OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY

FRIDAY, JULY 2, 1897.

Senator Pettigrew while speaking in the senate chamber last Saturday in opposition to the tariff bill last his voice by paralysis of the vocal cords.

Itangers Spain to find that Cuban military campaigns are so lean in honors to the haughty don, and that the insurgents are so stubborn.

Notwithstanding the pessimistic view expressed by the sixteen members, the bimetallic commission sent to Europe is meeting with many things that encourages the members to expect the complete success of their mission.

The University of Oregon has undertaken to print and distribute the primary sources of the history of Oregon. It will be published in numbers of from 25 to 30 pages each and as often as material for that much has been brought together.

For one time the trans-continental roads have as much business as they can handle. For the Christian Endeavor Association at San Francisco next week a $25 rate was made from the Mississippi to San Francisco.

A gun for pitching balls in the popular American game of base ball has been invented. It is a tube large enough to receive the regulation base ball and about two feet long.

It comes out that the Japanese object to the Hawaiian annexation treaty for the reason that Japanese emigrants have the right and privilege of becoming citizens of Hawaii under the present government.

WE GLORY IN AMERICANISM.

The intense Americanism of this date has not been excited at any time since the '60's. This is gratifying to note. In our own country, at least, it is becoming popular to be an American.

"Values," exclaims the Salt Lake Tribune, "have fallen for the reason there is a scarcity of money, and there is just no way to stop the decline of values and let values begin again to creep up."

The Japanese are regarded as bold, smart and extremely visionary, and afflicted with a dream for empire and greatness. He believed that Japan had already concentrated a fleet for Hawaii in addition to the Naniwa and other vessels now at Honolulu.

The fears that the Hawaiian annexation treaty will not secure the necessary strength in the senate for passage, are probably groundless.

Some of the friends of Hawaiian annexation fear that a two-thirds vote in the senate could be had for a treaty, and they appear to think that this will necessarily keep Hawaii out.

Texas, which gained its independence of Mexico in 1836, asked for admission into the union in 1845, but a proposition for annexation was rejected by the senate.

A news report of June 29th states that: As a result of the recent experimental shipment of American exports to England under the patronage of the agricultural department, an order has been placed by a London firm of merchants for the entire daily product of the Iowa agricultural college.

This strange and somewhat sensational story is the contents of a letter written from the city of Mexico by an officer known to be a close confidant of Pres. Diaz. The story is that a Japanese government commissioner recently visited Mexico for the ostensible purpose of securing colonial rights, which had they been granted, would have resulted in a great influx of Japanese into two of the western states which are regarded as the richest in natural resources in the republic.

The German emperor has taken alarm at the dominance of the United States in American politics. He evidently wants America for a dumping ground, but finds a hindrance in the Monroe doctrine a policy which America has hitherto been able to maintain without resort to arms.

The tariff debate in the senate is so nearly completed that it is thought a vote will be reached today or tomorrow. The bill then goes to the House for a concurrence in the senate amendments. These have been so carefully considered by the protectionists of both houses that it is more than probable that no conference committee will be necessary.

The difficulties that rocked the State university at Eugene have been settled as far as the votes of the regents can govern. Pres. Chapman remains and so do the other professors. Ex-state Supt. McEroy is provided for as well as professor Lilly. It now remains for the citizens of Eugene to compose themselves. One suggestion ought however to be made. The students ought not hereafter to sign charges preferred against the faculty or any member of it.

The following note has been received and while it was not intended for publication, yet there are some thoughts and information that should be known by the public. Hence the letter is given in full: FARMINGTON, OREGON, June 26th, 1897. Dear Sir:— I saw a notice in your last issue stating that the executive committee of your board of trade is sending around to inspect the beet business.

A Life Saved.

A FOND DAUGHTER WAS NIGH TO DEATH. Frank B. Trout Tells a Reporter of How His Daughter's Life Was Saved. All Parents Should be Interested in This Narrative.

Using as a nucleus for his investigation the rumor that the life of the daughter of Frank B. Trout, well known in Detroit, Mich., had been saved, a reporter called on Mr. Trout at his residence, 1037 Grand Avenue.

When she was fifteen she weighed only ninety pounds, and the doctors said it was anemia. Several physicians said she might die, but that if you would not let her starve in consumption. No doctor was called for her, and we concluded ourselves, we would do our best to give her life.

Promises elected McKinley. The same promises are killing the agricultural people.—Bryan Organ." As to the farmer this is not true. While the agricultural class, may not be making as much net cash as at one time, it is making a living—making enough to eat.
