A MILLION DOLLARS DAILY DESTROYED.

Every working day in the year Uncle Sam destroys a million dollars; deliberately tears up and grinds to pulp one million dollars' worth of paper money—genuine bank notes and greenbacks.

Several men were smoking and talking in the office of a hotel in one of the larger towns of West Virginia when a stranger said:

Rube, this is a snap. That stranger thinks the face sell hasn't come this far yet, but I read all about it in the paper week before last.

It's just this: Most people, when they are asked to put down the hours on a piece of paper, will write the letters all correct till they get to 4 o'clock and then they'll put down IV, but all watches have four 1's instead.

John F. Coyle writes of Henry Clay's farewell to the Senate in the September Ladies' Home Journal, regarding it as the most dramatic event ever witnessed in the United States Senate.

Stranger you had an idea that we didn't know about this trick here, but you see we do. Then he went on carefully omitting the VI for 6 and explaining verbally why this number did not appear on the watch face.

The stranger produced a $10 note, and that with the capital of the two friends was placed in the hands of the clerk.

GOVERNMENT BY INJUNCTION

Text Verbatim of Order by Justice Jackson. DEFENSE OF INDIVIDUAL FREEDOM. The strikers' stick together and the prevention of unlawful acts necessary.

Some of us do not know what Government by Injunction is and we do not pretend to such knowledge, but if the Pennsylvania coal miners are peaceable citizens then the order of the court will not disturb them.

"On this, the 14th day of August, 1897, in chambers, complaint in the title of the undersigned, one of the judges of the circuit court of the United States of the district of West Virginia its bill of complaint, alleging among other things that the defendants named in its said bill are about to interfere with the operating and conducting plant and mine and by such interference are about to prevent the employees of the plaintiff from mining and producing coal in and from its mine, and that unless the undersigned judge grant an immediate restraining order, preventing them from interfering with the employees of the said plaintiff, there was great danger of irreparable injury and damage and loss to the said plaintiff inasmuch as the defendants are insolvent and wholly irresponsible in damages in an action at law.

"Upon consideration whereof it is ordered that the plaintiff's prayer be fixed with the clerk of this court at the city of Charleston, in the State of West Virginia and that process do restrain and a temporary restraining order is hereby allowed, preventing, and prohibiting the defendants, their confederates and all others associated with them from in any manner interfering with the plaintiffs employees now in its employment at or upon its premises, or from in any manner interfering with any person going up on the premises who may desire to enter its employment hereafter by the use of threats, personal violence, intimidation, or by any means whatsoever calculated to intimidate, terrorize and alarm, or place in fear any of the employees of the plaintiff in or about the premises of the plaintiff for the purpose of inducing the employees in said mines to quit and abandon their work in them.

"And the said defendants, their confederates and associates are further restrained from conducting, endeavoring to procure and induce the plaintiff's employees from working in its mines and upon its premises by any improper threats, unlawful means or agencies whatsoever; and the said defendants are further enjoined as well as their confederates and associates from in any manner interfering with the plaintiffs employees in said mines on and near plaintiffs premises.

"The plaintiff's motion for a permanent injunction, now made in chambers, is set down for hearing at the United States court room at the city of Charleston on November 10, 1897, that being the first day of the next term thereof. But a motion to dissolve this injunction will be considered at Charleston on September 7, next upon 10 days' notice of such motion to the plaintiff. This injunction is not to take effect until the plaintiff, or some responsible person on its behalf, shall enter into bond in the sum of $5,000, conditioned to pay all such costs and damages as may accrue to the defendants by reason of the plaintiff's suing out this injunction, should the same be hereafter dissolved."

"On this same subject, the New York Tribune, one of the most conservative papers in the nation, gives utterance to this sentiment: "It can hardly be denied that the camping about a mine, the constant marching and marching, the daily repetition of appeals which when made by large and organized bodies necessarily take on something of the nature of threats, do in fact constitute a kind of siege. It is outward form peaceful. But in essence, and in the deliberate intention of those who direct it, the movement is to a large extent coercive. Its continuous character is an admission that

OVER THE STATE ITEMS

Items of Interest From All Parts of the State. JOHN ROLTON LOSES 500 DOLLARS. A Hold-up Between Oregon City and Portland—Charles Sally the Would-be Murderer Caught.

Sheepmen of Gilliam county say that the grass is drying up pretty fast in the mountains and that the sheep will be taken to their home range earlier than usual this season.

Charles Sally, who shot at but missed Ida Gilmore in Baker City, last Monday night, was captured by the authorities on the farm of his uncle, near Express, last Wednesday.

Charles McKay and Charles White were robbed by highwaymen on the road between Oregon City and Portland last week. It is hinted that the robbers are the same that held up the Willhoit stage.

The Brownsville Woolen Mill are so crowded with orders for goods that the machinery is kept humming from daylight till dark, and some of it day and night, says the Brownsville Times. On Wednesday last the wages of employes were advanced 5 per cent.

The whistle of the pine needle factory was heard in Grant's Pass last week. The engines and machinery are in position and ready for operation, with the exception of a few minor accessories, which will soon be put in place. It is expected that the factory will start up this week.

The Vale Advocate says that in the canyon of the Malheur there is a small active animal unlike anything described in the natural histories. By people living on the Malheur it is called a "rocket cat" although it is very unlike the common stambill wild cat, of which there are many in the county.

Tom Barger, of the Helix country in Umatilla county takes the palm so far this season for growing the largest yield of barley per acre. His barley turned out 70 bushels per acre; his wheat went above 40 bushels. He sold his wheat crop for better than 75 cents, and he is in excellent humor in consequence.

J. N. Brandberry of Corvallis, while assisting last week in raising a smokstack in the hophouse two miles from Corvallis, fell 18 feet from a ladder and a section of pipe weighing 75 pounds, fell across him. Both of his arms were broken near the wrists, and he was badly bruised about the face.

THROWING RICE AND SLIPPERS.

In the September Ladies Home Journal, Edwark W. Bok notes the abuse of the pretty custom of casting a small parcel of rice or a dainty slipper after a departing bride and groom an unspoken Gospel. "The dainty slipper, he says, has been transformed into the old show of doubtful origin, and thrown with force and accuracy causing no end of discomfort. And this is what two pretty customs have degenerated into. They have been vulgarized, and therefore, the sooner they pass into disuse the better. The sentiment of the custom has been lost. Rice and shoes are no longer omens of good luck. The modern thrower of them has transformed them into missiles with which to annoy and mortify the bride and groom. The better class of people have already begun to substitute a shower of rose petals and the new and far more beautiful idea is rapidly being followed. We might have preserved the old customs but we have not. Henceforth, promiscuous rice-throwing and the casting of old shoes at weddings will be left to the bores of our modern society, into whose hands these acts have fallen, and who seem happiest when they can convert the graceful customs of olden times into practical jokes."

After all the complaints of excessive heat during the months recently ended, the meteorological table furnished by the weather service in Portland shows that it is compared favorably with the Augusts of the past quarter of a century. The mean temperature was, it is true, slightly in excess of most of its predecessors, and was not exceeded by that of any one of them. Present discomfort is always greater than that which is past, hence the estimate which made August of the present year the hottest and dustiest month that was ever experienced in these parts, and which makes the present rainy day the most disagreeable ever known to an Oregon September. The meteorological report will correct the errors in the last estimate in due time, just as it did those in the estimate of the discomforts in August. The truth is that the seasons size up pretty evenly one year with another, and that Oregonians have very little in the way of climatic discomforts of which to complain at any season, and since, because of the recent inopportune rain many people are likely to forget that the sun never shown, and get out rick-rack for gratuitous circulation the declaration that it "rains thirteen months in the year in Oregon," it may be well to quote from the meteorological summary the items showing the deficiency in precipitation from September 1, 1896, to the same date of the present year—7.48 inches.

A German capitalist makes a proposition to citizens of Union county to build a beet sugar factory, that will manufacture the product of 3000 acres of land.

John Holton, an old Jackson county pioneer who puts his trust in banks, succeeded by hard labor in saving between $400 and $500 in gold. He wanted to take a trip to the seashore during the warm weather, so he banked his money in his granary and left a diagram with his wife, showing the location of the treasure. When he returned, the diagram was in the bottom of the trunk and the gold was probably in the bottom of somebody's pocket, as Mr. Holton has not found it yet. A Mr. Egbert and his wife stopped with Mrs. Holton during Mr. Holton's absence, and Mr. Holton thinks their departure was coincident with that of the gold.
