Hawaii wants more Chinese. Would not some of our Africans do as well?

Economy is the watchword of Congress but every man is trying hard not to let it begin at home.

News is received from the officials of the St. Louis Fair that Polk county Oregon won both gold and silver medals on the finest exhibit of mohair.

Professor Wiley who conducts a side show at Washington called the "Bureau of Chemistry" says that whiskey is a food. The country awaits his report on wood alcohol.

Dr. Dowie says he has received a "revelation," directing him to establish a Zion City in Mexico. This may be al right for Mexico but the United States are entitled to a feast.

Lo, the poor Indian is not so backward in commercial enterprise. New Jersey firm manufactures Navajo rugs exclusively for an Indian tribe that sells them as the real thing to enthusiastic collectors.

Speaker Cannon made out a list of stand patters "for reference" he said. Every man who signed it hopes the speaker will consult it when that little bill for river and harbor and post office appropriation comes up.

The Corvallis Times says a spray of ripe raspberries displayed at the real estate office of Ambler & Watters, attracted attention last week. On the bush were blooms, green berries and berries fully matured and ripened.

The Cashier of the Louisiana Purchase exposition who handled a sum of money amounting to $20,000,000 received a salary of $75 a month and his accounts at the close of the exposition balanced. Enterprises encouraged to make similar experiments may not be so fortunate.

Two girls in Northern New York brought two young men to the point of proposal by "killing, scalding, cleaning and hanging two three hundred pound hogs without masculine assistance." We shouldn't have the problem of wife beaters and the whipping post if all our girls had such accomplishments.

Humane persons will eagerly adopt the suggestion of the Washington Humane society to send letters to their representatives and Senators urging favorable votes on the bill to prevent the cutting off of horses tails—docking as it is called. The bill applies only to the District of Columbia but it will be a precedent that state legislature will probably follow.

The Portland open Air Sanitarium established recently among the pines near that city, for the open air treatment of consumptives at present has quite a number of patients, each occupying a tent which is well ventilated, during the night, and their waking hours are spent in the open air, each being given six meals a day. There is a trained nurse in charge who received her training at a sanitarium of like nature in Berlin.

Congress is determined on economy but Providence hospital will not be forgotten. It is the only institution in the city that has a dip semaniac ward in which any man on a spree will be received without question. If as much as twenty dollars are found in his pockets he is entitled to a private room in which to be sobered up. Nobody hints that Congressmen avail themselves of this refuge but Providence hospital always gets her appropriation.

Fourth class postmasters throughout the country have been less vociforous in their demands for a larger allowance since the dismissal of Oscar Pogue of Texas who fell under the ax while busily engaged in Washington in bringing pressure to bear upon congressmen. "Absent without leave," was the alleged reason for his dismissal, but as President of the National Association of Fourth class postmasters and an active supporter of the lobby in Washington he was on the "firing line."

The game of politics as played in Washington is extremely interesting just now to those who looked below the surface indications. Fourth Assistant Postmaster General resigned, because recently appointed protem Postmaster General Wynne took from him that powerful corps of several hundred post office inspectors with which he has made such a brilliant record and done this country such incalcuable service. What else could Wynne do than take inspectors, which he says are the eyes and ears of the postmaster general and what else could Bristow do than resign? This is all plain enough. Meanwhile the real coming Postmaster General Mr. Cortelyou is seeking in Europe relief from such racking burdens as have seldom been borne by one man in America. He will find in that dolce far niente of Italy with its strange language and ruins the antithesis of the United States, and he will find perfect rest—let us hope recreation. When he returns Mr. Wynne, the postmaster general pro tem will be promotel to the best paying office in Great Britain, the London consulship, and Mr. Cortelyou will inherit the post office department and will be not only its nominal, but its real head. Mr. Bristow as fourth assistant postmaster general, having charge of affairs relating to rural free delivery, of the inspectors and the majority of the postmasters of the United States, one hundred and fifty thousand people, had become a more important officer than the postmaster general. Many thought he deserved promotion to that office, but it had been cut out for Mr. Cortalyou. Mr. Bristow, although he resigned after he was stripped of the power he has so effectively used, is in no sense disgraced; and was immediately appointed to a high and responsible office where he will receive double the salary he has drawn as assistant postmaster general. But it was much more correct to have the pro tem pots master general strip Mr. Bristow of his powerful force than to have Mr. Cortelyou do it. How decently all things work together when there is a head at the head of affiairs!

A Very Close Call.

"I stuck to my engine, although every joint ached and every nerve racked with pain, writes C. W. Bellamy, a locomotive firemean, of Burlington, Iowa. "I was weak and pale, without any appetite and all run down. As I was about to give up, I got a bottle of Electric Bitters, and after taking it, I felt as well as I ever did in my life." Weak, sickly, run down people always gain new life, strength and vigor from their use. Try them. Satisfaction guaranteed by all druggists. Price 50 cents.

Whittled to a Point.

Under the above heading the Pasco Express says: "It is hard enough work printing a dollar paper in this field for people who pay, and after February 1, those will be about the only people for whom the Express will be printed. We are sending it now to fifty or more delinquents, and in view of the fact that we are about to put in $400 worth of new material the $50 would look good to us. If it is not soon forthcoming the names will get amputated at the collar." If the Express has only fifty delinquents it is getting off easy and is more fortunate than most country newspapers. Be thankful, Bro. Greene, that you haven't got 500 delinquents instead of fifty.—Milton Eagle.

And this reminds us that we have something like a hundred subscribers, to whom the paper is sent in single wrappers, who are behind. This is to notify them that it they want the paper continued they can send the price, and if we do not hear from them their names will be taken from the list. We do not wish to lose a subscriber, but this is business.
