Surveyor A. A. Morrell is making a preliminary survey of the city for the purpose of determining the best place for laying a sewer. The council is studying the proposition and the prospect for having a line is better than it has before been. The INDEPENDENT suggests that when the ditch is opened that two lines of pipe be laid, one of vitrified tile and the other, common drain tile. The fifth of the city will go through the first while the streets and blocks can be drained through the second.

George Adams, Geier at the age of 80 years, died at his home in Hillsboro, Wednesday morning last. The deceased has been sick for many weeks and his death is not a surprise. He was a native of Mannheim, Baden, Germany where he followed his trade of theatrical scene painter. He came to America in 1870 and worked in several of the large cities. He bought property in Hillsboro ten or twelve years ago and has continued to live here since. He painted the stage scenery used in Vert's Hall, Forest Grove, and some of the advertising cartoons on the drop curtain of the Hillsboro opera house. The scenery of the Hillsboro play house was painted in Chicago before Mr. Geier came here. Deceased was twice wedded. There are two children by his first wife but none by the second who survives. In early manhood a good salary was earned but spent almost as fast as received. The property where he lived is all that he accumulated. This is understood was decided to his wife several months ago, so the home that she helped to make, remains to her. The funeral occurred yesterday.

The County Court of Columbia County took to the woods last week when Hon. S. B. Huston presented the petition signed by residents of the eleven sections asking that their property be removed from the assessment roll of Columbia County. Mr. Huston suggested that the court could not retain those sections by refusing to act since there are a number of ways for getting the question before the court. One way is to get a gannet to shoot a bird out of season, arrest him and at the trial raise the question of venue. Another and perhaps best way is to make an agreed case to be submitted to Judge McBride. The County Court seemed doubtful and would not even ask for time to consider of a decision. There will be one though, for the people living on those sections are in earnest and on account of roads and business connections, want to remain in Washington County.

The Corvallis Times has seen Mr. McDonald and his daughter as they passed through its town on their way to the old home in Washington County. McDonald leads in a wagon, following is a band of bunch grass horses forty-four strong, noble animals driven by Miss McDonald and her girl friend. The girls are gowned with divided skirts and are seated in the ordinary range saddle. Their feet are incased in high topped shoes to which is strapped spurs whose rowells are properly dyed in blood. A second wagon brings up the rear. Mr. McDonald went from Washington County to Klaskan County in 1872. The time is so long that the oldest settler fails to locate him, but probably a winter's residence will bring to mind faces that 30 years have obscured.

Gault-Williams. One of the prettiest weddings seen in Tigardville in recent years was that of Miss Ada Williams and Mr. Fred L. Gault, which took place at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, Oct. 9th, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Williams. The house decorations were exceedingly elaborate and beautiful.

At the appointed hour, the bride and groom, groomsmen, Mr. Henry Huslage and bridesmaid, Miss Edie Goodman entered the parlor and took their places under an arch of evergreen and were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Justice of the Peace H. B. Tigard, the ceremony being simple and impressive. After congratulations, all were invited to the dining room where a sumptuous repast was served of which all being present did ample justice.

The bride looked lovely in a costume of cream muslin with trimmings with veil to match and carried a bouquet of white carnations and smilax. The bridesmaid was dressed in white and carried a bouquet of pink La France roses. The groom wore the conventional black.

Mr. and Mrs. Gault have hosts of acquaintances and are well known, having made Tigardville their home for years.

Many beautiful presents were received.

Mr. P. B. Southworth, son of our neighbor, Mrs. Reynolds, and whom the boys, known men, called Pres South, has been exercising his inventive genius. He has devised a harness snap which is not equalled by anything now in the market. He is negotiating with a company of manufacturers in the East for the sale of his right. The sum named between $8000 and $1000. Mr. Southworth has a fine farm near Mayville in Gilliam County, this state and being quite remote from transportation lines he cannot grow wheat profitably for shipping so he feeds it to hogs and thus is able to keep the wolf from the door though coyotes occasionally take a pig.

Mrs. N. J. Ungerman, of McMinnville, visited with her daughter, yesterday at the central station of the telephone exchange. Mrs. Ungerman has just completed a term of five years served as Grand M. of R. & C. Bathbone Sisters. Her efficient service and great popularity with her associates is emphasized when it is stated that the official term is but one year and to serve five years means five consecutive elections. A sixth election was declined as the lady felt that she has earned a rest.

During the year ending July 31, 1901, the salaries paid the sheriff, county clerk and recorder of this county, were $6800. This includes the remuneration paid to deputies and will be the pay roll till the law is changed. During the same time the fees paid by litigants and parties to the transfer of real estate have been $3500.50 by which it appears that the County has not been able to make itself whole by means of the fees. The general taxpayer is called upon to make good the deficiency.

The merchants of Hillsboro have entered into an agreement to close their several places of business at eight o'clock in the evening hereafter. This is a fair compromise on that question. In Portland, stores close at six o'clock, p. m. which is a great inconvenience for working people who cannot do shopping out of working hours. The Hillsboro business people have been more thoughtful for the interests of customers.

Some plats of land in the County have been found unsuited for orchards. The trees grow fairly well for a year or two and then die. This, it is thought, is due to poor drainage. A hard pan is found from ten to fifteen inches beneath the surface which prevents the water of the winter rains from properly leaching away. It is held about the roots of the trees till they are drowned out. This state of things has been remedied in some localities by breaking up the hard pan with blasts of dynamite. A hole is made with a two inch dirt auger about three feet deep and loaded with a stick or two of dynamite. When this is exploded, the hard soil is shattered but the blast is not heavy enough to blow out a great hole. The water has a way of escape and the trees are left to grow. Some orchards about Scholls that have been thus treated, show great thrift. The same result has followed orchard shooting about Newberg in Yamhill County.

The foot ball team at Forest Grove has two match games within a week. Last Saturday the opponents were the Chemawa Indians. The score stood at the close of the game 16 to 12 in favor of the home team. The sensational play was Falke's long run for a touch down. The Chemawas played a good game and whenever they attack the center of their opponent's line they made yardage. T. A. & P. U. could not get through the Indians' line. They had to go around or past. The second game was on Wednesday when the school boys met the Multnomah amateurs. The visitors out classed the home team and gained six points to nothing for the school boys. The touch down was made near the close of the first half. The Forest Grove people lost points on fumbles which ought not to have happened on a dry field. The College team is making rapid progress toward good playing under the instruction of their coach, and before the season is over a good game will be put up.

Portland Carnival's Brilliant Array of Attractions.

Never in the history of the Northwest have the people been offered such enjoyable entertainment mingled with useful instruction as will be laid before them during the month of the Portland Carnival, which will be held in the great Exposition building from Sept. 18 to Oct. 19, and also in the beautiful Multnomah Field adjoining. The Committee of representative business men having the carnival in charge have already made contracts involving the expenditure of $60,000 to make the Carnival a success. On the music and amusements alone there will be $18,000 expended and the other appropriations will be in proportion for the Horse Show and the grand Military Tournament and the Athletic Exercises, etc.

These figures will give people an idea of the grandeur and immensity of the Carnival, which will be illuminated with 3800 electric lights. The music by two full military bands will be grand, and there will not be a dull moment, afternoon or evening. There will be a reproduction of Multnomah Falls in the Exposition Building, a big working Mining Exhibit, a German Village, a showing of all the products of the Northwest, and many other sights to see. All railroad and steamboat lines will sell excursion tickets to the Carnival, good for 7 days, at one and one-third fare for the round trip. People who miss the Portland Carnival will miss a grand event.

HOW THEY DIED.

The armies of cut worms that did so much damage in Willamette valley gardens last year and the year before, were not on hand this season. Last year they ate up garden after garden. Owners dosed them with coal oil, chased them with the clubs, swore like steamboat captains at them and tried every other means to rid their garden of the multitudes of pests. But it all came to naught. The worms got out of sight when the proprietor hove in sight, and appeared again by countless hundreds when he disappeared. One row after another of growing vegetables was destroyed, the worms never leaving the garden patch until they had wrecked it. But the worms were absent this season. They went as mysteriously and suddenly as they came and the fact of how they went is most interesting.

The cut worms all died, and died in a peculiar way. A germ disease went through their ranks like a pestilence, and never ceased its ravages till the last worm was at rest. The death of every worm was identical with that of his comrade. On the rear end of each, a diseased place appeared. The affection was only a speck at first, but it grew larger and larger until half the worm was involved. As the affection advanced along the body, the worm grew more and more feeble, and at last he died.

Hundreds of them in various stages of the disease were put under the microscope at the college and studied. Germs were taken from them and cultures made. From the cultures other worms were inoculated, and the disease was reproduced with perfect precision. The investigation led to a fixed conviction that the disease was epidemic in the cut worm world, and the non-appearance of the pests this season shows how fatal it was. Prof. Fernet, who made the investigation, believes that the disease was contracted by something that the worms ate, as in every case the digestive organs were involved. Prof. Fernet still has a supply of the fatal germs on hand ready to dose any stray cut worm that happens around.—Corvallis Times.
