ed squiff in her eyes.

ing bag and burried into the bedroom er thimble beside it. Then she opened ught you never was comin. Come right in. Don't mind your rubbers. My carpet ain't silk warp henrietty. I nev er take my rubbers off anywheres. It's too much trouble. If folks don't like my rubbers, they needn't like me

added, with a comfortable laugh

Mrs. Dean sank into a low chair. She you to buy way up here?"

"Oh, just to give folks somethin to know. If they don't ask what made us build way up here, they ask why we window in the bathroom or why we didn't run our pipes on the outside in stid of the inside."

short, and she kept putting up a care-back like a piece of rubber and curve

'Yes; I was just workin on 'em."

She peered out cautiously.

mighty scarce in his callin at our tomorra : If she see where it went to." Mrs. Frazer sighed as she spoke and turned reluctantly from the window.

"Well," said Mrs. Hostetter, drawing long breath, "I just run in to see if you'd beard the latest. I can't stay. I've got my week's bake gettin ready

"If you mean about the way Mr. Davwindow at once.

in to her lips with every breath.

"You makin shams?"

Bublimely unconscious of her thin chin. Each time it sprang ing her guest into the sitting ch a hill as you live on!" she said injured tone. "What possessed der about," replied Mrs. Frazer pillowsham carelessly on the thrust a needle into it, and set

The doorbell rang.

ELLA HIGGINSON

Copyright, 1901, by Elia Higginson.

. "Well, I don't, neither. But I just want to tell you what Mis' Graham says when I told her. She waited till I got all through, and then she up and says she didn't think it could be true. After my a-tellin her! So I just told her it was true." "What'd she say then?"

"What do you suppose she said? She just looked me in the eye and says i in carefully with ad on one side and a little nearca'mly that if it was true she was sorry he'd done wrong, but that she didn't consider one person had ought to judge mother; says she thought it was hu-

Then she threaded a needle and dropped a glass ointment jar, over which she always darned, into the man nature to do wrong and that we'd ought to be sorry fer each other and 'Oh, mercy on us!" said Mrs. Frazer. "Why, the idea! What'd you say? She jumped up stiffly, but so suddenly that the darning things rolled all over hope you give her a good one. the floor. "Just because I'd set out to with triumph. "I told her I was a Christian and belonged to church and darn! I could embroider on them pil-lowshams a month and not a soul she wouldn't ketch me upholdin a man would set foot in this house. I wonder it is:

It is: fane. She guessed that God could put his finger on 'em! Oh, that made me She gathered up the darning imple ments and the red canton flannel stock awful mad! I said, well, I wouldn't speak to Mr. Davenport and I didn't he returned in a moment, and with a numphant air laid a partly embroidreckon Mis' Dean and Mis' Frazer > eadin ones in the church." "Good fer you! I guess she didn't have anything furder to say to that,

"Yes, she did. That's what makes me it! Really, now! Well, I'm amazed. I so awful mad. She up and says then still ca'mlike, that she didn't consider it would hurt any good woman to be kind to Mr. Davenport, even if he had done what was claimed ag'in him. which she didn't believe—the brazen thing says that ag'in—and it might do him some good."

The door opened suddenly, and a slatternly girl burst into the room. She stopped and stared at the guests. Then she threw her hand over her face, gig-gled bashfully and exclaiming "Oh. gled bashfully and exclaiming now!" retired noisily.

was a small, colorless woman, with cold eyes and a stubborn mouth. "What do you think of that?" ex claimed Mrs. Frazer in a tone of exasperation, "after all I've talked to her, a-trouncin in here that way before people! A woman might as well be crazy with her meliow, exasperating laugh. Folks are bound to ask questions, you at once as to keep a hired girl. They're

"Now, that makes me think," said Mrs. Hostetter. "I was sayin the same lidn't put a porch clear round or a bay thing to Mis' Graham the other day and what d'you s'pose she says? She says she thinks hired girls have an awful hard life. She feels sorry fer "Yes," said Mrs. Dean coldly. Her em. She keeps a rockin chair in the pale eyes were commencing to let out a little unsuspected fire. She had many nervous movements. Her veil was too ten times a week if she wants; says reproach. she thinks it's awful hard fer a girl to have to ask every time she wants to go anywheres. She says she gets cross etimes and lets her temper go at her girl, and then she always goes back and apologizes. She ain't got any sech vord as servant in her vocabillary." "Such silliness," said Mrs. Frazer scornfully-"a-ruinin bired girls that

The doorbell rang. "Well!" said Mrs. Frazer. She got up more slowly this time. She was a large woman; she moved stiffly. "It never run of 'em. She worships the ground Mis' Graham sets foot to and would

"Ob. Mis' Hostetter! You, is it? run her legs off fer her." "The worst thing she said," put in Well, I'm right glad you come, Step in. I guess you know Mis' Dean?" she Mrs. Hostetter, "was that she didn't think women had ought to get together "Oh, my. yes!" said Mrs. Hostetter and talk over girls' faults; says she'd etting on the edge of a chair. She was tall and thin. She stooped slightly. just as soon anybody would ask her how she liked her husband as to ask her how she liked her hired girl; says "I was afraid it might be the minis

Mrs. Frazer resumed her place. she's been guilty of such things her-Well, talkin about the minister self, but she ain't goin to ag'in. Oh, I said Mrs. Dean, lowering her voice, "l ever heard such goin ons!" "I guess she's crazy!"

often he goes to Miss Huntley's. I've "I guess she is. She says if we caught girls a-criticisin our faults we'd ave a conniption fit." "There goes that express wagon back g'in em'ty," interrupted Mrs. Frazer n a perplexed tone. "I can't imagine where that trunk went to. Mr. Brown told me yeste'day that Mis' Brown wa'nt comin home fer a week, but > right on." "But when you want real scandal," said Mrs. Hostetter in a low tone, "you have to go on a piece furder than Mr.

Mrs. Frazer's pillowsham sank rustling into her lep.

Mrs. Dean breathlessly A little smile wrinkled Mrs. Hostet-

"What is it?" asked both women at

Mrs. Hostetter was tantalizingly slow in replying. She looked out the win-dow with an air of mystery glooming over her. "I don't know as I ought to tell you-if you ain't noticed."

"I ain't noticed a thing."
"I ain't, neither. It can't be in this "It's in this neighborhood. It's with-house, I notice. Why, I wonder where the trunk's a-goin in that express wagwith my own eyes." The other two women sat silent,

"I wonder!" said Mrs. Frazer, rub-"You can both of you look out of this "There ain't a soul novin in round here anywheres that I seats and see the front door of the woknow of. I can't think where it can be a-goin to. Bartlo's house is right in in a front door as you'd find a-goin the way, so's we can't see, even if we from one end of the street to the other. "Like as not some of your neighbors has had company come," shagested It's little you can tell about people by their front doors." of each went jumping along from one door to another. There were a yellow door and a glass door and a grained door and a dove colored door. Their eyes stopped at the dove colored door. They looked at each other, then at Mrs.

"Unh-hunh!" she said.

enport's been a-actin up," said Mrs. Frazer, closing her lips grimly, "I've omen's faces were working with startled conjecture. "So've I," said Mrs. Dean. "I think "A scandal about her!" breathed out that's just horrible. I don't mean to bid him the time of day if I die fer it."

"Why, you'd think sugar wouldn't nelt in her mouth," said Mrs. Dean. "She sings in the choir,"

"And's on the executive board." "And the executive committee of the co-operative society." "She's the treasurer of the Red

"And secretary of the 'Sociated Char-"Used to be," put in Mrs. Hosteiter, amiably triumphant. "Ain't you no-deed she dropped everything about three months ago? "As I live and breathe," said Mrs. Frazer, "so she did!"

"It hadn't made an impression on me," said Mrs. Dean. "Well, when you see a woman that's been a runnin everything in town." said Mrs. Hostetter loftily, "get up and drop it all of a sudden you just look round you and keep still. There never's very much smoke without a fire." The other two women sat staring at the dove colored door. Who would eve have suspected a scandal belind a door of such a color-the one door on the whole street to suggest innocence and reticence-

Mrs. Hostetter broke in on their birdeage hung out on her front porch frequent if you hain't seen anything

They drew shivering breaths. They had seen the birdcage.
"Well, then, mebbe you have seen that some days it was hung on a hook on the left side of that dove colored door and some days on the right." They looked at each other and clear- town, and last thing he'd do he'd up both deserve to have it rubbed in- her! I never see his bent for admirls a a-livin right in range of her door, the kitchen fer her'n and lets her go out two of you!" Her tone was bitter with all over him, so's everybody with half pimpin when she did go out," said Mrs. Dean, recovering slightly.

"Well, I must say," admitted Mrs. sin't even called on the minister's wife, back once." time I've asked her to run in and fetch ber work. Sife's even made excuses when I've offered to take mine in and set a spell."

Hostetter. "I'm glad you've seen some thin, if only that much. If you had watched that dove colored door a leetle closer, you'd 'a' seen that when the birdeage was hung out on the"-

"Oh, my land!" cried out Mrs. Deau in a great voice for so thin a lady. She started forward in her chair. Her face was as gray as ashes. Her eyes had a wild, strained look.

"Why, forever!" gasped Mrs. Frazer, terrified

"What's got into you?" demanded Mrs. Hostetter, unmoved. "Ob, my land!"

"Mis' Hostetter! She's a-goin into some kind of attack. Git a doctor!"

"Some kind of fiddlesticks! Mis' Dean. nebbe she just telegrafted and come what's got into you?" "Oh, don't you see her eyes all set out the window? She can't speak. She can't even utter." Mrs. Hostetter turned and looked out the window. She threw back her head and burst out laughing. "Oh, that's what's got into you!" she said and went on laughing as if she couldn't

Mrs. Frazer's eyes followed hers ter's face. "Yes," she said briefly; The three women sat staring at the dove colored door. Mrs. Maybew had come out on her front porch. She had a birdcage in her hand. She stood looking off toward a fir grove that approached the house closely on one side. While they still watched she turned slowly and hung the cage up on the right side of the door. Then she went into the house and closed the door be hind her, the most innocent looking door in that western town.

Mrs. Hostetter settled comfortably in an ary of two blocks. I've see it in her chair. "Now you'll see," she egoin on for three months. I've see it said. She drew a gold watch out of a pocket crocheted on her noble bust and opened it. "In just about 15 minutes by the watch-you'll see."

The other two women sat on the without ever a-leavin your edges of their chairs and neither thin, that I've had to keep a-bathin moved nor spoke while the minutes got themselves by. Their faces were pale with suspense; their breathing was noiseless; their backs ached from leaning forward; their eyes from watching. The other two women had started depths of the wood and walked rapidly and looked out the window. The glance toward the house. He kept among the house trees. He was a young looking man. after he got the letter," she continued. His hat was drawn down over his eyes, with a return to triumph, "and he movements. He approached the dove him the time of day, and he could hardcolored door, which opened at once, by speak. Oh, he felt it deep. It was Hostetter. "Mis' Mayhew!" they ex-claimed as one woman. and he disappeared within the house. When the hearts of Mrs. Dean and the gray wringes a trembin round his Mrs. Hostetter half closed her eyes. Mrs. Frazer succeeded in pumping a mouth," she added cheerfuily.

laughing again. Who is it?"

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 80 years, has borne the signature of and has been made under his per-Cart Hilitain. sonal supervision since its infancy.
Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfelts, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children-Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregorie, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhoa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Probles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS

In Use For Over 30 Years.

mighty sek lookin man ever since

He looks as if he'd been pulled through case of appendikitis couldn't look much she called out, lifting her voice importantly, "I'll drop in tomorrow sure

[CONTINUED.]

NERVE WASTE.

prevails on this interesting subject. It abounds in carefully considered and practical advice and has the two great merits of wisdom and sincerity.

It is indorsed by both the religious and secular press, The Chicags Advance say: "A perusal of the book and the application of its principles will put health, hope and heart into thousands of lives that are now suffering through nervous

One of the most helpful erve weakness ever issued is a-join on for three months. Ever since thoughts. "Mebbe you have seen a the left of church and choir and liberry board and everything else. That un't all. I've see fer a long time that a knothole. A man with a cancer or a there's some cool feelin's between her and Mr. Maynew."

"That's so," said Mrs. Dean. "And Mr. Maybew such a nice man!" "Oh, mercy, my bread!" exclaimed "I never heard a word ag'in him yet." Mrs. Hostetter; getting up excitedly. "And it seems to be on his side. My mercy! She ust to come to the door "I must run or it'll be spollt." "We'll have to take this here dove with him every time he went down rolor door in band," called Mrs. Dean ed their thronts simultaneously. Each and kiss her, like a pair of fool lovers. face reflected back the mortification They'd been married a long time too. I guess we can. We can't have any such goin ons in this neighborhood, on the other. They shook their heads, He spent all his evenin's at home with honest, but asi maed. They would tell her unless there was somethin to go Mrs. Frazer closed the door carefully the truth thou, the heavens fell for it. to, and then he'd always take her. And after Mrs. Hostetter and returned to the siting room. She sat down and "Well, you might of, if you'd had if she sum a piece or played on the looked at Mrs. Dean. Mrs. Dean look your wits about you." said Mrs. Hos- plane or declaimed, my mercy, he just tetter. "You needn't squirm so. You set and couldn't take his eyes off of ed at her. Both smiled. "It takes lots of folks to make a world," said Mrs. Denn. "The idee of woman and lettin his admire stick out her a-makin out so about other people's actin ups. Look at her husband-the a eye could see it. He fairly carried "I have seen that she's looked mighty his admire round on his sleeve! And whole town a-talkin about him. I reck-

when he come home to dinner she'd on if women knew all that's bein said run out to the gate, and first thing he'd about their husbands they wouldn't be "And it's been long spells between do he'd up and kiss her. Well, it's all so fresh a-talkin about others." her goin outs," said Mrs. Frazer, with changed now. He never goes a step "Yes," said Mrs. Frazer slowly, "but ain't that awful about Mis' Mayhaw with her anywheres, he never spends "She's had a pale, scared look. I an evenin at home, and if she comes to I can't git over her a-havin such a vir have seen that she was a concealin the door with him he just walks off tuous lookin front door. I'll never trust "She ain't hardly made a call. She thinkin and never so much as looks gives me breath. If you'd 'a' told me to hunt up the length and the breadth Dean reluctantly, "that Mis' Graham's and her with a teethin baby! She's "Mebbe somebody's give him a hint," of this hull town for an innocent look-breathed Mrs. Francr. Mrs. Hostetter smiled and cleared her throat. know but what I would of, too," she "Mebbe somebody has," she said said, with a deep sigh. "Well, I've got mysteriously.

to go too. I ain't got a week's bake "Mebbe somebody's sent him an Mrs. Hostetter fixed her unexpected ly with a stern gaze. "Mebbe some "Well, my land! Don't eat a body up with your eyes so! I wa'n't accusin you. "Well, you can if you want," said

Mrs. Hostetter, undnunted "Why, you never, did you?" exclaimed both women in a breath.

"Yes, I did," said Mrs. Hostetter proud as a peacock with an unfuried tail. "I give him a hint in an anonymous letter, just the mildest kind of an intimation. "Oh, what did you say? Tell us what and let you know where that trunk They were a-quiver with excitement

"Well, I just said"-she leaned back and half closed her eyes-"that when the birdenge hung on the right side of the door a young man went there early and staid all the afternoon. I told him"—

"Oh, good for you?"

"I glory in your spunk. You are grit."

"Good for you! Nerve—unii!"

"I told him"—Mrs. Hostetter swelled out her bust superbly—"that he didn't long of the most helpful backs on nerve weakness ever issued is that entitled "Nerve Waste," by Dr. Sawyer of San Francisco, now in its fifth thousand. This work of an experienced and reput table physician is in agreeable contrast to the vast sum of false teaching which prevails on this interesting subject. It out her bust superbly-"that he didn't need to take any anonymous letter's word for it. All he had to do was to watch for hisself any Toosday or Friday."

"And did he?" Her countenance fell, "Well, no, be didn't, I must say.

"What! Didn't be never?" "No, not a once. "Why, how do you know?"

The book is $1.00, by mail postpaid.

One of the most interesting chapters—chapter xx, on Nervines and Nerve Tonics—has been printed separately as a sample chapter, and will be sent to any address for stamp by the publishere
THE PACIFIC PUB. Co., Box 2638, San "I've set here at my window every Toosday and Friday since. I've set a little back, so's I couldn't be seen, but I've never took my eyes off of that house. It's strained my eyes so, a-keepin 'em set right on one spot, almost without winkin fer fear I'd miss som 'em in strong salt water. It's terrible good for the eyes. Well, if her kushand had 'a' watched he'd been to mee the man, and then, of be'd 'a' gone straight to the to-well, to-er-hum-heard she added in a deep voice, "la er-liner-den. But he never went But I see him the day and there was something furtive in his looked as gray as an ash pan. I bid little color back into those white, "I don't see what alled him, not to shocked faces, Mrs. Hostetter burst out | watch," and Mrs. Dean helplessly, not knowing the meaning of the word

> "I don't see, neither." "Well, we teh or no watch, he's been

A FEW INTERESTING FACTS

When people are contemplating a trip whether on business or pleasure, they esturally want the best service obtalinable of far an speed, comfort, and salety is concerned. Employers of the Wiscontin Central Lines are paid to serve the public and our trains are operated so as to make close connection with the with diverging lines at all junction points.

> Pullman Palace Sleeping and Chair Car on through trains

Dining Car service unexcelled. Meals served a la Carte.

in order to obtain this first claze service ask the licket agent to sell you a ticket over

THE WISCONSIN CENTRAL LINES. Direct connections at Chicago au . Mil wankee for all Eastern points.

For full information call on your warest or Jas. A. Choc c, Gen. Pas. Agt., General Agent, Milwaukee, Wis. 246 Stark

Go EAST Over

Scenic Line of the World. VIA

City & Denver. Salt Lak

to; and enjoyable trip tinent is over this on thise larreilroad

Choice of two r es arough the Rocky cfour routes east Pueblo Mountain Salt Lake City or EAST ween Ogden anywher 17"nver THROUGH CAR SERVICE. MAGNIF CENT SCENERY. PERFECT DINING CAR STA VICE.

top overs allo

MEALS A LA CARTES Ask your nearest ticket ag ? t for tic kets via the Denver & Rio Grande Rail-road, Scenic Line of the World, Descriptive matter mailed upon appli-E. B. DUFFY, R. C. NICHOL.

Traveling Agent. General Agent . 124 Third St., Portland, Ore.

B. P. CORNELIUS,

Auctioneer; Hillsboro Oregon I offer my services to citizens of his county to sell goods, merchandise 520 p x Ar and chattels at public vendue. I will attend all sales at times and places specified upon receiving re-germent to do so. Charges reasonable, house," she added, with great so lemnity, "I'd 'a' pointed out that one." Mrs. Dean arose slowly. "I don't

Catarrh Cannot be Cured

ready to go in the oven—I get mine all done on the proper bakin day—but I've a plenty to do."

Mrs. Frazer went to the door with her. She bade her good afternoon there, but when Mrs. Dean had reached the gate Mrs. Frazer ran heavily down the steps and stood on the walk. She stood with her body balanced backward, holding one hand arched over her eyes. The wind was strong. It is composed of the best tonics known combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredents her eyes. The wind was strong. It ing directly on the nucous surfaces. The streamed her light gown out in flapperfect combination of the two ingredients is weat produces such wonderful results streamed her light gown out in hap-ping folds and gave bold glimpaes of in curing Catarrh. Send for testing her thick ankles. "Oh, say, Mis' Dean,"

Address, F.J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O ern Ry. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Hall's Family Print are the best, or acceptable ideas.

State if patented.

To all points of the Eastern states, Can add and Europe can be obtained at lowest rates from C E. Beckwith, agent or HE PATENT RECORD, IL KOKHLER,

OREGON SHORT LINE AND UNION PACIFIC

TIME SCHEDULES FROM PORTLAND

Chiengo-Portland Special, via Huntington leaves 9 a m for Salt Lake, Denvor, Ft. Worth, Omaba, Kansas City, St. Louis, C* ago & East, Arrives 4:30 p.m.

Al' de Express via Huntington, deat 9 p m for Salt Lake, Denver,Ft. rth, Omaha, Kansas City, St. Louis, bicago and East. Arrives 8:40 a. m.

St. Paul fast mail via Spokane leaves 6 p m for Walia Walia, Lewiston, Spo-kare, Wallace, Pullman, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth, Millwankee, Dhicago and East. Arrives 7 a m.

OCEAN AND BIVER SCHEDULE Frem Portland

Leaves 8 p m for San Francisco every days. Arrives 4 p m.

Leaves 8 p m daily except Sunday, on Saturday 10 p m for Astoria and way-landings Arrives 4 p m except Sunday Leaves daily except Sunday at 6 a m tor Oregon City, Newberg, Salem, Inde-pendence and way-landings. Arrives at 4:50 p m except Sunday.

Leaves Tues, Thurs, and Sat at 6 a m for Corvallis and way landings. Arrives Mon, Wed and Fri at 4:30 p m.

Leaves Tues, Thurs and Sat at 7 a m for Oregon City, Dayton and way-land, ings. Arrives Mon, Wed and Fri at

Leaves Riparia at 3:40 a m for Lewis-Leaves Lewiston 8:30 a m tor

> Address, A. I. CRAIG. Gen'l Pass. Agent. Oregen.

THE SHASTA ROUTE

-OF THE-SOUTHERN PAC. CO. EXPRESS TRAINS LEAVE PORTLAND DAILY

Above trains stop stall stations between Portland and Salem, Turner, Marion, Jefferson, Albany, Tangent, Shedda, Raj-sey, Harrisburg, Iunction City, Engene Cattage Grove, Drain, Oakland, and all stations from Roseburg to Ashland,

ROSEBURG MAIL DAILY:

DINING CARS ON OGDEN ROUTE.

TILLMAN RUFFET SLEEPERS

Sees a-Class Sleeping Cars AT JOHED TO ALL THROUGH THAISE

West Side Division

SK: WEZE PORTLAND & CORVALLIS

At Albany and Corvallis connect of the Oregon Central & East-

Portland Ar 8:25 A M Hillsboro Lv 7:16 A M McMinnville Lv 3:50 A M Through

THREE COLLEGE COURSES

GLASSICAL, SCIENTIFIC, LITERARY

PACIFIC

The Academy prepares for College and gires a thorough English Education, the best preparation for teaching or business. All expenses very low. Board and rooms a the Ldies' Hall $3 to $4 per week, includinelectric light and heat.

THE CCLLEGE DORMITORY

Under experienced management, will furnish rooms and board at cost on the club plan, not to exceed $1.50

> For full par iculars, address PRESIDENT McCLELLAND Forest Grove, Oregon

