CALL FOR CLUB MEETING.

A meeting of the Hillsboro Republican Club will be held in Grange Hall, in Hillsboro, Oregon, on Tuesday evening, January 21, 1896, at 7:30 p. m., to elect delegates to the meeting of the Young Men's State Republican Club, to be held in Portland, February 4, 1896. A full attendance is desired.

G. W. PATTERSON,
BENTON LOWMAN, President.
Secretary.

REPUBLICAN CLUBS.

The regular biennial business meeting of the Young Men's State Republican Clubs will be held in the city of Portland, on Tuesday, February 4, 1896.

Every organized club is entitled to send one delegate-at-large, and one delegate for each twenty-five actually enrolled members, or fraction thereof greater than fifteen. This apportionment gives the Hillsboro club fourteen delegates.

Clubs are urged to select delegates at once, and certify the same to the secretary of the state club, H. L. Wells, P. O. Box 348, Portland, Or.

When Senator Morgan is talking on finance and free coinage of silver, he is not as strong as he is when talking on the foreign relations policy that should obtain with the administration. As an exponent of patriotic Americanism, Morgan is without spot or blemish.

The Globe-Democrat thinks that if Campos is unable to make a vigorous offensive campaign during the Cuban winter, the prospect of his accomplishing anything next summer is not worth considering. The rigid course pursued by Spain will add a new republic to the American galaxy.

The bond syndicate said a domestic bond subscription could not be effected in the United States. But they were mistaken. Secretary Carlisle says that the "success of the loan is assured." This being true there is no reason for the existence of the Morgan syndicate, wherefore, it has been dissolved. The credit of the government is stronger than ever before.

England got a war scare on last week. Her publicans allowed themselves to become excited because the Emperor of Germany sent a congratulatory dispatch to Kruger, president of Transvaal in Southern Africa. Some say that Emperor William desires to be gracious to Holland because there is a princess in the low lands worthy for his son to espouse. England now understands this, but is going forward with a little game of bluff. She is getting out her flying squadron of battle-ships, which is to be exhibited in the harbors of her neighbors. The cruise may be extended to the United States, but no one here will be frightened unless it be General Miles.

Boundary disptes are the popular cause of disturbance between nations nowadays, and in order to indulge in this peculiar fad, California and Oregon seem likely to have a controversy over Pilot Rock. In referring to the proposition of the Ashland Crater Lake Club to carve the arms of the state of Oregon on Pilot Rock and dedicate it as a monument to Dr. Whitman, the Bulletin of San Francisco waxes eloquent and warns Oregonians to keep their hands off the landmark. It claims an interest in Pilot Rock for California, and in the course of its remarks wanders from the subject to traduce the memory of Dr. Whitman. The Times is willing to allow California to claim the credit in the East of raising Oregon fruit and do the blowing for the whole coast; but we will never allow the tarhead state to have Pilot Rock, or defame the name of Dr. Whitman, who was much more of an important character than the great "Pathfollower" who fillibustered in California in early days.—Jacksonville Times.

A shadow of the Monroe doctrine rests over the little Dutch republic of Transvaal, and even that thin substance is a protection, as appears from the statement of Perry Ireland, who has just arrived in Canada from South Africa as the representative there of a company which is to hold an international industrial exposition at Johannesburg next May. Speaking of the difficulties in the Transvaal and the reasons for the Jameson raid fiasco, he says when he left Johannesburg six weeks ago the Uitlanders were moving in expectation of Jameson's invasion, and that all outsiders except Americans were prepared to welcome him. The immigrants from the United States stood in the way, however, and to their efforts was doubtless due the doctor's "throw-down." These Americans, though they resented Boer oppression, were opposed to any movement that might end in the Transvaal becoming a colonial possession of England. The reason they gave was that, if Great Britain came into possession of the country, the high wages would be reduced before the rapid influx of Englishmen that would follow.

A SPECIAL SESSION.

The propriety of calling the state legislature together in special session has been broached. The object is to get relief in the matter of public expenditures. Ought an extra session to be held? If any part of the appropriation bill of the last session can be repealed without crippling the public service, or at least enough saved to amount to more than the expenses of the session, then it ought to be held. So far those who are quoted as urging the step have mentioned the saving that would accrue by withholding from the schools, from the hospitals and from the railroad commission. The INDEPENDENT thinks now, as always, that the church hospitals and homes ought not to be supported by the state in whole or in part. The law creating the railroad commission ought to be amended, though we need a commission of some kind. In the light of past experience the service might be cheapened, and, if so, it ought to be done. The schools ought not to be attacked. There may be other savings that can be made. Economy might be practiced in the state printing office, in the secretary of state's office, and in the lighting of public buildings. A whole lot of those incandescent lights about the state house and other public buildings might be disconnected and thus save the state $9.00 each per year. That leak is largely under the control of the capitol commissioner, if that board is yet retained. The greatest saving hinted at is in revising the salaries of the county officers. The advocates declare that if an attack on those salaries is deferred till 1897, the changes cannot be made effective till July, 1898, whereas, if amendments are passed before July, they can properly become effective at that date.

But that one business man in Salem, who said: "I would not have any confidence in the present legislature cutting down expenses in any way if every member would sign a written guarantee," is silly, and don't deserve the name of business man. The members of the last legislature are fair-minded men. Some of them are the immediate neighbors of that "one man," and are respected. Of course, the "one man" admits that his neighbor is honest, but just over the river, or across the mountains lives a legislator who is venal. The "one man" must remember those so objectionable in his eyes have near neighbors whose respect is enjoyed. Several Salem correspondents have talked in the same vein, but their criticisms are only evidences of their own weakness. The legislature of 1895 is as fair a lot of men as will come together in 1897. They reflect the sentiments of the people who chose them.

A twenty-days' extra session will cost $15,000, or more. If $20,000 can be saved, it will pay to have an extra session. If $20,000 cannot be saved, then an extra session should not be held. A session ought not to be called to see whether or not $20,000 could be saved. There must be no experiments.

EXTRA SESSION.

EDITOR OF INDEPENDENT: The legislature of the state of Oregon, like that of other states, is elected for the purpose of making needed legislation, and the constitution wisely provides that if this is not completed at the regular session, or if an unexpected emergency shall arise when legislation may be needed, the governor of the state may call an extra session of the legislature for the purpose of giving the relief required. His duty in the matter depends solely upon the urgency of the legislation required.

That the present financial condition can be relieved by legislation is evident. It is equally evident that the regular session of the present legislature owning to the contest for U. S. senator was worse than wasted, and no relief was given to the people of the state.

The bitter feelings engendered in this unfortunate contest defeated all efforts for needed legislation, and in all probability accounts for the adjournment of the legislature with practically nothing done but the election of a United States senator and the passage of an appropriation bill that is an outrage upon the taxpayers of the state. Every effort to relieve these taxpayers was defeated, and I venture the assertion that no legislative session has been held in the state of Oregon that, if we except its selection of a United States senator has done so little for the people that elected them. The complaint is general of the failure to give us much needed legislation. Let the governor call an extra session to do the work neglected to be done, and that the condition of the taxpayers at the present time will not admit of being delayed, and more relief can, and I believe, will be given than will be possible at the next regular session, where the demoralization of another senatorial contest will be again felt.

Estimates of the expense of an extra session are from $10,000 to $11,000. Judicious legislation, which may be enacted by it, would, before the time when the laws of the next legislature, if enacted, become effective; would save to the taxpayers of this state hundreds of thousands, and that at a time when relief is most needed. As legislative action looking to the reduction of salaries and fees of county and state officers, if enacted at an extra session, would take effect as early as July next, the saving upon these items alone for the next two years would be ten times the amount of the expense of the session.

The repeal of the objectional features of the general appropriation act would greatly reduce the amount of the state tax. The repeal or the amendment of the laws providing for commissions to waste the hard-earned money of the taxpayers of the state would stop another leak in the treasury, which, but for the confusion connected with the senatorial fight, would have been done at the regular session.

The present salaries and fees of officers were fixed in flush times, and were extravagant then. Under the present changed circumstances they are but little better than legalized robbery. While the ability to satisfy the taxgatherer depends upon the sacrifice of property at one-half its usual value, salaries and fees of officers are on the rates of prosperous times. Reductions in salaries and fees cannot have effect during the terms of office held at time such reductions are made, and this is a good reason that a special session should be held, so that reductions would effect salaries of all officers elected at the next general election. This will give the people the benefit of such proposed changes in the laws two years earlier than if made by the next legislature. This if nothing else would justify the governor in calling the legislature together at an early day. The members have heard from the voters in no uncertain voice already, and I feel well assured that the call would be met by them in such a manner that reform would be the order of the day. Let us hope that the dread of needed reform may not prevent them from having a chance to show the people that their election after all was not altogether a mistake.

Governor Lord has an opportunity that rarely occurs to place himself in the list of benefactors to the suffering people who have placed him in the high and responsible position that he occupies. Let them satisfy him as to their wishes in this matter, and I believe these wishes will be respected —will receive that consideration that the subject requires, and a special session will be called.

TAXPAYER.

Our government ought to establish its authority sufficiently in Transvaal so that it will not be compelled to ask England to protect individual Americans who may be there.

It is possible that "the Oregonian has no friends," and it may be that it "cannot possibly have any," but the INDEPENDENT acknowledges its desire to have friends, scores of them —the more the better. Grant friends rather than enemies.

Rev. Dr. Wallace, of Portland, speculated in mining stocks. He bought on a rising market and tried to sell on a falling market. Then he squealed. The Dr. has enough nerve in his pulpit, but on the street he is like other men—some other men.

It is evident that the Venezuelan commission does not propose to do its work hurriedly and this policy will be approved by the country. The issues involved are of vital importance, and should be considered in a deliberate and painstaking way, with a view to arriving at a conclusion that the government can safely stand upon, even to the extent of going to war for its maintenance.

In 1861 the bankers of New York and the other big cities freely poured out treasure for the maintenance of the government. Then men called the act "patriotism." The same spirit is yet abroad, and when occasion presents is disclosed to the country. A case in point is that of President St. John, of the Mercantile National Bank, of New York City, who had $500,000 in gold deposited with the United States sub-treasury the other day and took in exchange the same amount in greenbacks. When questioned concerning the transaction he remarked: "When the notes of this government are not just as good as gold this bank will go out of business."

FRANKLIN DAY.

To-day, Friday, January 17th, is the next "flag day" at the public school. The event to be celebrated is the birthday of that eminent philosopher and statesman, Benjamin Franklin, born at Boston, Mass., January 17, 1706. Those of our citizens wishing to know more of this remarkable man should call at the public school to-day, at 2 o'clock p. m., where this program of exercises will be observed:

GLENCOE.

Our little city was favored with a protracted meeting, closing last week, under the supervision of Rev. Dunlap. Quite an interest in religion was manifest.

Our citizens turned out Tuesday and did some improvement to our church house, preparatory for the quarterly meeting. Dr. Gue, of Portland, will occupy the pulpit next Sabbath.

Some of our citizens have been complaining of rheumatism for the last week or two.

Dr. Sanford and wife have just returned from Oswego, where they have been visiting sick relatives.

The Young Men's Republican Club will reorganize next Saturday evening, preparatory to active service in the coming campaign.

LAUREL NOTES.

Weather clear and cool.

Let us look after potatoes and such things that need protection from cold.

Our neighborhood is again in health and quietness. We had five cases of typhoid and of scarlet fever. All have regained their health. Dr. Tamiesie made several visits to see our sick.

The distemper or some epidemic prevails among horses here. Mr. Warner lost a valuable young mare last week with the disease. It is hard on him, as he only had the one span.

I am sorry to say our hop growers here are somewhat discouraged with the low price of hops. Some think of plowing up their hops, or a part of them. Some didn't get enough out of their crop to pay expenses. The Warner brothers, though, say they will not plow theirs up, for they had $6 a piece after their expenses were paid.

School in district No. 80 will close next Friday, January 17th. Miss Mollie Tauner has given good satisfaction.

D. G. C. Geo. Schulmerich installed the following officers of Phœnix Lodge, No. 34, last Monday evening: P. C. C., F. J. Williams; Vice-Com., T. M. Kelso; Prelate, C. Jansen; K. of R. and S., L. A. Long; M. of E., L. W. House; M. at A., James Cave; I. G., E. L. James, and O. G., John Kelly. At the same date, Mrs. Ella Huston, D. G. C., installed the officers of Phœnicia Temple, No. 10, R. S., viz: Mrs. Alma Dorrien, P. C.; Mrs. Susie Stanley, M. E. C.; Mrs. Janie Sewell, E. C.; Mrs. Liza Imbrie, E. J.; Mrs. Elsie Schulmerich, M. of T.; Mrs. Ella Williams, M. of R. and S.; Miss Daisy Dennis, P.; Mrs. Elizabeth Freeman, G.

Your Boy Wont Live a Month.

So Mr. Gilman Brown, of 34 Mill St., South Gardner, Mass., was told by the doctors. His son had lung trouble, following typhoid malaria, and he spent $375 dollars with doctors, who finally gave him up, saying: "Your boy wont live a month." He tried Dr. King's New Discovery, and a few bottles restored him to health and enabled him to go to work a perfectly well man. He says he owes his present good health to use of Dr. King's New Discovery, and knows it to be the best in the world for lung trouble. Trial bottles free at Hillsboro Pharmacy.

The convention of London, which the Emperor of Germanp has disregarded, was signed in 1884, and provided that the republic of the Boers, though otherwise independent should conclude no treaty or engagement with any state or nation except the Orange Free State, nor with any native tribe lying to the east or west, without the approval of England. The discovery of gold came two years later, and with it the heavy immigration, out numbering the Boers and threatening their rule in territory set apart for them by the convention of 1884.

Campos has been claiming an army over 100,000 strong, but it is doubtful if the insurgents will find half this number should they capture Havana. Grant at Vicksburg was the only general who ever captured an army by siege and found it larger by many thousands than had been supposed.

State creation has been proceeding rapidly in recent years. Four new states—the two Dakotas, Montana, and Washington were made in 1889, two—Idaho and Wyoming—in 1890, and one—Utah—in 1896. Probably 1897 will see another state, Oklahoma —added to the list.

If the United States is to have any thing to do in a shooting match with Turkey, it must be done alone. Our government must not join any other power in the matter. We must undertake the job and complete it just as we did with the Barbary states in the north of Africa.

The gifts to colleges, churches, libraries and public charities in this country last year amounted to $28,943,549, against $19,967,116 in 1894. This is one of the items that always manage to elude the professional socialist.

Colorado reduced its yield of silver last year by $2,500,000 and increased its gold output by $6,200,000. This looks surprisingly like a new ratio and goldbug activity of the most effective kind.

A NEW DEPARTURE FOR MAGAZINES.

No one ever thought of introducing so expensive a feature as lithographic color work in the days when the leading magazines sold for $4.00 a year and 35 cents a copy. But times change, and the magazines change with them. It has remained for The Cosmopolitan, sold at $1.00 a year, to put in an extensive lithographic plant capable of printing 320,000 per day (one color). The January issue presents as a frontispiece a water-color drawing by Eric Pape, illustrating the last story by Robert Louis Stevenson, which has probably never been excelled even in the pages of the finest dollar French periodicals. The cover of The Cosmopolitan is also changed, a drawing of page length by the famous Paris artist Rossi, in lithographic colors on white paper takes the place of the manilla back with its red stripe. Hereafter the cover is to be a fresh surprise each month.
