NO SALOON IN FOREST GROVE

JUDGE McBRIDE SO DECIDES

The Legislature Had No Intention That the Council Should Grant a Saloon License at the Grove

Last Monday morning Judge McBride rendered his decision in the saloon injunction case at Forest Grove, which was adverse to the city council granting a license for saloon purposes. His decision is as follows:

"That the institution was founded by Harvey Clark with the stipulation that no intoxicating liquors should ever be dispensed on the 200 acres deeded to the University. That there has never been a licensed saloon in the town, and that because of this fact many people bought property and resided there, and that because of this many endowments have been made to the University. That the Mayor and Council have passed a license ordinance, and that A. G. Watson is about to open a saloon within 300 feet of the University entrance."

Judge McBride said the important question was whether the authorities have the right to license a saloon. By the charter they are given the right to regulate. In his decision he reviews the amendments made to the Forest Grove charter at various sessions, and then says:

"Taking the charter by its four corners and seeking in its contents as a whole for light upon this question, I cannot read the word license into it. The Legislature did not put it there; the City Council, which caused this charter to be presented and wrote their approvals of its provisions upon its face, did not put it there—and the court will not put it there."

"I am satisfied that the Legislature no more intended that the City Council should license the selling of liquor than it should license a bawdy house or a gambling hell. In passing upon this question the court does not consider what would be best for the citizens of Forest Grove. It is possible that the liquor traffic would be less dangerous to the public morals if conducted as required in the proposed ordinance, than it would be conducted secretly and unlawfully, but if that is true they have to go to the Legislature and secure the authority which in power is lacking in the present charter."

"The ordinances set forth in the complaint are wholly void for want of authority in the City Council to pass it, and the demurrer will be overruled."

Forest Grove, Or., April 3.—(Special.)—Temperance people here are rejoicing at the decision of Judge McBride, which grants a permanent injunction against the issuing of a saloon license in Forest Grove. Both sides had expressed confidence in the final outcome of the case.

The liquor men had announced that they would open the saloon simultaneously with the exercises of the Congregational church tonight. It will remain closed, and church services will take on added zest, for the Congregationalists; together with the other church people of the city, have been behind the Pacific University in the application for injunction.

The saloon building was completed and fully stocked for business, but the proprietor had not yet paid his license money. It is thought that he will attempt to operate the place as a "commercial club," such as the one which successfully evaded the prohibitory ordinance last year. If he does the university, encouraged by this victory, will try to suppress it.

Stockton, Cal., has a genuine gold excitement and 400 men, women and children are placer mining on the banks of Mormon slough in that city. From $500 to $1000 worth of coarse gold has already been taken out of a small deposit of gravel. Many believe the gold was lost or buried by Mexicans in early days, as the find is on the site of a former Mexican settlement. The excitement is high, and many old miners are staking out claims between Stockton and Bolota.

The American Board of Foreign Missions will probably accept Mr. Rockefeller's gift of "tainted money" with the idea of reforming it. It can be redeemed in gold at any bank or in fresh crisp never before circulated notes at the U. S. Treasury department.

Mr. Alex. H. Revell, of Chicago, has received a letter from Sir Thomas Lipton, written on board of Sir Thomas' yacht in the Indian Ocean. The writer says he is determined to have one more try for the America's cup—"The famous old mug" as he calls it. The only difficulty in the way was to find a designer, but he will give the matter attention as soon as he returns from Ceylon. He ended his letter by saying that he would be very much disappointed if he cannot arrange for another contest next year.

The steamship British Princess, has arrived in New York from Antwerp, carrying 500,000 bushels of Oregon wheat, which has been reimported by American millers. This consignment is the third of its kind to reach New York within the past two months, and from present indications more is to follow at no distant date. At the produce exchange no one seemed able to explain clearly this round about movement, but it is known that Northwestern millers fear a shortage of wheat, and consequently the necessity of a shutdown of the mills. On this account they have been reaching out in all directions for a supply of wheat to keep their mills going until the new crop is obtainable. Next year it is said, no American wheat will be exported, if millers can prevent it, even though it be necessary to pay premium prices to keep this cereal for home grinding.

Frank Guglielmo, the Italian, who murdered his sweetheart, Miss Freda Guasaria, in Portland, last June, because she would not marry him, was taken to Salem last week by Deputy Sheriff Moreland, and at once taken to the penitentiary to await death. The date set for the condemned murderer's execution is Friday, May 5, 1905, and from now until the final day Guglielmo will be placed in solitary confinement, with the customary death watch over him. The aspect of the prisoner is one of sullen fear and long confinement has already left the mark upon his cheek and brow, so that were it not for the terrible crime for which he is convicted, one would almost pity the man. When the time for death arrives it is likely that Guglielmo will break down utterly, as he is even now upon the verge of collapse, and it is thought he will have to be strapped to the board and conveyed to the gallows and supported when the tarp is sprung.

There is a modern tendency to wink at vice. Youth for pleasure, age for business, and old age for religion, is the abominable adage we frequently hear. The lusts of the flesh are regarded as mere indiscretions, youthful follies, which mature age will correct. Sobriety, morality, religion will all come in due time. The wrecks that strew life's seashore are too common for experience to give much credence to that idea. Without doubt the horror of this world is that vice which rears its monuments in graveyards, hospitals, garrets, cellars, impaired minds, and polluted hearts. Men and even women regard this vice lightly. Fashionable and moral society places no ban on this horror. The guilty and polluted wretch mixes with the land, and is assured a glad welcome. The rake and debauchee can defy all justice but that of Heaven. So long as virtuous women are willing to receive moral outcasts as their companions and friends, men will get worse, instead of better. It rests largely with the young women of this country if society is to be raised out of this swamp of sensuality to secure heights of virtue, where God's sun shines, and God's breezes blow, and all life is beautiful.—Albert E. Vert in The Pacific Monthly for April.

The committee which heads the protest of Congregationalists against the action of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions in accepting a gift of $100,000 from John D. Rockefeller issued a statement inviting all persons, whether clergymen or laymen, who wished to record themselves in sympathy with the protest, to send their names to the chairman of the committee, Rev. Daniel Evans, of Cambridge, Mass.

Harry Mathur, a traveling salesman for the Dayton Computing Scale & Cheese-cutting Company, for nearly of Minnesota, but for the past nine months a resident of Portland, committed suicide last week by drinking carbolic acid. The deed was done at his home at 106 West Park street. Poor health and despondency were supposed causes of his act. He leaves a wife and two children.

WIFE VS. WIFE IN $25,000 SUIT

A HARD FIGHT IN THE COURTS

The Jury Awards the Plaintiff $3,000 Damages--Some Favored Giving Her $10,000.

The $25,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Della Keen, of Cedar Mills, the divorced wife of Wm. Keen, against Mrs. Susan Keen, the present wife of Keen, held the boards at the court house from Saturday until Tuesday and at times was rich, rare and racy, and attracted a good sized crowd every day. A large number of witnesses were examined for both sides, many of them being relatives, as well as acquaintances and neighbors, and each and every one admitted that the home of Keen while he was living with his wife Della was a very warm proposition, and one row would hardly cool off before another one was on tap. It was asserted that these family tilts began shortly after the two were married after a three days acquaintance and kept growing from bad to worse until Mrs. Reynolds' (now Susan Keen) husband died, and she got him to assist her in administering her husband's estate. Of course this business made it necessary for them to be together a great deal and they made frequent trips to Hillsboro, Portland and Eastern Oregon together, where the couple combined business and pleasure and visited friends at Wasco, The Dalles and other points. It was also sworn to that when Keen and Mrs. Reynolds went to Wasco they were accompanied to Portland by Miss Sadie Keen, Mr. Keen's daughter, and that the three occupied the same room at a hotel that night, Mrs. Keen and the daughter occupying one bed and Mr. Keen another, and in the morning Mrs. Reynolds kindly adjusted his necktie and laced his shoes.

After the Wasco trip, it was sworn to that Mrs. Della became unduly jealous of the couple and not only read the riot act to her husband but informed the widow that she was getting altogether too sweet on Keen and the keenest thing for her to do would be to let up and accused her of undue familiarity with him during the trip to Eastern Oregon. But matters did not mend, but grew steadily worse. Keen found that helping the widow administrate her husband's estate took up much of his time and attention and he took many trips to the little house at the foot of the hill occupied by Mrs. Reynolds, and witnesses swore that as often four and five times a day she sat on his lap and called him her "sweetheart," and not to have the thing all onesided, he would hug her up in the most approved fashion and call her his "dear," "darling," and "pet." One day on the Portland road, a witness swore, he saw Keen with his arm around the widow, and at another time they were seen walking along the road hand in hand.

The actions of the couple became such as to set all the tongues at Cedar Mills wagging, and of course, what Mrs. Della Keen could not see with her own eyes, the neighbors kindly told her all about, and as a man remarked in the court "h—l was kept popping in the Keen home," and the angel of peace was getting farther and farther away. Mrs. Keen upbraided her husband for his cruel neglect, and said many things in her anger that did not please Mr. Keen, and to show that he was still boss of the situation he choked her and struck her on the hip with a strap at the end of which was a brass buckle.

Mr. Keen found his own home so hot and uncomfortable that he concluded to leave, and as he still had considerable business to transact with the widow, and as he had always found things cool, airy and comfortable there, he concluded to move in, and did so. Of course this did not appease the wife's anger.

A New Era in Trans-Pacific Transportation.

The Great Northern Steamship Company in placing in service between Seattle, Wash., and Yokohama, Nagasaki, Kobe, Shanghai and Hong Kong, the magnificent American built steamships the "Minnesota" and the "Dakota," make a new era in transportation facilities between the United States and the Orient. These magnificent steamships, with their superior facilities in handling immense freight cargoes and the luxurious appointments for passenger travel has given an impetus to our oriental trade. The North Pacific Route to the Orient is rapidly becoming the popular one and now that the two palatial steamships, "Minnesota" and "Dakota" have been put in commission, there is no question but that a further greater increase in our trade with the Orient as well as increased passenger travel to Asiatic ports will be inaugurated. The first sailing of the "Minnesota," in addition to carrying the largest cargo to the Orient ever carried by any ship in the world, as well as an extensive passenger list, augurs well for the future.

The "Minnesota," will sail on its next voyage to the Orient on Saturday April 29th and it will not be amiss to say here that the excellence of her passenger accommodations will be heralded to the traveling public of the United States by all who enjoyed the pleasant voyage across the Pacific on her first trip, as furnishing the acme of travel comfort. The fact that the superior accommodations of the Great Northern Steamship Company in connection with the comfortable journey afforded by the Great Northern Railway to Seattle, the sailing point of the "Minnesota," will make this route the popular one from incident to Orient.

It is reported that efforts are again being made to obtain pardon for McDaniel, the contemptible, cowardly slayer of Adelaide Claire Fitch. If ever murderer deserved hanging, this sneaking, whining McDaniel deserved it. That he was not hanged is a shame and a disgrace to Oregon justice. But none is so brutal, degraded and unfeeling as not to have some friend, some champion to intercede for him. And hence some one always can be found who possesses the effrontery to try to save even such a worthless cur as McDaniel from the consequences of his misdeeds.—Portland Telegram.

A Thoughtful Man.

M. M. Austin of Winchester, Ind., knew what to do in the hour of need. His wife had such an unusual case of stomach and liver trouble, physicians could not help her. He thought of and tried Dr. King's New Life Pills and she got relief at once and was finally cured. Only 25c at all drug stores.

ARE YOU FROM WISCONSIN?

IF SO YOUR NAME IS WANTED

By the Wisconsin Society of Oregon for the Purpose of Giving Information About Oregon.

The Wisconsin Society of Oregon was organized Wednesday, March 22, at a meeting held at Elks Hall, Marquam Building, Portland. About one hundred and fifty former residents of the state of Wisconsin were present. The object of the society as stated in the constitution adopted are "The development of the state of Oregon by the dissemination of information throughout the state of Wisconsin, by the cultivation of a better acquaintance between the citizens of the two states and by every other legitimate means; the furnishing of information and assistance to visitors and home seekers from Wisconsin and provision for their entertainment; the cultivation of closer social relations among the members."

It is the aim of this society in carrying out the objects above mentioned to prepare and maintain a complete list of all former residents of the State of Wisconsin now residents in Oregon. To aid in accomplishing this result it is earnestly requested that they furnish the following information concerning themselves or friends now residents of Oregon and from Wisconsin: Name, city, no. of street, present occupation, maiden name if married, name of husband or wife, if married man, wife's maiden name and former residence of husband or wife.

Mailing cards for this information can be obtained at this office or if more convenient the reader may write to headquarters of the society in Portland. It should be understood that the object is merely the obtaining of accurate and detailed information as a basis for work looking toward the good of the state. In return the society will be pleased to furnish to those interested such information as it has acquired.

A counterfeiting scheme, gigantic in its proportions and rich in results, which has as its field the whole of the United States, has just been unearthed by the Federal authorities. A number of government secret service agents are now in Denver following clues which are said to have led them to believe that the headquarters of the gang are located in Denver, Colo. The operations of the counterfeiters are said to extend all the way from New York to San Francisco, and so far, it has been believed that something like $50,000 has been secured in the larger cities of the country. The counterfeit is one of the best duplicates of the Buffalo $10 and $20 bills which have come to the attention of the federal authorities. A description of the counterfeit, as furnished by the United States secret service department, follows: Series 1961, No. 29513972; face plate 159, back plate 87, check letter D, signed Lyons register, Roberts treasurer, portraits Lewis and Clark. The counterfeiters are a shade darker than the genuine. Secret service Agent E. H. Wilson is here working on the case. Speaking of the counterfeiters' method of operating, he said, "Their work is so smooth that it is almost impossible to detect them at all. Several agents are sent out and purchases are made in the towns in which they are located. Bills for $10 or $20 are presented in payment, and they receive the cash in change. The counterfeit is not discovered until it goes to the bank, and even then, in a great many cases, it has been allowed to go through, so perfect is the imitation. "There is not only one gang, but several of them scattered around over the country. How many are in on the deal cannot be told.
