Last Tuesday Charles Witte, of South Tualatin, stowed away more bug juice under his vest than was good for his health or conduct and Marshal Atkinson took him down to "the hotel." In the morning Justice Bagley assessed the usual $5.

"As Told in the Hills," which will be seen at the Crescent Theatre Sunday evening, November 18, is a splendid production. There is included in the company a number of people who have well established reputations, both in melodrama and in vaudeville, and a number of specialties that for general excellence are far above the average, will be introduced during the action of the play.

The C. K. Henry place on Fifth street was sold this week to a gentleman from Montana, the consideration being, it is said, $20,000. The purchaser, who has a wife and seven children, will move to Hillsboro in the near future and make his home.

This is the kind of a "kick" that makes an editor's heart glad. A subscriber sends us a dollar and says: "To apply on my subscription to your paper which I value very highly. Would hardly know how to do without it." An editor sometimes gets tired of the continual grind and often thinks that he is not doing the work he should and that his newspaper is not filling the bill or coming up to expectations, and such kind words as these sent in by a patron gives him just the encouragement he needs, and the pencil pusher takes hold with renewed vigor. We thank our Scholls friend for his opinion of The Independent.

Elizabeth Peterson, the 9-years-old granddaughter of Joe. Mann, was knocked down and stepped on at the school house last Monday and is now confined to her home with a badly sprained ankle. It seems that it is the rule in the rooms when it is time to dismiss the school for the pupils to form in line, march out of the building in order, and disperse as they pass out of the outer doors. The boy directly behind the little girl, in his great hurry to get out of the building, fell over the child and stepped on her foot. It was undoubtedly an unfortunate accident, but Mr. Mann thinks the larger boys should be made to be more careful.

On Friday of last week occurred the death of Thomas M. Hines at his home in Dilley, this county, and the burial was in the Union cemetery at Forest Grove on Sunday. He was one of the oldest pioneers in Oregon, having crossed the plains in 1848. He was born in Missouri, May 1, 1819, was married to Miss Mary Buckingham, and on May 2, 1848, they left for Oregon, arriving in Yamhill county September 25, 1848. He took up a donation claim of 640 acres of land in Washington county. In 1849 he went to the gold fields of California, but returned shortly after on account of sickness, and remained on his claim for about eight years when he sold and went to Forest Grove, where he purchased another farm near that city. He leaves two sons, Dr. Charles Hines and Cicero Hines, both of Forest Grove. His wife died about five years ago.

The potato market is suffering from one of those relaxes that frequently occur during the shipping season when quantities are forwarded to the consuming market in the South in excess of the demand, said a buyer on the Portland market this week. Buyers are practically out of the market now and those that are in it are operating cautiously. The top price offered for fancy stock this week was 85 cents at Portland. The depression is looked upon as only temporary and when the congestion at San Francisco is relieved there may be some improvement. "If the farmers do not ship their stock too fast," said the marketer, "the market may be kept in good shape the rest of the season. The Colorado crop is short, to a certain extent, and will not interfere with the coast market as it did last year. When the supply of California Rivers runs out there will be a better market for Oregon potatoes at San Francisco."

The Hillsboro Amusement Association has contracted with the Northwestern Theatrical Association, better known as the John Corte circuit, to get its bookings for only shows of known reputation. This will insure the plays put on at the Crescent to be the best on the road, for the Northwest Association will not start out a company until it is known to be first class. All shows booked for the Empire theatre at Portland will come on this circuit and the association here is allowed to take its pick. "As Told in the Hills," which appears at the Crescent one week from next Sunday night, is from the Northwestern circuit, and is first class in every respect. A. C. Shute, treasurer of the Crescent Theatre, tells us that a play will be put on in December that was booked last July, and no date could be given until next month.

Fruit Inspector W. R. Harris writes that plans are being made to organize a Fruit Growers' Union at Hillsboro on Friday, November 16, and another at Beaverton on the 17th, both meetings to open at 10 o'clock a. m. and 1:30 p. m. Mr. Harris states that further announcement will be made next week.

Up to November 1, of the present year, $3305-00 has been collected from violators of the state game laws. Since the passage of the bill requiring hunters to take out a license, $19,000 has been paid to the state. With the additional funds to be established. More deputies will be appointed and a closer watch kept on all parts of the state, to prevent the killing of game out of season.

Last Monday J. A. Messenger sold his stock of groceries to G. J. Palmateer. Asked if he intended to remain in Hillsboro, Mr. Messenger stated that he had made no definite arrangements as to just what he would do for the present, but might remain in Hillsboro until spring. He owns a hotel at Madras, Eastern Oregon, and a farm adjoining that town, and he will probably go there. The best wishes of numerous friends in Hillsboro will go with him and his family.

Jos. Mann has our thanks for half a dozen apples of the King variety, grown on his place near the long bridge. They were free from scale, very large and fine flavored, in fact the best, so our liking, we have tasted in Oregon, and we have eaten quite a number of the famous Hood River apples. He also let on our table a couple of big yellow beauties, the name of which he did not know, but they were good as well as beautiful. All the good apples do not grow in Hood River.

Excursion tickets good to Portland and return, which have been on sale for the Saturday noon train at this station, will in the future be sold only for the Saturday 4:31 p. m. train and both Sunday trains. Just remember that you can't go to Portland at excursion rates on either the Saturday morning or noon trains. This will be something of a disappointment to people who have been in the habit of shopping in Portland on Saturday, but probably will not make our merchants feel bad, even if it does cut down the crowd that has always gone to Portland on that day.

On yesterday a change of time went into effect which makes quite a difference in the running time of two trains out of this station. The West Side passenger which has been leaving Portland at 6:20 p. m. now departs from that city at 6:30. The Corvallis passenger leaves Corvallis at 12:45 instead of 1:20 p. m. This change enables passengers on the Corvallis & Eastern from Yaquina Bay points to make direct connection at Corvallis instead of waiting forty minutes as has been the case. For the correct arrival and departure of trains from the Hillsboro station, consult the time card at the head of the local page of this paper.

E. G. Krebs was over from Sherwood last Friday and had a consultation with the Board of Trade in reference to establishing a brick yard in Hillsboro. Mr. Krebs' idea was to put in a branch yard here in connection with his Sherwood plant and put a man in charge here. As the Board of Trade want a yard that is able to take care of the present demand for brick in this locality and be prepared to meet future wants, the proposition was not looked upon very favorably. Mr. Krebs was told what was needed and wanted here, and what the Board of Trade was able to offer for an up-to-date plant, and he may conclude to give the matter further consideration.

The subject of building a modern hotel in this city has again come up, with a prospect of something resulting from it. There is no question but a hotel, built on a modern plan, would be a paying investment for any man who has $12,000 or $15,000 to put in such a building. He could find an experienced hotel man who would be willing to lease the building for a term of years and furnish in at his own expense as a guarantee of good faith, before the foundation was completed. And this is no dream. There are plenty of first class landlords looking for good location, but few of them are prepared to build and furnish the house—such a hotel as Hillsboro demands.

Miss Edna Butler, of Boston, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. Lee Sears.

For Oysters, Lobster, Confectionery, Fruits, Cigars and Tobaccos, go to Palmateer's Confectionery. He carries the best line of smokers' goods in the city.

The wife of G. W. Bidwell, who lives in Northwest Hillsboro, died last Sunday of heart failure. She had taken a severe cold which developed in pleurisy. The funeral was held on Tuesday and burial was in Masonic cemetery. She was about 50 years of age.

Two proclamations of Mayor Cornelius are published under the head of "Legal Advertising" on another page this week. One refers to the proposed city park, and the other to telephone, telegraph and railroad franchises, which are to be voted on at the annual city election, Monday, December 3. Read both proclamations.

Two sales of hops were reported last Tuesday, one at Greenville of 17,000 pounds and William Bagley of Hillsboro, 50,000 pounds at 14c and 15c, respectively. The latter price is the highest paid this year in this county, except on contracts. Pincus & Son of Tacoma were the purchasers. A large amount of contract hops are moving, but new sales are slow. The best price paid for hops this season is 23c, this amount being paid to John Salzgaber by Pincus & Son, under a contract on which $4,000 was advanced.

A son of Nicholas Monner, of Gales Creek, met a gipsy named Carry on the road the other day, and was stumped to trade horses, but the boy said he could not trade the animal he was driving because it belonged to his father. The gipsy said they could swap and if Mr. Monner was not satisfied, he could bring the animal back and they would exchange, appointing a place to meet the boy. Of course the gipsy's horse was worthless, and of course he "lit out," but was soon captured by the sheriff and arraigned before Justice Bagley on a charge of horse stealing.

Jack Byrne of Beaverton came up to the county seat last Monday and commenced at once to wind his vest around an elegant jag of booze, and along about Tuesday noon commenced looking for trouble. He evidently found it, for when Officer Atkinson put him to bed along about 5 o'clock, his face looked very much like a liver that had been kicked all around a ten-acre field by an angry mule. Justice Bagley said $10 in the morning, and Jack squared up, but said before departing that Atkinson run a mighty hot hotel.

Commissioner's Court. The county commissioners met on Wednesday in regular monthly session. The usual grist of bills were audited and allowed. A petition for a change of road presented by R. L. Donald, chief engineer of the Oregon Electric Railway Company was allowed as follows:

Ordered that a change in a county road, between the junction of the Dayton and Boone Ferry roads and South Front street of Tualatin, be made on condition that the Oregon Electric Railway company shall first procure deeds transferring to the county a strip of twenty feet in width to be used for road purposes. Along the line of change, and further, provided the said corporation shall bear all the expense of making said change, and grade the road and move the county bridge affected thereby, under the supervision and to the satisfaction of the supervisors of the district, and provided that the change of actual roadway shall not be made until such time as the supervisor of the district may direct and not later than April 14, 1907; further, however that said corporation may occupy and proceed with this work of construction at such time as it may elect; provided, further, that if the road is not graded to the satisfaction of the county court, it may then be done by order of the court at the expense of said corporation.

Lincoln vs. Lincoln. On Saturday last M. C. Lincoln, who owns a 175-acre ranch near Clencoe, filed suit in the circuit court against his wife, Alberta R. Lincoln, alleging in his complaint that the defendant deserted and abandoned him on or about September, 1905. According to the papers filed last Saturday, the couple were married in Cloud county, Kansas, in 1876 and lived together as such up to September, a year ago, when, according to the plaintiff, his wife deserted him and has since then continued to live apart from him, and that the desertion is no fault of his and without provocation on his part.

Such is brief in the complaint of the plaintiff, spread out in cold ink at the court house. But the neighbors of the parties at Clencoe have another version of the affair not at all complimentary to Mr. Lincoln. The husband and wife had lived together for seventeen years as happily apparently as the average husband and wife, and four children were born to add to their happiness, all grown but one daughter, Trella, aged about 11 years. There was no hint of trouble until a year or so ago, when it is asserted, that rumors reached the ears of the wife that her spouse was getting just a little too gay in his old age. Whether this had anything to do with Mrs. Lincoln's removal to Hillsboro is not stated; but she did come to Hillsboro from the ranch at Clencoe, giving as a reason that she wished to be near the school, where she could give her daughter educational advantages not possible in Clencoe. She has lived in Northeast Hillsboro for more than a year, earned her own living by hard work, sent her daughter to school, and has the respect and admiration of all who know her. And the same may be said of her standing with the people at her old home.

Mrs. Lincoln dreads the publicity of a contest and at first was in favor of making no defense, letting the case go by default, but her friends, and she has plenty of them, are trying to persuade her to fight the proceedings and have the court decide who is to blame, and this she will probably do.

Barn Thieves. Last Saturday morning when Gottlieb Zurcher, who lives on a farm near Cedar Mills, went out to the barn to do some chores, he found the doors open and unmistakable evidence that some thief had been getting in his work. An examination showed that ten sacks of seed oats, five sacks of chow and two sacks of tare were missing, along with a lumber wagon. Mr. Zurcher went to the house and notified his brother of the loss and together they followed tracks made by the wagon for eight miles toward the Pence ditch, and in front of the home of Morris Schmidt, where the empty wagon was found standing by the roadside. It was impossible to trace the thieves from this point, as the rain which had been falling all the morning, had obliterated all tracks, but it is believed the thieves had carried the grain away in another wagon, hitching the Zurcher wagon on behind, and taking it to the place where it was found, to throw any one who might attempt to follow this clue, off the track. Mr. Zurcher came at once to Hillsboro to report his loss, but Sheriff Connell had gone to Portland and Deputy Kane was in Cornelius, so nothing could be done until one or the other returned. Mr. Zurcher thinks there were two wagons because in his wagon found on the roadside was not a kernel of grain of any kind, which would not have been the case had the sacks been transferred from one wagon to another. Mr. Zurcher has his suspicions as to where his sacks went, but did not care to openly accuse anyone, though a bystander who heard of the theft, remarked that "the grain had probably gone to look up a box of gun shells that were stolen from the Snyder ranch about a year ago."

"As Told in the Hills" Will be produced at the Crescent Theatre, one night only, on Sunday evening, November 18. The cast is headed by Miss Dorothy Grey, an actress of extraordinary emotional powers, Aunco Panby, that clever young actor, Duncan Pust with warden, and the play is produced with an entire new equipment of special scenery. "As Told in the Hills" is a picture of life in the West, and the many stirring scenes and comedy incidents are brought back to our minds so vividly, that the audiences are carried back to the "days gone by." This company comes here after a week's engagement at the Empire Theatre, Portland.

Rev. Irl R. Hicks 1907 Almanac. The Rev. Irl R. Hicks has been compelled by the popular demand to resume the publication of his well known and popular Almanac for 1907. This splendid Almanac is now ready. For sale by newsdealers, or sent postpaid for 25 cents, by WORD AND WORKS PUBLISHING COMPANY, 2201 Locust Street, St. Louis, Mo., publishers of WORD AND WORKS, one of the best dollar monthly magazines in America. One Almanac goes with every subscription.

The Best Christmas Present for a Little Money. When your Christmas present is a year's subscription to The Youth's Companion you give as much in good reading as would fill twenty-four-page novels or books of history or travel ordinarily costing $1.50 a volume. Nor do you give quantity at the cost of quality. For more than half a century the wisest, most renowned, most entertaining of writers have been contributors to The Companion. You need never fear that The Companion will be inappropriate or unwelcome. The boy, the girl, every other member of the family,—will insist upon a share in it. There is no other present costing so little that goes so far.

On receipt of $1.75, the yearly subscription price, the publishers send to the new subscriber The Companion's Four-Leaf Hanging Calendar for 1907, lithographed in twelve colors and gold, and subscription certificate for the fifty-two issues of the year's volume.
