STATE FAIR.

The State Board of Agriculture is making a great effort this year to make the state fair a representative agricultural and live stock show. The premium list is out and is being thoroughly distributed throughout the state and personal efforts are being made to attract the attention of farmers and stockmen to the very liberal premiums offered.

Several counties in the state are preparing a county exhibit for the fair, for they realize it will be a good opportunity to advertise their county in a most practical way. Each exhibit will be a lecture room, and an object lesson for the home seeker, where he can get information along intelligent lines, and will be worth many dollars in advertising the county's resources.

The live stock show will be without question the best ever held on the coast. Breeders all over the country are preparing to exhibit at the fair this year. There is an opportunity here in Oregon for the farmers who have been running in debt raising wheat, to turn their attention to the profitable, production of beef, mutton and pork, or engage in dairying which has already taken its place as a leading paying industry in this state. There is a demand for the best specimens of all breeds which will continue to grow for years to come, and there is nothing that will encourage this industry so much as stock shows at state and county fairs.

STATE PRESS.

The Oregonian is not afraid of "imperialism," and it thinks those who are shouting about it are not afraid of it. They are merely in want of a campaign cry. Nobody, in fact, believes that through retention of the recently acquired islands we are in danger of "losing our liberties," or of "drifting into an imperial despotism." To be silly and ridiculous, and yet be serious, is a hard matter.—Oregonian.

The issue on the shipping question between republicans and democrats, as defined by their respective platforms this year, is that the republicans favor American-built ships for our foreign carrying and the democrats favor foreign (chiefly British) ships.—Astorian.

The Goebelites are now in possession of all the Kentucky state offices. The delivery of the stolen goods has been accomplished.—Astorian.

Senator Burrows, of Michigan, says McKinley will carry the country by 500,000 majority, deriving his main strength from expansion. Imperialism, he says, is not worrying the people, who will stand by McKinley and support his Philippine policy as against the wild cries of the democrats. He thinks the 16 to 1 provision in the democratic platform will tend to swell the republican majorities. Senator Burrows is a very conservative man and his figures are very low for the McKinley votes. He estimates that McKinley will have a larger vote in the electoral college than four years ago.—Albany Herald.

The administrator's answer to China is a piece of first-class diplomacy. We will mediate as you suggest, says the president, but the first step in any such arrangement must be for you to put us into communication with our representatives in Pekin. It is an answer to which no possible exception can be taken by Chian, and yet it puts the empire in the position of having to act or shut up.—Oregonian.

It is stated that the Moher transportation company has so far progressed with its portage railroad around the dalles of the Columbia and with the building of its boats, that it will commence by the middle of August to handle freight. It is proposed to deliver freight at Astoria that has been received on the Upper Columbia. The operations of this company have been conducted so quietly that we away from the river have not realized what is doing tho it was known that a gang of men were at work. The Inland empire is to have hereafter two outlets to the sea and we shall know what competition means.

IN AND ABOUT PEKIN.

Since last week the state department has received a message from Minister Conger in answer to the one delivered to Chinese Minister Wu. Conger's reply is undated but written in the state department cipher, hence our government does not doubt its genuineness. From Chinese transmission records the date of the message is fixed at July 18. The ministers were alive at that date, but besieged in the British legation which was under fire. Relief was implored. The European governments discredit the Conger message and answer the claim for authenticity that it is an old message written perhaps weeks ago in the diplomatic cipher. The message has confirming advices of the same tenor from Chinese sources, or what may be only intended as confirming, dated July 18. That date has been pivotal for several days and the persistence with which it is quoted by the Chinese, tends to throw doubt upon the authenticity of the Conger message. Secretary Hay has sent a second message to Conger and expects an answer today or tomorrow.

We have however reliable word from Mr. Conger dated July 4th. The ministers were alive at that date, but under fire. Pekin is 100 miles from the coast, the seaport being Taku now in possession of the Allies. They also hold Tien Tsin distant from Taku by land 34 miles or by the windings of the river 68 miles. A railroad connects Taku with Tien Tsin. River boats ply on the river below Tein Tsin making that the port of Pekin which is 80 miles up the river Piho, a small stream not navigable except for small craft propelled by oars or poles. Pekin is not on the banks of the Piho but 13 miles away on a sandy plain. The city is a walled town, the outer wall being 20 miles in circumference, and of an average height of 50 feet, though in parts it is 10 feet higher. The thickness is from 22 to 57 feet. This is the tartar city. The Chinese part of the city is not so strong. The walls have an outer casing of brick with an inner filling of earth. There are three divisions of the city, the inner one being surrounded by a wall two miles in extent and occupied by the emperor's palaces. The next outer section is given up to government offices and the residences of the nobles. Beyond this is the general city which is densly populated. The streets of this city are from 140 to 200 feet wide. The foreign legations are in this general city. The British legation is in the palace of Leany a gorgeous structure consisting of four or five large halls and covering about five acres of ground. Because of the flat trajectory of modern artilery with which the Chinese are said to be armed, they cannot shell this legation effectively unless they are near to it in which case the rifle fire of the defenders becomes effective. This may explain why the place was not reduced at once.

Gen. Chaffere is at Taku or Tein Tsin, and is pushing things. If he had 10,000 Yankees there he probably would start for Pekin, but he has no more than 2000. He will need a seige battery for those thick earth walls. We have such, but it is in Kentucky.

Southern China is becoming restless and if our minister is assassinated there is ample reason for believing that we will have a big war on our hands.

THE LAST OF JEFFERSON.

The convention at Kansas City has nominated William Jennings Bryan for the presidency. In harmony with this action it has made the leading declaration of the democratic platform a denunciation of the expansion policy.

Thus has the historic party of expansion wiped out the principle that has run like a red thread through the woof and web of democratic policy from the beginning; has retreated from the position taken by Jefferson when he bought Louisiana; has cast off Jackson, who took the Floridas; has turned its back on Polk, who annexed the far West, and has repudiated James Buchanan, who, in the Ostend manifesto, advocated the purchase and annexation of Cuba.

Adroitly worded though it may be, the leading plank in the democratic platform of 1900 is a nullification of the principle that controlled all the leaders of the democratic party from the foundation of the republic to the inauguration of Lincoln. It is a reversal of the policy that gave to the United States the 1,171,000 square miles in the Louisiana purchase, the 59,268 square miles in the Florida purchase, the 376,133 square miles of the Texas annexation, the 545,783 square miles of the Mexican cession of 1848, the 45,535 square miles of the Gadsden purchase in 1853, and the 577,890 square miles of the Alaska purchase in 1867. It is a denunciation of the policy that gave us Hawaii, Porto Rico the Philippines, and American control in Cuba.

The democratic party, in its platform, has added to the error which caused its overthrow in 1896 the still greater error of repudiating a distinctly American and a distinctly democratic policy. Needless to say, the leaders of the historic democracy were against such suicidal declarations, but their protests were in vain. Democracy has been swallowed up in populism. The party of Jefferson, Jackson, Polk, Buchanan and Cleveland survives only in name.

The party lines are now finally drawn. The republicans favor expansion, stand by the army in the field, hold fast to the tariff policy and the gold standard, and declare emphatically against hauling down the flag on any staff from which it floats. The Bryanites as emphatically declare against expansion, against the gold standard, against the protective tariff, and against an adequate army.

The end of Jeffersonian democracy is thus complete. That William Jennings Bryan was named by acclamation to officiate at the obsequies was right and proper. He is the man to bear the pall.—Inter Ocean.

A WORLD POWER.

The United States has been, at least since 1865, a world power. The duties devolving are performed modestly, but none the less perfectly. Besides being a power, our administration comes near indeed being a world dictator. In a way, too, that justifies the citizens of this country in expressing the vanity we entertain. What calls out these words now is the announcement of the policy of the United States concerning the great world's crisis in China. The substance of this policy is as follows:

1. The United States will under no circumstances join in the partition of China among the powers.

2. The United States will use all its influence, to the utmost extent, short of war with European nations, to prevent dismemberment of the Chinese Empire.

3. The United States proposes to have a veritable settlement of the Chinese troubles, and its voice will ever be raised against spoliation and in favor of preservation of China's territorial and governmental entity, along the lines set forth in Secretary Hay's note to the powers dated July 3.

4. The United States will not declare war upon China on account of the showing of facts, no matter what other powers may do.

5. The United States, acting independently and for itself, will co-operate with the other powers in restoring order in China, in punishing all officials, high or low, found guilty of crimes against human life, and in setting up a stable government that may give guarantees of security of life and property and freedom of trade.

Three young men, sons of L. M. Huson, have 13 quarter sections of wheat in the Juniper country, Umatilla county, and expect to harvest 100,000 bushels in the next 30 days.

It has been suggested that China is holding the foreign ministers for a ransom and the price is release from responsibility for the acts of the Chinese mob or insurrection. If this be so, terrible is the reckoning that will overtake that Asiatic civilization. We Americans will not pay that variety of tribute.

The gold-democratic organization that supported its own ticket in 1896, refuses to nominate a ticket thi year or to fuse with any other party. This action leaves the individuals composing the party free to give support to either of the other candidates. Some of them will drift to Bryan, some without doubt will vote for McKinley.

The German press seems to think that President McKinley's reply to the Emperor of China is a triumph of Chinese diplomacy. But triumph or not it appears just. We want Mr. Conger to be delivered to us in good health or if he has been assassinated we want the murderers punished. We want our citizens respected and our commerce protected. That done it is just to use what influence we have to prevent the dismemberment of China. If that be a success for Chinese diplomacy, call it that.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 72,896]

"You have saved my life, snatched me from the brink of the grave almost, and I wish to thank you. About eighteen months ago I was a total wreck, physically. I had been troubled with leucorrhœa for some time, but had given hardly any attention to the trouble.

"At last inflammation of the womb and ovaries resulted and then I suffered agonies, had to give up my profession (musician and piano player), was confined to my bed and life became a terrible cross. My husband summoned the best physicians, but their benefit was but temporary at best. I believe I should have contracted the morphine habit under their care, if my common sense had not intervened.

"One day my husband noticed the advertisement of your remedies and immediately bought me a full trial. Soon the pain in my ovaries was gone. I am now well, strong and robust, walk, ride a wheel, and feel like a girl in her teens. I would not be without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it is like water of life to me. I am very gratefully and sincerely your well-wisher, and I heartily recommend your remedies. I hope some poor creature may be helped to health by reading my story."—MRS. COL. E. P. Mitchell, Lewis & Staver Co., Portland.
Gentlemen:—In reply to your letter of the 24th I will say that the Champion Binder I purchased of you last season has proven highly satisfactory. It cuts, elevates and binds in all kinds of grain making neat, compact bundles and never missing except through some fault of the twine. Any one needing a Binder will make no mistake in getting a Champion.
Yours Truly,
(Signed) H. J. Cason.

Scholls, Ore., May 26, 1900.
Mitchell, Lewis & Staver Co., Portland.
Gentlemen:—Your letter of inquiry of May 24th is received. In reply will say that the Champion Binder we purchased of you last year gave us good satisfaction. On our hill land especially it did us good service. I cut over hill sides that heretofore had not been cut except with a cradle. On the level ground it did as good work as any one could ask for.
Respectfully,
(Signed) W. W. Jaquith.

Forest Grove, Ore., May 29, 1900.
Gentlemen:—The Champion Binder I bought of you last year gave me perfect satisfaction. It performed its work like a charm. It has my decided preference over any machine of which I have knowledge.
