FRIDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1900.

About 150,000 pounds of wool changed hands last week, says The Daily Chronicle. The price was 12 to 12 1/2 cents.

One district in Colorado, less than ten years old, is producing $23,000, 000 a year in gold. Colorado can dig gold, instead of saw wood, over the desert of Bryan.

The United States astonished the world by the rapid construction of the Pacific railroads and will equally distinguish itself when work is begun on the Nicaragua Canal.

In concluding the message the president gives to the country a striking sentence: "Let us keep always in mind that the foundation of our government is liberty; its superstructure peace."

Fifty thousand Spaniards have emigrated to Cuba during the past year. They take kindly to a republican form of government and evidently have no hard feeling toward the United States.

Carnegie says we should ignore England in the matter of digging the Nicaragua canal. The great steel magnate is wrong. We should arbitrarily ignore no one. No one can afford to do that with any neighbor. Of course England must not assume to dictate to us. That is as bad as for us to ignore.

That portion of the message that deals with the Philippines is especially interesting. "The fortune of war," says the president, "has thrown upon this nation an unsought trust which should be unselfishly discharged, and devolved upon this government a moral, as well as a material responsibility toward these millions whom we have freed from an oppressive yoke." Nothing imperialistic in that utterance.

The German minister at Washington says the policy of his government in China is to maintain open ports. That is what we have been calling an "Open Door," and it suits us to a dot. China has no unoccupied territory, hence there is no room for colonization unless John Chinaman is ruthlessly pushed to one side. If there were vacant land there to be occupied by Americans then we might want a territorial hold. As it is "Open Ports" best serves our interests.

Just prior to the meeting of congress Sec. Hay concluded a treaty with Nicaragua, which is a distinctly diplomatic triumph. It grants the United States the exclusive right to construct, operate and police a canal between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. The concession was obtained at the same time that an understanding had been reached with the United States of Columbia covering like rights and privileges for the Panama route. The agreement of Costa Rica on similar lines for the use of the right bank of the San Juan river was secured some time ago, making the Nicaraguan concession complete.

John T. Morgan, of Alabama, has been re-elected to the senate by the unanimous vote of each branch of the legislature. This will make his fifth consecutive election. He entered the senate in 1877, and his present term will expire in 1901. The one for which he has just been chosen runs on till 1907. The senator is now a little over 76 years of age, but is robust both physically and mentally. He is a very creditable official. Morgan is broad-minded and public-spirited, and is in entire harmony with the republican party on the question of expansion. In this respect he is in line with the majority of the southern democrats. Flag-furling is unpopular in the south. Bryan got 142 of his 155 electoral votes in the south but most of the men who supported him in that quarter did so on the presumption that he would be defeated in the north and west. The south did not put on mourning on account of the Bryanite smash-up on November 6.

It gained currency that Sec. of State Hay would resign if the Hay-Pauncefote treaty was amended in the senate. There is probably no foundation for such report, but it is really hoped that Sec. Hay will not tarnish his reputation as a diplomat by such an act of petulance. It has been the glory of American politics that officials are chosen for a stated term of office and that on no account will they resign when a slight popular disapproval is shown. For no reason do we want to be aping the cabinets of Europe. The certain tenure of office has contributed much to the stability of our government. Many of our triumphs in diplomacy have come because our officials have not been made nervous by the prospect of an adverse majority. If the senate amends the treaty let the responsibility be on that branch of the government and not with the State Department.

ROADS AND ROADS.

Parties who have traveled somewhat over the county state that the roads, while sloppy are in better condition than they have been for several years at this time. This is doubtless due largely to the favorable fall. The rains has come however when we can not afford to depend on weather, but we must build roads that will be good when the weather is bad. The county court invited bids for furnishing rock to put on the Cedar Mills road. There were no bids submitted though one Portland firm personally appeared before the court for the purpose of finding out what kind of a contract could be made. He was willing to crush rock providing he could get a contract large enough, one that contemplated the expenditure of seven or eight thousand dollars, and a condition that the county enter into bonds to take the rock from the crusher as fast as crushed. The county depends upon citizens residing along the line of the road to help in this matter and as the county can not bind these citizens to observe the terms of a contract it can not bind itself to the rock crushing company. Nothing was done unless it be to find out what can not be done. The court is considering the advisability of buying a crusher of greater capacity than the one now used at Forest Grove, so that a systematic improvement of the roads may be undertaken. Such a machine will cost, say $750. It will not be too large to be handled by our threshing machine powers, yet of sufficient capacity to do effective work.

The court has another project under consideration which is to assess and collect the road tax in money. The matter will come up at the January term of the court for final action. The court finds that it has lost control in a measure of the supervisors who are now elected at the June election. There is no way of removing supervisors except by the long, tedious and uncertain process of impeachment. If a supervisor concludes not to work the road or at a time to suit his convenience there is no one above him to forbid. While this is undoubtedly true, there are advantages attached to the present system. A supervisor's tenure of office is two years, long enough for him to plan and carry out work for two seasons. A good official has the opportunity of being of greater service to the public by this longer term than he could be by two short terms broken as they are apt to be when they depend upon re-appointment.

A TRIBUTE TO AMERICAN WOOLENS.

The custom tailoring trade is popularly supposed to be tightly wedded to imported cloths. The facts would not support the supposition in toto, but the customizer is often led to believe indications of the frequency and the nature with which the average tailor will seek to commend their cloth that he is showing by declaring it to be "imported," or genuine imported goods.

It is therefore doubly significant to find the organ of the merchant tailors and the exponent of the highest class of tailoring, "The Sartorial Art Journal" delivering the following opinion:

DOMESTICS.
Good American made woollens and worsteds are the best woollens and worsteds in the world at the price. This has been true of them for several years, but is more emphatically so now than ever before. Those for the incoming season show great improvement over any ever put on the market before, not only in quality, but in design and finish. Even in the medium grades the domestic fabrics now being shown are excellent from every point of view, and can be profitably handled by good tailors with credit to themselves and satisfaction to their customer. In the art of finish and in that of design American manufacturers have reached great excellencies so great, indeed, that their best productions handle and look as well as any but the very best imported goods, which they fully equal in correctness of design and clearness and desirability of color.

This appreciation is fully deserved and could be considerably enlarged. The medium and many of the low priced American woollens have long been characterized by their genuineness and freedom from sophistication with "wool substitutes" of any kind. Honesty in manufacture may well go hand in hand with honesty in government and diplomacy, for which the United States has been of late years gaining much repute among the nations.

delivered into the custody of the allies for punishment before the allies would commence negotiations for restoring the old order of things. The U. S. admitted that there were those who had been guilty of acts punishable with death but that the penalty should be inflicted by the Chinese themselves. The American idea was adopted by the Powers. Then a list of guilty officials was prepared. Those that the Chinese government could apprehend were punished. The Washington government suggested that the Chinese government should not be required to perform the impossible before negotiations with Li Hung Chang should be commenced. Some of the guilty Chinese are beyond the jurisdiction of China, and the only way they can be reached is by a decree degrading them in rank and banishing them from the country. The proposition of Mr. Hay is to let that class of criminals go so that the powers could at once enter upon negotiations. The American idea was again recognized. This is safe, for if the guilty Chinese come into China and appear at court it will be possible for the Chinese government to apprehend and punish them. By staying away they do not block negotiations. The foreign ministers at Peking have agreed upon a plan of settlement to be submitted to China, but the text has not been made public yet in this country, though it is understood that it has been received at Washington. The news paragraphs of this week from Berlin indicate that the German diplomats are somewhat jealous of Brother Jonathan. This is but human nature however our idea seems to be founded in justice hence it is like being jealous of right.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, R. L. Eaton, has been appointed by the County Court of Washington County, Oregon, in the matter of the estate of George A. Alexander, deceased, and has duly qualified as such administrator.

Notice of Final Settlement.

In the County Court of the State of Oregon, in Washington County, is the matter of the estate of George A. Alexander, deceased. Notice is hereby given that George A. Alexander, deceased, has filed his final account as such administrator in the above entitled cause, and court, and that the Hon. L. A. Hood, Judge of said court, by an order thereto made, November 10th, 1900, appointed A. E. Hay, of Hillsboro, Oregon, as the trustee and receiver for hearing objections if any there be to said account, and passing upon and determining the same.

Notice of Appointment of Administratrix.

The undersigned having been duly appointed by the County Court of the State of Oregon, in Washington County, administratrix of the estate of G. A. Raymond, deceased, and having duly qualified, and entered upon the discharge of her duties as such, she hereby requests and requires that all persons having claims against said estate are hereby requested and required to present them, with the proper vouchers, to the undersigned, either at her residence in Astoria, Washington County, Oregon, or at the law office of Thos. H. & E. B. Tongue, in Hillsboro, Washington County, Oregon, within six months from the date hereof.

Wheat on Storage.

I will in a short time move the machinery of the Crescent Mill from the mill-house on Gates Creek to the mill-house recently purchased at the Forest Grove R. R. Station. Those having wheat in the mill to be stored are requested to call and get their flour within the next few days. And others who have wheat at on store are asked to call at the Forest Grove bank, or at the mill on Gates Creek and arrange with me for its disposition. Forest Grove, Dec. 6th 1900. E. W. HAINES.

BAD COLDS.

Quinine is 10 years behind. Colds do not now have to be endured. NEW'S DYNAMIC TABLETS (called dynamic from their energy) crowd a week's ordinary treatment into 12 hours and abort the worst of colds over night.
"It was the worst case of grip I ever had. A half dozen friends had sure cures. Still I hung on. Heard of the DYNAMIC TABLETS. To my amazement they stopped both cold and cough the first night. I was done and recomended them to the people." BANCAY HENLEY, Esq. Member Cong. and Attorney, 20 Sansome Street, San Francisco, July 7, 1892.
"Winter colds have always been serious to me. They are hard and stay for months. But the last was stopped suddenly by Messrs. DYNAMIC TABLETS. Both cough and cold disappeared in a couple of days. Nothing else does this for me." Mrs. E. L. FOLEY, 14 Moss St., San Francisco, Aug. 6, 1900.
"I live across the street from where Messrs. DYNAMIC TABLETS are made. That is how I first took them. They stop colds without notice. I took a dozen boxes with me for self and friends when I went to Nome." H. L. VAN WINKLE, Capitalist, 307 Washington Street, San Francisco, August 19, 1900.
Sent postpaid for 25 cents in stamps by INLAND DRUG CO., 2254 Washington Street, San Francisco.
