TWO OPINIONS OF THE DECISION

The supreme court of the United States has decided that the constitution follows the flag when the administration wants it to—in spots. This is admirable. There is nothing like a flexible constitution when we are governed by the trusts and exploiters.—Argus.

What does the Argus mean by that paragraph? Does it know what the decision is? Does it condemn the court because it decided that no duties could be collected between Porto Rico and Continental ports until authorized by congress? Or does it condemn the decision because it was decided that congress has authority to prescribe laws for our possessions before they become states? The Argus ought always to keep in mind that it was the importers who brought those actions to recover duties paid, 1st on imports brought from Porto Rico to Continental ports for the time between the ratification of the Treaty of Paris and the passage of the Foraker bill and 2d, on imports and exports from the passage of the Foraker bill during the time it is in force. By the first case the court decides that trade is free, and the "trusts and exploiters" win. By the 2d the "trusts and exploiters" lose and have to pay 15 per cent of the Dingley tariff into the Porto Rico treasury which goes to the support of the territorial government in lieu of local taxes levied on the poor planters. Late advices state that the Porto Ricans will, by an act to take effect the 1st of July, raise revenue for territorial expenses by local tax. After that date the "trusts and exploiters" will not be taxed. Will that remove the "spots" to the satisfaction of the Argus? But will the reader note the difference between the above paragraph from the Argus and the following estimate of the same decision written by J. W. Foster the oriental diplomat:

"I deem it fortunate that the court took the position it did: Consider the Philippine situation, for instance. The United States now has possession of the archipelago. Having the islands in our grasp, it necessarily follows that we must govern them.

"The decision of the court in the Porto Rican cases clearly and unequivocally delegated such authority to congress. It therefore settles the much mooted point as to whether congress had the power to regulate affairs in our new possessions. For this reason, I say, the decision was practical and sensible. It will be a great bulwark for those now in power in the future government of our territory in the east. The exigencies of the situation demanded just such a decision as was rendered."

THE THIRD TERM.

A political busy body, whose name is forgotten, commenced ten days ago, perhaps a little sooner, talking of a third term for President McKinley. The story ought not to have found listeners but it did till its repetition began to have an effect on public affairs. Of course the president heard the echoes and taking the advice of his cabinet decided to end the matter. This he did by issuing this statement:

"I regret that the suggestion of a third term has been made. I doubt whether I am called upon to give it notice. But there are now questions of the gravest importance before the administration and the country, and their just consideration should not be prejudiced in the public mind by even the suspicion of the thought of a third term. In view, therefore, of the reiteration of the suggestion of it I will say now, once for all, expressing a long-settled conviction, that I not only am not and will not be a candidate for a third term, but would not accept a nomination for it if it were tendered me.

"My only ambition is to serve through my second term to the acceptance of my countrymen, whose generous confidence I so deeply appreciate, and then, with them to do my duty in the ranks of private citizenship."

WILLIAM McKINLEY,
Executive Mansion, Washington, June 10, 1901.

H. E. Lounsbury, Ast. Freight Agent of the S. P. Co. R. R. stated in a farmers meeting held at Newberg last Friday that Oregon dairymen can get into New York City with butter and cheese at an expense of only ¼ of a cent per pound more than the Minnesota man has to pay. The rate from Minnesota is 1¼ cents per pound, and from Oregon 2 cents.

DAIRYING FOR PROFIT.

At a farmers meeting held last week at Junction, Lane County, C. L. Smith, a farmer and an industrial agent in the employ of the Southern Pacific Company, was one of the speakers He urged his hearers to turn attention to dairying. He emphasized the advantages of the farm separator. A man in the audience asked—"What can a poor man do who hasn't the money to buy a separator?"

Mr. Smith replied: "Any farmer can buy a separator on time and pay for it in small payments, taking a little out of the cream check each month. The increased quantity and price often make the cost of the separator clear profit the first year."

Another farmer enquired:

"Would you advise us to all quit farming and jump into dairying?"

"Most positively no," said Mr. Smith. "Never jump into anything; take it up step by step, gradually increasing your herd of cows. Weigh and test the milk, sort out the poorest and send them to the butcher. Study how to select a good cow and how to care for her. Grow more feed to the acre, thus keeping more stock on less land; rotate your crops; keep one-fourth to one-fifth of the farm in wheat, growing wheat on the same field but once in four or five years, and then get a profitable crop. Raise oats and barley; keep a few sheep and at least 100 hens; raise three or four pigs for each cow kept on the farm; feed them well and sell them when they are six months old. Have some good brood sows and breed them twice a year; if they prove good mothers, keep them till they are 7 or 8 years old; have something to sell all the time. Go strongest in the line that suits your fancy. Taste and enthusiasm are important factors to success."

This is the most practical and sensible advice that has been given to the farmers in any of the farmers' meetings. As much wheat would be raised by that method as is now done and some other things in addition.

Last week two more cadets were dismissed from West Point Military Academy after having been convicted by a court martial of having falsely obtained permission to leave the post. The sentence and its execution is well timed and will prevent a Capt. Carter incident 20 years hence.

The Washington legislature at its special session repealed the law requiring the use of a uniform list of text books in the public schools. Oregon ought to do likewise.

The INDEPENDENT is not well up in the matter of the management of city affairs, and therefore cannot unkerstand why the council did not accept the offer of Pres. Gates. If he was willing to submit to the arbitration of one man and allow the council to pick the man, it really seems that the city ought to be willing to do so. Arbitrators do not work for a half dollar per da0 and board themselves. Here was an opportunity to save some. The council refused.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

BY VIRTUE OF AN EXECUTION, Decree and Order of Sale, issued out of the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for Washington county, in favor of S. B. Huston and against James G. Lee et al for the sum of $13.60 costs, and for the further sum of $450.39 U. S. gold coin with interest thereon at the rate of 10 per cent per annum from the 10th day of April 1901 and for the cost and expenses of sale and of said writ,

Now, therefore, by virtue and in persuance of said judgment, decree and order of sale, I will, on Monday the 8th day of July. 1901, at the south door of the Court House in Hillsboro, Washington county, Oregon, at the hour of 10 o'clock a. m., of said day, sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, the following-described real property to-wit:

The S ½ of the S W ¼ and the S W ¼ of the S E ¼ of Sec 23 T 1 S R 5 W Wil. Mer. Washington county, Oregon, to satisfy the hereinbefore named sums, and for the costs and expenses of said sale.

Said property will be sold subject to redemption as per statute of Oregon.

SUMMONS.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE State of Oregon for Washington County.

J. H. Ranous and Fannie Ranous. Plaintiffs.
v.
D. P. Cartwright, Defendant

To D. P. Cartwright, the above-named defendant:

In the name of the State of Oregon, you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint of the plaintiffs filed herein on or before Thursday the 25th day of July, 1901, and if you fail so to appear and answer, the plaintiffs will apply to the Court for the relief prayed for in their complaint, to-wit, for a judgment against you for the sum of $197.50, with interest thereon at the rate of eight per cent per annum since March 18th, 1895, and the further sum of $35 attorney's fees, and the costs and disbursements of this suit, and for a decree foreclosing a certain mortgage executed by you to secure the payment of the aforesaid sums of money and which mortgage is recorded on Page 172 of Book 31 of Records of Mortgages of Washington County, Oregon. And further that the land described in said mortgage to-wit: "Lot numbered seven (7) in Fruitdale, in Washington County, Oregon, containing five (5) acres," be sold and the proceeds applied to the satisfaction of said judgment. And for such other and further relief as may be equitable. The time prescribed for the publication of this summons is six weeks and the date of its first publication is June 14, 1901.

This summons is served by publication by order of the Honorable L. A. Rood, county judge of Washington county, Oregon.

Made and dated at Chambers, at Hillsboro, Oregon, on June 13th, 1901.

S. B. HUSTON,
4-10 Attorney for Plaintiff.

For more than fifty years an Englishwoman (who is still living) has cherished a little sheaf of letters written by Charles Dickens. These charming letters show the novelist in a new part—that of the successful matchmaker. They tell the story of another man's courtship and show how the writer spurred a faint heart into winning a fair lady.

They will be printed—for the first time—in The Saturday Evening Post for June 15.

SUMMONS.

Caked Breast

Just two applications did the work

Gentlemen—I suffered for days as only a woman with caked breast can and in desperation applied Scotch Remedy, hoping it would ease the pain.

The first application gave relief and the second restored the breast to its normal condition, without injuring or effecting the flow of milk. I have used your truly Mysterious Pain Cure, as a general household remedy, for nearly a year and consider it the greatest external remedy in the world.

DOCTORS USE IT.

Gentlemen—I have known of the use of Mysterious Pain Cure for several years but not until within a few months have I used it upon my person and in my family, and I can say unhesitatingly that it is one of the best remedies for pain that I have ever tried. Thoroughly applied it is, in my experience, very sure to give quick and permanent relief. Respectfully.
