The P. R. & N. has something over four miles of grade completed and ready for the steel out of Buxton. There is a scarcity of hop-pickers at Laurel. At the G. E. Hathorn yards the hops were considered light by the pickers and they quit in a body, leaving him without help, while Sam Ornduff has no pickers. It looks now as though Esther Mitchell and Mrs. Maud Creffield, who are now on trial for insanity at Seattle, will be sent back to Oregon. If found insane, the Washington officials will not keep them, and if returned to Oregon, it is said, they will go scott free, as the officials here will have nothing to do with them. What's the matter with giving them a ticket to Nebraska?

Mrs. C. L. Hamilton is expected home from Early, Ia., today or tomorrow. She did not reach her old Iowa home in time to see her father before he passed away, but arrived there too late even to attend the funeral. The train on which she left Portland started out late and lost time all along the way, which brought her into Omaha too late to meet the train for Iowa and she reached Early two days late.

Last Tuesday a committee of five representing the Scholls Telephone Co., went to Portland to investigate the Home Telephone Company's system in that city. In an automobile, and accompanied by President Tucker of the Home system and W. D. DeVarney, of the B. R. Electric Co., the party were shown over the three exchanges and greatly surprised at the magnitude and convenience of the new automatic system in Portland. They returned on the evening train highly pleased with their reception. The committee was composed of Messrs. S. Miller, of Reedvile, Wm. Schulmerich, W. D. Prosser, Rollie Robinson and Mr. McDonald.

The Independent Telephone Company has moved into its new quarters upstairs in the Schulmerich building. The new double switch board had been connected to the wires and was in operation before the old one was taken out. Their office will be fitted up in up-to-date shape and be a model telephone office in every way. For the convenience of the public, a booth and pay station has been placed in H. A. Walker's store and from that place you can 'phone to any place on their lines. W. D. DeVarney, of the B. R. Electrical Works, has been assisting in installing the new board. The Independent wires on Second street will be removed as the company now use a 600-foot cable. Very few of the telephone numbers were changed in the move. A new county directory will be issued in a short time.

Coos Bay people are talking railroad these days the same as are the people of every part of Oregon where rails and ties can find a lodging place. "Jim Hill" who controls the Burlington road, has intimated to the people of the Bay country that he is also headed their way with the Burlington, and now the North Bend papers are building the road every day Like our electric line the road is still on paper, but we all have hopes. The more roads the better, and we can't have too many of them.

The school board held a meeting Tuesday evening and passed upon several bills and transacted such other business as came up. Another meeting is called for tomorrow night when it is expected that the resignation of Hon. S. B. Huston as a member of the school board will be tendered and accepted; also the resignation of Miss Anna Chalmers as teacher. At this meeting an election will be called to fill the vacancy on the board caused by Mr. Huston's removal to Portland, the date of which will be given next week.

Hon. S. B. Huston has decided to leave Hillsboro and take up his residence in Portland, and leaves for that city this week. This is done because he desires to send his children to school in that city. He will not dispose of his residence property here and may conclude to return next spring. He and his family will be greatly missed, but we have no idea of losing them permanently. Mr. Huston has large property interests here and will undoubtedly be a frequent visitor to his old stamping ground. The Independent and a host of friends will wish him success and happiness in his new home.

A letter was received at this office Tuesday morning stating that between 150 and 175 editors and their wives would be in attendance at the Oregon Press Association meeting which holds its annual meeting at Newport tomorrow and Monday. The Newport people have arranged a fine program for the pencil pushers, which includes a steamer ride out on the "briny deep." The Press Association meets this year for business as well as a day or two of pleasure, and it is expected that much will be done to advance the interests of the publishers in Oregon. There will also occur the election of officers for the coming year. D. W. Bath and wife leave for Newport on the 8:14 train this morning.

R. L. Davis, of Portland, has taken a position in the office of the Wilkes Brothers Abstract Co. of this city, and will probably locate here permanently. Mr. Davis comes highly recommended as an abstractor of high ability, having spent the greater part of his life in the abstract business. The rapidly increasing work in this line has made it imperative for the company to increase its force, and in making a selection of additional help, the manager sought the best help obtainable. J. B. Wilkes the manager, tells us that there never was a time in the history of the county when there was such a demand for abstracts, and he is unable to keep the work up, but expects now to be able to turn out orders in the least possible time consistent with accurate and satisfactory results.

Several onion growers got together one day last week in this city and the conversation turned to organizing. It was the general opinion of those present that if the thirty or forty onion growers of this county would form an association and work together it would be very beneficial to all concerned. It is said that 400 bushels of onions can be raised on an acre of beaverdam land, and some have claimed a very much larger amount. There are more than 100 acres planted to onions in Washington county and dealers say that the quality is the very best. After a general discussion of the matter, those present at the meeting last Saturday decided to talk with their neighbors and set a day for meeting in Hillsboro some time after hop-picking, send notices to all onion growers and dealers in Portland and if possible form the Washington County Onion Grower's Association. We believe it would be to the interest of all concerned to form such an organization, as it will be the means of keeping growers and dealers in touch with each other and in other ways be a benefit to all. Notice of such a meeting will be made through these columns. In the meantime talk it over with your neighbor and get him interested.

Letters of inquiry are coming to the Board of Trade almost daily asking what the prospects are for business in many lines. One was received Monday in regard to a hotel, one of the modern and up-to-date kind, and Tuesday another communication arrived asking if a first-class cigar factory in Hillsboro would pay. To all inquiries received the answer goes back that any legitimate business will pay in Hillsboro. All that is needed is the necessary capital, the vim to do business, and the happy faculty of "delivering the goods." Just at present this city needs a modern hotel, a canning factory, a brickyard, a machine shop, a laundry and we might add a cigar factory. All laundry at present is sent to Portland and the work done is not at all satisfactory. A good laundryman can find here all the business he can possibly do, at reasonable prices. Besides, there are a number of small towns near by to draw from, which would add considerably to the volume of business. So if the men who are looking for good locations will come here, look the field over carefully, they will meet with the right kind of encouragement, and we believe will find just the place they are seeking.

HAND SHOT AWAY

And Charles Larson of Laurel is Arrested Near Buxton.

John Buchanan, a 10-year-old son of S. D. Buchanan, a former resident of this city, but now working on the right of way for the P. R. & N. Company, had the second finger of his right hand shot away last Sunday evening by a young man of 17, named Charles Larson, of Laurel, also working for the railroad company. The two were in a barn near Buxton, when Larson pointed a double-barreled shot gun at young Buchanan, saying, it is alleged by the father of the boy, that he intended to kill him. The lad supposed Larson was only joking, grasped the gun barrel, hand over the mussle, when the weapon was discharged and his hand horribly mangled, the middle finger being shot entirely away, and was found twenty-four hours later on the barn floor in the hay. Buchanan tied his boy's hand up the best he could and started at once for Hillsboro, but the lad grew whiter and weaker and was on the verge of collapse when they reached Greenville, and it was decided to stop and have Dr. Parker attend to the wound, which was done. It is said the doctor labored over the patient for two and a half hours before he could stop the blood and get the wound cleared of powder and properly dressed. The boy was taken home, and is said to be getting along all right.

On Tuesday the father came to this city and got out a warrant for the arrest of Larson on the charge of "willfully and unlawfully pointing a gun." He said that at first he supposed the whole thing was an accident and caused by carelessness, but had since learned that young Larson deliberately and without cause attempted to kill the boy, and had admitted as much to him. For this reason he had made up his mind to have him punished. There had never been any trouble between the boys and young Buchanan said after the accident that he did not have any idea that Larson meant to shoot.

Justice Bagley issued a warrant for Larson's arrest late Tuesday afternoon and an officer was sent to Buxton to bring him in. The case will come up before Justice Bagley today.

The Roosevelt Way.

While nosing about the court house this week your scribe ran across the following bit of orthography, which would make Teddy's heart pubble over with joy. It is rather surprising to know that we have in Washington county a "destrect clirk" who can go the president one better on modern spelling. For obvious reasons the number of the district and the "clirk's" name are omitted:

——Septemble, 10, 1906.

Notis is here by gaven to the County Clirk of Washingtum Co. that the school District No. —— has desided by a unanimas Voat of the peapel in the District to levy a spesul tax of two mills on a dolor of essest valu of the property in sed district for the purpos of building a schoolhouse, signed ——Clirk and —— Derecter.

Yesterday forenoon the United Railways Company filed with Recorder Ireland a mortgage or trust deed in favor of the Central Trust Company of San Francisco for $5,000,000 secured on property in Washington and Multnomah counties.
