ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

Edward Sappington Looses his Life while Duck Hunting

WAS A GENERAL FAVORITE

Cornelius Blaser did the Shooting—McNamara lay in the Water 2 hours Holding Sappington up.

One of the most distressing hunting accidents that has ever occured in this county, happened on Jackson bottom just south of town on Saturday forenoon last. Three boys John McNamara aged 18 years Edward Sappington 16 and Cornelius Blaser Jr. in his fifteenth year went duck hunting early in the morning. The boys did not start together but met on the bottom near a blind where they put out the decoy ducks. The blind was divided and the field before it so that the boys made methodical arrangements for firing at any fowl that might alight in the pond. They had not been in position long before a few ducks lit in front of Sappington' station. McNamara it se me saw them first and called Ed is attention to them. Ed raised up out of the blind and prepared to shoot. Blaser raised up too and took a few steps toward Sappington s side of the blind. McNamara requested him to keep down out of sight when he stopped. Just then, but why he does not know, his gun was discharged, the load struck Sappingtons leg above the knee. The wounded boy dropped and came near rolling into a dead furrow full of water. Blaser was almost paralyzed, but he had strength to act on McNamara's suggestions. The latter acted with rare good judgement and promptly. He saw that Sappington was bleeding where upon he took a cord that happened to be in his pocket and ligated the leg above the wound. He drew the cord as tight as he could, but the artery that was severed was so deep among the tissues, lying at that place just against the leg bone that he could not entirely stop the bleeding, but he was partially successful. By this time young Blaser was on the road to town for help. McNamara wrapped his overcoat about Sappington and attempted to carry him to higher ground but poor Ed could not endure the agony that came when one person tried to carry him. Then McNamara lay down in the water and with his own body lifted the wounded boy up so that he would be dry. There he laid for two hours till assistance came. Such fortitude, lying in cold water to keep a dying companion warm, has not been before exhibited no not on San Juan hill. Young Blaser too had his wits about him, for as soon as he reached the railroad station he reported the accident which Mr. Frissel telephoned to the stable. A team at once hastened away picking up Blaser at the station to serve as a guide. When the team could go no further the boy entered the field still guiding the men, but his powers of endurance were not equal to the strain and the heroic little fellow sank to the ground completely exhausted. After lying there for a time he raised and commenced trudging his way to his home. The world was black to him. A sad story he had to tell to his kind father and loving mother. No wonder the poor boy sobbed as he desolate and alone plodded his way tho' the mud. His only consolation was that it was an accident that brought sorrow to two families. But that was bad enough.

McNamara's rude field surgery kept Sappington alive until good doctor Tameisie reached him just as the sad procession got to the carriage in the road. Here restoratives were used and a more perfect ligature stopped the further loss of blood. The wounded boy was taken to Mrs. Frank Moore's, at the station where he was made comfortable. Two surgeons, Drs. Tamiesie and Wood did what was possible to strengthen him for the opperation that would have to be made on the morrow but the sands of life were running low and the last one dropped about six o'clock in the evening only eight hours after the fatal shot was fired. Before the agonizing mother and the stricken father lay the white clay that only a few hours before had been the home of another heroic spirit. As the sufferer lay on his couch of pain through the long afternoon not a word of complaint was heard. No accusing words found utterance. Patiently he endured the misery till the end came.

Ed Sappington was a bright boy, modest, dignified. He had, at the head of his class, completed the common school course in the Hillsboro school at the age of 13 years, and was in the second year of the academy course at Forest Grove. He was a general favorite and every one who knew him called him friend. He will be sadly missed by his school associates. But the void is in his home. He was the only son of E. B. Sappington who loved him. The boys sisters will miss a brother's gentle escort, but it is the mother who will be most lonely when the dignified presence of her son no longer cheers by his courteous address and his fond embrace.

There is no harsh criticism to be indulged because the boys were gunning. Each of them was familiar with a fowling piece and had been accustomed to the use of guns for several seasons. Little Cornelius Blaser had asked his father's permission in the morning to go hunting. It was granted with the admonition to exercise care and to go alone. The other boys had a like permission.

The accident is one of those unfortunate happenings that sometimes comes to the most careful.

7:30 p. m. Sunday School christmas tree exercises conducted by the children. They will be assisted by instrumental music.

The boys who use cigarettes and cigars evidently did not believe that Deputy District attorney Bagley meant what he said two weeks ago when he warned them to quit smoking. Anyhow Wm Lane, aged 17, has had an experience. He smoked publicly Tuesday and was arrested on Wednesday, found guilty and fined $10.00. He could not pay hence was sent to jail for five days. After remaining two days a friend came forward and paid the balance, $6.00 for his release. He smoked again and was promptly arrested. He pleaded guilty. Another fine of $10.00 was imposed but suspended during good behavior.

The Laurel amature dramatic club gave a benefit performance at that village last Wednesday evening in aid of Mr. and Mrs. Hull who lost their home by fire last week. The play used was an Irish farce, "That Rascal Pat." After the play the young ladies offered baskets of lunch for sale at auction. The bidding was spirited and the supply was exhausted long before the beaux had used all their resources. Twenty dollars and twenty cents were received and paid to the unfortunate family.

Mary Ann Weeks was born at South Hampton, England, Oct. 2, 1842. At the age of eleven she came with her parents to the United States, and at the age of twenty-five she was married to Hanibal Bowman to which union five children were born. Being left a widow she married Michael Donhouser in 1879. Three children came of this marriage She removed to Oregon in 1888, and died in this city Dec. 19, 1898. When a child she became a member of the Methodist church and remained a consistent member until her death.

Diplomas were issued this week to Misses Celia Hiddink and Maisie O'Donald of the Buxton school who have completed the course. The papers are signed by the county school supt. and countersigned by the directors of the Buxton school and by the teacher. The certificate states that the young ladies had passed an examination that averaged more than 65 per cent in all their studies. They are now ready for the academy and a further college course.

The secretary of the Department of Superintendence, a department of the State Teachers' Association, has called a meeting of the department for Dec. 28 and 29, 1898 at Portland, for the purpose of discussing thoroughly the various phases of needed school legislation with a view to making recommendations to the legislature that is to meet in January next.

Mrs. Sarah F. Williams, for years a resident of Hillsboro died at her home last Wednesday morning and was burried Thursday at West Union where two of her children had already been laid away. Mrs. Williams was born in Missouri in 1847 and hence was 51 years old at her death. She came to Oregon with her husband in 1888.

Congresseman Tongue has workmen engaged in tearing down and removing his barn at his city residence that has stood there twenty or thirty years.

A farmers' institute is holding at Tigardville this county. The session commenced yesterday and will continue over today.

Senator Patterson is at home again after a very plesant visit to friends in Ohio.

PACIFIC UNIVERSITY.

Mr. I. A. Macrum accompanied by Dr. Withycomb now vice director of the Oregon agricultural college of Corvallis, Prof. Lake for the same institution and Mr. Newell of Gaston attended chapel exercises Wednesday morning.

The last division of the quarterly exercise took place Friday evening in the college chapel before an appreciative audience. The following program was rendered:

Prayer.

The function of credit, George L. Haskell.

The modern tendency toward consecration, Miss Beulah Warner.

Agricultural Problems, Osa Clark Garlington.

Music, The Brook, Ekward H. Philbrook.

The influence of invention, Alfred D. Schoch.

The true attitude toward socialism, Miss Tracy Wilkinson.

Colonization in its governmental aspects, Horace M Ramsey.

Music, Romance Italiene, Miss Mabel Odgers.

Methods of improving the laboring class, Miss Blanche Garrison.

The city; its functions and problems, Miss Lois Parker.

Mr. John Gault whose foot ball ability did much to make the foot ball season at P. U. a success, played with the Portland Y. M. C. A. last Saturday against the California soldiers, the latter team being defeated by a score of 42 to 0.

The Fall term of school closes next Friday evening. The Spring term begins at 10 a. m. January 3, 1899.

The observance of Forefathers day at the Congregational church last Sunday evening was the first exercise commemorative of the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers that has been prepared for a Hillsboro audience. The program was a very simple one but calculated to give a glimpse of the social, spiritual and political life of that early New England people. The first hymn sang was one specially composed for a like occasion in an eastern town. An original responsive reading was read by the pastor and congregation. Miss Poe sang, as only she can, that beautiful poem by Mrs. Hemans, commencing "The breaking waves dashed high, on a stern and rock bound coast." Pastor Hughes address had for its central thought the sentiment contained in the sentence "The right use of the past is a moral uplift." He stated there are two ways of living in the past, one using it as a memory and neglecting to allow it to come up to the present, The other when we live in the past but bring it to the present as an example for present living. Examples of the first are China and Spain. Of the second the United States. The night was very stormy, and the church auditory was but half filled, but those who braved the rain were amply repaid for any inconvenience to which they were subjected.

A most enjoyable occasion was the rehersal of Miss Johnson's music pupils at Mrs. J. C. Hare's last Wednesday evening which which was attended by the parents and friends of the pupils. A special feature of the exercises was a ladies quartet rendered by Miss Johnson, Mrs. J. C. Hare, Miss Stella Boscow and Miss Mabel Moreland. The music selected was good and the perfect rendition and blending of voices was charming. Another good number was a duet by Miss Johnson and Mrs. Hare. Another quartet by the Misses Hoyt, Llola House, Jennie Thorne and Earle House, showed how successful Miss Johnson is in training young voices. A chorus by the whole class was much appreciated by the visitors. Miss Johnson, counting private pupils and those in her chorus class, has 31 to whom she gives instructions. She is a patient worker and is meeting with the success that always comes with well directed effort.

The Hughes telephone company of Forest Grove has got so far along with stringing wires that it is definitely known what the intention is. The company is going to Portland and will connect with the Columbia company which has operated a city exchange there for the past three or four years. The Hughes Co.'s line leaves Hillsboro at the east end of Main Street and will pass through Cedar Mills and enter Portland either by the Cornell road or by Barnes Heights as shall upon investigation be found the shortest route. The poles are sawed from cedar logs and are the regulation telegraph pole. The line is what is known as a metalic circuit and is substantially built. Cedar Mills will be reached tomorrow and connection will be made with Portland by January 1st.

The funeral of the late Homer R. Sibley, who died at Sumas Wash. Dec. 16, was held Monday afternoon from the Finley & Son funeral chapel at Portland and the interment was at the Lone Fir cemetery. Mr. Sibley was well known in Wash. Co. Two years ago he was married to Ella Anderson of Beaverton. He was last employed as agent at Sumas by the Seattle and enternational R. R. Co. The deceased was born at St. Joseph Mo. and was thirty-nine years of age. He was a member of the masonic and eik fraternities. The sorrowing wife alone survives him. She has the sympathy of her many friends.

Yesterday forenoon N. H. Jones of Glencoe accompanied by Theodore Hutchinson a lad of 15 years of age, started for Hillsboro driving a span of colts. On the road the team ran away throwing Mr. Jones and the lad out. In the fall young Hutchinson struck so as to knock out his left eye. Drs. Tameisie and Wood were called to attend to the injuries of the boy. The wagon was wrecked and one of the horses broke his leg.

Saint Nicholas will make his annual visit at the Evangelical church on Monday evening Dec. 26. The children of the Sunday school are preparing to give him a royal reception and he has promised to appear in a novel up-to-date manner. The public are cordially invited to attend and assist in making a Merry Christmas for one and all.

The Ladd & Reed Land Company have contracted with Walter Taylor of Hillsboro to ditch and lay about five miles of draintiles at their Reedville farm. Mr. Taylor commences on his job immediately. Several other farmers in the county will put in tiles this winter though the ditches will be shorter.

Hon. H. V. Gates gets most welcome news from his son John who is in Reno, Nevada. Dropsy troubled John when he left here. That is gone. He now walks 12 to 15 miles daily with ease. He eats well and sleeps well, so that the high altitude and dry climate appears to agree with him.

There will be a Christmas tree and celebration in the Evangelical church at Laurel on Saturday evening Dec. 24. Presents will be received for distribution on Saturday all day. Let all unite in making this a happy time for the children.

If you miss the dance at the Opera House December 28th you will miss a rare treat of the 19th century. Good music and perfect order. No hoodlems need apply.

The Hillsboro Opera House has the best dancing floor of any in the county and the best dance of the season will be given there on the evening of the 28th, inst.

N. C. Richardson of South Tualatin is seriously ill at his home and seeing that he is quite aged much concern for his recovery is felt.

Go to the Hillsboro Hotel for your Christmas dinner.

TWO COSTLY BLAZES

One at Farmington and the other one at Cedar Mills

NEITHER ONE INSURED

Sisters of Mercy lost a School and George Hull his home. Both with Contents.

The sisters of mercy at Cedar Mills lost their school building last week and its entire contents by fire. The building was fired during a temporary absence of the occupants so that nothing was saved. The origin of the blaze is thought to have been due to hidden defects in the chimney where it passed through the garret. The loss will foot up more than $5000 and is total since the insurance had expired only a few days before the fire. The sisters had planned to reinsure the first time they went to Portland but when that time came they had no house. The school was projected about five years ago and their building erected about three years since. All the little debts had been lifted and the sisters were congratulating themselves that the profits of this year would be applicable to improvements which they saw were so much needed. But now a new beginning is necessary. Brave hearts are brought to the work which is only suspended for a few weeks. School will again be opened about February 1, and the burden of building new quarters will be taken up. Friends of the school who find it more convenient to leave assistance in the shape of money or merchandise with the INDEPENDENT may do so.

The residence of Mr. George Hull at Laurel caught fire last Friday in the second story and was burning fiercely when discovered. Mrs. Hull with her children were alone and she could make no headway in fighting fire, though she went into the second story to save property. She had thrown some family stores from the window when she discovered that her dress skirt was burning. She attempted to retreat by the stairway but found that on fire. She then jumped from the window to the ground below a distance of fifteen feet. The fall disabled her so that she would have perished but for the efforts of her daughter who succeeded in getting her mother from the burning house and putting out the fire in her clothing. The woman besides being hurt by the fall, is badly burned, fully a third of her body being blistered. Dr. Tameisie who was called, is by no means certain that his patient will recover though he hopes she may. The dwelling and contents were entirely consumed entailing a loss of $1000. There is no insurance.

Card of Thanks.

Mr. Donhouser and family desire to extend their sincere thanks to the friends who so unsalfishly assisted at the funeral and at their home during the last illness of their dearly departed.

All within our home is dreary,
Lonely are our hearts to-day,
For the one we love so dearly
Has forever passed away.
