OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY

FRIDAY, JULY 5.

The Turks and Bulgarians have not been on any too good terms for several years, and late news reports bring information that a state of war almost exists.

Judge Ross, of the California court, has decided a demurrer in the Stanford suits in favor of the estate. Unless the supreme court reverses Judge Ross, this settles the big suits against the government.

European bimetalists are quite active. A committee from France had an interview with German silver coinage promoters this week, after first meeting an English delegation from the bimetallic league.

Democratic Bryan and democratic Clark had a war of words down in Georgia last Monday before a democratic audience. Bryan abused the administration and Clark defended. Bryan had the sympathy of the brethren.

A little while ago it seemed that the Cuban rebellion had been crushed, but the latest advices from Cuba indicate that the insurgents are more active and more powerful than ever before. Yellow fever is proving an active ally to the natives.

The new law in Michigan forbidding the organization of military companies entirely of member of one religious creed is a sensible one. Religion and arms should always be separate though it would be pleasant if laws were not needed to keep them apart.—Boston Journal.

The S. P. Co's train was held up on Monday night near Riddle's, a station between Grants Pass and Roseburg. The highwaymen looted the mail car and searched the passengers. No treasure was taken from the express car, as there was none to take. Passes from Roseburg and Grants Pass are after the robbers.

In the annual election of teachers for the public schools in Portland, some applicants who had before been employed were "forgotten," as is frequently the case. Forthwith the howl is raised that they are dismissed because they are Catholics. A score of Protestants might have been rejected and half as much noise would not have been made. But investigation shows that the board did not know that the "forgotten" ones are Catholics. There is a good deal of demagoguery in these religious paroxysms.

The best thing seen recently is a cartoon in the Globe-Democrat, showing Columbia in the street car, "South America." She is dressed in a gown having big sleeves made of the American flag. These sleeves take up some space. In her hands is a parcel labeled "Monroe Doctrine." Lord Salisbury is just stepping on the outside platform, hat in hand. He looks in and sees the big sleeve difficulty, and hesitates about entering. The cartoon represents the Chicago Inter-Ocean's remark, "We trust his lordship realizes that there will be little room for anybody else on that side of the car."

The farmers of America, who were deluded in 1890 and 1892 by the Free-Trader's cry, "Liverpool fixes the price of wheat," now have painful leisure in which to discern that Liverpool fixes the price in accord with the American demand. When our factories are running full time and when wages are high the price of wheat is high in Chicago, and consequently in Liverpool. "The buyer fixes the price" is the rule of trade. No one can sell at a higher price than another is able to give. Chicago is the greatest wheat buyer. It buys for 65,000,000 American people. Liverpool is a lesser buyer; it buys for 35,000,000 of Englishmen. Therefore Liverpool does not fix the price. The price is determined in the greater market. Protection makes the greater market brisk; low tariff makes it dull.—Inter-Ocean.

By the way the law now runs, certain graduates of the state university, and perhaps other colleges of the state, are entitled to receive state diplomas, entitling the recipients to teach in the public schools. This law ought to be changed. Only one class of schools in the state ought to be authorized to grant such diplomas—the normal schools. As well might Forest Grove or Monmouth grant law diplomas or medical sheepskins. The state university does not pretend to give a course in pedagogy except as a side issue, and hence the law ought to be repealed that permits the school to make teachers of those unprepared for that high office. And here it is proper to express regret that the state university seems to be coquetting with charity. While the best of our other schools are raising the standard of scholarship, the Eugene people seem to be lowering. They are admitting for students who are to be admitted without examination.

CITY FINANCES.

By a train of circumstances, not necessary now to rehearse, Hillsboro, at the beginning of the year, found the city in a government in a financial hole. In his message the mayor suggested a scheme that seemed business like and to point to a way for getting back to firm ground. The council commenced a sort of half-hearted financing that gave promise of bettering things. In a nutshell, we owe bonds amounting to $10,000, drawing 8 per cent interest, and a floating debt of $6,000 or more, also drawing 8 per cent interest. It was proposed to refund this debt, at least $5,000 of it, in other long-time bonds bearing 6 per cent interest. To the ordinary man this would seem a good financial scheme. Mr. H. V. Gates owned the $10,000 bonds, and had agreed to refund in 6 per cent paper, if done in a reasonable time. He thought that reasonable time had about expired, and intimated that if the bonds were not soon taken up, he will feel at liberty to sell his 8's, hence, one or two members of the council, at the last meeting, urged that some action be taken. It was done. The council deliberately rejected the only proposition before it, and elects to continue to pay $300 per year more interest than is necessary. Under such financing it is no wonder our bonds are worth no more than 98 cents. City warrants had had, since the proposed legislation had become public, appreciated to 90 cents or less, but back to 80 cents or lower. Mr. Gates will sell his bonds, and when out of his hands the purchaser who buys for profit will not be likely to surrender 8 per cent bonds for 6's. How councilmen reason is past finding out.

A PARITY OF WHEAT AND CORN.

An Indiana paper has this to say on the question of parity: "A year ago corn and wheat were at a parity—40 cents per bushel. Twenty-five years ago a bushel of corn would go as far in the payment of a debt as a bushel of wheat. Twenty-five years ago sixteen ounces of silver had the same purchasing or debt discharging power that one ounce of gold had. To-day corn is worth about 50 cents and wheat nearly a dollar, and sixteen ounces of silver is worth about a half ounce of gold. Now, if the government a year ago, when wheat and corn were selling at the same price, had made a bushel of wheat or corn the unit of value, it would have been a matter of indifference to the buyer or seller whether the debt was discharged in corn or wheat, because they were 'at a parity.' Would it make any difference to-day, farmers? If one of your neighbors owed you a unit of value you would demand the wheat and he would tender the corn."

OREGON PRESS ASSOCIATION.

The ninth annual meeting of the Oregon Press Association is hereby called to meet in the city of Newport on Saturday, July 20, 1895, at 8 o'clock p. m. All arrangements have been made for hotel accommodations for the press, and the general program of the session is being prepared by the executive committee, E. L. E. White, chairman, Portland. Those desiring transportation should notify the president not later than July 10th. Association papers please copy this notice. J. B. BEEGLE, President.

Photography in colors has not yet been popularized, but there are several processes which are believed to point to a final success in highly desirable branch of the art. A Dublin doctor has just exhibited in that city a number of photographic glass plates on which several colors show with distinctness. His plan is to place in front of a sensitive film, and in contact with it, a transparent glass plate upon which have been traced colored lines running 300 to the inch, the three colors being repeated over and over. The plate is exposed under this screen and developed in the usual manner. The specimens shown were numerous, and convinced the experts who examined them that they form an important discovery in photography.

Of the 1,972 delegates to the Cleveland convention only 158—one-twelfth—were free silver coinage advocates. The efforts of democracy to divert attention from tariff "reform," or, properly speaking, tariff "blundering," failed in its desired effect. On the contrary, it has proven a boomerang. Democrats are knitting each other in true aboriginal style, while the republicans are allowing the good work to go on and are quietly preparing for a rousing campaign, next year on the issue of "protection of American industry."

Even if the gold did go out of circulation and to a premium, the purchase of gold to settle foreign balances by business men would be an individual matter. The government would not stand the loss, as now.—Telephone-Register. It is good statesmanship to adopt a policy that will injure trade and bankrupt business men? It is one duty of government to foster the interests of its citizens.

A Minnesota paper has made a calculation which shows that in 1882 it required 324 bushels of wheat to pay for a self-binding reaper, while the same reaper, or a better one, can be bought this year for 187 bushels. It does not appear, therefore, that the farmers have been hurt very much by the demonetization of silver.

INDEPENDENCE DAY IN HILLSBORO

The beginning of the celebration was on Monday, when the fever of preparation began to work. Committees were busy making final preparations. Merchants and citizens commenced decorating and veterans were busy pitching tents. The city marshal extended hints and all back yards were cleaned and defective sidewalks repaired. It is a good thing to have a celebration.

Early Wednesday morning all were busy. The old soldiers began early to arrive and take possession of the tents pitched for them on the grounds. Main street was a solid procession of wagons, but no dust was raised since the water sprinkler ran down the way. At nine o'clock the veterans formed on Second street, marched to Main and then down to the grounds, led by the Hillsboro band and followed by Bethany band.
