NO PLEDGE FOR COLWELL

DECLINES TO BE TIED.

Aspirant for the State Senate Refuses to Be "Bound, Gagged and Hobbled."

From the Daily Oregonian, March 26.

I deliberately refused to sign Statement No. 1, Statement No. 2, or any statement at all. I will not be sent to the legislature bound, gagged and hobbled and deprived of every vestige of free thought or action. I know that it is not popular at the present moment to take this stand. But I for one absolutely refuse to bow down and worship at the shrine of W. S. U'Ren, and I believe the time will soon come when the tremendous menace of his visionary and apparent beneficial theories will be seen clearly by every citizen.

The fathers of this country laid down certain principles upon which we have builded a great empire. They embodied those principles in the constitution. They said to posterity: "Make your own laws. Change them from time to time as necessity demands. But see to it that they do not conflict with the great principles embodied in the constitution."

And now comes one W. S. U'Ren, of Oregon City, Clackamas county, Oregon. He says: "The fathers were wrong. Amend it so that we can change the constitution every year. Let us take the backbone out of it, so that it will bend and swing with every passing breeze of public opinion."

I, for one, will not stand for this. I prefer the principles of the fathers to the principles of W. S. U'Ren. I am not yet converted to the election of United States senators by direct vote. I do not deny that the present system has been grossly abused. I do not pretend that the senate is composed of men who are above reproach. But I do say that to elect the senators by popular vote is not the way to remedy this wrong.

The fathers of this country, the men who founded these United States, did not want the senators elected by direct vote of the people. They expressly stipulated that the senators should not be elected in this way. They wanted the senate to be a balance-wheel in the scheme of government. They expressly provided that the senators should serve for only two years and a president for only four years. They stipulated that a senator should receive a different salary to a congressman. They insisted that a senator should be elected in a roundabout method instead of by direct vote, as are the other congressmen.

The wisdom of the fathers in adopting this system has been amply proved many times in the history of this Republic. Time and again this country would have been committed to some fool policy if it had not been for the senate, and for the fact that the senate is not directly elected by the people. If both the senators and the congressmen were elected by direct vote, what on earth would be the use of having two Houses? Why not just have the lower House in Congress?

Fool legislation and visionary crankas ruined the great State of Kansas, and for twenty years made it a by-word and a proverb and an astonishment to its sister states. It would be well for us to see that fanatics and theorists do not ruin Oregon.

I do not know whether I will be elected, but I do know that if I am elected I will go to Salem as the fathers of this country intended every legislator to go to his legislature. And I will vote for the man to be United States senator, in my judgment, will do most good for Oregon. I will never agree to vote for a democratic candidate, nor for Jonathan Bourne.

And while Elijah's mantle never fell upon my shoulders, yet I can prophesy, and I now say that W. S. U'Ren is wrecking the constitution that made this country great. He is taking the keelson and the ribs out of the ship of state, and there will be a day of reckoning that will cost us dear. Mr. U'Ren is a good speaker, a clever and a fluent talker. He is sowing the wind, but he forgets that we, the people, will have to reap the whirlwind.

ELMER B. COLWELL.

From an Address From Susan B. Anthony.

At this time when the whole world is mourning the loss of Susan B. Anthony some of her reasons for advocating the political rights of women may be of interest to many. In an address many years ago she said:

"We recognize that the ballot is two-edged, may, a many-edged sword, which may be made to cut in every direction. If wily politicians and sordid capitalists may wield it for more party and personal greed; if oppressed wage-earners may invoke it to wring justice from legislators and extort material advantages from employers; if the lowest and most degraded classes of men may use it to open the sluice-ways of vice and crime; if it may be the instrumentality by which the narrow, selfish, corrupt and corrupting men measures rule it is quite as true that noble-minded statesmen, philanthropists and reformers may make it the weapon with which to reverse the above order of things, as soon as they can have added to their now small numbers the immensely larger ratio of what men so love to call the better half of the people. When women vote, they will make a new balance of power that must be weighed and measured and calculated in its effect upon every social and moral question which goes to the arbitrament of the ballot-box. Who can doubt that when the representative women of thought and culture, who are today the moral backbone of our nation, sit in counsel with the best men of the country, higher conditions will be the result?"

There are grave questions of moral, as well as of material interest in which women are mostly deeply concerned. Denied the ballot, the legitimate influence, and, as a rule, being lovers of peace, they have recourse to prayers, and tears, those potent weapons of women and children, and when they fail, must tamely submit to wrong or rise in rebellion against the powers that be."

An exchange in speaking of a deceased citizen, said: "We knew him as old Ten Per Cent—the more he made the less he spent—the more he got the more he lent—he's dead—but his soul to heaven was sent—he'll own the harps and charge 'em rent."

The Praise of the Peanut.
In the United States, a nut contemporary tells us, are 350,000 acres of peanut land and 170,000 peanut-tenders. Three hundred million pounds of peanuts, worth $11,000,000, are produced here every year; and yet people talk of "peanut" politicians contemptuously.

There are whole epic poems in the peanut. It is accomplished, the Admirable Crichton of nuts. Every part of it is useful. It beats peas and corn as a fattener of stock and poultry. It enriches the soil as well as the farmer. Praise, honor and eat the peanut!—Everybody's Magazine.

W. K. NEWELL APPOINTED

TO SUCCEED E. L. SMITH,

President of the State Board of Horticulture and Commissioner-at-Large.

W. K. Newell, of Dilley, Oregon was yesterday appointed president of the State Board of Horticulture and commissioner-at-large in place of E. L. Smith, resigned. Commissioner James H. Reid, of Multnomah county, was appointed to Mr. Newell's position as commissioner of the First District, with headquarters in Portland.

Governor Chamberlain, Secretary of State DuBar and State Treasurer Moore made the appointments.

Mr. Newell will begin the duties of his new office after the second Monday in April, when the resignation of E. L. Smith goes into effect, and at the same time Mr. Reid will begin his duties as commissioner. At that time the state board holds its semi-annual meeting.

W. K. Newell is the oldest member of the State Board of Horticulture, having served as commissioner from the First District for eight years. The appointments are for four years.

Indian Skeleton Dug Up.

In excavating and leveling an empty lot belonging to A. M. Anderson, of The Dalles, in the bluff addition, within the past few days, workmen have unearthed in all ten human skeletons, together with the bones of horses, the remains of firearms and quantities of beads, buttons, elk teeth and other trinkets dear to the Indian heart. The skeletons were found within a few feet of each other, all buried face down and showing evidence of having been buried in some sort of coflun. The remains indicate that the Indians were of large physique, with flat foreheads and other marks about the skull leaving no doubt about their race.

Congressional Candidate Here.

Hon. S. B. Huston, of Hillsboro, Washington county, candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in this district to succeed Binger Hermann, spent last week in Jackson county, and was in Ashland Friday and Saturday getting acquainted with the voters. Mrs. Huston accompanies her husband on his campaign of the district and they were guests of Hotel Oregon while here. Mr. Huston, who is a lawyer by profession, has been a resident of Washington county for many years, and has been prominent in political affairs in the northern part of the state. Years ago as a democrat he was a leader in the state senate and in Washington county politics was a man worthy the steel of the late Hon. Thos. H. Tongue. In 1896 however, like thousands of other sound-money democrats, Mr. Huston cast his political fortunes with the republican party and has since battled for the success of the principles for which it stands. In the sound money campaign in Oregon Mr. Huston was one of four public men of the state whose speeches in behalf of the gold standard were deemed worthy of reproduction in the columns of the Oregonian. Mr. Huston defends his father gave up his life in stock and his integrity of the nation in one of the battles of the Civil war.—Ashland Tidings.

Trades Council for Woman's Suffrage.

The Federated Trades Council of Portland has adopted the following resolution, which was passed without a dissenting vote:

"Whereas, The American Federation of Labor, at its annual conventions, has repeatedly adopted the following resolution: 'Resolved, That the best interests of labor require the admission of women to full citizenship as a matter of justice to them, and as a necessary step toward insuring and raising the scale of wages for all; and

"Whereas, There is now pending in this state, by virtue of the initiative and referendum law, a constitutional amendment providing that women be given the right of suffrage; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the Federated Trades Council of Portland, Oregon, indorse the equal suffrage amendment and urge all members of organized labor throughout the state to support said amendment by their votes at the polls next June."

How labor will be affected by any scheme of tariff revision must be one of the first considerations to any one but the recluse who finds the recasting of fiscal systems easy, in a study far removed from those to whom daily toil is a necessity.

Our laboring population demands and will have a higher standard of living than the laborers of Europe accept, and the party that tells American workers that they must live poorly for the benefit of others is likely to receive a retort that it will long be remembered.—Boston "Transcript."

FRANK BAKER RESIGNS

REPUBLICAN CHAIRMANSHIP.

Private Business Given as Reason—His Successor to Be Named After the Primary Election.

Frank C. Baker has resigned as chairman of the Republican State Central Committee of Oregon. His letter of resignation reached E. R. Bryson, secretary of the committee Monday. The letter is as follows:

Office of Chairman Republican State Committee, Portland, Or. March 24.—My Dear Mr. Bryson: I herewith hand you my resignation as chairman of the Republican State Central Committee. This step I have had under consideration for the past six months. When elected in 1903 and again in 1904 I accepted the chairmanship because I was under obligations to the party; but having conducted the June and November campaigns of 1904 and subsequently applied myself in an endeavor to promote our party's best interests, I hope I have, in part at least, canceled that obligation. Moreover, business reasons impel me to resign. After the nominations are made I shall cheerfully render the committee whatever assistance my time and experience will warrant in conducting the coming campaign.

Permit me to call your attention to section 43 of the direct primary law, which provides for county, district and state organizations. The provision of this section should be looked after carefully. Herewith I hand you a copy of the resolutions adopted at the republican conference held in this city October 12, 1905, and call your particular attention to the resolution calling for a convention in each county to ratify all nominations made by the people and to elect delegates to a state convention, to ratify all nominations made by the people for state offices, and to elect delegates to the respective congressional districts. (See page 2, third paragraph, under "Direct primary law" resolution.)

I am pleased to advise you that while in Washington recently I observed that leaders of our party there appreciate the importance of Oregon's election this year, and they hope, as they did in 1904, that the report of the first gun fired off this election year may be heard all over the land, thus stimulating our brethren in the East for the many congressional battles that are already lining up.

I thank you for your hearty co-operation during my incumbency and send you my best wishes for success in all you may undertake during the year, and beg to remain, with perfect respect, your humble servant.

FRANK C. BAKER.

In discussing his resignation Mr. Baker states that it was done purely for business reasons, and said that he had been contemplating such a step for some time.

In all probability, his successor will not be elected until after the organization of the new state central committee, which takes place shortly after the April primaries.

M. A. Arnold, who is wanted at McMinnville for the embezzlement of $50 from a piano concern, and who is under arrest in Seockton, Cal., will be brought back to Oregon for trial. Governor Chamberlain has issued the necessary papers for the return of the fugitive.

Portland and Return 85c.

The Southern Pacific is now selling round trip tickets to Portland from Hillsboro for 85 cents, good going Saturday, P. M., or any train of Sunday, returning Sunday and Monday, giving all-day Sunday and Monday in Portland. The same arrangement applies from Portland, giving all Portland people a chance to visit valley points at greatly reduced rates.

John realizes that the descendants have it in the blood, and that while only a "little rascal" now, he may some day be as big a rascal as his grandfather.—Salem Journal.
