John Marshall's Sphere.

By ROBERT C. V. MEYERS.
(Copyright, 1897, by the Author.)

John Marshall, according to certain people, was not only a fool and a snob, but a most exclusive specimen of the two classes.
John Marshall had his theory. "I understand the fool to be he who invents nothing in thought or deed. I am so frequently bored by the thoughts and deeds of men as mediocre as myself that I prefer to be a fool rather than thus be a human read. Thursday's sweeping words regarding snobs, and his besom may touch me. Yet I cannot help being rich and having tastes. I do not work because the wealth at my command might if employed in traffic swamp numerous small concerns." That was the theory of the man who was a struggler. I go where the fancy leads me, and, existing in an heroic age, I cannot take to a war against individuals and give final orders respecting my chain armor, so I confine my energies to the wrestling of the least displeasure from society, to the least of my own and the setting of my own. And thus I am designated an exclusive fool and snob. Hard luck!

BICYCLE HEART.

Dr. S. C. Stanton, who has charge of the examination of recruits for the regular army in Chicago has caused a sensation among medical men by declaring that an habitual rider of bicycles or a scorcher is unfit physically to serve as a soldier in the army. He has made this matter the subject of his severest tests in his examinations of applicants for enlistment, and many men have been rejected because of a "bicycle heart," as the practitioners term it, caused by excessive exercise in riding a wheel.

Is Your Business Dull?

Then this is the time to improve it. Don't wait until "something turns up," but turn it up yourself. Remember this—the purpose of advertising is to bring business. The wise business man will advertise as much—if not more—in dull seasons as in busy seasons. A good and time-honored way of advertising is through the Hillsboro Independent. Whether you want to get out something new to send through the mails or something cheap to throw around, come and see us.

Rush Work

Is a problem in most job offices. Not so with the Hillsboro Independent Printery. We have a large force of men at work all the time and can "rush" a job for you without any trouble. When you want work done quickly give the Hillsboro Independent Job Office a trial.

If You Were He

Yes, if you were the creditor and saw the merchant sitting idly in his shop accumulating more dust, cobwebs and out-of-style goods than cash, you would probably feel like asking, "Why don't you?"

PAP "HAYSEED" WRITES HOME.

Sergeant H. L. McAlister, Co. A, 2d Or. Inf., but Pap "Hayseed" when he played center on the O. A. C. football team writes to his father and mother from Honolulu. The INDEPENDENT has been permitted to see the letter and herewith prints it for the people with whom he has associated since leaving America.
Honolulu, June 2, 1898.

Dear father and mother—Well, to begin this letter I will say that I am well and enjoying good health. When we left San Francisco our time was limited and I hardly had opportunity to write what I did. I am now with my company and have more time to myself. In regard to army life, all I can say is, that it is not hard and much better than I expected all along; but expect to go through many tight places before I see my native land again, and will say further that I remember hearing patriotic speeches all patriotism spoken of by people who never went through much and they liked to speak of it but I know now they know nothing about it. It is not a pleasant feeling to think that at any time we may be blown up by a Spanish shell.

We arrived here safe last night after a seven days' ride without a stop. I was seasick like all the rest for three days, but after I became well, I could never get enough to eat. Our rations were issued three times a day, but nothing for a sick man to eat. There are times we have not enough to eat, and other times plenty—nothing to be wasted. So long as we get what we do I will be satisfied.

Honolulu is 2100 miles from San Francisco; the island is of volcanic formation. The soil is the same as in Oregon, so is the rock. The island is 80 long and 3 miles wide; it contains as much land as the other 13 islands combined. Honolulu is the largest city in the group and has 50,000 inhabitants who are of every nationality on earth almost. English is the prevailing language, while nearly all can speak the native tongue.

The climate is about the same the year round; it ranges from 65° to 90° F. Noon is the hottest time of the day. All kinds of tropical fruit grow the year around. I would judge that it would not be a good climate for an American to work very hard and be able to stand. It seems an ideal place just like a green house.

Long before we came in sight of the city, strange as it may seem, Old Glory could be seen waving high on the mountain side. We did not know the Hawaiian flag when we saw it, but it floated from our main masts, and such a demonstration that met us at the wharf! Crowds were gathered there. You ought to have heard us yell when we saw the Charleston and Benington. Everything that had a whistle blew it. The first thing that we heard was, "When are you going to annex us?" No one was allowed on shore. The night was hot and sleep seemed impossible.

Today we were given shore leave from 9 till 2 o'clock. I happened to be of the first to go on shore—to set foot on foreign soil. Everything was decorated with American flags, and everything was free for a blue coat. Eight thousand dollars was raised for our entertainment. I never saw people so free with everything in my life.

Tomorrow is the great day, a big parade and shore leave all day with plenty to eat. I do not like it much for I am afraid of this hot climate and Manila is 500 miles south; the reception there will not be so pleasant as we have received at other places.

I will not go on the parade tomorrow for my left ankle is sprained and I can not use it at all. I let it go too long before I did anything for it. It was done the other night while I was corporal of the guard; was posting two sentries in the engine room. While going down a hatch way the two sentries fell on top of me; the sea was rough that night. I had to go to the hospital on account of it. I want to go out to the barbecue tomorrow, and hope my foot will be strong enough to stay under me though I have some doubts.

Friday, June 3, 1898.

It was as I expected—had to stay aboard all day. I might as well have seen nothing yesterday. The boys have been treated fine, anything they want is given them. To give you an idea of what they have, you may think it big but it is not, 2,000 potatoes sold, 1600 bottles of soda pops, 20,000 pine apples, 8,000 lbs. sandwiches and tons of other fruit. I saw part of it yesterday and never before saw like.

The mail steamer will be in tonight; we will know then whether we go on tomorrow or wait for further orders. At present nothing is absolutely known. Brig. Gen. T. H. Anderson is on our ship, and of course we are all the time coming in contact with officers.

We are all anxious to be going, rather than to be stopping all the time. There are some very homesick boys as is always the case.
Across the bay about two miles the prison looms up and one can see it after night because of the electric lights; just a little ways east are the battleships. They are a great thing, a solid mass of steel. Not a great way from us in the harbor is an old schooner, a former king's battleship, a regular, but now it is used as a pest house for the lepers. It has not been able to see one yet. They say it is a sad sight when they go to take them away once a month.
Not more than 200 yards from us is a genuine Spanish vessel, a freighter. She is a three master, a trined ship, and has been loaded for a month, but does not leave the harbor. She would be a rich prize for some one.

The people here that are natives are, as a rule, more intelligent than our Indians. I have been watching them work all day; they are very lazy, move just enough to keep at work. They resemble a negro very much. I like to hear them sing in their native language. They play the guitar and banjo which makes their music sound very nice. The women are very good looking while young but as they grow old they are very ugly; at thirty to me they look to be eighty.
Well I have had to take a bath every day in sea water, it is a good thing, so we keep clean in the hot climate.
Well I have written all that will interest you so will close, address my mail thusly:
Co. "A," 2nd Regt. Oregon U. S. Volunteers, Presidio, California.

WOOL COMING IN AT BAKER CITY

Wayne Osborn appointed to Annapolis Military Academy by Congressman Tongue.

There will be no appropriation for the Yaquina Bay improvement this year.

The graindealers in Sherman county are consolidating their interests by forming one corporation.

Congressman Tongue has appointed Wayne Osborn to the Annapolis Naval Academy. Walter S. Smith of Sublimity is alternate.

About $55,000 worth of wool has been stored in Baker City warehouses. The total will reach $80,000 before the close of the season.

Le Roy George, a rattlesnake dealer, visited The Dalles Wednesday. He proved his efficiency in his business by journeying to Rockland and capturing 13 live rattlers, which he shipped to Portland.

Marked salmon turned into the Columbia in 1895 as young fish have been caught this year and weigh from 16 to 48 pounds. The fish commissioner regards this as conclusive evidence that fish revisit their former haunts.

Last Thursday in a Lane county hay-field T. M. McGrath aged 65 years deliberately walked up to Chas. Turner aged 19 and shot him dead in his tracks. The old man was jealous of the boy, but the testimony shows that there was no reason for it.

The Presbyterian and M. E. churches of Independence have agreed to unite their congregations on Sunday evenings during the months of July and August. This arrangement will begin on Sunday evening next by union service in the M. E. church. Sermon by Rev. G. H. Whiteman.

While tearing down her residence a few weeks ago, Mrs. J. S. Luckey, of Eugene, found a $5 bill wadded up in a small space. It looked as if it had been exposed to at least 20 winters of rain. It was taken to the First National bank, and the clerks were able to make out a few words on the margin—"Five dollars." It was sent to the treasury department, and on Wednesday the bank received for Mrs. Luckey a bright, new, crisp $5 silver note in return therefor.

Several reports that liquor had been sold to minors were brought to the attention of the recent Linn county grand jury. Evidence, submitted to convict, was not submitted to the jury and no indictments were returned. The above from an Albany paper is interpreted to mean that some one in Linn county is not a good citizen for if he knows of violations of the law he ought to aid good government in enforcing the statutes. If he does not know the facts of which he gossips he is a liar and hence not a good citizen.

Persons troubled with diarrhoea will be interested in the experience of Mr. W. M. Bush, clerk of Hotel Dorrance, Providence, R. I. He says: "For several years I have been almost a constant sufferer from diarrhoea, the frequent attacks completely prostrating me and rendering me unfit for my duties at this hotel. About two years ago a traveling salesman kindly gave me a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Much to my surprise and delight its effect was immediate. Whenever I felt symptoms of the disease I would fortify myself against the attack with a few doses of this valuable remedy. The result has been very satisfactory and almost complete relief from the affliction." For sale by the Delta Drug Store.

Our baby has been continually troubled with colic and cholera infantum since his birth, and all that we could do for him did not seem to give more than temporary relief, until we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Since giving that remedy he has not been troubled. We want to give you this testimonial as an evidence of our gratitude, and that you need it to advertise your meritorious remedy. G. M. Law, Keokuk Iowa. For sale by the Delta Drug Store.

"Have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family for years and always with good results," says Mr. W. B. Cooper, of El Rio, Cal. "For small children we find it especially effective." For sale by the Delta Drug Store.

Dr. Van Royden, the present Surgeon-General, read a paper strongly urging its adoption at the Moscow international medical congress, in which he submitted plans of such a ship. These are as follows: "The vessel as designed will be three thousand five hundred and fifty tons displacement; two hundred and seventy-five feet on the load line and three hundred feet over all; with twin screws and a speed of fourteen knots; fifty feet beam, and drawing eighteen feet; a coal capacity of four hundred and fifty tons, giving eighteen days' steaming at ten knots.
