

Half Century of Progress.

men, are all at his service. Surrounded by every comfort of a home, with speed, cleanliness, and the highest degree of comfort, he may leave his train at the Golden Gate or the Great Lakes, refreshed and instructed, as a result of the carefully perfected service modern railway management has placed at his disposal during his journey.

A change quite as wonderful has taken place in the country he traverses. The traveler of 1860 looked from his car window upon Chicago in embryo. The great agricultural lands of northern Illinois and Iowa were still waiting for the plow. Where a hundred prosperous and cultured cities now stand, hamlets were just then springing up on the prairie, grass remained untrod. The steamboat was still mistress of the Mississippi; there were even those who thought the railway could never succeed. The slopes of Sacramento, now dotted with fertile orchards and vineyards, were covered by crude placer mines.

That the cereal and mineral granary of the world was to be created along this route in the brief space of thirty years, the dust-covered, body-worn traveler of 1860 may have dreamed, but not believed to ever be a possibility. The Indian, the buffalo, the unknown, the absence of comfort, and the test of his physical endurance so engrossed his mind that he was not likely to look beyond to the horizon of the twentieth century and see emblazoned there the approaching triumph of the men of today, the builders of the West and Pacific coast, the creators of a new land and a new era.

The first transcontinental railway of the nation has advanced with the needs and growth of the wonderful transcontinental country between Lake Michigan and the Golden Gate.

Now, four trains each way daily are necessary between Chicago and Council Bluffs to accommodate the travel of the Chicago, Union Pacific & North-Western Line.

The growth of the West, the development of our trade beyond the Pacific, and the increased ease with which we travel have developed a commerce which has been met and anticipated by the opening of a double track line between Chicago and Council Bluffs, that marks a new era for the Great West, quite as much as such an era was marked by the first trip of the "Pioneer" in 1848.

Then, as now, the service of the North-Western Line gave the traveler, "The Best of Everything."

Galveston's Sea Wall
makes life now as safe in that city as on the higher uplands. E. W. Goodloe, who resides on Dutton St., in Wasco, Tex., needs no sea wall for safety. He writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption the past five years and it keeps me well and safe. Before that time I had a cough which for years had been growing worse. Now it's gone." Cures Chronic Coughs, La Grippe, Croup, Whooping Cough and prevents Pneumonia Pleasant to take. Every bottle guaranteed at all drug stores. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

An exchange says: "The day when men could drink and carouse and still hold responsible positions is past and the sooner young men who are starting out in life make up their minds to meet the demands of those who they are going to look to for employment the better it will be for them. Many of the largest railroad systems in the country have laid down the rule that any employee who patronizes saloons shall be discharged and this custom is gradually working down to smaller corporations, so that in a few years the boozier will have little show for holding any position of trust." The Junction City Times in commenting on this question says: "The hired man who neither smokes, chews or drinks is worth $5 more per month on any farm than if addicted to these habits, and the time is coming when this will be recognized. There are farmers today who will not allow smoking and drinking, and where the man is taken into the family they are drawing the lines still closer. Others will not keep a man who swears at and around the stock. A good, clean character will add to the salary of any man, besides saving of expenses."

A Mystery Solved.
"How to keep off periodic attacks of biliousness and habitual constipation was a mystery that Dr. King's New Life Pills solved for me," writes John N. Pleasant, of Magnolia, Ind. The only pills that are guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to everybody or money refunded. Only 25c at all drug stores.
