I have been a sufferer from chronic diarrhoea ever since the war, and have used all kinds of medicines for it. THE WAR REVENU BILL

Where Uncle Sam's Fighting Money Is Raised.

There are some people who seem to entertain a slightly deteriorating opinion of the insurgent leader, Aguinaldo, in the Philippines, because he sold out to Spanish authorities, and afterwards renewed his hostilities. But as he gained his title on such methods from Spain itself, and appears to treat with the United States in the frank and open manner in which he is treated, it might be well enough to reserve any unfavorable opinion or comment until he is given a fair trial in dealing with a just people.

Many old soldiers now feel the effects of the hard service they endured during the war. Mr. Geo. S. Anderson, of Rossville, York county Penn., who saw the hardest kind of service at the front, is now frequently troubled with rheumatism. "I had a severe attack lately," he says, "and procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It did so much good that I would like to know what you would charge me for one dozen bottles." Mr. Anderson wanted it both for his own use and supply it to his friends and neighbors, as every family should have a bottle of it in their home not only for rheumatism but lame back sprains, swellings, cuts, bruises and burns, for which it is unequalled. For sale by Delta Drug store.

Whooping Cough.
I had a little boy who was nearly dead from an attack of whooping cough. My neighbors recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I did not think that any medicine would help him, but after giving him a few doses of that remedy I noticed an improvement and one bottle cured him entirely. It is the best cough remedy I ever had in the house.—J. L. Moore, South Burgettstown Pa. For sale at the Delta Drug store.

BUSINESS IS BUSINESS.

There is likely to be, as there ought to be, small patience on this Pacific coast with any one who rises up at this time to interfere with harvest of the fruits of this war in the Pacific. It is the flood in the tide of our affairs here, and it must be taken now. The war is bringing into near vision the promised land of opportunity we have hitherto been permitted to view only from afar. The Pacific coast now seems to stand at the open door of a great destiny. This includes:

Annexation of Hawaii.
The Nicaragua canal.
A trans-Pacific cable.
A great Pacific navy.
Drydocks and fortifications.
Naval and coaling stations in the Pacific.
Commercial harbors in trans-Pacific waters.

No objection lies against indulgence of fine theories by New England poets and professors about the historic antipathy of the American people to war of conquest and about the dread dangers of empire. Such speculations make agreeable food for reflection, and may serve to beguile many a pleasant hour in the club reading-room or at the seaside. None with correct taste could object to articles of that sort in his favorite magazine, or would slight them in his reading on a Sunday afternoon or his day off.

But good nature must not be presumed upon too far. The man with a family to provide for will leave such speculations outside his secret door. If we of this Pacific coast are going to get on, we must do business. We must have many markets over seas, high piled cargoes rattling down to steamship docks, ships to sail them in, navies to protect them, forts and drydocks, cables and coal piles to make them effective. Empire, in its commercial, not governmental, sense, is just about what we want. New York and New England have grown rich in trade with Europe. We must grow rich in trade with Asia. Not altogether to London town shall cargoes from Cathay be carried, but to Portland and San Francisco, Seattle and Tacoma. The Suez canal is well enough for its owners and its advocates, including Mr. Nizam, but it is not the canal for us. The isthmus must be pierced, and to prevent a foreign power from acquiring a base against its Pacific entrance, Hawaii must become our own, and a navy must be created capable of offense and defense against any foe in Pacific waters.

Awakening Asia is big with possibilities, but they must be grasped. If we do not have another New York and New England gathered about the harbors of the Columbia river, it will be simply and solely because we have passed by the open door of opportunity. Commercial in its ends, the problem is none the less governmental in its means. Trade follows the flag. Adequate action at this critical time, as Captain Mahan grandly puts it, "requires underlying military readiness, like the proverbial iron hand under the velvet glove." And he goes on to specify three essentials of this military readiness: Coast defense by forts and ships; naval force, the arm of offensive power, "which alone enables a country to extend its influence outward"; and an inviolable resolution that no foreign state shall henceforth acquire a coaling position within 3000 miles of San Francisco. We are at home on the Pacific. One of its banks is ours, and ours should be with its opposite shore from Vladivostok to Melbourne. The question is: Shall we take it, or shall we turn it over to fleets that drag themselves thither from Atlantic harbors?

The destiny of these Pacific states our national government is holding in its hand today. Our men in congress are voting to sustain its hands. Our men at home are paying its taxes and subscribing for its war bonds. Our women are giving their first-born to defend its flag on sea and land. And for our share we want a chance to do business. We want just such aid and protection to our growing trade in the Orient as England jealously gives to Englishmen and Germany to Germans. Just this we want and must have. Nothing less will be our rightful due.

THE SPANISH IN HISTORY.
The reign of Philip the Second, of Spain, said to have been the first thoroughly typical Spanish king, illustrates Spanish rule at home—that of a royal monster of perfidy, ingratitude, tyranny, cruelty, and lust." We quote several paragraphs:

A Baker City doctor is working on a plan to ozone medicines, in other words, to introduce the ozone in the atmosphere into medicines, thereby increasing their medicinal properties, as well as adding to their strength.

W. S. Jack informs the Silverton Appeal that from one acre of land which he had planted to strawberries, he picked 5400 boxes of fine berries. Mr. Jack found sale for his berries at a price averaging a little over 3 cents per box.
Two hundred and twenty Mexican burros were driven through Long Creek on Wednesday, en route to Seattle. They were brought from southern Utah, and will be sold in the Sound city to Klondike outfitting companies.

James Rowe, of Oregon City has completed his new cannon. He gave it a trial and it was found to work perfectly. It is made of solid steel, is 5 1/2 feet long, with a bore of 2 1/2 inches, and will be used in firing patriotic salutes on the Fourth of July.
Frank Sayres brought to Moro on Saturday, a sample stool of wheat 8 1/2 feet high, with very large heads, and a surprising number of heads too, even for this country, says the Moro Leader. The wheat was just heading out, and would have been considerably taller if left to mature.

Judge Boise, who has just been elected in the third district, is 79 years of age, and he enters upon a six-years' term, at the close of which, should he live, he will be 85. He has been on the bench and held other offices longer than any other citizen in the state, and is hale and hearty.
The railroad office at Elgin was robbed Tuesday night. Some small change in the money drawer, a revolver and a watch were taken by the robber. An attempt was also made to crack the safe, but it was not a success. An entrance into the building was made through a window.

During the thunder storm at Ridge, Umatilla county, last week, a large tree near John Bisher's barn was struck by lightning and torn in pieces. C. Coombes was shoe ked at his home, and somewhat injured, but is recovering. Bisher lost a cow, James Porter a fine horse, and another horse was killed at the Cunningham place.
Some days ago three Chinese pheasants were seen in R. Thomas' yard in Grant's Pass. About five years ago a number of hunters in Josephine county secured several pairs from the Willamette valley and turned them loose in the country in order to propagate the bird in Southern Oregon. They have been heard from on several occasions, but they are not increasing very rapidly. It is supposed that these birds, many of which, have been shot by reckless hunters.

Johann Puffen of Portland has made a lumber raft which is 330 feet long, 30 feet wide and sinks into the water 20 feet. It contains 5,230,000 feet of lumber enough to build 90 miles of sidewalk 10 feet wide. It is intended to take the raft to the San Francisco market. It was towed to Astoria last week by two seven ton and two river tow boats. This is the first time the attempt to take lumber to market over the ocean by rafting has been attempted.

"You may fire when ready, Gridley." That phrase of Commodore Dewey's, as the Olympia steaming slowly, was getting the range of her guns on the Spanish fleet, is likely to be long quoted and widely remembered. Surely, says the Clatsopian, it breathes coolness, care, confidence in the face of an enormous and pressing responsibility. Compare it with the thunder it instantly awakened, the tremendous force it let loose, the terrible destruction that followed and you will find it the most typical Americanism of the quarter-century. Mark it to its poitness, as well as its touch of comradeship.
