It is claimed that this wonderful machine will be able to maintain a speed of thirty-five miles an hour for four days without stopping.

Alsterman John Dennis has just completed a seven-room house and 4500 barn on his farm at Newton station, besides putting up several outbuildings and sheds. The barn is one of the best in the county and is built for convenience. It will hold eighty tons of hay and has stall room for twenty-eight head of cattle. The farm is leased by L. H. Atwater, who is spoken of as a very successful farmer and stock raiser.

On the first page The Independent publishes this week a letter from William Reid in regard to the Portland, Nehalem & Tillamook railroad, which appeared in the Oregon Journal last Monday. He says that the first ten miles of the road will be completed within thirty days. It may be another hot-air story of his, and probably is, but it looks good to a long-waiting people.

O. P. Hoff, state commissioner of labor and factory inspector, was in this city the first of the week on his tour of inspection. He visited the different factories, machine shops and mills in the city and county and found several where improved methods should be adopted. Case, leave next Tuesday for Selma and Pasadena, Cal., where they will visit until April, when they go to their home at Milan, Munroe county, Michigan. Mr. Case leaves with a very warm spot in his heart for the friends he has made in Hillsboro, and says there are no better people on earth.

The street signs have arrived from New York and as soon as possible will be put up. The signs are similar to the ones used in Portland, are very pretty and will last many years; in fact they are the best made. The ladies of the Politican Equalist club are deserving of a vote of thanks, for it is due to their efforts, assisted by the city council, that Hillsboro will have as fine street signs as any city in the state.

The postoffice department has recinded its order that mail addressed to rural boxes may be delivered upon number alone, and the name will have to be on the mail matter in order to have it delivered, but the boxes will be numbered just the same. Merchants all over the country kicked so hard in the order that they thought it advisable to suspend that portion of it requiring only the number of the box to be addressed. It would give mail order houses a big advantage.

R. Cave has recently received his fall stock of air-tight heaters and cooking ranges, and he cordially invites those in need of an air-tight heater to step into his store and examine the Cole, one of the best on the market. If a range is needed, they recommend the Moore steel range, and can show a fine stock. Both these stoves are trimmed in polished nickle, are up-to-date in every particular, fully guaranteed, and the prices are right. For anything in the line of hardware or tinware go and try R. Cave.

There was a social dance at Burkhalter's hall at Farmington last Saturday evening, October 7, and a number of Hillsboro young folks were in attendance. A fine time was reported.

Mrs. W. E. Thorne entertained her young ladies' bible class last Friday afternoon at a tea party. On the 7th of September Frank Reh, who lives two miles north of Cornelius, lost his house, barn, chicken house, granary and a large quantity of grain and hay by fire, the damage to him being at least $2,500, with $500 insurance. The loss to him was great and discouraging, but he came to the front like a man, threw off his coat and went to work with a will. The result is that last week he finished a fine new barn and will soon commence the erection of a new farm house. Pluck and hard work always win.

On Tuesday of this week L. I. Kithcart, by her attorney, filed papers with the county clerk in an action for divorce against her husband, J. Kithcart. She alleges that they were married in Nebraska, and that on December, 1885, the defendant deserted her. She says in her complaint that he accused her of forgetting her marriage vow and has made her life unbearable and beyond human endurance. For these reasons she will apply to the court for a separation and such other relief as may seem just.

N. Campbell, an Indian war veteran of 1855-6, now of Wolf Creek, Josephine county, was in the city a couple of days last week, a guest of his old friend and comrade, George T. Loeffler. Mr. Campbell has been trying for the past three years to get a pension, being 72 years of age and unable to work, but without success until several weeks ago when Attorney Benton Bowman took the matter up. He has been notified that the old Indian fighter has been granted a pension of $8 a month with back pay amounting to $90. Mr. Campbell also visited with Geo. W. Reed, of Dilley.

City papers are always accurate and never make a mistake. It is only the country newspapers that are forever getting their trolleys crossed. A Portland evening paper of last Monday says that "D. J. Eookman, clerk of Washington county, was called to the stand in the case of Louie Ferraris, on trial for the murder of Carlo Bonando, in an effort by the defense to bring in some court records of that county attacking the credibility of John Bonando by proving matters derogatory to his reputation, but as they did not concern the man on trial nor the man he killed, the court excluded them," all of which refers to E. J. Godman, the efficient clerk of this county, who was called to Portland as a witness in the case referred to.

The Board of Equalization is holding daily sessions at the court house this week. It was expected there would be a stormy time for the members on account of the raise in valuations, but there has been no more complaint than in former years. Occasionally a man comes in with his countenance all covered with wrath and wants to know the which of the wherefor, but when he is told that though his valuations have gone clear up to G, his taxes will be no more than last year, he drops off the perch and is, apparently, satisfied. Besides, a man must make his complaint in writing this year and sign it under oath, which in certain cases, has its drawbacks. Everything considered, the board is having an easy time of it. Assessor Wilcox looked a little worried for a day or two, but he is now wearing his usual genial smile, and high valuations go.

On the 10th, Attorney M. Bump, as her attorney, filed in the county clerk's office an action for divorce in the case of Inez M. Humpke against Frederick P. Humpke, both of this city. The plaintiff alleges that she married Humpke in Victoria, B. C., on or about March 21, 1886, and that they have lived together as husband and wife since that time; that during the past three years he has been grossly, disagreeable and ill-tempered, making her life one continual round of anything but pleasant; that he has treated her in a cruel and inhuman manner and has heaped upon her gross personal indignities, rendering her life burdensome, and that he has been cross and quarrelsome. He has at various times, she avers, and in the presence of their children called her vile names, swore at her, and in the heat of passion, said she was a fool; that he is cross and unkind to the children, five in number, and often uses vile and profane language in their presence, and she has arrived at the stage where she thinks it about time for him to Humpke for himself. So she will ask the court for a separation, the custody of the children and such other relief as may appear equitable.

Mrs. W. J. Benson was stricken with a paralytic stroke Tuesday morning and has been unconscious most of the time since. Her right side was helpless until yesterday, when a slight change for the better was reported. She was able to use her limbs and could talk a very little.

At the meeting of the Lewis and Clark club in Forest Grove last week, it was not decided what would be done with the exhibit at the close of the fair. The officers were in favor of selling it, but the county will need most of the canned fruits and grains for future exhibit at the state fair. Other counties recognize this fact and their exhibits are to be carefully preserved.

A. W. Rice, photographer for the Sun-set Magazine, was in town Wednesday taking Hillsboro views to be used in that publication. He left here for Portland and will work down the Harriman line to Ashland and thoroughly cover the system in Oregon in the advertising campaign to be carried on by W. L. McMurray, assistant general passenger agent, who has planned to exploit the western valleys of the state.

The Condenser on Wednesday shipped to Seattle 2,000 cases of the Pacific brand of condensed milk, which makes 3,000 cases shipped to that city this month. The orders are coming in so fast that the Condenser is pushed to the limit to supply the demand, consequently the Oregon and Pacific brands of Condensed Cream are bound to be fresh.

A personal letter from Mrs. M. J. Fisher, who went from Hillsboro to Lincoln, Neb., a couple of months ago, says: "I am inclined to think that if I were in Oregon again, I would stay there awhile longer, as I have not been well since coming here. Oregon is in deed a delightful country." Mrs. Fisher wishes to be remembered to her Hillsboro friends.

Mrs. Robert Edmondson, who recently came from Wheeler county, applied to the county court for help for herself and four children on Wednesday. The oldest child is only about 8 years of age. She says her husband is in the penitentiary, having been sent up from Wheeler county for murder. She says she does not want to part from her children, but as she is about to be confined, she can do nothing for their support at present. The court will probably help her until she can be returned to Wheeler county, if that is her home.

The Knights of Pythias held their grand lodge meeting at Portland on Wednesday and quite a number of the brethren from this city were in attendance. The following officers were elected at the meeting in the afternoon: Grand chancellor, Martin F. Davis; vice grand chancellor, J. M. Wall; grand reporter, G. C. Moser; grand keeper of records and seals, L. R. Stinson; grand master of the exchequer, J. W. Maloney; grand inner guard, L. Bronough; grand outer guard, Frank Thompson; supreme representative, Judge H. C. Calk; grand trustee, L. M. Curl.

On Friday morning of last week occurred the death of little Bessie Jeremiah, daughter of Landlord Jeremiah, of the Hillsboro Hotel. The cause of death was appendicitis. A consultation of physicians was called, but it was decided that it was too late to perform an operation. She was sick for about three weeks, but not seriously so until a few days before her death. The funeral was held from the M. E. church on Sunday, Rev. Hamilton conducting the services, and the burial was in Hillsboro cemetery. It is thought the child, who was only 4 years of age, was struck in the side while playing with her little companions, and the injury developed into appendicitis.

On Tuesday while F. M. Heidel was driving in the country north of town, one of his horses got the rein under its tail and for the space of five minutes the entire atmosphere in that section was full of rapidly-moving horseshoes. Mr. Heidel held onto the lines until he saw the carriage was going over, when he sought safety by jumping. Of course, he landed in the softest kind of a mud hole, and he was a sight to behold. The horses ran about forty rods, when one of them jumped a ditch and the other fell in, and remained there until pried out. The buggy pole was broken, and running into the side of the ditch, elevated the carriage high in the air. Beyond the broken pole no other damage was done and nobody hurt seriously, though Mr. Heidel was somewhat bruised in going over the wheel.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Hammond, of Russell, Ia., who has been the guests of Mrs. S. G. Morgan the past two weeks, returned home Monday.

The contract for furnishing the plank for Main street has been let to the Johnson Bros. at $7.75 per thousand. It is estimated that it will take 150,000 feet.

He was also a representative in the Oregon legislature, years ago, both positions being held by him with honor to himself and to the state and county. Mr. Moore has lived at Greenville ever since 1867 and in the county several years prior to that date. He leaves a family of grown children.

Mr. T. R. Imbrie has rented his farm near this city to T. P. Goodin and Mr. and Mrs. Imbrie will go to The Dalles next week, and later to Eastern Oregon points in hopes the climate there will prove beneficial to the health of Mrs. Imbrie, who has not been as well since the damp weather began. As soon as Mr. Imbrie decides where they will locate, his two daughters will go to them. Every one is sorry to have this family leave Hillsboro and are in hopes it will be but a temporary leave of absence, and that a few months spent in a congenial climate will entirely restore Mrs. Imbrie to her former good health.

You "tenderfeet" from the East who are kicking because it rains once in a while in this country, read the following and thank the Lord you live in Oregon: "La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 11.—First snow of the season fell here today. The thermometer dropped 45 degrees in past 24 hours." "Mountain Lake, Minn., Oct. 11.—A heavy frost last night was followed today by a hard snow storm." "Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 11.—First snow flurry of the season tonight. The flakes melted as they fell." We expect to have our lawn mowed tomorrow.

The Love Feast. Not for many moons has Portland harbored so many handshakes as last night when the republican clubs were gathered for the harmony jubilee which is to begin this morning at 10 o'clock in Empire Theater, for the purpose of cementing together the segments of the party, so that the ticket which is to be nominated at the primaries next April can be elected by a united host in June.

Patriots from everywhere were poured through the tobacco smoke as they used to do on the night before the state convention. Conspicuous among them all was the tall, commanding figure of Frank C. Baker, chairman of the State Central Committee, who summoned the braves to the powwow, and who will call them to order this morning.

Marion sent the biggest delegation of any county, his bunch of stalwarts numbering some 125 souls. Polk's hop farms sent a good sized aggregation; likewise the potato fields of Washington, Jackson's vineyards were represented and Lane's tall timbered forests. Baker's mines had its sons in attendance while Union had spokesmen from its sugar beets. Umattilla's wheat fields had their champions and so did Morrow's sheep and Wasco's red apples. Even far-off Klamath had faces in the crowd.

Up to this morning, tickets for nearly 600 reserved seats have been issued to visitors from other counties than Multnomah. All republicans from outside counties, of whatever faith, may get reserved seats, whether invited or not. As to republicans of Multnomah, Mr. Baker says the latch string is out for each and every one of them.—Oregonian of Thursday.

Death of Paul Leonard Oakerman. Paul Leonard Oakerman, son of N. P. Oakerman of Beaverton, died at the family home last Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock, aged 27 years. For almost four years he has waged a war with that relentless foe, Consumption, and at last give up the unequal struggle, as thousands of others have had to do. He sought the balmy and flower-scented air of California, lingered among the fir trees of Oregon, but the fangs of the monster would not let loose, and discouraged and worn he returned to his home last May to die.

He was born at Scholla, this county, June 25, 1878, and was 27 years, 3 months and 15 days old. At the age of 15, he joined the Congregational church and was a consistent Christian up to the time of his death. For the past five years he was a member of the First Congregational church of Hillsboro. The funeral occurred on Thursday from that house of worship, Rev. Howard Gilpatrick preaching the sermon, and the tired and emaciated body was laid to rest beside his mother and brother in Odd Fellows cemetery.

We wish to thank the kind neighbors and friends for their words of sympathy and acts of love during the long illness and death of our son and brother. N. P. Oakerman and Family.
