The fusionists of this county remind one of two little boys fighting over the core of an apple, only in this case there aint going to be any core.

Dr. B. Daly ostentatiously parades before the public what modesty would make private correspondence. He publishes one telegram to a Lakeview friend, stating that he abandons his canvass and hastens home "to help." Since the fire destroyed no one's health, and since the Dr. is a poor man, he says, it is not just clear what good he can accomplish by going to Lakeview, where it is financial aid that is needed, if any. To his central committee he wires the message that he has lost almost his entire fortune and must go home to gather up the charred faggots of his possessions, though he lose his election. Now a man that but recently was so poor could not have had much property to burn, and hence his losses are trivial and not of sufficient importance for this grand stage play. Daly plays to the galleries.

An organization in China known to outsiders as the "Boxers" are disturbing the peace of China and bids fair to be formidable. From the meager news reports that come, it would seem that they are a conservative gang controlled by the pagan priesthood. They are killing christian missionaries and driving foreigners from the empire. The foreign consuls, English, French, German, Russian, Japanese and American are landing blue-jackets, 100 each. The Chinese cabinet refused to let these soldiers go to Pekin over the railroad. The consuls notified the Chinese that permission for the consulate guards to go on the railroad must be allowed or they would land a force large enough to go without such permission and that the answer must be ready yesterday morning. The United States has a fleet in Chinese waters second only to that of England. We were enabled to send our ships there promptly because of our Manila naval station. If we had not been in the Philippines it would have taken six weeks to get a force in the Pe Chi Li gulf. There may be a Chinese war.

AT THE CLOSE.

The state campaign for 1900 is about to be closed. A backward glance is allowable. The republicans have taken up the issues of the day and discussed them in public. They have invited their opponents to meet in public on the platform, but they would not. The republicans have principles and policies for which they contend. They believe in them. They are anxious to explain them to the elector. Not thus with the snipes, he has nothing to talk for, hence he has no talk to make. His campaign is a secret stalking. It was not so once. When the democratic party had organization it had some policies. There were objections to them 'tis true, but they furnished texts for stump speeches. Then the party stood for free-trade, for free coinage of silver The populists had, too, some ideas furnishing themes for public debate They held for government ownership of railroads, the issuing of all paper money by the government, a per capita circulation of $50 But now all these platform planks are put to one side No public explanation of party purposes is made The candidates in this county especially are mum All their private conversation is "Don't" or "No" or "Not" "Not the gold standard," "No protective tariff" "Don't expand" Notwithstanding, republicans may have true policies of government, the very fact that republicans support them, is sufficient ground for the opposition of the fusionists The leaders have given up everything—principles, policies, name even, hoping to get office There is no democratic party in this county at least No people's party, just "Union" or as their cartoonist has it, just snipes.

FREE AND INDEPENDENT.

In as much as Senator Haines permits his correspondent to repeat the statement he makes in the following letter, and since the INDEPENDENT is one to whom it has been told, no confidence is violated in giving it the widest publicity. The idle tales are stamped by the senator at their true value. The letter reads:

Forest Grove, Or, May 29, 1900.

William McQuillan, Esq.
Hillsboro, Oregon.

Dear Sir:

In reply to your favor of even date I beg to say to you, as to all others who may enquire, that I have not pledged myself or support to any man or candidate for United States Senator, neither am I disposed to do so, and any reports to the contrary are without foundation.

Yours truly,
E. W. HAINES.

THE AMENDMENTS.

The attention of electors is called to the constitutional amendments that are to be voted on. They were published in full in the INDEPENDENT during last December, though their provisions may not be fresh in mind now. The first on the ballot is the municipal indebtedness amendment. It forbids cities, school districts or counties incurring indebtedness greater than 5 per cent of the taxable property. Under the present law a county can go in debt to the amount of $5000 and for the necessary expenses of the county provided by law. If the proposed amendment prevails an extravagant commissioners court could bond the county for $175,000. Is it good policy to borrow that much money.

The second amendment provides for electing five supreme judges instead of three, on the theory that five can do business faster than three.

The third amendment provides an easier way to get the right to enter on private lands, to dig ditches or build railroads.

The fourth repeals that obsolete section of the constitution, Art. 1, Sec. 35, that prohibits the immigration of negroes and mulatoes into the state.

The fifth amendment makes voters of women.

On May 10, when Congressman Tongue was eloquently addressing the house committee on pensions in the interest of the Indian War veterans, a little squad of very small politicians in the name of the Indian War veterans was compiling a circular to aid in compassing his defeat. They would like to have the general voter believe that the circular is the voice of the state organization, but it is not. It is just T. B. Wait, of Salem, who has been a democratic ward politician for many years, and Henry Guild, who never saw an Indian off the Grand Ronde Reservation. The trouble with Wait is that he has contracts from the Indian War veterans to collect their pension and receive a liberal fee. Tongue's bill nullifies these contracts, wherefore these pension attorneys are angry. They would prefer to see the bill fail to become a law than to have it pass without the possibility of getting their big fee. The general reader will be interested in Mr. Tongue's argument before the committee, which appears in full on the first page of this issue. When the state organization met in Portland a few days ago, T B Wait was rebuked by the unanimous vote of confidence tendered to Mr Tongue

Judge Sweek's friends have not been backward in telling of his fitness for the place of joint senator. Now, in truth, he is no better than other men. First, he is not eligible for the place he seeks. Art 2, Sec. 10, of State Constitution provides "No person holding a lucrative office or appointment under the United States or of this State shall be eligible to a seat in the legislative assembly." Mr. Sweek is a commissioner in bankruptcy with a salary fixed by fees that amount to $2000 or $2500 per year depending somewhat upon the number of poor men's estates he has to handle. He is the swamp land commissioner appointed by Gov. Pennoyer a few years ago who went into Eastern Oregon and selected swamp lands on the hill sides so that they could be bought by wealthy corporations for the songs that they themselves sang. He had to leave that country abruptly because of the fast assembling mob of justly indignant citizens. And he was one of Napoleon Davis' Co. of political bosses, the worst gang of Portland's very bad gangs of political tricksters. No, no, he is not a geranium.

He took water. One of the snipes was circulating the statement this week that John McNamer was never a soldier of the Grand Army, and that he was claiming something that he had no right to. Mr. Alonzo Sigler heard of this and took it upon himself to call the snipe to account. Hot words ensued. The snipe offered to wager $100 that McNamer is not a G. A. R. man. Sigler found the coin, when the snipe tried to bluff by calling him a liar. This only made matters worse. The snipe, after a little enquiry found himself in the wrong when he backed completely down. McNamer was a member of Co. B., 1st Oregon Infantry. The company was recruited in Washington and Yamhill counties, and there are hundreds of people in Washington county who know that the snipe's assertion is false.

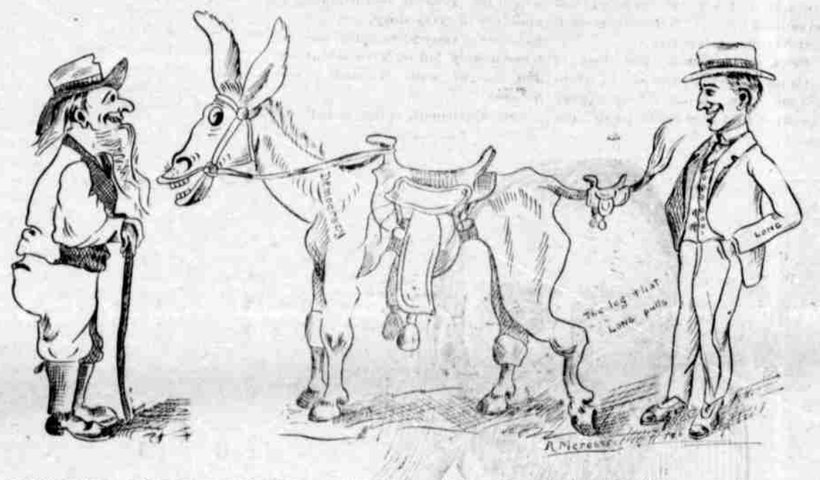
During the month of April last the coinage of silver by the U. S. mints amounted to about $3,000,000, which testifies to the truth of republican contention that the party is the truest and best friend that silver has that the best way to use silver is to maintain a gold standard and coin silver under government supervision. There is complete vindication of Congressman Tongue's celebrated letter of 1894. He had a clearer view of the situation than any of his critics. The predictions which he made that would happen under a democratic administration were verified by the results that have changed this "system" to which Mr. Long, of the Argus, so often alludes, and what Mr. Tongue predicted has happened under a republican administration.

The snipe candidates were all out at the Sunday picnic held in Cedar creek last Sunday. Next Sunday there will be two or three picnics in the same precinct, but they will be the last since election day is the Monday following. The snipes have only this one more chance.

Roberts is about to secure peace in South Africa. The Boer army seems to be on the point of collapsing, Johannesberg has been occupied, by the English, and it is expected that Roberts will be in Pretoria tomorrow Saturday.

"Look out for lies," exclaims Mr. Long of the Argus. Since he knows how it is we will heed his warning.

LAST HEAT OF THE RACE.



BYSTANDER—"Say Long what did you put that little saddle on the mule's tail for?"

BOSS LONG—"Oh, that's for the pops—they ride the tail end this year, we ride in the saddle."

A POPULAR CANDIDATE.

Harrison Allen, the republican candidate for district attorney for the fifth judicial district, made his last speech of the present campaign in Washington county, at Gaston, on last Friday evening before a good sized house, and he was well received. Mr. Allen, during his brief campaign in our county, met many of our people and made very many friends, not only among republicans but among the opposition as well, and why should he not. He is a man of pleasing and affable manners which are coupled with intelligence and legal and business ability. He is naturally a very capable lawyer and that natural fitness is backed up by ten years of very active experience at the bar among the best lawyers in the state. He is, in fact, industrious, energetic, honorable, interesting in his efforts to serve well his employer With ability to serve well, he is clean, has an unbiased judgment, and is a man pre-eminently fitted to represent Washington county as her attorney four years to come, and the voters of this county will make no mistake by employing him on the 4th day of June to act as her legal adviser.

His campaign has been marked by cleanliness and fairness toward his opponent.

Voters of this county, when you go into your booth to write out your ballot, you will be called upon to decide who will be the lawyer for the county for the next four years, Mr. Allen or Mr. Schuebel. In the former you have a man honest and square in his dealings, a hard student, a lawyer of ten years practice, who goes upon the stump proclaiming his principals, giving the voters a chance to see him, hear him and thereby be enabled to judge his fitness to represent them in the office to which he seeks election. He has not waged a campaign appealing to race, or sect prejudices, but he has appealed to the intelligence of the voter, whether that voter be German, English or of any other nationality. Opposed to Mr. Allen is Mr. Schuebel, who has been admitted to practice law for about three years and has spent two of those years as justice of the peace in Oregon City. It is said by lawyers of that city that Mr. Schuebel never tried but one jury case in his life, consequently he is a lawyer of no experience. He has not come out on the stump to give the people a chance to form an opinion of him and his abilities by any public utterances. His campaign has not been an open, fair one, but it has been conducted on the back alleys and lane order, working entirely among the German vote, seeking to get their suffrages by means of the fact that his ancestors 100 years back were of German extraction. He claims the solid German vote. But we predict the German vote will not be corraled in any such way. They are as intelligent as any class of voters we have and are as capable of deciding as any, what are for the best interests of themselves and country. And by the way, Allen is of German extraction, and speaks German a great deal better than Schuebel. The office of district attorney is an important one. It should be filled by a lawyer of no mean ability, a man who is conversant in law, who knows how to try cases and can.

Washington county is involved in a lawsuit to day involving thousands of dollars, and it is to its advantage to get the best man possible, and not a novice, to represent her interests. The voters and people know this and they will express their intelligent wish on the subject next Monday by voting for Mr. Allen.

It is not by any means plain that the tariff on news printing paper fosters the trust, Canadian publishers are asking the Dominion to remit the duties so that cheap paper can go in from the United States. State publishers ask for free paper so that cheaper sheets may come in from Canada. It is admitted that but little paper comes from Europe. The paper mill men claim that it is demand and scarcity of raw material that has stiffened the price. Some fifteen or twenty pulp mills have been idle the past year for the reason there was not high water in 1899 for floating logs to the mills from the forests. For present needs some timber was transported on the railroads, but that was expensive and made printing paper come high. Figures are further stiffened by the burning of two pulp mills in the Ontario fire, whose daily capacity was 140 tons. The pulp logs were floated out this spring, so that by August first a downward turn may be expected, though fictitious prices may rule because of the perfect combine of the mills. Thus it is seen that tariff has little or nothing to do with the high price of printing paper.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 46,970]

"I had female complaints so bad that it caused me to have hysterical fits; have had as many as nine in one day.

"Five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me and it has been a year since I had an attack.

Mrs. Edna Jackson, Pearl, La.

If Mrs. Pinkham's Compound will cure such severe cases as this surely it must be a great medicine—is there any sufferer foolish enough not to give it a trial?

STATE PRESS.

Do the voters of the first congressional district want "a pig in a poke?" Do they want to vote for a man who refuses to go on the stump and declare his views on the important questions of the day?—Statesman.

Congressman Tongue's position on all public questions is known. He could not conceal his opinions and attitude if he would, and would not if he could. Dr. Daly is a dark-lantern candidate. No one knows for certain where he stands on any public question, and it is his purpose to remain off the stump and continue the doubt, with the hope of securing the votes of men of all views and shades of opinion. We do not believe he will succeed.—Statesman.

The office of justice of the peace is an important position, especially in the larger towns. In Hillsboro the office, as far as litigation is concerned, is of more importance than that of county judge. A well equipped justice of the peace is necessary to an economical administration. In this connection it is proper to direct attention to the fitness of J. W. Bailey for that position. He studied law two years and was just ready for his examination when business interests led him to the drug store. He is a young man of active mind, quick to grasp ideas and of recognized fairness. No mistake will be made when he is chosen to office.

Vote a straight republican ticket. That request may not be a happy way of asking for support, but each republican candidate is too anxious for the success of his associate on the ticket to spend much time in hunting for fine phrases. The snipes, though, are different. With them it is every one for himself. Some of them are willing to trade every other candidate for votes for themselves. That may be the snipe way but republicans want votes for the whole ticket.

Each and every candidate on the republican county ticket of this county is well and thoroughly qualified for the offices for which they are respectively nominated. There is not a single thing which can be said against the good qualifications of either one for the office for which he is named.

The Argus' write-ups of its candidates read so much like obituaries, that their appearance seems premature. They would be more in order after election.

The INDEPENDENT favors expansion, but it is not just ready for the Boxers to force Chinese expansion on us.
