

The city council of the city of Paducah, Ky., has decided to repeal the ordinance licensing bucket shops, and will drive them from the city. The council has been successful in enforcing a strict Sunday closing of saloons.

Madam Diss De Bar, who became notorious as the spiritualistic adviser of the wealthy New Yorker, Luther R. Marsh, and who swindled many others by claiming to have occult powers, has ended her seven years' term of imprisonment in a London prison. She was convicted while living with Theodore Jackson for carrying on debasing practices under the name of the theocratic unity. Jackson has still several years to serve.

Valparaiso, the city which was destroyed by an earthquake last week, was often referred to as the San Francisco of the South. As a commercial port the city was of considerable importance, and a great deal of American and British money was invested there. The business section of the city was built on "made" ground, much as was San Francisco. It is probable that contributions to the suffering there will be smaller because the purse strings of this nation, as well as those of others, have been drawn so freely for the help of California in her hour of need.—Oregon Tradesman.

Galveston's Sea Wall makes life now as safe in that city as on the higher uplands. E. W. Goodloe, who resides on Dutton St., in Wasco, Tex., needs no sea wall for safety. He writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption the past five years and it keeps me well and safe. Before that time I had a cough which for years had been growing worse. Now it's gone." Cures chronic Coughs, La Grippe, Croup, Whooping Cough and prevents Pneumonia Pleasant to take. Every bottle guaranteed at all drug stores. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

A press telegram from Washington, D. C., says: A week ago a clairvoyant whom she visited told Mrs. Rebecca Short, 45 years old, that she would die on July 17. Leaving the dinner table last evening Mrs. Short staggered to her room and sank lifeless in a chair. "Your death will be peaceful; you will pass away just as the shadows of night come on," the fortune teller had told her. Mrs. Short died without a struggle. The peculiar part about the incident is that Mrs. Short had treated the gressome prediction as a joke, and the family laughed over it as they sat at the table. The woman herself apparently was in the best of health. She had partaken heartily of everything before her when suddenly she turned ghastly pale and could not speak. Her son and daughter were horrified as the terrible significance of her illness dawned upon them. A physician was sent for, but Mrs. Short was dead when he arrived. The cause of death was not determined, but the coroner gave a certificate as from natural cause.

The End of The World of troubles that robbed E. H. Wolfe, of Bear Grove, Ia., of all usefulness, came when he began taking Electric Bitters. He writes: "Two years ago Kidney trouble caused me great suffering, which I would never have survived had I not taken Electric Bitters. They also cured me of General Debility." Sure cure for all Stomach, Liver and Kidney complaints, Blood diseases, Headache, Dizziness and Weakness or bodily decline. Price 50c. Guaranteed by all druggists.

According to the National Hardwood Lumber association, there is a possibility of the destruction of the forests of the United States in thirty five years. The association estimates that the area now standing in the United States in the neighborhood of 1,475,000,000 feet of lumber, but 45,000,000,000 is being cut every year. The report to the association recommended the immediate prohibition of log exports and to exempt from taxes all tree plantations. If something is not done in that direction the lumbermen look for the early disappearance of available trees for use as lumber.

A rattlesnake so greedy for prey that he gorged himself and distended his normal dimensions so greatly that he could not get out of the place into which he had gone to eat his victims, presented the novelty that interested the family of K. D. Packer in Moneytown, Pa. The snake found six bunnies and their mother in a cage the children had made for them, and it was easy for him to get through the meshes of the wire screen and into the cage. But when he had eaten two of the little rabbits, killed four others and fatally bitten their mother, he found himself so big that he could not again go through the screen. Being thus held a prisoner by his own greed, he was easily killed by the men on the farm. He wore seven rattles, showing that he was old enough to have known better.

The politician is my shepherd. I shall not want for anything during this campaign. He leadeth me into the saloon for my vote's sake. He fillth my pocket with good cigars; my cup of beer runneth over. He inquireth concerning my family, even unto the fourth generation. Yea, though I walk through the mud and the rain to vote for him, and shout myself hoarse when he is elected, straightway he forgetteth me. Although I meet him at his house he knoweth me not. Surely the wool has been pulled over my eyes all the days of my life and I will dwell in the house of a chump forever.—Exchange.

FACTS THAT TALK

THIS space has been purchased by Pacific University. This same matter will appear in each issue until the expiration of the advertising contract. It is an advertisement that is intended to convey to Washington county citizens a few facts about an educational institution with which they are not unfamiliar. That they, as well as others, may become more familiar with Pacific's present standing, within and without Oregon, illustrated literature, fresh from the press, may be had for the asking. This literature is replete with facts that tell and figures which convince. The articles are written by alumni and students of Pacific. They are all well worth the reading. Those contributed by students set forth present conditions in the institution, and are convincing because they are true. Of special interest are the articles written by alumni, Hon. H. W. Scott, Editor-in-Chief of The Oregonian and Rev. Horace M. Ramsey, Rector of St. Stephen's Church, Portland.

Pacific University has the largest endowment of all the private colleges in the Northwest. In buildings, laboratories and library it is the best equipped Christian college in Oregon. Not only does the amount of its productive funds very far exceed that of any of these institutions in the State, but it is greater than that of all combined. For this reason Pacific has always been able to secure superior instructors and has never had to depend upon the enrollment of students for its income.

Pacific University in the past has been rather conservative in the matter of advertising. And it makes public these statements now, only because there are reasons why it seems advisable. Pacific still adheres to its policy of desiring students rather than numbers; of maintaining creditable scholarship rather than crowded enrollment.
