POSITIVE POLITICIANS.

The Portland Journal mildly lecturing its party, points out that a party in order to succeed must have a principal which it can positively champion. It says:

Let democrats be frank with each other and admit that there is somewhat of justice in the inveighing against them on account of their tendency of late to get upon a negative position. They have been too often merely against something, not frequently for something. This is to state it in terms of philosophical significance. To state it in the cold-blooded vernacular, they have been to a too great extent "kickers."

People have little use for those who are merely against something or someone. They would rather hear positive advocacy. They welcome enthusiastic championing of some good man or cause. They do not like mere opposition.

The Journal clearly sees why its party so seldom has a voice in the management of public affairs. Democrats for years have hastened to oppose what republicans have advocated. Because republicans have for a quarter of a century advocated a safe and sound money system, the democrats have opposed them and have even found themselves standing for a bad system. Thousands of democrats knew and know that the single gold standard is the only safe policy, yet for the sake of opposing republicans they supported free silver coinage when they knew that its adoption would be disasterous to the public. In 1898, the party was so fierce in its opposition that it wanted war with Spain on a pretext even. The party got what it wanted and voted with republicans in congress only till it was seen that the republican administration was to be successful, then democrats opposed the war, opposed the army, opposed everything until some of the leaders almost if not quite, became traitors. They opposed, but had no policy to substitute. Democrats would gladly have supported the policy of retaining the Philippines if republicans had only resolved to give them up. In the late state canvass, Mr. Chamberlain saw that his party is wrong on its insular policy wherefore he abandoned the platform and adopted that of the republicans. The same senseless kicking is seen when dealings with the trusts are undertaken. The decision of the courts a short time ago pointed to the fact that congress had not power to fully legislate for checking monopolistic combinations. A constitutional amendment was produced. Democrats opposed the amendment, not because it was not proper or would not enable congress to control trusts, not because they had a better plan to offer but becuse it was a republican measure.

The same is true with regard to tariff legislation in 1894. The administration was democratic in every department and might have adopted positive legislation but it did not. What was sent to the president was negative, opposition to republican policy. Mr. Cleveland in signing the bill said it was a "work of perfidity and dishonor." The Journal is justified in saying that its party is one of "kickers.',

The New York Tribune is authority for the statement that the sugar trust planters in Cuba, failing to get favorable congressional legislation for their interests, are fomenting a rebellion in the expectation that the United States will interfere and that annexation will be brought about.

Mr. Griggs, chairman of the democratic congressional committee has obtained from foreigners, invoices which shows that American sewing machines had been bought for $17, whereas the same machines are sold at home for $40. There are some modifying circumstances that Mr. Griggs should take into account. About seven or eight years ago, W. S. Phelps, whom we all know, offered to Hillsboro dealers a sewing machine equal to the best on the market for the standard $17. It is true that machines are sold for more money, but it is by a system of traveling agents, the most expensive way that trade can be carried on. Abolish the agency and partial payment system of selling and we can have $17 sewing machines.

STATE FAIR.

No time in the history of the Oregon State Fair has there been such a good feeling among the agricultural classes towards the success of the fair as exists at the present time. Every section of the state seems to be taking an interest in the fair and promise to give it their hearty support. There are reasons for this awakening of the people to the support of the fair. One is, the management has worked hard and faithfully to make the fair as broad as the state itself. The transportation companies have come to their assistance and made very liberal rates on hauling exhibits of all kinds. Another is, the people are beginning to realize that it is time to let the outside world know of the wonderful resources of our state' and believe that the state fair is the proper place to meet the better class of home-seekers. This will make the fair doubly valuable. It will give those who are looking for homes on the Pacific coast an opportunity to see in a body what our state can produc', and where it is produced, without traveling all over the state at great expense. It will also give the exhibitor the best possible opportunity of showing his products, whether it be grains, grasses, fruits, vegetables, livestock, minerals or manufactured goods.

Shot In His Leg.

For all kinds of sores, burns, bruises or other wounds, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is a sure cure. Skin diseases yield to it at once. Never fails in cases of piles. Cooling and healing. None genuine but De Witt's. Beware of counterfeits. "I suffered for many years from a sore caused by a gun shot wound in my left leg," says A. S. Fuller, English, Ind. "It would not heal and gave me much trouble I used all kinds of remedies to no purpose until I tried De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve. A few boxes completely cured me." Delta drug store.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

The largest sum ever paid for a prescription, changed hands in San Francisco, Aug. 30, 1901. The transfer involved in coin and stock $11,500.00 and was paid by a party of business men for a specific for Bright's Disease and Diabetes, hitherto incurable diseases.

They commenced the serious investigation of the specific Nov. 15, 1900. They interviewed scores of the cured and tried it out on its merits by putting over three dozen cases on the treatment and watching them. They also got physicians to name chronic, incurable cases, and administered it with the physicians for judges. Up to Aug. 5, eighty-seven per cent of the test cases were either well or progressing favorably.

There being but thirteen per cent of failures, the parties were satisfied and closed the transaction. The proceedings of the investigating committee and the clinical reports of the test cases were published and will be mailed free on application. Address John J.
