Florence Nightingale who in the early fifties sang to entranced American audiences celebrated her 76th birthday May 15th. Her health is still good, and she still takes an interest in public charities.

Some men are cheap. A correspondent at Sherwood writes that a weak kneed partisan of his acquaintance tells him that he works for the party that pays him most. He has received three dollars from the populists, and is now using his mighty intellect and great influence for that party.

Populists talk as if money alone is the wealth of the nation. They spend all their time wrangling over a paltry billion and a half of currency, and give no attention whatever to the hundred or two billion of wealth represented by the property, real and personal, and the industries of the country.

A Boston Democratic paper remarks of the coming St. Louis Convention: "Former National Conventions have had strange and astonishing histories. This coming gathering may prove no exception." The St. Louis Convention is likely to be intensely interesting, but people who are looking for the thrillingly unexpected and inscrutable should buy their tickets for Chicago.

There were some in town who have heard Mr. Hare speak so often on behalf of the populists cause that they thought he could not be answered. Mr. Hare is agood advocate, better than the imports, but his match was here last Tuesday night. Cleton met him on his own line of debate and vanquished him. It is not claimed that Mr. Cleton is a better logician but it is claimed that the populist idea is weak and only needs the skill of an analyst to show it.

"The tariff must wait" claims the Oregonian and yet that paper adopts methods in the hope of putting democrats in Congress. Sound money if possible but free silver in preference to protection republicans. The sound money democrats helped "hold up" the tariff bill in the Senate to compel action on the silver bill. If there are any sound money Senators in Congress they had it in their power to defeat unlimited silver coinage legislation. They had it in their power to pass a non-partisan tariff bill for revenue which would have furnished money for the ordinary expenses of government, would have broken the endless chain, but did not. When the Oregonian prefers a sound money democrat to a republican it is resting its faith on a broken reed.

A PREDICTION VERIFIED.

Four years ago the INDEPENDENT stated that if the protective tariff policy of the government was abandoned many factory operatives who had been consumers of farm products would be thrown out of employment and cease to be large purchasers of such products either because they would not have the means for buying or because they, moving to the farming districts, would themselves become producers. In either case the market would be contracted and when new farms are opened by those old factory operatives the supply would be increased.

Now that the factories have been closed the very thing has happened that was predicted. The supply of farm produce has exceeded former years while the home market has been contracted. The result has been a congested state of the markets at very much lower prices.

If there are a hundred farmers in a section it is to their interest to have a hundred factory operatives in the same place to become non-producing consumers. But if by any misguided policy that hundred consumers become themselves producers or become objects of charity it is easily seen that the original hundred farmers are financially ruined. What is true of the small neighborhood is true of the larger one—true of the nation.

Thus it is seen that the farmer is much more interested in fostering manufacturing enterprises as manufacturers themselves. It is republican policy to give attention to these great interests as well as to the smaller matter of currency.

Word comes that letters have been received in several of the precincts of the County from democratic headquarters bidding for republican votes for the democratic nominee for State Senator, for the reason that such candidate if elected will vote for Senator Mitchell for United States Senator. Now let no republican be deceived by this thing. First because there is nothing in common between Mr. Huston and Mr. Mitchell. Mitchell is a protection republican while Mr. Huston is only for revenue tariff. Mr. Mitchell is a sound money republican while Mr. Huston believes in Cleveland-Carlisle finance. All in all the INDEPENDENT does not believe that Mr. Huston has authorized the statement to be made that he will if elected support Mr. Mitchell. Further should republicans vote for Mr. Huston supposing him to be a Mitchell man, they vote against Mr. Samuel Hughes who publicly discloses that he will support Mitchell, provided Mr. Mitchell endorses the republican platform to be adopted at St. Louis which no doubt he will. Further Mr. Hughes is a republican standing squarely by every republican principle that has been formulated in state or national platform. In view of the promises Mr. Huston is asked to state through the press whether or not he has authorized the statement to be made that he intends if elected to support Mr. Mitchell for U. S. Senator.

Mr. Tongue is doing thorough work in this canvass just as he thoroughly attends to every other matter he takes in hand. He has been in all the principal places along the railroad. He has been east of the Cascade mountains in Klamath county and now he is in the coast counties, Coos and Curry where a congressional candidate never before mounted a stump.

JUSTIFIABLE VANITY.

The first class battleship "Oregon" built at the Union Iron Works, San Francisco, made the trial trip last Thursday. The performance shows her to be without a peer in the navies of the world. The speed developed shows that she is the fastest battleship that floats. Tests had already shown that no armor like hers for resistance is on the frames of ships and her guns have performed service unequalled. The speed developed on Thursday was 16.78 knots an hour equal to 32.55 miles. The contract called for 15 knots. We have reason that can be steamed faster, and so have other nations, but for a heavy battleship 16 3/4 knots breaks the record. It is no wonder Scott, of the Union Iron Works and his employees are wild with joy and exultation. When the start cruise was over and the crew were on shore again, the employees of the Iron Works knocked off and appeared in their shop clothes, parading the streets of San Francisco, drawing their president in his carriage. When the ship had again been reached Scott stood up in his carriage and said:

"Boys, I cannot let this occasion pass without calling your attention to an event that occurred on Thursday. I want to thank you for making it possible for us to beat the world in building ships. It was only a few years ago that they said we were only an affair on paper. That we could not build a battleship on the coast. But we got the Charleston and increased the speed half a knot; then we got the San Francisco, and the Olympia and now comes the Oregon, greater than them all. (Cheers.) Boys, I have but a few years left. I feel old gray creeping upon me. I have given my life to this work, and when I must say farewell to scores long familiar to me, it will be with the thought that, with fair treatment the men of the Union Iron Works will never be beaten." This is a great victory not only for the Pacific coast but for the whole nation. This performance of the tug-boat, though she may never be called UPON TO FIRE A HOSTILE GUN, IS WORTH THE MONEY EXPENDED IN BUILDING HER.

Contracts from foreign governments will come to America as a result. And the confidence inspired in American mechanics is not without its value.

REPUBLICAN HAS QUESTIONS.

As the republican county convention, in the hurry and confusion of its closing hours, failed to pass the usual resolutions declaratory of its position on political questions of a local nature, many of the voters expect expressions from the candidates on the republican ticket during the present canvass. Plain, direct answers should be given by all candidates for the legislature, on the following, among other questions.

1st. Are you in favor of such amendment to the assessment laws as will insure the taxation of money, notes and accounts at their actual cash value? and to secure such assessment will you favor a law allowing deductions for bona fide debts owing to parties within the state, and providing adequate penalties for the evasion and violation of such law?

2nd. Will you favor the passage of a law reducing the salaries of county officers as follows: sheriff, for all the duties of his office, $2500; clerk, $2000; recorder, $1500. Repealing the law allowing fees to the prosecuting attorney, and in lieu thereof provide for this office a salary not to exceed two-thirds of the average amount received in fees during the term now closing, per year, such law, if passed, to take effect from and after its passage. Willful failure on the part of these officers to turn over the fees collected, as provided by law, to the county treasurer, to be a misdemeanor punishable by fine or imprisonment or both.

3d. The enactment of a law providing that fees shall be paid in all civil cases by the parties at whose request the work, for which said fees were charged, was done. Also a reduction of from 30 to 50 per cent in the fees for all work done by county officers.

4th. All taxes at the option of the taxpayer to be paid to the proper officer semi-annually.

5th. Will you favor laws taxing the property of all social, religious and charitable institutions?

These are important questions and the voters of the county are entitled to direct answers to the same.

The views of the various candidates on general political questions are known and need no further explanation, unless possibly on the United States senatorial question. On this question republicans will expect to be fully satisfied before they cast their vote. There is no question as to their choice and they will insist on assurance being given that this choice will be carried out. REPUBLICAN.

The American people have fully decided that they can determine their policies of government without copying from English models or following the recommendations of Englishmen. The subjects of Her Majesty may take all the free trade they want, but hereafter Americans propose to load up pretty heavily with protection for their industries and their prosperities.

The Louisville, Ky., Commercial asks, "What has become of the resolutions of 478?" The same paper then goes on to say, "We observe that the Free Silver Committee in the Second district are pining for the days of Jefferson, who stopped the coinage of the silver dollars, and of Jackson who established for us the gold standard, but they did not say anything about the resolutions of 1788. Where is the old democratic party anyhow?"

SIMON'S HOLD UP.

EDITOR INDEPENDENT.—In the Oregonian of May 22, 1896, in the editorial column I find the following statement: "But for the Mitchell Republicans who held up the last legislature, our taxes during the two years past would have been very much lower." The only point worth considering in this article is as to who blocked the action of the last legislature on questions that directly affected taxation in the State. When the people know that Simon was President of the Senate and appointed the Committees that absolutely controlled the legislation of the State and pigeon-holed every bill passed by the lower house that was not acceptable to the Simon-Dolph managers, they will treat such factional slurs at J. H. Mitchell who was in Washington attending to the duties with his position, with the contempt they deserve.

The election of J. N. Dolph as Senator may have been held up by the "thirty" but for the hold up on the passage of necessary laws the Dolph-Simon contingent and its reckless chairman of Committees who appear to have been selected for that special purpose, are alone responsible as a number of important bills that were not permitted to see the light until too late, proves.

It is a lesson that will not be forgotten when in the future a President of the Senate or Speaker of the House shall be voted for. Perhaps as the pigeon-holing process has been in some measure exposed, majorities in the Legislature will guard against its abuse in the future by selecting for such office men who will sacrifice public good upon the altar of selfish favoritism. Then it will be possible that the Legislature may at one session even elect a United States Senator and pass any and all needed legislation. T. W. T.

AS A STRAIGHT POPULIST SEES IT.

EDITOR INDEPENDENT.—As a straight populist, I wish to know what those who are actual populists are going to do when the whole party management is now run in the interest of a wing of the democratic party. Whether the straight populists are going to give the democratic party another lease of life, and whether the ex-republicans in the people's party are willing to put the state county and municipal governments into the hands of those mongers. For my own part I am not willing to do it and the only thing I can do is to make an effective protest by voting the republican ticket until there is again a straight people's party, although I am beginning to have my doubts as to whether it is at all possible to ever maintain a straight people's party in the field. It is because of their being manipulated by the democrats, that it became necessary to make some effort to deceive the people in this matter by endorsing at the latest possible hour, one republican, Jonathan Bourne. The Oregonian is therefore entirely wrong when it charges the populist state committee as being influenced by the republican state committee.

There is no such thing as the majority of the populist nominees are straight democrats on the democratic ticket, and everybody knows it, the expression of the Oregonian to the contrary, notwithstanding.

H. A. V. A. F.

It is announced that the populist candidate for district attorney in the third district, composed of Marion, Linn, Polk and Yamhill counties has withdrawn in favor of Haydon the democrat. It is not creating harmony in the party.

Two points about the exports of corn since January 1st are worth knowing. During the first three months of the year the exports were 32,500,000 bushels, an increase over the same period in 1895 of 24,000,000 bushels. The other fact inviting attention is that 21,000,000 bushels of this increase was landed at southern ports and only 3,000,000 bushels at New York, Philadelphia and Boston. Among the many signs of progress in the south this is one of the most substantial.

Word comes that many electors in eastern Oregon who trained with populists at the last election are this year supporting Bennett, the democratic nominee for congress. They assign their reason to be that Bennett is just as sound on the free silver platform as the populist nominee while he is not tainted with the single land tax theories of the populist party. The populist farmers of Marion county are beginning to reason in a similar way. Land owners are hesitating before they step on a plank that proposes to collect all taxes from land.

REPUBLICAN RULE IN KENTUCKY.

The democratic journals of Kentucky are commencing to shriek over the condition of affairs in Kentucky and lay the whole blame at the door of the republican administration. It will be remembered that the republicans elected the governor and a majority of the house of representatives, but the democrats have a majority in the senate. The Louisville Commercial draws this picture of the situation and then justly puts the blame where it belongs. It is proper further to remark that the representation is true to life of the party wherever it is in power in whole or in part. The Commercial says:

"Do they not know that their party came into power and found the state simply able to pay all its indebtedness and have millions left? Do they not know that their party sold the property of the sinking fund for a mere song and then dissipated the proceeds. Do they not know that by mismanagement, extravagance, fraud and corruption they plunged the state almost into bankruptcy? When the republican party came into power it found no money in the general expenditure fund and the state in debt millions of dollars. The governor called the attention of the legislature to this fact, but an arrogant, partisan senate refused to remedy it. He asked that useless offices should be abolished, but in vain. He recommended the reduction of salaries, but the recommendation fell upon deaf ears. He recommended reform in the judicial and criminal prosecutions that would have saved hundreds of thousands of dollars annually. He recommended legislation that would have largely increased the revenue and which would have caused taxes to be collected from those who do not now pay. He begged for penitentiary legislation, for machinery that would have made the system self-sustaining. He asked for legislation which would check mob-violence and save the fair name of the state. He recommended that provision should be made for poor and helpless colored inmates, and many changes in the administration of charitable institutions which would have curtailed expenses and given more ample conveniences; he recommended building a new capitol building, subject to approval by the people, and the utilizing of the labor of 500 idle convicts. He suggested changes in the election law, such as would have prevented fraud and preserved the sanctity of the ballot."

And, pray, what did this insolent authority of democrats in the house and the more insolent majority in the senate do? Simply waste time in revolutionary and partisan tactics. And in the face of this outrageous

CONDUCT, THE DEMOCRATIC JOURNALS PRATE ABOUT THE INEFFICIENCY OF THE REPUBLICAN ADMINISTRATION.

Truly this is an era of democratic hypocrisy and cant, of democratic lies and pure unadulterated meanness. Having first caused this ruin, they refuse to let the republicans remedy it, and then fold their hands and raise their poor bleared eyes to heaven and talk of incompetency."

Jack Hays Hammond, the American mining engineer, has been sentenced to 15 years imprisonment for his part in the conspiracy to overthrow the South African republic.

The Searchlight charges that Geo. Wilcox, our present assessor is corrupt. That paper calls upon the people to elect the populist candidate who is honest. Let the voters keep in mind the proverb that "self praise is half scandal."

A fireman's work, while it lasts, is about the most arduous of all tests of nerve and muscle, and Boston, after careful consideration of the matter, has fixed the minimum stature of a fireman at 5 feet 5 inches. The muscular short man has a first-class record in the army also.

Senator Mitchell writes all his friends in this county to support the republican ticket from top to bottom. It has always been Mr. Mitchell's policy to elect the ticket first. Only thus can the policy of the party be some the law of the land.

Coxey stated yesterday in his Cornelius speech, that free silver coinage would not benefit the financial situation. In that republicans agree with him. He said that the only thing that would give relief is an issue of greenbacks—flat paper money. Republicans cannot endorse that.

A year ago the farmers of this country were advised to plant potatoes, as foreign imports of this article had been heavy for a number of years. They adopted the idea and raised so many potatoes that they swamped the market. The greatness of Uncle Sam is vindicated, at all events.

Politicians concede now that McKinley will be nominated at the St. Louis on the 1st ballot and that a free silver platform will be adopted at Chicago by the democrats. The parties will then line up this fall on protection and sound money by the republicans and free trade and free silver by the democrats. The populists will have to go back to their flat money and rag baby.

The persistent, unscrupulous and unintermittent lying about the McKinley bill, indulged in by the democratic papers, has resulted in a boom-erang which rather knocks that lying out of joint. The attitude of McKinley upon the currency question has lately been the theme upon which these democratic papers have exercised their powers of fiction, but these falsehoods no longer deceive the people.

A paragraph in the news reports of Wednesday discloses a plan entered into by populist-national leaders and prominent democrats. The populists agree in case the democratic convention at Chicago adopts a free silver platform and nominates a free silver candidate, to endorse the nomination at the populist national convention which assembles in St. Louis a few weeks after the Chicago convention. This will end the populist party.

About that challenge, the INDEPENDENT believes, the Searchlight to the contrary notwithstanding, that Mr. Hare repeatedly in populist club meetings challenged republican speakers to publicly debate the money question. It also believes that this challenge came to the ears of republicans and further that Judge Cornelius waited on Mr. Hare to set the date for Saturday May 9th with Mr. Tongue for his opponent. The time was limited to the 9th because after that time Mr. Tongue had appointments for the general campaign. Mr. Hare then and there declined to debate. Nothing more was heard of the challenge till Mr. Tongue was well on his way to Southern Oregon. Now the INDEPENDENT really believes that Mr. Hare does not care to debate the money question since he is rather a short man and can not make the straddle floor for populists orators by Weaver and Taubemack.

Republicans have indeed been lucky so they say for at least the last three or four years. Prediction after prediction has been verified. And now another assertion, though not having the force of prophecy, has been proven. If republicans have charged that populists are not friends to silver, that they do not hold to unlimited silver coinage, but are at heart for flat paper money. The leaders have hotly denied this, but now comes Coxey to be feated and petted by the rank and file of the party and declares that the national and state committees have abandoned the Omaha platform and made a bargain and sale to the free silver schemers. In his Portland speech he rehabilitated the old greenback theory. In his Portland interview he told how the leaders had tried to choke him off. In his Cornelius speech yesterday he declared for flat money pure and simple. The people of this county have now heard Mr. Hare, Mr. Timmons, Mr. Davis of Texas and now Mr. Coxey and are able to judge whether or not the populists are straddling on the money question. It seems to republicans that the scab is a scab that will split the party wide open.

DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE

Documentary evidence is better than personal statements. Written testimony shows that Hon. Samuel Hughes has been and is misquoted when it is stated that he is or ever was opposed to deducting indebtedness from property listed for taxation. Mr. Hughes was a member of the commission to examine the matters of assessment and taxation created by the legislature of 1885. Feb. 20th, 1886, the commission reported, bringing in a minority as well as a majority report. The majority of the committee reported a bill retaining the mortgage tax law and the idea of "the deduction for debts made from credits." This is what has later been styled a deduction of indebtedness when a corresponding credit is discovered. The majority report was signed by Henry Failing, W. J. Herren, A. Nashburg, S. Hughes, C. J. Smith, and Wm. Hall. The minority report was signed by R. S. Shahan who could not agree to the deduction of indebtedness. That minority report landed Strahan on the bench of the Supreme court while the other members of the Commission stayed at home. Public opinion has changed since then but while Mr. Hughes has remained steadfast at that point of indebtedness deduction, there are those who would try to defeat him for Strahan's error.

Last Monday Hon. Thos. H. Tongue addressed a large and enthusiastic gathering in the city hall on the political issues of the day. He clearly and ably showed up corrupt democratic legislation and the weakness of populism. Protection, he said, was the principal issue; what was needed to protect our American manufactures, our homes and the credit of our government. After demonstrating the fallacies of free trade and the necessity of returning to the financial issues. He deprecated silver monometallism as an unnecessary contraction of the currency and advocated bimetalism and the use of all the silver that can be kept in circulation at par with gold. He spoke just two hours and a half. Many prominent present say it was the best address ever delivered here.—Cottage Grove Leader.
