

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Silt, of Beaverton, visited in Hillsboro last Saturday.

Mr. Wm. Pointer, of Salem, visited over Sunday with his daughter, Mrs. W. H. Gault.

Showery is the term that describes the weather. However there is not water enough falling to start the plows.

Judge Crandall has not had the best of health in the east where he and Mrs. Crandall are visiting. Climate seems to be at fault, and they will start home in a few days, arriving perhaps the last of next week.

Messrs. Hinshaw & Wheeler finish drying prunes this week and go to apples. The only fault they have with their evaporator is its size. It is not big enough. They plan to enlarge it next summer to twice or three times its present capacity.

Railroad surveyors are still at work on the line from the S. P. Co's road passing Beaverton and connecting at or near Oswego with the Willamette division. It looks now as though there will be active railroad work in that neighborhood next summer.

The meetings at the Christian church will be continued for several days longer. Subject for Sunday evening "Why Christians Keep Sunday Instead of the Seventh Day." By request, the illustrated sermon, "The Gospel Chain" will be repeated on Monday evening.

William Baldwin and George his son have been sentenced to the state penitentiary, the father for two years and the son for one. It will be remembered that the boy George engaged in a duel fought with fists last summer in which his antagonist, Frank Carlson was killed.

Hon. B. L. Eddy, representative elect from Tillamook county, was a visitor in Washington county this week. Mr. Eddy is one of the three announced candidates for speaker of the next House of Representatives, and is understood to have been here to see what kind of land there is over which to build fences.

While at play last Monday, the second daughter, aged two years of Cashier A. C. Shute was jostled by her elder sister and thrown against a piece of furniture in some manner that cut an inch long was cut in her forehead. The wound was closed by Dr. Bailey with an adhesive strip and the child is making rapid recovery.

A beautiful wedding occurred at the residence of Mr. Thomas Sain at Forest Dale, on the 28th, of Oct and on the 51st birthday anniversary of the bride's father. Miss Lettie Sain was joined in wedlock to Mr. Ora Hankins of North Yamhill. A large number of guests filled the handsome home. An impressive ceremony was rendered by the Rev. Albert Robinson of Hillsboro. The happy couple left for a short tour on the south-bound evening train.

Messrs. Chas. Purdin and T. R. Mann gave a novel entertainment on Wednesday evening last. Japanese, Hawaiian and Philippine curios were exhibited and stories of the same kind were told. The menu served was Japanese Tokadero, Philippine lemonade and government boot leg. Those present were, Senoritas Palmateer, Kendall, Weches, Moreland, Mann, Johnson, Milne and Hagar. Senors Moreland, Palmateer, Rood, Purdin and Mann. Chels Mann and Purdin.

The Court Stenographer with the attorneys on the respective sides were yesterday taking evidence in the action of Washington County v H. P. Ford, ex-Sheriff. This matter is based upon the report made about two years ago by Clarke & Buchanan, accountants who so interpreted the law that Mr. Ford appears to be short in his accounts. The county is represented by Harrison Allen, Dist. Atorney and S. B. Huston and Mr. Ford is represented by Thor. H. Tongue, and George R. Bagley. The witnesses on the stand yesterday were Clerk & Buchanan, the accountants who made the report.

A kind of double event, family reunion and wedding, was celebrated at the residence of T. A. Fowls near Mountaineale on Tuesday Oct. 21, when Miss Ada G. youngest daughter of Hon. D. O. Quiek married D. Porter Trenholm. All of the immediate relatives of the bride were present except one to the number of twenty souls. Jollity held full sway and merriness of the merry was D. O. himself who is reaching toward his 75th birthday. The bride and her husband went on a short wedding trip after which they take up the real duties of life as seen in home-building.

The second school meeting called in the Beaverton district to consider the advisability of putting in the 9th grade was held last Saturday evening. The first meeting was held about a month ago and was very simply attended and the resolution to add the grade was rejected. Some who favored the measure though the vote was not a test of the wishes of the district, hence the calling of the second meeting. The attendance last Saturday was much larger than the first indeed almost if not quite every voter was there. The resolution was warmly debated and every phase of the subject considered. Great earnestness characterized the speeches and there no longer is any doubt how the patrons of the school feel about adding the grade. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 33 to 20, with one blank ballot. Arrangements will at once be made to organize the class in that grade.

The Oregonian hayseeds that went to Seattle last Friday to play the University of Washington foot-ball team were no more successful than the other Oregonians who have visited the lopears. At the close of the game the score stood 16 to 6. Where the visiting team found itself weak was at place kicking which is fashionable this year. Their line was firm enough, and guards and tackles were standard, but the place kick did the business. The next game the O. A. C. team plays will be with the University of Oregon at Corvallis on Saturday of next week. Both groups of men will be at their best and a close game is expected.

The party of thirty land locaters who went into Benton and Lincoln counties recently on a hunt for timber had an experience that was anything but pleasant. The cruiser was a faker. When the party got on the ground, township and section, there was no timber, just stumps, logs and brush. The timber had been destroyed fifty or more years ago by a forest fire. Just why the party was guided there, or who was profited is not revealed.

Mr. D. R. Campbell has sold his farm just south of town to C. K. Henry, of Portland receiving therefor $8,800. The deed has not been delivered yet though a part of the purchase price has been paid. Mr. Campbell expects to go to Boston, Mass., and enter a firm of contractors who have some heavy jobs on hand. Mr. Henry is a prominent Portland business man, but acquires this property for a home.

In another place is a statement of what Judge Burnett has decided in an action to enforce a contract. The hop buyers have been loosely drawing their hop contracts so that they may evade the agreement if such action is to their interest but enforce it against the grower. If Judge Burnett's decision is affirmed by the supreme court, the grower will have some voice in the matter.

Judge Rood sowed last week grass seed on the new fill at the west end of the long bridge and yesterday went down to Scholls to sow grass seed on the fill of that bridge. He plans to set willows on the fill of the long bridge though he may not get to it this fall.

John McLaren, who has not recovered from the almost complete prostration caused by the sudden death of his wife in September is confined to his room at his home on Gale's Creek by a serious illness that somewhat alarms his friends.

The White Collar Steamboat Co. is building a new hull for its Telephone river boat. The boat is some twelve or fifteen years old but when new was the finest craft on the river. The new boat is to take its place again at the head of the fleet.

We are now prepared to serve all kinds of lunches or short orders, oysters any style. Fancy canned lunch goods always on hand. H. A. Palmer.

Mr. John McDonald was in Hillsboro yesterday.

Mr. Fisher of Beaverton has rented from W. W. Williams sixteen acres of onion land near Mountaineale where he and his sons will grow onions next year.

The ladies society of the Congregational Church will entertain their friends and patrons at a Halloween social to be given this evening Oct. 31, at Grange hall.

Remember that the revival meeting begins at the United Evangelical Church next Sunday evening, Nov. 2d. Rev. Young will be on hand to carry forward the good work.

Mrs. Harvey Northrup, of Glencoe, died at her home last Sunday night. The deceased had been a resident of the county for many years and was well and favorably known in her neighborhood.

Mr. J. D. Housley has sold his meat market to Messrs. Tilbury & Whitlow recent arrivals from Sumner County, Kansas. The new firm will increase the stock and hereafter carry hams, bacon, lard, poultry, fish &c. The new firm took possession last Wednesday. Messrs. T. & W. dealt in live-stock in Kansas and are quite familiar with the business they now take up. Mr. Housley has not determined what he will do, but he will not be idle long.

Earl Hansen who was held by Judge Rood to answer at the November term of the circuit court to the charge of horse stealing has been taken to Washington, there to answer the same charge. The case was dismissed in our court and the defendant rearrested and taken across the state line on a requisition from the governor of Washington. A trip by land was made from Hillsboro to a N. P. station on the Columbia thence to Tacoma and on to Yakima; this was a nearer route than by Portland.

A family living in the eastern part of the county near Cedar Mills was in a great uproar this week on account of a ghost. Life in the haunted house became burdensome. When the shades of evening came the ghostly thing wandered forth. Apples peeted on the roof or were thrown through the windows. If a member of the family stepped into the yard, from out the dark would come an apple that usually hit the girl or man who happened to be from under shelter. On one occasion the head of the family was standing near a tub full of water, a billet of wood fell into this and he was bedraggled with the splashed water. Guards were set, but who can see ghosts? Sheriff Sewell was appealed to. He visited the premises and concluded that the pranks were the acts of an inmate of the house, so after watching for a short time he came home. Next night a systematic watch was organized. Before long a 14 year old girl who was living in the family was the guilty one. When accused she broke down and admitted her part in the disturbances. Her motive was to so frighten the family that it would hasten its removal to a new residence where her favorite lived and she would be near the object of her affections. Now there is peace at that neighborhood.

Monmouth, Or., Oct. 24, 1902. To the Editor.—A letter from a student of one of the state institutions will, no doubt, be of interest to your readers.

I entered the State Normal School, located at Monmouth, at the opening of the first semester. As this is my first year here, everything was, of course new to me, but it was not long till I felt that I was among friends.

All the students, new and old, assembled in the chapel, located on the second floor, at 9 a. m. During the chapel hour we were ably addressed by the president, Mr. Resler. After chapel the rest of the forenoon was spent in enrolling, getting our secude cards arranged, and other similar work. If we were fortunate enough to get this part of our work completed before noon, we had the afternoon to spend as we chose.

We have a competent body of instructors and a most determined set of students, which two factors are, of course, necessary in any good school. The course of study is so arranged that students may enter as eighth grade graduates and complete the work in three years. This course includes the twenty-two subjects required for the State Life Diploma, together with two courses in methods, History and Philosophy of Education, Chemistry, Astronomy, Zoology, Drawing, Vocal Music, Physical Training, and Stoyd or Manual Training. Besides the regular work required there are a number of other factors in the school, organized and supported by the students, with some assistance from the school authorities and the town's people. These include athletic clubs, such as gymnastics, basket ball, hand ball, foot ball, tennis, golf etc.

Two literary societies for girls and one for boys are sustained, and are found to be very influential. A "Y. M." and a "Y. W. C. A." are also organizations that are doing a great work in the school.

I had intended to say more about the town in which our school is located but for this time I will be content with saying that its location in the beautiful Willamette Valley, inclosed by the Coast mountains on one side and the Cascades with the snow peaks on the other is simply ideal. Considering these inspiring conditions we might well expect to find just such a moral and intellectual tone as may be found here.

There are no saloons or gambling houses and practically there is no need of a policeman.

I feel that I can not say too much in favor of the Oregon State Normal School, that is now doing a great work and bids fair to accomplish still greater results in the near future.

Very respectfully,
A Student.

INSTITUTE AT DILLEY.

A local teachers' institute was held at Dilley last Saturday. About twenty-two teachers were present. The following program was presented: "What Ought a Teacher to Read?" Discussion opened by B. W. Barnes, who said that teachers should take educational journals and some solid reading matter which requires deep thought and effort. W. B. Swope followed with a warning to teachers not to fall into one line of reading. H. A. Ball suggested some good journal of current events. Prof. J. R. Robertson declared that teachers should have the reading habit. A teacher is a guide. A text-book is to a teacher what a text is to a minister; to be enlarged upon.

The subject of "How May We Interest the Older Pupils so as to Keep Them in School," was introduced by M. C. Case, who declared that teachers should have thorough preparation for their work and should be zealous and alive to the importance of their work. A. L. Thomas followed, declaring that teachers must be interested and must lead noble lives. Parents should visit the school often. B. W. Barnes contended that the case of the older pupils is a vital question, as so much is now demanded of young people. School and home should be more closely united. W. B. Swope advocated manual training as of holding the pupils' interest. Prof. Robertson urged thorough work and intense interest and more study of needs of pupils.

A song, "Queer Little Roses," by two little girls came next, and was enthusiastically received.

"Divisors and Multiples," was discussed by H. A. Ball, who advocated more work involving practical applications of the subjects and suggested that pupils be required to construct problems applicable to the same. S. T. Adams presented several devices to arouse interest.

The afternoon session was opened by a recitation by Miss Lillian Briggs, which was loudly applauded.

"Methods and Devices for Teaching Primary Language," was next discussed. Miss Mabel Edwards said "Go to Nature for subjects. Taught to observe, the child's mind will respond. Teach poems of good sentiment." Miss Bertie Chitwood suggested pictures as good material for language lessons. Miss Edith Allen advocated object lessons and written sentences. Care should be taken to see that pupils get the thought before being asked to express it.

"Preventable Causes of Absence and Tardiness" was next discussed. W. B. Swope urged teachers to get pupils and parents to see the ill effect of irregular lessons. Edgar Verry said that pupils should be interested so that they will be only too glad to be on time. Miss Susie Jackson suggested pleasant devices and interesting morning exercises.

After another pleasing song by the two little girls, Prof. J. R. Robertson gave an address on "The History of the Northwest in Its Relation to the History of the United States." He illustrated by map the importance of the New Northwest, of which but little is said by most historians. He gave in detail the course of political events that ultimately gave this vast territory into the possession of America. He presented to the teachers copies of his valuable pamphlet on "The Development of Civil Government in Oregon."

The following named teachers were in attendance: Earl E. Fisher, Lillian Briggs, S. C. Sherrill, S. T. Adams, Coral Wilkes, A. L. Thomas, Edgar Verry, Grace Brown, W. B. Swope, Lillie Porter, Mrs. M. J. Abbott, Viola E. Fields, Susie Jackson, Ora Bondurant, B. W. Barnes, Rose Wilcox, Florence Day, Mabel Edwards, M. C. Case, Mrs. M. C. Case, George Callahan, Prof. J. R. Robertson.

WEDDING BELLS.

Married, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Roy, who live on a farm northeast of Hillsboro, Mr. Clarence E. Young and Miss Wilma Roy, Rev. Brown officiating.

The bride was dressed in cream albustross beautifully trimmed in applique and lace collar, and carried white carnations.

The groom was dressed in conventional black and gracefully received the precious charge that makes him one of the happiest and most blessed of men in Washington county.

The couple was attended by the sister of the groom, Miss Irene Young as bridesmaid who was dressed in white and carried pink carnations.

The brother of the bride Mr. Geo. Roy acted as best man.

The parlor and dining room were neatly decorated in evergreens and autumn leaves.

Under the strains of the wedding march rendered by Miss Carlette Haley, the bridal party marched into the presence of a number of friends and relatives, stopping under a canopy of ferns and evergreens and were in a few moments made one.

After which all retired to the dining room to the table which fairly groaned under the weight of good things.

Many beautiful and useful presents were presented among which was a beautiful silver set, silver butter dish, fruit dishes, platters and a dish pan of china dishes.

Mr. and Mrs. Young left on the 9 o'clock train, under a shower of rice and rose leaves for Marshland where they will spend a few days among relatives and friends and they will then return to their farm between Hillsboro and Cornelius where they will soon be ready to receive calls from their friends. A host of friends wish the "young" couple a long life of peace and plenty, and a happy wedlock to a good old age.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Preston Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Young, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Young and son, Mr. and Mrs. Striplin, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brown, Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. LaCourse and daughters, Messrs. Andrew Stewart, Robert Young, Willie LaCourse, Misses Nellie Jackson, Calla Young and Carlette Haley.

Co. Ore. Oct. 20th, 1902, aged 56 yr. 5 mo. and 13 days.
In 1847 she moved with her parents Eli and Mary Ann Davis to Wash. Co. Ore. and on June 22nd, 1859, she was married to Harvey Northrup; Thirteen children were born to them, four having died. Nine children, husband, relatives and friends are left to mourn their loss, but was her gain.
Sister Northrup was converted early in life and united with the U. B. church at the age of twenty. She was an amiable companion, an affectionate mother, a kind neighbor and a christian woman. She has gone to the Saints' rest and reward.
Funeral services were conducted by the writer in the West Union church. Interment was made in the West Union cemetery. May God bless the family in this bereavement.

CHURCH DEDICATION.
The Advent Christian Church of Gales Creek dedicated their place of worship last Sunday, Oct. 6, by services conducted by Elder W. B. Smith, the pastor. The subject of the dedication discourse at 11 o'clock a. m. was "Christ is All in All." For the occasion the auditory of the church was tastefully decorated with evergreens and flowers. The attendance was large though there were fewer people present than had been expected, due to the threatened inclemence of the weather. Another service was held in the afternoon, but between these the church served dinner, partaken of by members and invited guests, in Heister's Hall. About 100 people sat to a bountiful spread prepared from the great abundance contributed by the fertile farms of that precinct.
The building was commenced in '01 and completed this year at a cost of $1000 or $1500. It has a seating capacity of about 400 persons, and is a beautiful house. There is painting yet to do before all attractive details will be seen. There are also inside furnishings to be assembled. Kerosene is used for lights and wood stoves for heating. The society has thirty or forty members and seems firmly established.
