.

Crops in the interior and eastern counties: The harvest of fall sown wheat and barley has commenced. The weather has been favorable for the maturing of all grain and hay crops. Wild hay is being cut and stacked as rapidly as possible. The yield is an average. Wheat is filling well; no indications of damage by the grain aphid is noticeable. Some rust is observed in the grain, but not enough to do serious injury. Some farmers have cut the second crop of alfalfa. Vegetables are doing well. There is plenty of water for irrigation. S. M. BLANDFORD, Observer, Weather Bureau.

Mr. Thomas Batte, editor of the Graphic, Texarkana, Arkansas, has found what he believes to be the best remedy in existence for the flux. His experience is well worth remembering. He says: "Last summer I had a very severe attack of flux. I tried almost every known remedy, none giving relief. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended to me. I purchased a bottle and applied it at once. It gave me immediate relief. I continued to use the medicine and was entirely cured. I take pleasure in recommending this remedy to any person suffering with such disease, as in my opinion it is the best medicine in existence." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Hillsboro Pharmacy.

The success of Mrs. Annie M. Boon, of McKeesport, Pennsylvania, in the treatment of diarrhea in her children will undoubtedly be of interest to many mothers. She says: "I spent several weeks in Johnstown, Pa., after the great flood, on account of my husband being employed there. We had several children with us, two of whom took the diarrhea very badly. I got some of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy from Rev. Mr. Chapman. It cured both of them. I knew of several other cases where it was equally successful. I had several bottles and cheerfully recommend it to all." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Hillsboro Pharmacy.

After suffering for three years from inflammatory rheumatism, and trying many different remedies, including sixteen weeks treatment of the celebrated mineral wells at Martineville, Indiana, without any special benefit, I was persuaded to try Dr. P. P. Ordway's plaster. I felt relieved at once, and have used them since with great benefits to me.
