LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Spring capes at Schulmerich & Son.

The weather is ideal this week for making hay.

For first class guaranteed dental work call on Dr. Brown.

Fir limb wood for sale at $1.00 a load. Leave orders at the bakery.

Mrs. Frazier is visiting this week with her mother, Mrs. Sam'l Williams.

Cherries are in their prime and abundant. No one who is fond of that fruit need go hungry.

The place to get a shave, haircut or shampoo is next door to Koch's butcher shop. F. Barber prop.

Calvin Jack, jr. recorder, has selected Mr. John Thornburg to be his deputy. A most excellent choice.

Rev Metzgar of Lafayette will occupy the pulpit in the Evangelical church next Sunday at 11 o'clock.

The people who annually take outing to the coast or the mountains begin to talk of favorite camping places. Already some have pitched tents at Soda springs on Clear Creek.

Married, at the home of the bride's parents, this city, July 2, 1898, by Rev. L. M. Booger, assisted by Rev. H. A. Deck, Mr. H. G. Downing and Miss Lilla M. Pauli.

Dr. Linklater, last Friday evening, entertained the members of Phoenicia temple, Rathbone Sisters, on his beautiful lawn. His cherries were in prime condition. A more contented and happy company has not assembled any where else this summer.

The case of State v. Mary Englebrecht charged with obstructing the public highway with a fence was tried last Tuesday in Justice Smith,s court before a jury. A verdict of not guilty was returned. Bagley for state and E. B. Tongue for defense.

Personal invitations have been sent to many out side of the county to attend the semi centennial celebrations Forest Grove tomorrow; to people of the county a verbal invitation, as it were, is given. The committee having the matter in hand say "Come. Let us all go.

Mr. Geo. Schulmerich of Schulmerich & Son, fell out of a cherry tree the first of the week. He saw the best fruit high up and thought a limb two inches in diameter was enough wood to stand on, but it was brittle and when he reached out there was a crash. George was rudely shaken up but a few days rest restored him.

The quartet choir at the Congregational church, Miss Poe soprano, Mrs. Dr. A. B. Bailey alto, Dr. A. B. Bailey tenor, and Fred Vrooman bass, sang last Sunday an old hymn "When I can read my title clear" to new tunes. The music was fine and its rendering was faultless. The piece was all the more appreciated since the congregation recognized every line of the poetry.

I. L. Whitcomb is preparing his camping wagon for a trip to the coast. When he reaches the beach he will make a thorough examination and if he finds a promising ford he will not stop in Oregon but go without further loitering to Hawaii. The only concern he now feels is the possibility of a scant supply of grass and herbage for his team and proper shade for the noon halt.

Several of the members of the Congregational church of this city have gone to Portland to attend the great National Council held there this week and the next. Mr. Hughes expects to be able to bring one of the visiting ministerial delegates back with him Saturday to occupy his pulpit during the Sabbath. This is the most definite announcement that can be made as we go to press.

Paul Colby, whom W. R. Day brought to the poor farm last week, rapidly grew worse till he died yesterday morning. His ailment was of quite long standing. It was first an inflammation of the middle ear. He was treated at home for a time, then he was taken to a hospital at Portland where he was treated for three months, but without permanent relief. After coming here the inflammation extended to the base of the brain then to the spinal cord, then the end. Colby was of one of the European nations, either Italy or Germany. He was about 48 years of age.

Judge E D. Shattuck paid a visit to Hillsboro on Wednesday last. The Judge has just completed his last term on the bench in the 4th district, and having reached an age, 70 years and more, when men may retire from active business it is not probable that he will accept another term. Judge Shattuck came from Vermont to Oregon in the spring of 1853. The first year of his residence was spent at Oregon City. From there he came to this county and accepted the principalship of Tualatin Academy at Forest Grove, where he stayed for two or more years. During the latter part of his residence in Washington county he acted as probate judge. The first law case of any importance when he was attorney was the case of the territory v. Mc Millen charged with the murder of John Masters then living near Reedville. In the conduct of that case, Shattuck's abilities were seen by Dave Logan then the leading barrister in the state, and a partnership was offered and accepted. The firm of Logan & Shattuck was an able one and was in business for several years. After a time Shattuck went on the supreme bench, the judges at that time performing the duties of circuit judges. His judicial mind was recognized and appreciated so that he has almost continuously since been on the bench. At the first Shattuck was a whig in politics and elected probate judge on the whig ticket. Then the whig organization was abandoned, and the republican party was formed. The judge allied himself with the new party and trained with Amory Holbrook, Billy Adams and Dave Logan. In later years he could not get along well with the republicans wherefore he worked with the democrats. But it has not been said of him that he favors free silver coinage. The judge has been on the bench so much of his life that he has not had time to make money, though by economy he has saved something and is now understood to be fairly well situated financially. The judge's health is better this year than it has been and his many friends hope to meet him with kindly greetings for another decade at least.

The Fourth was a quiet day in Hillsboro since most of the people went to Forest Grove. But when the morning papers were delivered and it was known that Cervera's fleet at Santiago was destroyed, a few of the men got together to fire a salute in the court yard. Lampkin's canon was got out but the first charge was a little heavy and the gun was bursted. Anvils were then brough out and the noise continued. Guns were fired for all the American heroes, Dewey, Sampson, Schley, Clark, Shafter and Hobson. But when guns were fired for Cevera or any other Spaniard the ordinance refused to make a sharp report. Only a fizzle was heard.

Citizens of Washington county who have relatives or friends in the army at the front are requested to file with the secretary of the Emergency Corps Hillsboro, Miss Bernice Lathem, their names and home address. This is not for the purpose of giving Washington county credit for having furnished volunteers, but that prompt notice may be given to friends at home in case of an accident.

J. M. Grecar of the Climax Mills returned home last Monday. He had a good trip which was enjoyed to the highest. The old home did not appear natural—more fences, more buildings, more shaded lawns—really another country. The boys and girls, too, are a different set. Ten years in a country making its first great improvements present many changes.

There will be a lawn party at the residence of R. E. Bryan on Second street next Tuesday evening in aid of the Emergency corps work. An address will be delivered by Dr. Rogers of Forest Grove on the Philippine islands, their climate soil and civilization. Other literary exercises will be of the entertainment. Refreshments will be served.

The O. R. & N. Co. is sending steamers to San Francisco every four days. The sailing dates from Portland for the month of July will be as follows: 5, 9, 13, 17, 21, 25, and 29. Alaska steamer leaves July 19.

AN OREGONIAN ABROAD.

EDITOR INDEPENDENT.—When a person is far from old friends and scenes of childhood days their thoughts often, yes very often, wander back and the years, and the miles between, seem to pass into oblivion. We almost live again those days when the heart knew no sadness and life was a mere summer's heaven.

Today I received a paper, the Oregonian, giving an account of the Pioneer's Reunion, and with it a picture of Father J. S. Griffin, and I could picture him in my mind walking alone bearing the banner of 39. I thought of how kind our Heavenly Father has been to him all these years, to keep him in health and spare him to behold the tramp of prosperity, the rapid strides of civilization the wonderful achievements of science, enterprises, educational facilities the wide spread of the gospel, and Father Griffin blazed the way. I for one often feel selfish when enjoying all the conveniences and enlightmeat of the 19th century, when I study over the hardships experienced by the early pioneers and I am afraid we youngsters do not always reverence them as much as we should.

Let us not wait until their faces are seen no more to strew roses to their memory, and to speak the words of eulogy for their brave deeds. The name of Father Griffin is now, and ever will be cherished by the people of Oregon. I always feel when thinking of him and other pioneers who came to prepare a way for the thousands that followed that they deserve as much credit as those who march into battle for the defense of our country. For did they not endure hardships and face danger, and many of them death?

Oregonians should reverance pioneer day as they do a national holiday, and I think when the last dear old pioneer has dropped from the rank, that none of us will ever cease to sacredly hold in memory the names of those who endured much, that their children and coming generations might reap the benefit there of. Let us hope that our Father Griffin, (for he seems to belong to the South Plains) may live many years and retain his health, that he can have the assurance that his good advice, wise council and deeds of charity soon all there years have budded and blossomed and their influences are felt all over our great northwest.

It was with deep sadness that I read of the death of Judge Humphreys, and a visit to Hillsboro would not seem natural if I could not see his familiar face on the street. On reading of his death I went back in memory, when I as a child attended the Union Sunday School in the old court house. I could see Judge Humphreys as our superintendent, I could almost hear the songs which we sang, without any organ. I could almost see the familiar faces of girls and boys, who now are fathers and mothers, I could picture faces of many who years ago passed to the other shore. Later I remember Judge Humphreys in our I. O. G. T. lodge No. 17. I think he seldom missed a meeting. He was ever a friend to the young folks and we all appreciated it. Hillsboro will never seem like the Hillsboro of old without him but Judge Humphreys will ever live in memory.

Another place which has many fond recolections is the M. E. Sunday school. I remember how big I felt when I grew so I could touch my feet to the floor, and then had to sit on the edge of the seat. What joyful times when Christmas came, practicing our little songs. I can almost hear the old pieces in the "Fresh Laurals," a book long since laid by yet some of the selections will ever live.

The mention of this Sunday school brings to me the face of L. L. Williams, Grandpa Gibson and others now passed away, and should I return and visit the Sunday school I would feel loneiy not to see them. Grandpa Gibson always seemed to put his very soul in those Gospel Hymns. The memory of those known in childhood days are very dear to me, and I recall many and many whom I have not mentioned.

Those dear days at school when we had one room, two teachers, and a little later added on a new building. When we girls made play houses at recess time out in a hazel grove on the Christian church lot. And we had swings in the grove just across the street. There were no houses from the road which passed the school house on down to the railroad; the woods were so thick we were afraid to enter them at much of a distance.

Yes those were happy days and I believe we had as good a time and learned as much as the children do today in their up-to-date buildings. I do not believe I was very bad in school but I could not help but see every thing funny that was going, I do yet. But I remember one day while standing at the black board Prof. —— stepped out of the room and just for fun I turned the key and thought I turned it back, but alas! that fatal thought proved untrue and when he went to open the door he could'nt get in, but some way I got the door open. I was frightened to death, I tried to look innocent, he did not have to ask who did it. But thank goodness he did not say a word he just looked at me about five minutes and I tried not to look at him yet had to take a glance occasionally to see if he had quit, I'll never forget how I felt. Why I felt so little that it stunted my growth and I am still small. I never locked any more doors.

A person has to be far from home and among strangers to fully realize the meaning of old friends; while we make many new ones who become very dear to us yet there is always a sacred isle in our hearts for the boys and girls and our teachers of childhood days.

Nebraska is a very warm state; in summer there are no outing places where one can go and feel the cool mountain air or ocean breeze. Oregonians never appreciate the climate scenery and general conditions of their state until they spend two or three years away from it, no and they do not have to remain even that long. There is much in store for our people. Hillsboro is centrally and conveniently situated for business and for homes. It is a beautiful little city. Hillsboro should look well to manufacturing. It is an opening for several good enterprises. The citizens should lay out inducements. The "Hillsboro Flouring Mill" is known through many states. One or two good factories would be of great benefit to the town.

There is one thing about Oregon of which I am ashamed and that is to think of eastern eggs, butter, and hams being shipped to us, when there is no state in the union better fitted for supplying such articles than ours. And it is an argument which I hate to face. But my answer is generally when questioned on this point that our farmers are too prosperous to bother with much of anything but grain and fruit. But the time has come when the practical farmer cultivates less ground but with more variety of produce.

Wishing to be kindly remembered to all old friends I remain a former Hillsborite.

EDITH TOZIER-WEATHERED.

THE COUNTY CELEBRATION.

The celebration at Forest Grove last Monday was the best attended of any observance of the national holiday before had in the county. However many people came away dissatisfied. The exercises seem not to have been complete. There was no procession or next to none in the morning and no attempt at fire works in the evening. Really a Fourth without fireworks is no Fourth. It is regretted that the town was not better treated, for when guests go away dissatisfied the town suffers. The literary exercises were perfect. Barrett's oration is praised on all sides. It was logical, eloquent and patriotic. The games in the afternoon were entertaining and the wheel races were witnessed by thousands. The farmers bicycle race was won by Fowley. His competitors were Gates and Phillips. Gates was really the fastest but he was thrown from his wheel because of the press of spectators. In trying to prevent a collision he was "spiled."

The 2-mile race was won by Baldwin, Fowley second.

Kane was swiftest in the 100 yard foot race.

The race for boys under 14 was won by Hatts, a lively lad.

The race for boys under 16 was won by Ward Downs of Hillsboro Ward is developing into a solid chunk of humanity. When he gets into college he is certain to be a leading man in athletic sports as well as in studies.

The pole vault was with Cardiff; Cronin being a little lower.

The day was perfect not too cool or too warm.

The attendance at the soldiers reunion was not as large as on other occasions but this will be improved after the Spani-h war.

Beats the Klondike.

Mr. A. C. Thomas, of Marysville, Tex., has found a more valuable discovery than has yet been made in the Klondike. For years he suffered untold agony from consumption, accompanied by hemorrhages; and was absolutely cured bp Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. He declares that gold is of little value in comparison with this marvelous cure; would have it, even if it cost a hundred dollars a bottle. Asthma, Bronchitis, and all throat and lung affections are positively cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Trial bottles free at The Delta Drug Store. Regular size 50 cts. and $1.00. Guaranteed to cure or price refunded.
