Tomorrow is "Goode" night and good bye to the exposition.

You will go to the fair tomorrow or you will never go at all. Gates and fair closes at 12 o'clock, midnight.

The Kansas City Star says there is a person in that town who refuses to receive wedding fees because he does not think it is right to profit by the mistakes of others. Bradstreet quotes the Star as first class—as a mixer of the truth.

Conductor Jo Crocker says he carried 6,000 passengers to the fair last week. Had the weather been good this week almost as many more would have gone, for even with the continued rains the travel has been heavy.—Newberg Graphic.

The controller of the currency at Washington has approved the application of R. M. Dooly, J. R. Loomish, H. B. Johnson, Frank E. Dooley and H. T. Buxton to organize the First National Bank of Forest Grove. The capital stock is placed at $25,000.

The Forest Grove News says that "it is not improbable that C. B. Moore and Walter L. Toose, the two candidates for congress from Marion and Martin county, will make some arrangement by which one will pull out of the contest." They say that neither has any chance in the contest against S. B. Hutton, if both stay in the field, but with one out of the way it might give the other a little show." Well, Toose says he's in the fight to the last ditch, so it must be Hutton vs. Toose.

The Lewis and Clark fair passes into history tomorrow night at 12 o'clock as one of the most successful expositions ever held in the United States, and though it has taken thousands of dollars from the smaller towns of the state, it has been a big advertisement for Portland and the state at large. Every dollar expended will return many fold within a very few years, thanks to the energy, pluck and enterprise of the business men of Portland. And today Oregon is known and talked of, and most favorably too, in every state in the Union, and even beyond the great waters.

The fifty-seventh annual meeting of the General Association of Congregational Ministers of Oregon will meet with the First Congregational church in Forest Grove next week Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The twenty-first annual meeting of the Oregon Woman's Home Missionary Union will be held in the church parlors on Wednesday afternoon at 1:15. The fifteenth annual meeting of the Oregon Branch of the Woman's Board of Missions of the Pacific will be held in the church parlors immediately following the meeting of the Home Missionary Union. The delegates to the General Association from the Hillsboro Congregational church are: A. E. Rice, Mrs. Gates, Mrs. Tamiesie, W. O. Donelson.

Postmasters have received an order from Postmaster General Cortelyou which places a ban on all general newspapers publishing the results of raffles and church fair lotteries and prohibiting such publications of the use of the mails. The order is sweeping in its provisions and calls on the postmasters to strictly enforce the laws. This means that in the future when there is a church fair, or a social of any kind, where there is a raffle, guessing contest or "grab bag" attachment, or if there is anyone with a shotgun or watch to raffle, the winning numbers may not be printed in the newspapers. Endless chain enterprises for the sale of articles by the circulation of coupons, etc., are also barred. So strict is the order that it commends itself to all who have heretofore had an interest in these matters. Hereafter it will be an infringement upon the postmaster general's edict to chronicle the fact that "Miss So-and-So captured first prize, and Mr. So-and-So walked off with the booty."

Newspapers throughout the state are suggesting that farmers name their homes, and it is a good suggestion. In parts of Wisconsin farm homes are known by names given them, such as "The Maples," "The Oaks," "Fern Home," and mail addressed to the name given the farm invariably reaches the person for whom it is intended. The following from the Newberg Graphic states our idea upon the subject: "The Graphic wishes to encourage owners of farms in the neighborhood to give their farm homes suggestive names. It adds a little of sentiment or romance or dignity to country life and while the prosaic round of duties to be done is not lessened, an appropriate name lends attractiveness to home. Some farm homes in this vicinity have already been named. There are the mountainside "Bonny View" farm of Howard Walton, "Spring Hill" farm of Atkinson Bros., "Far View," the Chehalis mountain home of P. N. Skjinner, "Lone Fir Farm" of E. S. Craven, "The Oaks," the home of David Martin, and "Wildwood," the name of the Sears place west of town. And there may be more. All are pleasantly suggestive. Let others follow suit."

There is great excitement in the vicinity of Beaverton, just east of the county seat, and an action has been started to "fire" the mayor, Dr. F. M. Robinson, and one councilman, Albert Davies. The cause of the trouble is that some months ago the council decid to put a stop to dumping fertilizer inside the limits of the village. David Reghito, who needed the fertilizer on his onion farm, took objections to the new order of things and decided to test the law. He ordered a cartload of garbage and manure from Portland and had it dumped inside the limits. He was arrested and fined $15 or seven days in jail, but was not shut up, as his attorney secured his release on a writ of habeas corpus, pending a review in the circuit court, on the ground that the council of Beaverton had no authority to pass such an ordinance, as the village charter provided that only a person having property upon which he paid a tax was eligible to serve as members of the council, and proceedings have been filed against the two gentlemen named. It is claimed by residents of Beaverton that the dumping of garbage and manure inside the limits of the village should be stopped by the state board of health, if the council has no authority to do so, for, it is claimed, the stench arising from the heaps of garbage and manure is at times simply frightful.

The Lewis and Clark fair will close in a blaze of glory tomorrow night. Sharp on the hour of midnight, prior to the playing of "Auld Lang Syne" by the band and the sounding of taps by the bugler, the six battleships on the lake and Moro fort will be blown up with dynamite. The management has reserved this big spectacular event for the climax to a busy, eventful and thoroughly enjoyable day. Wires will be run to the submarine mines from a launch, and, after the sham battle, when the battleships are deserted by their crews, the flames will be allowed to eat into them until they will be supposed to have had time in which to reach the powder magazines; then the electric spark will cause the explosion of the mines. The closing day of the fair is to be known as Press day and Railroad Men's day. There will be no formal exercises in honor of either aggregation of workers in the industrial field, the day before named after them merely out of The row on the trail at the fair Portland day will not be repeated tomorrow, the closing day. The amusement street will be lined with guards, detectives and soldiers and the first fellow attempting to start a rough house will be pulled. A large stockade has been erected at the head of the trail and into this will be thrown all persons arrested for disorderly conduct, and the next day marched in a body to police headquarters.

Double pay has been allowed to all telegraph operators on the Great Northern railroad who refused to join in last month's strike. When the monthly allotment of checks reached the operators of the Willmar and Sioux Falls division this month each check was accompanied by a letter from Superintendent Bowen calling attention to the fact that

THE VALE OF HINNON—SCENE IN "BEN-HUR."

One of the impressive scenes in General Lew Wallace's mighty play, "Ben-Hur," the foremost offering in the amusement world. "Ben-Hur" scored a sensation in Portland two years ago and attracted many from this vicinity to witness it. It is to fill an engagement of six nights and two matinees—Wednesday and Saturday—performances at the Marquam Grand Theatre, Portland, starting Thursday evening, October 19th.

consideration for the efforts they have put forth to advertise the giant undertaking which is drawing to a successful close. President Goode is to be the guest of honor at a dinner to be given in the New York building at 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening by the board of directors of the fair. The attendance is to be confined to administration officials. Theodore B. Wilcox is in charge of the arrangements. In addition to admitting teachers and pupils in the public schools of Multnomah, Yamhill and Polk counties and all children under 12 years of age, no matter what their residence, free on Saturday, teachers and pupils of Clackamas county are to be extended the same courtesy. The attendance of pupils and teachers from the latter county will be in the neighborhood of 300 on that day. J. C. Zinner, county superintendent of public instruction will be present at a special gate and vouch for those who are entitled to free admittance.

Fair Prizes.

The prize of $1000 offered for the best county exhibit was distributed among Marion, Coos, Linn, Umatilla, Wasco and Lane counties. The second award of $600 was divided among Clackamas, Columbia, Jackson, Polk and Morrow counties, and the third of $300 went to Benton, Yamhill, Multnomah, Union and Baker counties. There are seven claimants for the fourth award of $200—Wallowa, Washington, Sherman, Josephine, Lincoln, Harney and Douglas counties. The members of the special jury which made the awards are: J. A. Filcher of California, W. N. Steel of North Dakota, Wilson H. Fairbank of Massachusetts, Charles Camp of Wyoming and M. J. Wessels of Idaho.

Up to the noon hour Tuesday about fifty appeals had been filed. Ten of these appeals were taken Wednesday morning, each being accompanied by a certified check for $20, the amount which the director requires as a guarantee that experts will be paid in case their services should be found necessary. Otherwise, it is said, the money will be refunded. If experts are employed, it is stated, any money remaining after they have been paid, will be refunded the exhibitors.

"Two or three appeals taken in the last day or two are entitled to consideration," said Colonel Doseh, "the others are of a minor nature, and merely express the dissatisfaction of a few exhibitors, who think they are entitled to something better than they got. The emergency jury must finish its work this evening."
