THROUGH UTAH AND COLORADO. The ideal trip to the east during the heat of summer is via the Rio Grande Western and Denver & Rio Grandes Railroads, the far-famed "Scenic Line of the World." The extremes of temperature are never met, and passengers are sure of having a delightfully cool ride through the heart of the Rocky Mountains, and a view by daylight of scenery which is nowhere surpassed.

If desired, a stop enroute may be made at quaint and picturesque Salt Lake City, the "City of the Saints," Glenwood Springs, Leadville, Colorado Springs, Pueblo, Denver, or any intermediate point.

There are three daily trains leaving Salt Lake City for all points east, which have close connections from the Northwest via either O. R. & N. Co., or the Southern Pacific Co. These trains are equipped with Through Sleepers (Standard and Tourist), Free Reclining Chair Cars and a perfect Dining Car Service.

Personally Conducted Excursions, in charge of competent and courteous managers, are run several times a week without change of cars to Denver, Omaha, Kansas City, St. Louis, Chicago, Buffalo, New York, Boston and all eastern cities. Tickets are on sale at all Railroad Ticket offices. For further information and cheapest rates, apply to J. D. MANSFIELD, General Agent, 124 Third St., Portland, Oregon.

Base ball players should use The Delta Liniment, as it cures sprains and bruises, toughens the hands and keeps the fingers supple.

The Gunmaker Of Moscow

By SYLVANUS COBB, Jr.

As soon as the count and his second arrived and the horses had been secured the lieutenant proposed that they should repair to the building which was close at hand. This was a large open boathouse which was unused and deserted in the winter, and it was proposed to go in there because the reflection of the strong sunlight from the bright snow was calculated to blind and blur the eye. "Ha! What means that?" uttered Orsa as he saw a sledge just turning the bend of the river with an officer in it. "It is only a surgeon," replied Damonoff. "I would not cut a man's flesh without giving him a fair chance to survive it." "And then you may find him servicable to yourself, eh?" suggested the lieutenant. "Of course. There is no telling what may happen." In a moment more the new sledge came up, and Ruric recognized its inmate as an army surgeon whom he had seen before, though he knew not his name. "Now for the old boathouse," cried Urzen. "Aye," added Damonoff. "Let us have this business done, for I would be back to dinner. I dine with Olga today, and a fair maiden awaits my coming."

"Notice him not," whispered Orsa, who walked close by Ruric's side. "That is one of his chief points when engaged in an affair of this kind. He hopes to get you angry and so unhinge your nerves." "Never fear," returned the gunmaker. "Be sure he only brings new danger to himself, for such efforts will find their point in the muscle of my arm." The party halted when they reached the interior of the rough structure, and the count threw off his pelisse and drew his sword. Ruric followed his example. "Sir count," the latter said as he moved a step forward, "ere we commence this work I wish all present to understand distinctly how I stand. You have sought this quarrel from the first. Without the least provocation from me you have insulted me most grossly, and this is the climax. So, before God and man, be the result upon your own head." "Out, lying knave!" "Hold!" cried the surgeon, laying his hand heavily upon the count's arm. "You have no right to speak thus, for you lower yourself when you do it. If you have come to fight, do so honorably." An angry reply was upon Damonoff's lips, but he did not speak it. He turned to his antagonist and said: "Will you measure weapons, sir? Mine may be a mite the longest. I seek no advantage, and I have one here of the same length and weight as my own if you wish it." "I am well satisfied as it is," replied Ruric. "Then take your ground. Are you ready?" "I am!"

The two swords were crossed in an instant, with a clear, sharp clang. There was some contrast between the two combatants, but not much apparently. The count was a little the taller, and Ruric was somewhat heavier. But to a close observer there was a peculiar contrast in the bearing of the two men. That breast swelling out so nobly and those massive shoulders, made for the seat of physical power, were Ruric's alone to possess. Yet Conrad Damonoff was accounted a strong man. In the athletic sports of the court club he had few superiors and not many equals. But Ruric Nevel had never shown his strength there. Now, for the first time, that contemptuous look passed from the count's face. As his eye caught his antagonist's position, as he noticed the calm, dignified, quiet ease of every limb and as he caught the deep, mystic fire of those expressive eyes he knew that he had no common amateur to deal with.

At length Conrad Damonoff started back, and a quick cry escaped his lips. His antagonist's point had touched his bosom. It had pressed against his heart and had not been driven home. Well he knew that his life was his no longer, for the gunmaker had gained it and spared it. "You fence well," he gasped, struggling to regain his composure. "You are not a novice," returned Ruric calmly, at the same time allowing his point to drop. "Come on," the count uttered, form. Their powders dry up the mucous membranes causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids used in the inhalers have entirely eaten away the same membranes that their makers have aimed to cure, while tastes and ointments cannot reach the disease. An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and specialty of the treatment of catarrh, has at last perfected a treatment which when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently cures catarrh, by removing the cause, stopping the discharges and curing all inflammation. It is the only remedy known to science that actually reaches the affected parts. This wonderful remedy is known as "Snuffles," the guaranteed catarrh cure, and is sold at the extremely low price of one dollar, each package containing internal and external medicine sufficient for a full month's treatment and everything necessary to its perfect use. "Snuffles" is the only perfect catarrh cure ever made and is now recognized as the only safe and positive cure for that annoying and disgusting disease. It cures all inflammation quickly and permanently and is also wonderfully quick to relieve hay fever or cold in the head. Catarrh when neglected often leads to consumption—"Snuffles" will save you if you use it at once. It is no ordinary remedy, but a complete treatment which is positively guaranteed to cure catarrh in any form or stage if used according to the directions which accompany each package. ## NEWS OF THE STATE.

Evangelist Marshall is holding successful gospel meetings in the Hillsboro Methodist church. The recent rains have been thankfully received by the miners about Grant's Pass. There is great activity there.

Multnomah county employs thirty clerks on the 1901 tax roll. It is claimed the roll will be model and save much work hereafter.

One Homer R. Evans is in jail at Clatsop county on the charge of passing a bogus check on a Canby postoffice keeper. Both go together, as might be expected.

Independence nominates a citizens' municipal ticket this year. The names are not strenuous and the interest in the city election does not justify a division of the forces.

The Yamhill county wheat growers are holding their wheat for 50 per bushel. The price, last week, ranged above 45 cents, and they reasonably look for their price.

An anonymous letter writer at Pendleton is sending accusing letters to ladies of that town, telling what their husbands did while the wives were at the "springs." The papers are investigating.

The Continental mine, at Myrtle Creek, Douglas county, considered a valuable property, has been sold for $12,000. Three years ago the mine was bought for $80. The developed mine pays $5 per day to the man.

One Lem Davis, living on Snake River, in Baker county, has been convicted in the U. S. court on the charge of making some apple and peach brandy last summer, which he sold to his neighbors. He was sentenced to serve a term of five months in jail and to pay a fine of $300.

Don Holton, the well known Portland hotel man, slipped and fell one day last week, striking his head on the stone curb. His skull was fractured and the blow was so bad that he died a day later. He was perhaps the best known hotel man in the state.

The Yaquina Bay Coal and Oil Co.'s steam drill outfit has begun operations on the Stanton farm, three miles north of Toledo. The company has a Keystone drill outfit and are preparing to make a 2,000 foot puncture.

The Southern Oregon Oil Company's drill continues its good work at the well east of town and has been making excellent progress since the new steel jars were attached to the drilling machinery, last week. At noon today the drill had penetrated the various strata to a depth of 1370 feet and all the promising indications, seepages of oil with paraffine base, etc., have continued and the management is in strong faith of soon striking the oil sands that carry the "mother lode" of the greasy fluid.—Tidings.

Sidney Spradborough, son of Mr. Spradborough, who lives on a part of the Richard Arthur donation, beyond Centerville, this county, was shot and instantly killed last Sunday while duck hunting on the Columbia bottom, between Portland and Vancouver. The deceased was in a blind, Banks just in the rear of Sidney, a duck came over, Banks fired just as the other raised to shoot. The rear gun almost touched the head and the charge made a great hole, causing instant death.

A fruit buyer for the London market, who was in Medford last week, sent an assertion that might seem ambiguous to many of us who are not familiar with the conditions of fruit growing. The assertion was in substance that the Rogue River Valley, in Southern Oregon, United States of America, produced a Newton Pippin apple that could not be equaled any place in the world. Gee, but the world is a big place, but when an assertion comes from one who does nothing but buy fruit for one of the best markets in the world, one can do nothing less than put it down as a good fact, especially when there can be no motive. Hurrah for Southern Oregon's apples! She's a winner with the whole world as a competitor. There are thousands of acres of land in Southern Oregon which will produce these apples and upon which there is not a fruit tree growing. That horticulture is a profitable pursuit in Southern Oregon is not questioned by people who have lived here for the past five years and have noted the immense amount of money made by the growers.—Medford Mail.
