District School Clerk, P. Boscow has posted notices for a special school meeting of District No. 7 on Jan. 11th, Monday, and the business will be levying a tax for next year. Hillsboro has always taken pride in keeping a good school and if voters will only be as liberal this year with the extra assistance now to be given by the county there could be two more grades added to its other attractions for gaining residents, a free high school. No other inducement is so powerful these days in drawing immigration as good educational advantages and this year and next there will be a large influx into Oregon of which the county seat wants its share.

The joint installation of the A. O. U. W. and Degree of Honor, Friday, was enlivened by an excellent program. Don Hare played well a violin solo, Miss Johnson acting as accompanist. Hon. W. N. Barrett, in his usual happy way, spoke of the A. O. U. W. and its pioneer work in fraternal insurance. Miss Rose Wilcox gave an interesting reading entitled "Comforting a Sick Friend," and Frederick Vrooman, always welcome to Hillsboro audiences, sang a solo to Miss Ethel Wehrung's accompaniment, while Mrs. M. A. Donelson read a humorous selection, "Mrs. Higgins Buys a New Bonnet." The Degree of Honor officers are, Lou H. Barrett, past C. of H., Minnie Downs, C. of H., Mae Imbrie, L. The 100-horse power boiler for the city electric light plant arrived Tuesday morning and was at once transported to the power house. Six horses were needed to move its six and half tons. Ten thousand brick will be used in building its foundation and it will be two weeks before the work is finished. The new smokestack is nearly twice the diameter of the present one, as the new boiler is twice the size of its predecessor. The stack will be 130 feet high, the tallest thing in town. Though rated as 100 horsepower the boiler is guaranteed to develop 112. The boiler costs $1000, stack $135. Pump $65 and the foundation about $300. Besides this Mr. Dailey gets $23 for moving the boiler from the depot, which it seems to be generally considered he has fully earned.

Imbrie to attend to that department, additional assistance being necessary as the office already was overwhelmed with work. Ben K. Haines, of South Hillsboro, was the first to have his name entered, a 69 year-old voter, and Roosevelt will be one ballot the gainer by his registration for surely the hero of San Juan Hill will get the veteran's vote. Forty four had registered up till Thursday evening.

Marshal Atkinson succeeded Wednesday in getting hold of one of the gang of hoboes who have been making their headquarters in the brick yard and for whom he has been keeping an eye out for some time. The city streets need the assistance of several able-bodied men to keep them clean and the marshal thinks he can use several more to good advantage if they will only put themselves within his reach.

Several from here attended the dance which followed the Cosgrove concert at Forest Grove Monday evening. The entertainment there was under the auspices of the W. O. W. Here the Methodist church had charge of the concert, which was given Saturday evening, and it hardly seems necessary to state that no dancing followed.

The Tualatin Plains Christian Endeavor society held a social at the home of Mr. Harrington New Year's eve and the large company watched out the old year so happily that they felt they would be contented if 1903 were all as pleasant. The society is one of the largest in the county and prospering finely.

The Portland Press Club will have as its president this year John H. Stevenson a popular reporter on the staff of the Evening Telegram who is rapidly making his way upward in newspaper work to the gratification of his many Washington county friends who know him as the son of R. H. Stevenson, of Forest Grove.

Rahn, the Cosgrove Orchestra, under the name they wear off the stage, were in town Saturday and Sunday, Monday evening giving a concert at Forest Grove.

Co. School Supt. Ball states that the Phelps law did not repeal the $6 per capita which is given by the county to each child of school age though an impression to the contrary has been held by many. This is one of the best laws ever passed in Oregon and will be a great help to Washington county schools. It will require about $36000 against $17500 raised by the county last year or about 9 mills as the school part of the county levy.

D. J. Porter, of Gaston, who is the subject of so many sensational stories about his injuries received Christmas night, had his hearing before Justice Bagley Wednesday on the charge of threatening to kill his divorced wife, Mrs. Emily Porter. The case was warmly contested, Deputy Prosecuting Attorney E. B. Tongue appearing for the prosecution and Attorney Geo. B. Bagley for the defendant. Quite a mass of testimony was taken, but as Mrs. Porter's divorce is not effective till the appeal period, six months, has expired, the anomaly was presented of the prosecuting witness not being allowed to testify because she is still the defendant's wife. The court has taken the matter under advisement, and will make up his mind after the stenographer's notes have been put in writing so he can read over and weigh the evidence.

Born—To the wife of Z. N. Seelye, of Banks, Jan. 2, a daughter.

Chester Crandall, of Siloam Springs, Arkansas, is the guest of his uncle Judge Rodolph Crandall and family. Mr. Crandall is an artist of the "art preservative", or for the reader's more clear understanding, a printer, but Arkansas newspapers are not all of the type portrayed by Opie Reed in his tales of journalism there.
