FRIDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1902.

What business has the democratic organ of Portland to complain of Mathews the U. S. Marshal of Oregon because he at one time was prominent in the councils of the republican party? When Mr. Mathews fails to properly perform the duties of his office, the Journal may properly report the fact and become the plaintiff in an action to have him removed.

The anti-imperialists ate supper together in Boston on Tuesday evening. The president gave it as his opinion that the cause of anti-imperialism cannot succeed 'till the republican party is defeated and reorganized. All of which is agreeable reading for republicans, for judged by recent elections, if the G. O. P. is to live 'till killed by the ants, it is to reach a ripe old age.

The Strike Commission took up its work again on the 3rd instant after a recess of ten days during which time at first it was hoped that the contending parties would voluntarily make settlement of disturbances. Such was not accomplished. But there is further rumor that an outside settlement is considering. However the Commission shows no disposition to again wait for the operators and miners.

W. J. Bryan is reported to have said, "The Democratic party does not need leaders so much as it needs voters." Without doubt truth is uttered, but there is another want quite as pressing, some plan to attract voters. The party has had nothing in the past third of a century to hold voters other than its name, and the only attraction held out to attract new adherents has been opposition to the methods of the other party. However republicans have no occasion to complain.

A few days over two months ago the City Council enacted an ordinance directing the repair and rebuilding of certain sidewalks. A few saw the reasonableness of the law and built their walks but the majority seem to have thought that the Council did not mean what was said. Sixty days was allowed for building. The time has expired last week. In looking at the matter last Tuesday evening an apologist suggested that lumber could not be obtained. It was replied that no effort seems to have been made. Lumber can now be obtained at Hare's mill only two miles away hence there is no disposition to procrastinate. Indeed the Street Commissioner will commence building immediately and charge the expense to the adjoining lot.

The legislature of Vermont has passed a bill repealing the prohibition law of that state and substituting the licence system, but the local option clause is attached. However, before the act can become a law it must be referred to the voters for approval. It was sought to confer on women the duty of voting on this measure; but the legislature decided by a vote of two to one. Reports state that, notwithstanding the decided majority against prohibition in the October election, it is not certain that the act to be voted on in January next will be endorsed. This is due to the different shades of judgments relative to the temperance question. Some want prohibition, some local option, others high license while low license has its friends, so that it is possible that no majority can agree upon a plan.

The latest fad in education is sought to be promoted by the scientists who declare that too much is made of arithmetic in the public school and not enough of zoology, ornithology, chemistry, &c. These people propose to put simple mathematics in the back ground and emphasize the natural sciences. School officers should closely scrutinize this new project before it is adopted in whole or in part. Plain old fashioned arithmetic is not studied by the boy too much but possibly some other branches are not studied enough, but it is quite possible to show that zoology, chemistry, physics and kindred subjects are not the ones to displace arithmetic. The smattering possible for the boy of fifteen to obtain in the public school is of very little value. Indeed it is not the real scientist who proposes such a thing but the men who are crotchety. If any change in the curriculum is to be made then let greater attention be given to language. The ability to express ones thoughts so that he can be understood is more than some of the scientists practice.

WANT THE FLAG TO GO BACK.

There is some significance in the report that the Spaniards are bracing up the strikers in Havana in the hope that the return of the United States government to the control of Cuba will thus be hastened. The strike began with the cigar makers of Havana, and the contest has been extended by the participation of the other labor unions, in a sort of "sympathy" protest. There have been some fights between the police and the mob in the streets of that city, and several persons have been killed in them. Business, of course, has been seriously affected, and even travel through the city has been impeded by the wrecking of some of the electric railways cars.

Whether the story be true or not that the Spanish element of the city is fomenting the disturbance in order to increase the annexation sentiment, there is not the slightest doubt that the Spaniards and all other foreigners in Havana and Cuba in general would be glad to see the stars and stripes back in the island. American control would insure liberal government and stability. Such disturbances as that which is under way in Havana at this moment would not necessarily be averted by the return of American sway. There have been orgies of this sort in many American cities, St. Louis among, but these have been only temporary interruptions in the orderly course of things, and never extended far enough to cause fears for the safety of the government as the one in Havana does.

Every one of these Cuban outbreaks will strengthen the sentiment for the renewal of the American connection. Of course, when the connection comes again it will be permanent. It will come in answer to the appeal of the Cuban people, and then it will stay. The influx of immigrants and capital into the island is not as great as the Cuben leaders expected or wish, but it will never be greater until the Americans gain complete control of affairs. The reports of disorder in various parts of the island which come every week or two show that the present government is not able to maintain order. The Havana strike will hasten the entrance of Cuba as a state of the American Union.—Globe Democrat.

REPORT OF REEDVILLE INSTITUTE

Owing to the untiring efforts of Prof. S. T. Adams and his assistant, Miss Chalmers the Reedville Institute was the best yet held. Visitors from the early train were taken to the beautifully flag, cedar and chrysanthemum decorated school house and given a well appreciated lunch. The people came at noon, the guests were treated to a Thanksgiving dinner of all dainties imaginable. Those who cared gave money and books to the proposed school library. A book given by Mr. H. A. Ball, being the first. A vote of thanks was given to the good people of Reedville for their hospitality. Mr. T. C. Kendall was unanimously elected Vice President for one year, of the Washington County Teachers' Association for Hillsboro District.

During the day the following program was given: Discussion: School Libraries and How to Obtain them. Prof. S. T. Adams asked gifts from a careful choosing of the best books. Prof. J. R. Robertson said, "Nothing is remembered longer than a good book read in school days." Dean Ferrin advised the not wanting of money in over expensive bindings. Miss Hillis suggested biography and travel. Miss Briggs "thought no school complete without a library." Mr. T. C. Kendall had found entertainments successful. Prof. J. R. Robertson brought forward two points of Northwest history; the aid of pupils and teachers in gathering historical value. Our Oregon History is unusually rich in historical study, such as the discovery of the Columbia River, Lewis and Clarke Expedition, some of the most interesting Indian history of the world, slavery, when Oregon was admitted as a territory. He offers a prize of $10.00 for the best and $5.00 for the second best essay written by any pupil of the public schools, the essay to give an event of the home or relative. Prof. S. T. Adams told of a visit to his boyhood school kept by Mr. Himes when much valuable history was gathered. A good paper, "Devices to Secure Attention and Arouse Interest in Pupils" was given by Prof. S. T. Adams, who illustrated as he read by board work. Recitation by Hatty Cooper; Song by Adrian and Maud Dent. Primary geography, illustrated by black board sketches by Russ Wilcox. Dean W. N. Ferrin of Pacific University presented the subject, "What a teacher should aim to accomplish" in a clear and able manner, giving many excellent thoughts.

"Our public school system is a gigantic public enterprise." "The teacher's responsibility is a heavy one." "We live and learn." "A successful teacher should awaken a lively interest in the studies at hand." An eloquent paper that was frequently interrupted by applause, was that of the Hon. J. P. Wager, editor-in-chief of the Evening Telegram. Some of the principal thoughts were: "The day's news cuts a large figure in our modern and popular education." "The schools have changed and evolved but are not beyond improvement." "The man who is a first class farmer or dairyman is much better than a 3rd rate doctor or lawyer." "Nature is the greatest school." "The newspaper of today is a news gatherer and news dispenser." "A generation ago an independent paper could hardly have existed. Today the most independent paper is the most successful."

A rising vote of thanks was given him for his masterly paper. A vote of thanks was also given to Dean Ferrin, Bates and Robertson for aid in the Institute. Institute closed with a selection by 12 boys, and a farewell recitation by Hannah Borgstrand. With a large number of visitors the following were present: Supr. H. A. Ball, Hon. J. P. Wager, Dean W. N. Ferrin, Prof. Bates and Prof. J. R. Robertson. Beaverton—Frances Hill, Earl E. Fisher. Corral Mills—Viola Bauman. Cornelius—Lillian Briggs. Forest Grove—Grayce Brown, Florence Day. Gaston—E. J. Shotwell. Hillsboro—Tennessee Weathered, Ross Wilcox, Maud Wilson, Maud Brown, Minnie Shannon, T. C. Kendall, W. A. Tupper. Phillips—Clara Anderson, S. C. Sherrill, A. E. Wilson, W. A. Smith. Reedville—S. T. Adams, Helen Johnson.

A Million Voices.

Could hardly express the thanks of Homer Hall, of West Point, Ia. Listen why: A severe cold had settled on his lungs, causing a most obstinate cough. Several physicians had been had, but could not help him. When all that he was deemed he began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and Croup. It completely cured me and saved my life. I now weigh 227 pounds. It's positively guaranteed for coughs, colds and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Bailey's Pharmacy.

The Crown Prince of Siam visited Portland last Saturday. No audience was accorded the Oregonian or its reporters, though the price talked to Journal reporter on the subject of the commercial relations that exist and should obtain between our government of 50,000,000 and that little country of 12,000,000. The incident furnishes great material for self gratulation on the part of the Journal which applies the term "green journalism" to its big contemporary as opposed to yellow.

Saved At Grave's Brink.

"I know I would long ago have been in my grave," writes Mrs. S. H. Newsom, of Decatur, Ala., if it had not been for Electric Bitters. For three years I suffered untold agony from the worst forms of indigestion, Waterbrash, Stomach and Bowel Dyspepsia. But this excellent remedy did me a world of good. Since using it I can eat heartily and have gained 35 lbs." For Indigestion, loss of Appetite, Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles Electric Bitters are a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50c at Bailey's Pharmacy.

Falls a Deadly Attack.

"My wife was so ill that good physicians were unable to help her," writes M. M. Austin, of Winchester, Ind., but was completely cured by Dr. King's New Life Pills. They work wonders in stomach and liver troubles. Cures constipation, sick headache. 25c at Bailey's Pharmacy.

Child Labor.

What species of tyrannical child labor is this instance detailed in the Outlook and should it be suppressed? The Outlook's spectator who knew not the "key-board" in his ramble came up to a handsome lad of ten years who trudged along the woods path one frosty morning with a roll of music in his gloved hand, when this dialog was spoken: "Let me congratulate you on advantages which I did not have when a boy." "Humph!" grunted the lad, his brow puckering. "I don't like it. It's too much like work. Got a new pony, too," he went on, mournfully, "but that's all the good it does a fellow. It's a dandy morning for a ride, but I've got to take this music-lesson" and he rapped his music-lesson crossly against a tree. By way of comfort the Spectator suggested that he might ride in the afternoon. "Humph!" was the contemptuous reply. "A lot you know about it, I've got to take a drawing-lesson before lunch and go to dancing-school after lunch. By the time I've practiced my violin it'll be pitch dark." "Hullo!" said the Spectator, "seems to me you're pretty busy for a small man." The boy responded with a glance of fine scorn. "Oh, that's not all!" he cried. "Let me see; there's a violin lesson every morning before school (sub teacher, you know), and piano right after school, if I don't get kept after. Then Mam'selle comes to teach us French and we do burnt-wood with Mr. Saunders. That's all except drawing, and dancing school, and gymnasium. Oh, and choir-practice. It's no cinch, I can tell you!" he finished as he parted.
