DEATHS.

SAXTON—Albert Wilson Saxton was born in Carl county, Illinois, March 28th, 1846, and died while visiting with his daughter, Mrs. McDonald, in Seattle, on the 29th day of December, 1904, aged 59 years, 9 months and 1 day. At the age of 18 years he came to California, and then moved to Washington and after residing there for some time came to Oregon, where he resided until death.
In 1871 he was married to Martha Mills of Greenville, Ore., by whom five children were born, William Asbury, and John Wesley Saxton, of Chehalis, Wash., Mrs. Ada Young of Tonasket, Washington, Mrs. Bertha McDonald, of Seattle, and Mattie Oldham, of Kent, Oregon.
His former wife having died he was married again to Mrs. Lucy Lushy to whom seven children were born, Edward, George, Albert, Lura, Harry, Ethel and Grace Saxton, who all reside with their parents in this county. He also leaves an aged mother in this.

JACKSON—On Saturday the 31st of December, 1904, occurred the death of Otis E. Jackson, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Jackson of this city, after a brief illness, consumption being the disease given, though an abscess of the brain brought on paralysis and hastened his death.
The deceased was born in Washington county, Kansas, April 13th, 1867, and was educated in Indiana. He taught school in Kansas and Colorado for seventeen years, having been principal of several schools in the states named. He came to this county in 1902 because of poor health and has since been engaged in teaching. He was married in May, 1893, to Miss Anna Montgomery of Hoxie, Kas., who survives him, together with an only daughter of 5 years of age. He became a member of the Methodist church when 14 years of age and remained a consistent member of that church until moving to Colorado, when he became a member of the Presbyterian church, and remained in good standing up to his death. He was a member of the A. O. U. W. of Kansas and carried $2,000 insurance in that order.
The funeral was held from the M. E. church on New Years day, Rev. C. L. Hamilton officiating, and interment was made in Odd Fellows cemetery.
Among those who attended the funeral from abroad were Mr. Roberts, manager of the Salem Woolen Mills store, Portland; Mr. Worthen, of the same firm; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jackson, of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. James M. Jackson, of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. L. Green-dyke of Dilley, and J. B. McPherson and family of Forest Grove.

The series of articles, "Housekeeping the World Over," by Laura B. Starr, the initial number of which, on Mexican home-life, appears in The Designer for February will cause this already popular magazine to be more than ever eagerly welcomed. "Women Who Wear Crowns," by S. L. Harbour, "Modern Tea-Room Decoration," by Mary Kilyth and Julia Chandler's interesting contribution, "The Feminine Side of Rural Life in Pennsylvania," all accompanied by many illustrations, are both appropriate and readable. "Athletics for the Snow-Bound Girl" is the subject of Bertha Hasbrook's discourse "In the Interest of Beauty," and the readers of this number of The Designer will learn "How a Man Should Propose," or at least how Lee McCrae thinks he should go through the nerve-trying ordeal, Valentine parties, a Washington supper and a Colonial drill supply the entertainment features, and short stories are "Bread upon the Waters," a pretty love-story, and "Zoe," a Valentine tale. Fancywork in embroidery, raffia, knitting and crochet is shown, and the fashions give a decided hint of spring. A special article describes becoming and comfortable tea-gowns and wrappers.

Charley Brookman, a young lad about 15 years of age had the misfortune to meet with a serious accident resulting in the fracture of both bones of the left leg below the knee joint last week. While riding along the road on an open wagon with his legs dangling across the brake-bar, in a careless manner, one foot caught upon a stone in the road and before the team could be checked the damage resulted hardly ere he was conscious of it, and really recognized the extent of the injury, only on attempting to stand upon his feet again.

C. E. Franklin, a resident of the Little Neesucca, Tillamook county was in town Saturday having arrived back from Portland on his way home. Owing to combats of various nature existing there he reports that his stock in trade—smoked salmon did not meet with ready sale.

Charles Kelly was the fortunate winner in the raffle for the fancy horse-hair bridle, valued at $50, which occurred Saturday evening.

Herman Paper, the active mining stock ruster visited this place recently and succeeded in selling numerous shares in his company here.

There is a joke, probably an actual fact, the purport of which is a certain "close-fisted individual" warned his neighbor that it might be well for him to round up his bees and keep them on his own premises as no depositions would be permitted in that direction of the land of the former, the constitution of a free government having provided him self protection, which must be respected even in the "bee" line.

If misfortune, which are said to come singly, and seldom, why not good fortune be dispensed in the same ratio? paradoxically, the latter conditions confront, not in theory, but in actual fact, particularly in the "hello business." Sherwood can soon boast of five telephone lines connecting with the people throughout most of Washington and on the borders of Clarkamas and Yamhill counties. In addition to the old established Oregon line the new companies soon to be in operation are: the Tigardville farmer's, the Wilsonville farmer's line coming in from the river north of Butteville. Verily the city of Sherwood is receiving showers of blessings.

Mrs. Jessie Rich, of Portland the married daughter of Major and Mrs. Ballard is at home here visiting her parents and friends.

E. A. Saylor leaves today via Sheridan and Grand Ronde reservation for his home in Tillamook, the roads into that county being much better and devoid of snow as by Trask or Wilson river this season of the year.

The annual town election occurs today and as nomination is equivalent to election, practically, the enthusiasm is diaphanous and devoid of interest. "Jonnie-come-lately" usually swallow the bait offices without investigation and profit by experience afterwards. There is scarcely enough voters left after one set of nominees are named to form another ticket.

Good Roads Convention

The Good Roads convention met in the court house on Tuesday last, fully 200 persons being present, and was called to order by Hon. L. A. Rood. A number of speakers were called to the platform, among them Dr. Jas. Withycombe, of Corvallis, formerly of this county; Dr. Tammiesie, Judge Cornelius, W. D. Hare, Col. Haines, Judge Magors of Portland and F. Groner.
Judge Cornelius believed in good roads and was ready to do all he could to help along the good work.
Dr. Tammiesie's remarks were brief but right to the point. He believed in making and maintaining good roads, but it would take aid from the state and the national government.
Dr. Withycombe expressed himself as being delighted to once more have the opportunity of addressing his old friends and neighbors. He deemed the good roads question the most important now confronting the people of Washington county. He stated that while many supervisors were doing good work, there was great room for improvement.
W. D. Hare said that he came to Oregon when a boy and had lived here for fifty years, that he had observed in his time that the essential points in good road making were thorough drainage.
Col. Haines thought that if the county would not expend money in trying to rock the roads for the next year, but instead expend it in proper ditching and grading, the roads would be better for it.
Judge Magors, of Portland, secretary of the Good Roads Convention of Oregon, stated that he had been a resident of this state for many years and he thought Washington much like the other counties in the state; that we have too many roads, and that greater care should be taken in laying them out; that with good drainage, proper grading and the use of good rollers and wide-tired wagons the county could keep its roads in good shape.
F. Groner differed from several others by saying that no man could stuff it down him that good roads could be kept in this county by the natural soil; rock roads alone could stand the test.

The following resolutions, drawn up by W. K. Newell, John Milne, B. P. Cornelius, W. D. Hare and Col. Haines, were after some discussion passed almost unanimously:

Resolved, that we heartily endorse the resolution passed at the State Good Roads convention relating to the conferring on County Boards the right of eminent domain; and the placing of the complete control of the roads in the hands of the county boards for the purpose of regulating traffic thereon.
Resolved, that we favor the purchase by this county of sufficient up-to-date road machinery consisting of one or more steam road rollers, and a number of graders, scrapers and rock crushers, and keep them at work.
Resolved, that we favor the holding each winter during the months of January and February, a county road institute, at which meeting, the court shall order each road supervisor to attend, allowing each one of them their usual pay for the day.

Resolved, that we favor a plan whereby the county court shall take complete supervision of the road work, and that the supervisor shall serve rather in the capacity of foremen or superintendents under the direction of the court.
Resolved, that we recommend to the county court that they make the usual tax levy for road purposes and an appropriation of $25,000 in addition for permanent improvements and issue warrants for the same.
The thanks of the convention are hereby tendered to Dr. Jas. Withycombe and Judge Magors for their excellent addresses and the county authorities for the use of the court house.

Chas. Phillips and daughter visited Portland Saturday.

Wm. Freudenthal of Portland spent the holidays with his mother in Cornelius.

Rev. Hollingshead will preach at the M. E. church next Sunday evening.

The fire alarm New Years Eve, nearly prostrated a number of people and might have proved serious under different circumstances.

The road from town to the B. L. L. Co's. mill is certainly a fright and action should be taken soon to put it in shape. At the present it would mire a saddle blanket.

If the good-roads convention recently held in Hillsboro leads to reform in certain lines of road work, well and good. If a section of a road leading into town could be taken as an object lesson of how roads should not be worked, it would have more effect for good than a ton of oratory.
The new grade to the public school will be added in February.
Notwithstanding the stringency of finances, merchants report good sales during the holidays.

Owing to a slide near the electric light plant our citizens were left in darkness for several nights. Lights are on again, to the joy of the townspeople.
Roads are quite bad, but are in better condition than last year. The volunteer work done last year hauling rock was productive of good. What will be done the coming season remains to be seen.
Town politics are getting warm. The great issue at stake is the saloon. This does not appeal to the disinterested observer as a very worthy issue to be fought over by an intelligent community. The result may be to add a saloon to the Commercial club and give the city date something to regulate.
A new lodge of the I. O. O. F. will soon be organized at Banks with a membership of about thirty. They are enthusiastic over the bright outlook.
Winter wheat looks fine. The winter so far has been very favorable to the wheat plant. Years ago, when wheat was king, such a season would be hailed by farmers as a harbinger of good times. While a good wheat crop means much, not all our hopes can be hung on one crop. We can have a successful year even with a poor grain crop, thanks to diversified farming.

The public school reopened after the holidays with an increased attendance.

Next to the saloon, the question of appointment of road supervisors claim attention. Several would like to serve in this capacity.

It is proposed to cut off a large part of the Gales Creek road from the North Forest Grove district and add it to the vales Creek district. There will be no kick if that district would take the remainder of the roads.

The winter term in Pacific University commenced January 3rd.

The electric roads appears to be an established fact, the preliminary survey being completed. When the Grovites can go to Portland almost any hour in the day, they will scratch their heads and wonder where they are at.

Awful Cost of Victory.

Chefoo, Jan. 3.—(Evening).—Some interesting statistics concerning the defense of Port Arthur were brought here by the flotilla of Russian torpedo-boat destroyers which carried numerous chests containing complete records of General Stoessel's army.
Originally the army numbered 35,000. Eleven thousand have been killed, 16,000 are wounded or sick, while 8000 remain in the forts, of whom, however, 2000 were unable to fight.

It is learned that, when General Stoessel wrote to General Nogi regarding the surrender of the fortress, he said: "I have 8000 men in the forts and 6000 of these are able to fight. If you do not accept my proposal these men will die fighting, but it will cost you three times their number to kill them."

During the siege 295 per cent of the garrison were put out of action. This remarkable fact was due to wounded men returning to the front. Cases have been recorded where men have gone to the hospital seven times, returning convalescent to the forts.

The number of officers killed were proportionately greater than in any battle known to history. This was due to the frequent lethargic condition of the men, who without food and without sleep, moved only when led by their officers.
The Russians estimate that the taking of the fortress had cost Japan $100,000,000.
