SUMMER RESORTS.

"To the mountains our people in increasing numbers yearly look for those days of relaxation and recreation necessary to maintain the human machine in fair working condition. The languorous sloth of the seashore proves very seductive while it lasts, but many have decided that the annual outing should provide not only radical change of air and surroundings, but also such stimulation of flagging energies as will provide brawn and vigor for the return to labor. For this they urge the mountain climb and ramble, the balsam of the mountain pines, and the clear, unadulterated mountain air."

"In this direction the Shasta Route now affords a wealth of attractions. The entire line of road from Ashland to Redding is studded with charming and accessible hotels and camps, where are cheer and comfort and healing at reasonable cost, and where you can hunt, fish, ride, loaf, or play with equal facility."

"Or if you look for healing waters, none better can be found, hot or cold, than the springs of Ashland, Colestin, Anderson, Bartlett, Byron and Paso Robles."

"Before visiting Europe, the people of the Northwest should see the glories of Yosemite Valley, and the wondrous groves of Mariposa and Calaveras; the Parisians are likely to make inquiries concerning these attractive resorts."

Send to Mr. C. H. Markham, General Passenger Agent, Portland, for new booklets on Castle Crag, Shasta Springs, McCloud River, Yosemite, and excursion rates thereto.

Bryan and a Third Nomination.

People who have nothing better to do seem to be wondering whether Bryan will really attempt to secure a third nomination from the party which he has twice led to defeat. Under ordinary circumstances one defeat would settle a man. But it may as well be admitted that Bryan is not an ordinary circumstance. He reminds us of a story about the father who tried to teach his little son the meaning of the word "catastrophe."

"If I should go up to the top of a seventeen-story building and fall off" he said, "what would that be?"

"That" said the son, "would be an accident."

"But if I should get up, climb up stairs to the top of the building and fall off again, what would that be?" continued the father.

"That," said Young America, "would be a coincident."

"But," persisted the father, "if I should get up and, going to the top of that building again, fall off, what would that be?"

"That," said the boy wearily, "would be a bad habit."

And so with Bryan. One was an accident. Twice was a coincident. But a third nomination would be a bad habit, and foolish as the Democracy is in some respects, it is hardly as stupid as all that.—Philadelphia "Inquirer."

FROM THE HICKORY RIDGE "MINSOURIAN."

Floored!

Swatted on the gob!

Knocked out in the second round!

McKinley and the dinner pail got there!

Gosh! Didn't they paste it to us everlastingly!

'Twasn't our fault, though, Hickory Ridge done noble.

Bryan said he was bound to win, and we bet on his judgment.

And it cost us the best squirrel dog in the whole State, by jocks!

As we go to press the news is that everything has gone Republican except h—ll and Texas.

For President in 1904, Andrew Jackson, of Tennessee. We've got to get back to the old landmarks or we're wiped out.

We acknowledge a serenade by the republican marching club with a brass band last night. It was darned poor music, but we suppose it was the best they could do. Thanks.

We are in favor of reorganizing the democratic party or abolishing the whole shooting match. When it's got so that we haven't any principles of our own, and have to take them second-hand from a lot of Kansas and Nebraska cranks and granddady long-legs with yeller hair and their pants in their boots, who don't know anything but free silver and calamity hooting, it's time, by jiminy go, to call a new deal! We're tired of holding the sack for the republican snipe hunters. It's going to be a blamed long, cold winter for us this year. Wood, coal and corncobs wanted on subscription, and wanted right now!—Chicago "Tribune."

Grafting and Budding Trees.

The proper season for grafting or budding trees is when the buds begin to open upon the stock to be grafted, but it is better that they should not have started on the scions, which is the reason for cutting the scions in winter and keeping them in a cool place until wanted to retard their growth. We have successfully set scions cut the same day, says The American Cultivator, but they were from trees not as far advanced as the stock, either by reason of being a later variety or growing in colder soil, but, as a rule, would have scions cut in winter, but when not frozen.

As so many trees have been injured by the weather the past winter, many may desire to graft seedling trees to set in place of those killed or to convert old trees of undesirable varieties into better sorts. They may be grafted at almost any age after 1 year old, and for young trees where the scion and the stock are nearly of the same size splice or whip grafting is the best method. After the stock is two inches through, and upon limbs of that size in old trees, cleft grafting is usually done. We have seen limbs much larger cleft open and two or more scions put in, taking pains, of course, to match the bark of the scion with that of the stock or branch in which it is set. In such case usually all are cut away the next spring but the most thrifty one, though sometimes two are left to form a crotch in the tree. But such crotches are more liable to be weak and split down than one formed naturally by a branching limb.

In grafting branches of old trees do not cut away more than one-third of the old limbs in one year, as the loss of so much foliage may injure it. If it is desired to change the character of the whole tree, it is better to take three or four years for the work.

True copies of the greatest Masterpieces in the art galleries of Europe. Every picture is as beautiful as a sunrise over the hilltops. Among the tens of thousands who have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for colds and la grippe during the past few yeare, to our knowledge, not a single case has resulted in pneumonia. Thos. Whitfield & Co., 240 Wabash Avenue, Chicago, one of the most prominent retail druggists in that city, in speaking of this, says: "We recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for la grippe in many cases, as it not only gives prompt and complete recovery, but also counteracts any tendency of la grippe to result in pneumonia." For sale by Delta Drug Store.

Cottage Grove will present a new charter to the legislature for approval.

How to Cure Croup.

Mr. R. Gray, who lives near Amenia, Duchess county, N. Y., says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best medicine I have ever used. It is a fine children's remedy for croup and never fails to cure." When given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough has developed, it will prevent the attack. This should be borne in mind and a bottle of the Cough Remedy kept at hand ready for instant use as soon as these symptoms appear.

The Best Plaster.

A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound to the affected parts is superior to any plaster. When troubled with lame back or pains in the side or chest, give it a trial and you are certain to be more than pleased with the prompt relief which it affords. Pain Balm also cures rheumatism. One application gives relief.

No one can reasonably hope for good health unless his bowels move once each day. When this is not attended to, disorders of the stomach arise, biliousness, headache, dyspepsia and piles soon follow. If you wish to avoid these ailments keep your bowels regular by taking Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets when required. They are so easy to take and mild and gentle in effect. For sale by Delta Drug Store.

If you would have an appetite like a bear and a relish for your meals take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They correct disorders of the stomach and regulate the liver and bowels. Price 25 cents. Samples free, at Delta Drug Store.

AN OREGONIAN ABROAD.

Our old neighbor H. M. Cronkite and his son George are in the Philippines having gone there about three months ago. Judge Crandall has received a letter from H. M. of date Nov. 9, three days after the election. They had heard the news. Leaving out some personal matters the letter reads:

I have been in Manila nearly three months, having landed Aug. 20, after being 50 days on shipboard.

I find the situation all around much better than I expected. First the mild climate is mild, not exceeding 90° so far. Heat is not oppressive and one can stand physical labor as well as in summer in Oregon only it is summer all the time and Dec. is as pleasant as May.

I went to work in a Oregon repair shop and for two months I never lost an hour. The first of this month I was transfered to the office, I am invoice clerk, I like the change and already am caught up with my work. We are more than pleased with the election news and I think I can safely predict a speedy termination of the trouble here. It has been kept alive by the sympathy of the Antis in the states, and the niggers here did not hesitate to boast, that if Bryan was elected president, we would all have to leave the Island.

The loyal Philippinos which are composed of the best educated and well-to-do, are more than pleased at the result.

Before this reaches you a general movement will take place throughout the Islands. The authorities have been quietly preparing for it for three months and I predict a final clean up. Our forces are being largely equipped with horses and pack trains. The work will be done by cavelry and mounted Infantry.

The commission seems to have been very successful so far, in killing time, but I can see no excuse for delay, now the election is over.

This Archipelago is rich in natural resources and if opened to American capital and settlement, would prove another eldorado. In agriculture, mining and manufactures, the Spaniards never got through the surface crust, so that virgin soils await the men of pluck and energy.

At present the government is giving employment in some capacity to all civillians that land and every vessal from Frisco has more or less stow-a-ways. Carpenters and Blacksmiths are in demand at $75 per month. We work only 8 hours and only 7½ in the office.

George still works in the wagon shop but will probably go prospecting about Jan. 1st.

As to the health of the people coming here, I can assure anyone that they take no more risk than changing from Oregon to California or the Gulf states. My health is excellent, I am not quite as slim as you are, but still weigh 190 pounds. Fleshy people, I can safely say the climate here will improve your appearance.

TRUSTS AND THE DINNER PAIL.

The Boston "Post," in its issue for last Sunday, discourses at some length and with considerable favor on "The Man With the Dinner Pail." Our Boston contemporary submits that those citizens who were induced by the "full dinner pail" argument to lend their aid to keep the Republican party in power in Washington are learning something from the course of events since the election. Although the pail may be full up to the present time, our contemporary asserts that the man who carries it has to pay more to keep it in that plethoric condition. "The sudden activity of trusts in putting up prices immediately after election" is noted as "significant and ominous." The first of these offenders to come in for scarification at the hands of the Boston "Post" is "the great Pennsylvania coal trust," which, it says, did not wait for election, but advanced prices, "regardless of the political situation." "The others," it says, "held off until the party crisis was past, now they are putting on the screws." The attention of the man with the pail is called to the alleged fact "that the first in the field to levy tribute upon him are those trusts which control necessaries of life. He will also observe that those trusts are favorites of the Republican Tariff, sustained by the protection which the Dingle bill provides against competition."

Let us inspect the latter of these two allegations and see how it tallies or fails to tally, with the truth. The Boston "Post" assuredly must know that there is no duty on anthracite coal. That commodity certainly is not a "favorite of the Republican Tariff." The Boston "Post" also knows that Congress has not, and, under the Constitution of the United States, could not have, anything to do with the coal combine. It knows also that there is not a Democrat in Congress who is not bound by fidelity to his party's creed to oppose any and every movement looking to national control of State corporations.

The Chicago beef trust comes next on our contemporary's list of Tariff Protected sinners. "This" we are told, "is the trust for whose benefit hides were taken off the free list, where they had been for a quarter of a century and a Tariff tax was laid upon the material of a great New England industry, and upon the footwear of the man with the dinner pail, his wife and his children."

That duty is 50 cents a hide and it was ostensibly laid for the benefit of the cattle raisers. It may be that the members of the beef combine profit by it more than do the men from whom they buy cattle, but it is so insignificant a levy that it is no serious factor in the price of meat, nor does it greatly enhance the cost of footwear. Still, if it is really promotive of injustice, it might well be repealed.

The Boston "Post" waxes eloquent in its denunciation of the salt trust. It says, among other things, that "under the Democratic regime salt was on the free list, and for this reason a great variety of food products were available to fill the dinner pail at reasonable prices. The Dingley Tariff placed a duty on salt, and as soon as the salt trust finds this Tariff made permanent by the election of a Republican government, it puts up the price of this necessary of life to the top notch that the 'Protection' will stand."

If the Protection accorded to the salt industry is abused, the wrong should be abolished. The Washington "Post" is inimical to any and all abuses of Protection. But it is absurd to speak of the price of salt as having any great effect upon the cost of a dinner, or even upon the expense of subsisting the average family for a year.

But the most ridiculous of our Boston contemporary's complaints relates to Standard Oil. It is sure that the price of oil has been increased, and it is also true that the combine which controls that business has made and is making immense profits. But the Boston "Post" knows very well that there is no duty on coal oil, and it is not ignorant of the fact that Congress has no right to interfere with the State charters under which that business is conducted. Republicans attempted to pass an amendment to the U. S. Constitution that would authorize congress to control trusts, but the democrats defeated it.

There are combinations of a more or less monopolistic character that are sheltered by the Tariff, but the Boston "Post" skilfully dodges them and delivers its hardest blows upon the anthracite coal and Standard Oil trusts. It would be an insult to our Boston contemporary's intelligence to assume or even to suspect that neither of these combines gets any help from the Tariff. What, then, is the object of such an appeal to "the man with the dinner pail?" Is it possible that our contemporary presumes on his ignorance of the subject?—Washington "Post."

"We believe it to be perfectly clear," says the "Examiner," of San Francisco, "that if the country has rejected Mr. Bryan it has done so with reluctance." Now in language used by the Democratic cartoonists during the campaign, "Wouln't that jar you?"—Tacoma (Wash.) "Ledger."

Lincoln county court at its recent session ordered the repairing of the bridge over Depot Slough on the Newport-Toledo wagon road, commonly called the "Dundon Bridge." The approaches to the bridge are still in fairly good condition, but the span across the stream will be pulled down and replaced.
