UINTAH INDIAN RESERVATION

DRAWING FOR ENTRY AUGUST 17

Homesteaders Must Register at Grand Junction, Col., Vernal, Price or Provo, Utah.

President Roosevelt on July 15 signed the proclamation providing for the opening to homesteaders and townsites entry of the unallotted lands in the great Uintah Reservation in Utah.

The reservation contains 2,445,000 acres, but the Military and forestry reserves and such mineral lands as have been withdrawn under existing laws will leave 1,069,000 acres available for entry.

Registration for the land will commence August 1st and close August 12th. Registration may be made at Grand Junction, Colo., and Vernal, Price and Provo, Utah. Prospective settlers may register at any one of these places from 9:00 a. m., Tuesday, August 1st, until 6:00 p. m. Saturday, August 12th.

To obtain registration, each applicant must appear at one of the registration places and show himself duly qualified to make homestead entry (160 acres) by written application to be made only on a blank form provided by the commissioner of the general land office. Registration cannot be effected through the mails or by an agent, except in the case of honorably discharged soldiers and sailors, who may present their applications and due proofs of their qualifications through an agent of their own selection, having a duly executed power of attorney, on a blank for that purpose provided by the commissioner. No person will be permitted to act as agent for more than one soldier or sailor, and no one will be allowed to register more than once or in any other than his true name.

Each applicant who shows himself qualified will be registered and given a non-transferable certificate that will entitle him to examine the lands to be opened, but only for the purpose of enabling him later on to understandingly select the lands for which he may make entry. No one will be permitted to settle on any of the lands in advance of the opening, and for sixty days after none but registered applicants will be allowed to make homestead settlements.

The order in which during the first sixty days following the opening, the registered applicants will be permitted to make homestead entries will be determined by a publishing to be held at Provo, Utah, commencing at 9 a. m., on Thursday, August 17th, and continuing as long as it is necessary. Preparatory to the drawing, the registration officers will, at the time of registration of each applicant, make out a card, which must be signed by the applicant, giving such a description of him as will enable the local land officers to thereafter identify him. This card will be placed in a plain sealed envelope, with no distinguishable marks, beyond the label, to show that it is to go into the drawing. When the registration is complete the envelopes will be brought together at the place of the drawing (Provo, Utah) and turned over to the committee in charge, who will conduct the drawing in such manner as they see fit, the only provision being that it shall be attended with entire fairness and equality of opportunity.

Each envelope will be opened as it is drawn, and the enclosed card given a number showing the order in which it was drawn. Notice of the drawing, stating the name of each applicant and the number assigned to him, will be posted each day, and each applicant will be notified of his number and the day on which he must make his entry at Vernal by a postal card mailed to the address given when he registered.

Filing on land commences at 9:00

a. m., August 28th. The applications of those drawing land numbers from 1 to 50, inclusive, must be presented at the land office at Vernal, Utah, and will be considered in their numerical order during the first day. The applications of those drawing numbers 51 to 100, inclusive, must be presented on the second day, and so on until all of the numbers have been disposed of.

If any applicant fails to present his application when his number is called, his right to enter will be passed until the close of that day. If he does not then appear, he will be deemed to have abandoned his right to entry. At the end of sixty days any land remaining undisposed of may be settled upon under the government homestead law.

Persons who make homestead entry for any of these lands opened will be required to pay therefor at the rate of $1.25 per acre, upon making final proof, but no payment, other than the usual fees and commissions, will be required at the time the entry is made.

Mineral lands will not be subject to entry under the lottery, and none of these can be had inside of 60 days from August 28, after which time they will be subject to entry under the mineral land laws.

Any person desiring to establish a townsites within the reservation may at any time before the opening file a written application in the land office, describing the lands affected and stating fully and under oath the necessity or propriety of founding a town at that place. These applications will be considered by the commissioner of the general land office, and if he believes the public interest will be subserved thereby he will, at the approval of the Secretary of the Interior, withdraw the described lands from homestead entry and settlement, to be disposed of under the townsites laws.

The reservation is reached only by the Denver & Rio Grande System, by way of Mack, Colorado, and the Uintah Railway to Dragon, Utah, thence by stage, 61 miles, to Vernal, Utah, or by way of Price, Utah, and stage, 129 miles to Vernal, where is located the land office where final entry has to be made.

The Denver & Rio Grande will make special preparation for the handling of prospective settlers in the Uintah Reservation, and its through trains will make connection at Mack, Colorado, with the trains of the Uintah Railway, and at Price with stage line for Vernal, Utah. Further details, such as train times, time of stage lines, rates of fare, etc., etc., may be obtained from representatives of the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad.

Another Divorce Filed.

Last Monday Elaine Wickham filed papers in the clerk's office in a suit for divorce against her husband, Alfred Wickham, and alleges that the two were married in Vancouver, Wash., on or about the 13th day of December, 1901, and have ever since been and are now husband and wife. She states that she has been a continuous resident of Oregon for more than a year, and that she now lives in Multnomah county. That the defendant deserted her in 1903 and has ever since remained away from her. She wants a separation, the custody of a 3-year-old daughter, who is with its mother, and $30 per month, until she should again marry, a contract to this effect having been made between the two. Under this agreement she waives right title, interest or claim in law or equity, including dower and right of dower to all real estate and personal property belonging to the defendant.

Last Friday four steamboats carried nearly 2000 excursionists from Portland to the Cascade Locks. A special train of twelve cars was chartered to take the overflow crowd for whom there was no room on the boats.

LINCOLN'S HOME AT PORTLAND

AT THE LEWIS AND CLARK FAIR

Many Pictures, Letters and Other Documents Illustrative of the Life of the Great Emancipator.

Any one who is interested in the life of Abraham Lincoln may find much to engage his attention in the Illinois building at the Lewis and Clark exposition. The building itself is an exact reproduction of the Lincoln homestead at Springfield, Ill., the only home ever owned by the martyred president. Every room is reproduced in its exact size, and in the front parlor the visitor is told just where Lincoln stood on that day in the fall of 1860 when he was notified that he had been elected president of the United States.

In the rear parlor, which connects with the front one by a wide archway, is a collection of pictures and documents of vivid interest to those who like to study things of historic value. The life of Lincoln is represented by pictures and letters, the latter either in the original or in fac-simile, from his birth to his assassination. The rude little log cabin in Kentucky, where he was born, is shown with portraits of his parents; pictures of Lincoln at various times in his career, most of them showing him without beard, for it was not until after he became president that Lincoln let his whiskers grow; letters written by Lincoln in his youth, his earlier public life and during his presidency; and also pictures of his intimate friends and associates, and of other noted men whose public lives were interwoven with his own.

The Illinois historical exhibits are collected and installed by Mrs. Jessie Palmer Weber, secretary of the Illinois Historical Society and a daughter of the late Gen. John M. Palmer, who was governor of Illinois, United States senator and candidate for president of the gold democratic ticket in 1896. Mrs. Palmer has returned to Illinois, but the hostess of the building, Miss Mary L. Berkeley, is on hand at all times to extend the hospitality of the state to exposition visitors. Executive Commissioner Fred H. Hand, of Cambridge, Ill., is in charge of the building.

The public is free to go through the house, spending as much time as may be desired in studying the various pictures and reading the letters and other documents in the handwriting of Lincoln, Grant, Palmer, Alexander H. Stephens, Stephen A. Douglas, John A. Logan and other famous men of the period. Upstairs, over the front parlor, is the room where Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln slept. This room, furnished to correspond to the living room of the Lincoln household, is occupied in the Portland replica of the house as a sitting room for guests.

Adjoining the Lincoln home, Illinois has built a cosy structure called the Rest Pavilion, with a wide open porch in front. Comfortable chairs on this veranda invite the exposition visitors who may find it agreeable to take a rest.

The salmon run in the lower waters of Puget Sound is assuming such proportions that the cannerymen are forced to engage a large number of extra fishermen and cannerymen. About 30 Chinese passed through Tacoma this week on their way to Blaine. The foreman in charge of the men says that the run is much larger than in several years before, and that the cannery pack this year will be the largest in at least four years. He stated that the canneries are utterly unable to handle all the fish that are being brought in.

A Narrow Escape.

Caught in mid-air like a rabbit in a snare and whipped by the cars of a swiftly moving freight train, Alex Lundenden was badly hurt one day last week.

Lundenden is a brakeman and stood on a box-car near the head of the train as it approached the outskirts of Bridgeport. An overhead bridge spans the tracks at this point. On either side of it are what is known as "tell tales," consisting of a fringe rope of leather overhanging the tracks to strike and warn trainmen in time for them to avoid striking the bridge as they pass under it.

It was dark when Lundenden advanced over the train, and he suddenly felt the warning sting of the "tell-tale." As he crouched, he threw up one hand. A thong of the "tell-tale" whirled around his wrist, and Lundenden was dragged off his feet. The thong held him with the grip of a slip-noose.

Dangling over the train, the brakeman sustained a series of stunning jolts. The thong was of sufficient length to drop his body for an instant between the cars. As the train rushed on the roof of each successive car delivered its blow. His body was whirled and tossed about, and he said later that he feared his arm would be drawn from the socket by the fearful strain.

There was danger at every blow that the thong might part and drop him between the cars and under the wheels. Unconsciousness put an end to his misery. Trainmen in the caboose heard a clatter overhead and found Lundenden lying on the roof. The thong had parted just as the last car was reached.

Lundenden was taken to Bridgeport hospital on the arrival of the train. His shoulder had been dislocated, and his forearm twisted, in addition to contusions on his body.

Popular and Picturesque.

The only thing necessary to make the Denver and Rio Grande the most popular, as it has ever been known the most pleasant and most picturesque way to cross the continent, has come about. This is the establishment of through sleeping car service.

In connection with the O. R. & N., a through Pullman Standard Sleeper is now run from Portland to Denver, leaving Portland at 8:15 p. m., arriving at Salt Lake at 8:40 a. m., the second morning, leaving Salt Lake at 3:50 p. m., and arriving at Denver 4:20 p. m., the following day. This schedule gives passengers seven hour-stop over in Salt Lake, affording an opportunity to visit the Mormon Capital as well as a day light ride through the grandest scenery in the world.

For reservations in this car and for illustrated booklets picturing the scenery contiguous to the Denver & Rio Grande, proving it to be the "Science Line of the World," write to W. C. McBride, General Agent, 124 Third street, Portland.

$1,000.00 FINE SIX MONTHS IN JAIL

SENTENCE OF JUDGE DeHAVEN

John H. Mitchell Sentenced Tuesday--Forever Barred from Holding Office--Will Appeal.

Senator John H. Mitchell was on Tuesday sentenced to six months in the county jail of Multnomah county and to pay a fine of $1,000. In sentencing Mr. Mitchell, Judge De Haven said:

"The statute under which the indictment in this case was found provides that every person offending against its provisions shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be imprisoned not more than two years and fined not more than $10,000, and shall moreover by conviction thereof be rendered forever thereafter incapable of holding any office of honor, trust or profit under the government of the United States.

As I construe this language, the judgment upon a verdict of conviction must be both fine and imprisonment, but the court is given great discretion in fixing the amount of the fine and the term of imprisonment. The imprisonment, if for more than one year, may be in the state prison, and in any case the court may, by its judgment, make the punishment only nominal.

In pronouncing judgment it is not my purpose to comment upon the evidence or to make any special reference to the facts necessarily found by the jury in returning their verdict. It will be sufficient to say that in reaching a conclusion as to the proper judgment to be given, I have given consideration to the age of the defendant, which may be properly taken in account in mitigation of punishment and to the fact that the offense is defined in the statute as a misdemeanor and not as a felony, and to the further fact that the legal effect of the judgment is to forever disqualify the defendant from holding any office under the government of the United States. In view of this fact and considering also the nature of the defendant's offense, as disclosed by the evidence, the judgment of the court is that the defendant be imprisoned for the term of six months in the county jail of Multnomah county, in this city, and pay a fine in the sum of $1,000. Execution of this judgment will be stayed for two days.

Grading Contract Let.

A Baker City, Or., special of July 25, says: Engineer Davis, of the Portland, Nehalem & Tillamook Railroad, has let to Clark & Dixon, Forest Grove people, the contract for clearing the right-of-way for ten miles of road, and they have already commenced work. Thompson brothers were awarded the contract for the first three miles of grading, and they will commence work as soon as the teams and implements can be gotten together. The road seems now to be a reality.

Forced to Starve.

B. F. Leek, of Concord, Ky., says: "For 20 years I suffered agonies, with a sore on my upper-lip, so painful, sometimes, that I could not eat. After vainly trying everything else, I cured it, with Bucklen's Arnica Salve." It's great for burns, cuts and wounds. At all drug stores; Only 25c.

Daniel S. Lamont Dead.

Daniel S. Lamont, former secretary of war, died at his home at Milbrook, Dutchess county New York, Sunday night of heart failure. He had been out driving in the evening with his wife and appeared in the best of health. After dinner he complained of feeling ill. A physician was summoned and he diagnosed the case as heart failure, and in spite of heroic treatment Mr. Lamont died within half an hour. At the deathbed were Mrs. Lamont and two daughters and several guests.

Daniel Scott Lamont was born February 9, 1851, in Cortlandville, New York. He was educated at the McGrawville union school and college. He became a newspaper reporter and in 1885 was made private secretary to Grover Cleveland, then governor of New York. When the latter was elected president of the United States, Lamont acted in the same capacity during his entire first term. Upon the reelection of Mr. Cleveland, Lamont was appointed secretary of war.

Lamont afterward became prominent in street railway interests and in other railways, and was at the time of his death vice-president of the Northern Pacific and trustee in many railroads and financial corporations.

Hogging It.

John D. Rockefeller, through the American Linseed Oil company, has cornered the flaxseed market and compelled three big independent mills to close at Buffalo, N. Y. The price of linseed oil is to be advanced 40 cents a gallon.

This advance will seriously affect many industries, particularly those of oilcloth, linoleum, paints, oils, etc., and will undoubtedly cause a large number of workmen to be thrown out of employment.

It is estimated that by getting control of the linseed oil industry Rockefeller will make a profit of about $20,000,000 on an investment of between $8,000,000 and $10,000,000.

It is also estimated that factories representing an invested capital of $500,000,000 and their workmen have been placed within the power of the Standard Oil company by the control of the linseed oil industry by Rockefeller.

Wheat Damaged.

The hottest wave ever experienced in the Palouse country has been on for the past week at Garfield, Wash. Senator R. C. McCroskey, the wheat king of the Palouse country, says he is being damaged $1,000 a day. James Walters and Mr. Gilliam, both big wheat growers say that so far spring sown grain, both wheat and oats, is damaged 25 per cent and if the hot spell continues the damage will be 50 per cent. The fall sown wheat so far is but little damaged, as it is to far advanced.
