A dangerous surgical operation, involving the removal of a malignant ulcer, as large as my hand, from my daughter's hip, was prevented by the application of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, says A. C. Mayor Broadbent of Huddersfield, England, who took office two years ago, offered to give parents living in a certain district of the city $5 for every child born during his term of office and which lived to the age of one year. The result of the experiment has just been announced on the second anniversary of its inauguration. In the experimental area the death rate of infants had averaged 122 per 1000 for the preceding ten years. During the past two years the conditions were unfortunately, owing to an epidemic of whooping cough and measles. Notwithstanding, 105 babies have received the prize offered by the mayor. The average mortality was 44 per 1000, or a decrease of over half.

In the past, if there was any one thing which was calculated to make the horny-handed son of toil get up and foam at the mouth, which particularly affected the temper of the agricultural man, it was the one word, "trust." In the light of this, it is interesting to note that the farmers are now considering the organization of an association for the control of prices of all farm products. Butter, eggs, meat, cotton, wool, wheat and all other grains are to be held until the price the raisers wish has been attained. It looks to us like the biggest trust in the entire puddle.—Oregon Tradesman.

Make Happy for Life.

Great happiness into the home of S. C. Blair, school superintendent, of St. Albans, W. Va., when his little daughter was restored from the dreadful complaint he names. He says: "My little daughter had St. Vitus' Dance, which yielded to no treatment but grew steadily worse until as a last resort we tried Electric Bitters; and I rejoice to say, three bottles effected a complete cure." Quick, sure cure for nervous complaints, general debility, female weakness, impoverished blood and malaria. Guaranteed by all drug stores. Price 50c.

C. B. Kent, of Burlington, Vt., has a dog that money could not buy. Mr. Kent is foreman of the job room in the Free Press office. The other day he started for home, but a friend invited him to take an auto ride, and he did, leaving the dog on the street. The dog tried to follow the auto, but lost it and returned to the Free Press office and refused to leave. A couple of hours later Mr. Kent called up and asked that the receiver be put to the terrier's ear. "Come home," he commanded, when the dog had been raised to the instrument. The terrier gave a sharp bark, bolted out of the door, and legged it for home like a streak of lightning. He ran the mile in less than five minutes.—Catholic Messenger.

Famous Strike Breakers. The most famous strike breakers in the land are Dr. King's New Life Pills. When liver and bowels go on strike, they quickly settle the trouble, and the purifying work goes right on. Best cure for constipation, headache and dizziness. 25c at all druggists.

Industrial enterprises don't come to a town by chance, neither do they come at the beckoning of the street corner brigade. Anything that is worth having is worth going after. We have done pretty well here in Newberg in the past by way of reaching out after things that have helped very materially in our commercial advancement, but it is no time at this date to find a man sleeping at his post. When the time comes that the people of a community settle down with that satisfied feeling that conditions are good enough without any further effort for advancement, the retrograde movement with a downhill pull is not very far away. It is simply a case of being wise or—otherwise.—Newberg Graphic.

Hetty Green on the Trusts. A press telegram from Boston says: "Mrs. Hetty Green, the wealthiest woman in the United States, so seldom permits herself to be interviewed that unusual attention has been attracted to her prophecy of coming serious trouble for the big trusts.

"Mrs. Green is just now in Roxbury, where her agents have failed to rent several houses owned by her as quickly as she expected and which she has undertaken to do for herself. "There is going to be a revolution in this country," said Mrs. Green. "The people are going to revolt against the oppressions of the trusts. There will be a deluge, and these streets will run with blood when the people are aroused. "The people are gradually finding out about the trusts, and when they realize a little more fully how they are ruining the chances of the people there is going to be a revolution. It will be a deluge, I tell you."

Sleeps the Country.

Norman Anderson, lately a farm-hand near Reedville, but now visiting his brother in Allegheny, Pennsylvania, will face the bars of the penitentiary when he returns to Oregon, whether coming of his own accord or brought back at the solicitation of Edward Nimmo, of Reedville, father of 17-year-old Annie Nimmo.

The father, who is now in this city making efforts to right his daughter's wrong, will ask the district attorney to secure the return of Anderson to Portland, that he may make what reparation is possible for his acts or else serve a sentence in the state prison for his crime. He is also endeavoring to provide a refuge for his daughter, whatever the outcome of his search for Anderson.

The story told by Annie Nimmo is a pitiful one. She is little more than a child, having reached the age of 17 in August last. Prior to that time she was living at the farm home near Reedville with her brother, Jack Nimmo, who is only slightly older than herself. The father was working in Portland during the week, returning to his home when work was done on Saturday night. The mother has been dead for several years.

Norman Anderson, several years older than the girl, was employed on an adjoining place and was a frequent visitor at the Nimmo farm. According to the girl's story, she was one night chloroformed while alone in the house by Anderson, who wronged her while she was under the influence of the drug and who immediately afterwards left the country, going first to California and then to his brother's home in Allegheny. From that place he wrote on November 12, telling of the good time he was having, of the girls he had met and signing his letter "Yours, but not to keep."

The girl, when she realized her condition, came to Portland and took employment in the massage parlors of Mrs. Anna A. Luckey on Stark street, near Park, where she has since remained. For a time she refused to tell her story, but at last did so and notified her father of her whereabouts, telling him she was in a good place and comfortable. The father is now attempting to find a place of refuge for her which will come within the range of his means.

The girl says that lack of money caused her to go to the Luckey establishment, where she is employed as cook, receiving her board and room in return for her services.

Edward Nimmo, the father, stated his intention this morning of asking Judge Frazer's court to aid him in finding a place for his daughter, while at the same time he will ask for the return of Anderson to Oregon, where he will be either prosecuted or forced to make reparation by marriage.—Portland Journal, 26.

Wanted—Gentleman or lady with good references, to travel by rail or with a rig, for a firm of $250,000.00 capital. Salary $1,072.00 per year and expenses; salary paid weekly and expenses advanced. Address, with stamp, Jos. A. Alexander, Hillsboro, Ore. no. 5

In the Lime-Light.

Senator La Follette, in his Portland speech, placed Senator Fulton in the Railroad Attorney row. The audience hissed Senator Fulton. A news item in the "Oregonian" so closely connected Mr. Fulton with shady transactions in government lands that a ringing denial and a challenge for proof was brought forth from the Senator. Mr. Fulton will have to go before the people next election to ask for his return to the Senate. If his Senatorial career has not been clean and in the interest of the people the 'lime-light' will be turned on in good time. Fat jobs parceled out to members of the Legislature won't win a Senatorship these days. A good clean record is the first requisite. Such will be the first qualification required by the people of Senator Fulton.—Oregon City Courier

A Year of Blood.

The year of 1903 will long be remembered in the home of F. N. Tackett, of Alliance, Ky., as a year of blood; which flowed so copiously from Mr. Tackett's lungs that death seemed very near. He writes: "Severe bleeding from the lungs and a frightful cough had brought me to death's door, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, with the astonishing result that after taking four bottles I was completely restored and as time has proven permanent cured." Guaranteed for Sore Lungs, Coughs and Colds, at all drug stores. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

The City of Chicago employs the only woman detective sergeant in the world. And, strange as it will seem to some, she will be entitled to a pension from the city of Chicago within a comparatively short time. For fifteen years Mrs. Owens has been doing police work for that city and in all that time there never has been the slightest necessary to assail her record. The trial board is a thing absolutely foreign to her.

The fifteen splendid cups to be offered as prizes for the best exhibit of apples, pears, prunes and nuts, will draw a big display of the finest fruit. As most of the cups are given for fruit in commercial packages, the exhibit will be an educational factor of no small amount.

Jan. 8. Only members of the society may compete for cups or awards but any one may become a member by sending his name and address and one dollar to E. R. Luke, secretary.

Strawberry Plants for Sale. Magoons and Clark Seedlings. Inquire of C. Rhodes, Oak and Seventh streets, Hillsboro.

The startling discovery has been made by certain interested parties that the constant vibration caused by the operation of the presses in the state printing office is wrecking the walls of the Capitol building, and it is recommended that the office be moved at once. Strange that this discovery was not made until after the scheme was hatched to unload Frank Baker's old junk on the state. No complaint was ever heard about this damage to the building during the 20 years that Baker and his successors were pulling down $25,000 a year for the public printing, but now that Printer Duniway has pledged the people right prices and a square deal and has refused to lease Baker's old worn-out plant at any price, the howl goes up that the Capitol building will soon be shaken to pieces if the state does not provide a new building and install a printing plant of its own at the expense of the taxpayers. Stuff and nonsense; bosh and tommyrot!—Polk County Observer.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has forbidden the issuance of reduced rates to land agents, fifty thousand of whom will be thrown out of employment. The cry is now sent forth by the railroad companies that this will stop the rush of homeseekers, but we do not think so. The reduction was an inducement, but a man desirous of coming West would not permit the difference in special and full rates to deter him from doing so. If a person in the East wishes to come West for the purpose of purchasing a farm, a matter of $50 would not cause much hesitation, and if he comes we will feel that he has something with which to do business. However, if the railroads wish to continue business on the reduction plan, let them reduce the rates to all. This they can afford to do, now that they do not have to give out passes to another and larger army, and giving passage to thousands yearly on half-rate. We do not think the Interstate Commerce Commission will kick on reduction of rates to all.—Woodburn Independent.
