It is over and everybody is satisfied. If anyone missed seeing the Lewis and Clark fair they missed the biggest and best exposition ever given on the Pacific coast, and financially, the most successful ever held in the United States.

It will be remembered that on October 1 some person or persons removed a rail on the Southern Pacific railway at Henderson, and but for the discovery of the devilish piece of work a terrible loss of life and property might have resulted. The company will pay $1,000 for the arrest and conviction of the perpetrator of the deed.

Missouri seems to have had luck with its state buildings. The one at St. Louis fair burned to the ground and again last week the one at the Portland fair was consumed. Everything was destroyed and there was but $5,000 insurance and that on the art collection. The loss is given as art gallery, $20,000; exhibits, $15,000; building, $10,000; fixtures, $5,000. The statue symbolic of the state, which was presented to Oregon by Commissioner Garver on behalf of the people of Missouri, was only slightly damaged by water and smoke, and will be taken to Salem and placed in the capitol.

The Salem Capital says that Portland may lose "Jim" Hill, and adds: "The Great Northern offers $140,000 for crown-granted property on Vancouver harbor for terminal facilities." Don't you worry about "Jim" Hill. He has said to the people of Portland and Oregon that he would build them a railroad along the north shore, and he will do it. "Jim" Hill never talks through his hat. When he offers $150,000 for a piece of property, he does so with the intention of protecting his interests in property he already owns or intends to possess. He is a railroad builder and the people of Portland made no mistake when they coupled onto his headlight.

We hope our readers like The Independent in its enlarged form with the Magazine supplement. Since last Saturday we have added to our list twelve new names and hope the good work will go on until this paper is taken in every home in Washington, and we shall try to make it a welcomed guest at every fireside. But there are a few persons, not many, however, who have taken The Independent ever since we bought the plant two years ago and to whom we have sent statements, who have never paid a cent, and to them we wish to say that if they miss the paper next week they will know the reason why. We want you as a subscriber, but we cannot afford to send the paper for nothing.

The following will be a great comfort to the dimes and others who have been rolling and smoking the "little stinkers" and carrying in their minds the dreadful idea that they would eventually land in the insane asylum. Dr. W. B. Fletcher of Indiana, has settled the matter, and now cigarette smokers can keep on and hereafter attribute their hollow eyes, nervousness and sleepless nights to some other cause. In a lecture before the Indiana State Medical association, the doctor said that "out of 1,300 cases of insanity that I have treated while superintendent of the Indiana hospital, I did not find one case resulting from cigarette smoking."

"Are Hillsboro printers so much better friends of Forest Grove than the home printers that the majority of the city council should pay them more for printing in two months than they pay the home printers in two years?" asks the Forest Grove Times. The city council of Forest Grove did not give out the printing the Times refers to. The Deputy District Attorney had a brief to print in a case in which Forest Grove was a party. He wanted the brief printed in a workmanlike manner and correct, so he sent it to the office of The Hillsboro Independent. The copy was handed to us at noon on Wednesday, and the proofs were submitted to Mr. Tongue two days later, and on Monday the completed brief of 67 pages was delivered to Mr. Tongue. It was a trifle swift, but that was just what the District Attorney wanted and got. The city council of Forest Grove allowed the bill, which was proper.

Henry A. Logan, arrested at Medford Or., with 16-year-old Ethel Cook, with whom he eloped from Oakland, Cal., last week Wednesday morning was a trustee in the First Free Baptist church of that city. He is 29 years of age and has a wife and a boy of 8 years. The mother of the girl, Mrs. Mary Ross, swore out a warrant charging Logan with kidnaping. Logan was last seen in Oakland when he boarded a train for the North, October 11. He had a dress suit case and took his monthly salary of $80 with him, leaving his wife and child destitute. Before leaving Logan sent a letter to Mrs. Ross telling her that he had gone away with her daughter. He warned Mrs. Ross to keep her tongue still lest she should never see her daughter again. The girl is rather small, and wears a skirt that reaches to her shoe tops, as schoolgirls wear. She says she is 16, but looks older, although she is rather small for her age.

and has been re- several young men of ing. It is understood that the boys will practice here a portion of the time hereafter.

The largest train load of passengers passed through here Sunday night that has ever been handled during the fair. It required two locomotives and eight coaches to accommodate the large crowds returning home.

Mrs. W. W. Wilson, of Grass Valley, Cal., leaves today on the overland train for her home having completed an extended visit to friends and acquaintances here and in Portland.

Sherwood Camp, W. O. W., had one application for membership at Thursday night camp meeting. The regular weekly meetings will be resumed from this time on until later next year.

William Wilson, Jr., has been arrested and placed under bonds for appearance at court next week on a charge of assault and battery. It is reported that he battered the old gentleman, his father, to a finish a few days ago.

A third attempt of the "hold-up" element occurred near town last week in robbing a private dwelling. Mrs. Van Meeks was confronted with a revolver in the hands of a footpad in the early afternoon and a demand made for money, which was not forthcoming, so his intentions were foiled. Another tug was stationed outside, while the attempted robbery was made. They escaped without being detected.

Mrs. F. W. Salts, formerly principal of the Middleton school has again been employed in that capacity in that district. The term commenced two weeks ago with a fair average attendance.

A mistake occurred in last issue in regard to Green B. Olds' family. Mrs. Olds, it has been learned died about two years ago, (or since leaving the Middleton home) at or near Goldendale, Washington.

Mr. Sandstone residing near Middleton depot recently disposed of his farm there to his son Chester and has returned to Portland to reside, where he still retains his city property.

"Butting in" the hop business without any knowledge or personal experience in that line or farm whereon to raise and cultivate hops has resulted in a balance on the wrong side of the ledger of a certain "tenderfoot" here. "All is not gold that glitters" and the glittering has gone a glimmering in this farmer's costly experience, it seems.

Full of Tragic Meaning are these lines from J. H. Simmons, of Casey, Ia. Think what might have resulted from his terrible cough if he had not taken the medicine about which he writes: "I had a fearful cough, that disturbed my night's rest. I tried everything, but nothing would relieve it, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which completely cured me." Instantly relieves and permanently cures all throat and lung diseases; prevents grip and pneumonia. At all druggists; guaranteed; 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

The death the other day of the inventor of the type-writer is a reminder of how new a thing that invention is. It suggests also that inventors of the modern telephone, the incandescent lamp, the wireless telegraph, the phonograph, the kitescope and the storage battery—those by the way of illustration, from a long list—are still living. The Roestgen ray is a discovery of yesterday. The automobile, as we know it, began with Leon Serpollet, in France, in 1894. The "sky scraper" has developed within the memory of the youthful men, and the first elevator, the invention that made high buildings possible, was exhibited so recently as 1853. When one considers how in one crowded century man has enlarged his scope and powers, one questions whether the most far reaching dreams of the poets are vast enough to measure his destiny.

Don't Borrow Trouble. It is a bad habit to borrow anything, but the worst thing you can possibly borrow, is trouble. Here you will find sure and permanent forgetfulness of all your troubles, and your body will not be burdened by a load of debt disease. At all drug stores. Price 50c. Guaranteed.

In order that she may pass her last days among her friends and die in her old home, Mrs. Mabel Mounsey, 75, is enroute in a wagon from Warren county, Tenn., to Hartman, Wis. The wagon is covered with a patched canopy of oil-cloth. For six years she has lived alone in Tennessee. She was formerly post-mistress at Hartman, town of Dekorra, Columbia county, Wis. She passed through Paducah, Ky., Thursday last week and reached Cincinnati Saturday. A press dispatch from Cincinnati, announcing her arrival there, says the principal contents of the wagon are a dog, several chickens and a bed of husks upon which the aged woman sleeps.

A Forest Grove special to the Portland Journal says that the temperance issue has again been renewed in this city by the prohibition people, through the attorney of the Anti-Saloon League of Portland, who has presented three complaints against the proprietors of the liquor-selling establishments now operating here, to the city marshal for his indorsement as required by ordinance 132. Marshal Cronin has refused to give his indorsement on the grounds that the said ordinance was repealed by the council when it enacted an ordinance providing for the licensing of saloons. The temperance people contend that the decision of the circuit court, rendered some time ago, enjoining the council from issuing saloon licenses, renders that ordinance void and places ordinance 132 in force. To remove any doubt as to ordinance 132 being in force Mayor Johnson called a special council meeting Saturday evening, at which time an ordinance was passed, repealing ordinance 132.

Argument For Both Sides. The beer drinkers of the United States consume 33,500,000 barrels of beer each year.

The capital invested in the manufacture of liquor of various kinds is $300,000,000. The wholesale value of the product each year is $327,000,000. The internal revenue tax amounts to $112,000,000 annually.

The receipts for state and local license are nearly $25,000,000. The amount spent for liquors by our people every year is more than $1,000,000,000. Including bartenders, there are almost 700,000 liquor dealers in the land.

Wages paid to employees of liquor dealers reach $36,000,000 each twelve months. Furthermore, thousands upon thousands of farmers sell their farm products—barley, hops, corn, oats, hay—amounting to millions of dollars a year, to the breweries.

Evidences of prosperity in all parts of Colorado are shown by the present scarcity of labor in many lines. Railroads, ranches, mining and manufacturing interests are reported in need of more men and good wages go begging just now.

Sleeping Places of Hogs. The sleeping places of hogs should be under cover at all times of year.

Build the hog house so that the hogs cannot root under the walls and make their way for rats and mice.

Cement floors, though expensive are to be found very serviceable in the hog pen, as they prevent the hogs from rooting under the timbers. Such floors should be well covered with bedding.

More pigs die at farrowing time than at any other, and for this reason all useful appliances possible about the pens should be adopted.

The portable hog house is not being used extensively in many of our states, where hog cholera prevails.

A portable hog house should be large enough for half a dozen full grown hogs.

The sides and roof of the portable hog house should be perfectly tight. A movable floor is a good thing to have, but it need not be used in summer.

By keeping a few hogs in one house the chances of epidemics are lessened, though this should not be depended on to prevent such epidemics.—Exchange.
