OREGON IN THE EAST.

Chairman Theo. B. Wilcox Makes an Appeal to the Business Men of Portland.

(Special Correspondence.)

Portland, Oregon, Feb. 25, 1907.—While there is a large sum available from the business men and property holders of Portland to advertise Oregon through the joint work of the Portland Commercial Club and the Oregon Development League, Theodore B. Wilcox, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Club and President of the League, has issued a special appeal to the 975 members of the Portland Commercial Club, asking for additional contributions so that large advertisements may be run in the leading papers of the middle west, which will not only give the rates to Portland and other points in Oregon, but also contain a statement relative to agriculture, dairying, logged-off lands, fruits, wheat, irrigation, reclamation fund, timber, mines, hops, nurseries, live stock and poultry. It is hoped the response may be immediate so that twenty millions of readers may be reached by March 15th.

In closing his appeal, Mr. Wilcox says: "Pay something even if the amount is small; we want your co-operation as well as your money. The trend of immigration is this way; let's push it quick and hard."

This advice applies to every community in the state. Telegrams are being received from the general passenger agents of all the railroads saying that the colonist travel beginning March 1st, and continuing until April 30th will be larger than ever before. Many of the middle west lines, as a result of the general interest in Oregon, are giving this state prominent mention, but each community must do individual work and add to the enormous correspondence going on now from the teachers and pupils, and have all organizations write to acquaintances and friends in the older states so that they may take advantage of the opportunity to get to this state on the colonist rates.

E. L. Lomax, General Passenger Agent of the Union Pacific Railroad at Omaha, and A. M. Cleland, General Passenger Agent of the Northern Pacific Railway at St. Paul send urgent requests that each and every commercial and industrial body in Oregon send them at once packages of advertising matter to be distributed to persons inquiring about Oregon.

The success of the immigration movement is largely due to the newspapers for the reason that they have given the subject much attention and all citizens of the state are becoming familiar with the conditions upon which people can come here.

A young fellow called up his girl on the telephone the other morning at about half past six says the operator, and after waiting a few moments, a very sleepy voice asked him what he wanted. He told her there was an agent there who wanted to sell him an attachment to a telephone so persons could see the one they were talking to. Then he heard a shriek and the receiver was put up suddenly and pretty soon her mamma told him to ring off.—Ex.

A machine which threads a thousand needles a minute is at work in a Swiss factory. The purpose of the machine is to thread needles that are placed afterward in a loom for making lace. The device is almost entirely automatic. It takes the needle, carries it along, threads it, ties the knot, cuts the thread off a uniform length, then carries the needle across an open space, and places it in a rack. The work of threading these needles was formerly done by hand.

Washington County Granges.

The following is taken from the Beaver State Herald, published at Gresham. It will be found of interest to many of our readers, both in and out of the Grange:

Gale Grange No. 283, of which the state master is a member, has about 80 members and meets in a hall in the town of Forest Grove. Many of its members are interested in horticulture. Its lecture work is mostly composed of practical discussions of timely agricultural topics.

The master this year is Colonel Harry Haynes, who takes great interest in apple culture. State Senator Haines, president of the senate, is a member of this grange.

Lewis and Clark Grange No. 328 is one of the newer granges and has about 60 members. It initiated three in the first and second degrees last meeting and expects to have at least a dozen applications at the next meeting. N. S. Prickett is the master and is also deputy grand master of the Odd Fellows for his district. This grange is at Banks on the new Hillsboro-Tillamook railroad. This grange will be heard from in the near future.

Green Mountain Grange No. 295, has about 65 members and meets in its own hall at Buxton. It initiated four in the third and fourth degrees last meeting and had five applications. The fraternal feeling here is especially good. F. P. Bailey is master, David O'Donnell, lecturer and Benton Phillips secretary. Washington No. 313, meets in the school house on Pumpkin Ridge eleven miles north of Hillsboro. This is not a large grange being in a sparsely settled country, but the members are extremely loyal. At the special meeting February 8th, to welcome the deputy inspector, 82 per cent of its membership was present. It has 39 members with seven on the way. John C. Miller, who was the first settler on Pumpkin Ridge, is master. Notwithstanding this grange works in a school house its ritualistic work was better done than many granges do their work who meet in halls.

Hillsboro Grange No. 73, is the oldest in the county. But for the never-failing loyalty of a dozen or so of the early members it would not now be in existence. It owns a hall in Hillsboro. At one time in its history it was the largest grange in the state having 140 members. Then its membership fell away to 22, but the tide has now turned and many new members are coming in. It has now climbed back to 35 members, has four second degree members and two applications on the table. Within a year it probably will have built to the 100 mark. Judge Hare is an honored member of this grange. Its master is Philip Olson, a very capable man.

Rising From the Grave.

A prominent manufacturer, Wm. A. Fertwell, of Lucama, N. C., relates a most remarkable experience. He says: "After taking less than three bottles of Electric Bitters, I feel like one rising from the grave. My trouble is Brights disease, in the Diabetes stage. I fully believe Electric Bitters will cure me permanently, for it has already stopped the liver and bladder complications which have troubled me for years." Guaranteed at all druggists. Price only 50c.

It is said that the best way to preserve apples in winter is to wrap them in newspapers so as to exclude the air. The exception is made, however, that the subscription has been paid else the dampness caused by what is "dew" may result in spoiling the fruit.

Talk about a sky-scraper, New York city will have one this year that will be able to touch the spots on the sun. A tower will be put upon the building of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company which will make that structure forty-six stories above ground and two stories below the surface. The apex of the building will be 690 feet above the sidewalk. No other building in the world is so tall.

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL

NOW IS THE TIME TO MAKE IT.

Let Everyone Do His Share and the Great Change to Beauty Will Surely Be the Reward.

From the Portland Journal.

Those who work to make a city beautiful are really doing more for it than those who are working to extend and enlarge its commerce and increase its manufactures. Beauty—cleanliness, flowers, neat buildings instead of shacks, clean vacant grounds instead of rubbish-heaps, artistic forms and colors wherever convenient—is not merely the gratification of a sentiment; it is a valuable asset.

It is said that under a superintendent of public works who held office for 20 years Paris spent $50,000,000 to make a beautiful city. Its fame as such became world-wide, and now his work pays for itself every year.

When "Boss" Shepherd was given a free hand to make Washington a beautiful city, a great uproar arose over his extravagance and although the federal government paid half the expense property owners said he would bankrupt them. But he went ahead, and in a few years the value of their property had multiplied several times and when, after an absence of some years, "Boss" Shepherd returned, he was welcomed like a conquering general by a vast concourse that thronged the length of Pennsylvania avenue.

Mud has its place, but it is a damage to a city street. Very deep in a city is a detriment and a disgrace. Every rosebush or other flowering plant makes not only for civic beauty but for municipal wealth. A clean lot of young grass that supplants a conglomeration of weeds and rubbish makes the city richer as well as more beautiful. The man who tears down an old shack and erects a neat, artistic business building or dwelling not only advances his own welfare but that of everybody in the city.

Get the proposed parks, and improve them. Though it costs a million, they will pay. It is important to enlarge and improve the harbor. It is no less important to have ample, beautiful parks and boulevards. Both attract people, money, business. They "build up" a city.

Suppose Portland was known throughout the world in five years as the most beautiful city in America, as well as one where the finest scenery may be viewed; suppose it had and deserved the reputation around the globe of being the cleanest city, the one with most flowers and neatest residences and grounds, and the finest parks, who shall estimate how much that would be worth?

The more beautiful a city is, the happier and healthier its people are, morally as well as physically. Like begets like. People are fashioned largely by their environment. Ugliness, like vice—of which it is a near relative—needs but to become familiar though being often seen to be not only endured but liked. Dirty rubbish and old tumble-down shacks and filth and ugliness of all kinds breed mental and moral as well as physical microbes, disease germs.

Brighten up. Spruce up. Clean up. Burn up. Plant. Build. Paint. Help make the city beautiful. The city as a municipality can do something in this direction, but the larger part must be done by individuals, each as opportunity affords.

Hunting for Trouble.

"I've lived in California 20 years, and am still hunting for trouble in the way of burns, sores, wounds, boils, cuts, sprains, or a case of piles that Bucklen's Arnica Salve won't quickly cure," writes Charles Walters, of Alleghany, Sierra Co. No use hunting, Mr. Walters. It cures every case. Guaranteed at all drug stores. 25c.

Famous Sayings of Lincoln.

"I am nothing, but the truth is everything."

"All I am, or ever hope to be, I owe to my angel mother. I remember her prayers, and they have always clung to me all my life."

"Those who deny freedom to others, deserve it not for themselves."

"Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith, let us, to the end, dare to do our duty, as we understand it."

Let us renew our trust in God, and go forward without fear, and with manly hearts."

"Stand fast to the Union and the old flag."

"A government of the people, by the people and for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

"Let us at all times remember that all American citizens are brothers of a common country, and should dwell together in bonds of fraternal feeling."

"My early history is perfectly characterized by a single line of Gray's Elegy, 'The short and simple annals of the poor'."

"With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan; to do all which may achieve and cherish a lasting peace among ourselves, and with all nations."

A Dry Sandwich.

The most absent-minded man on record went to the Holland house cafe on Sunday afternoon. He drank his cocktail and read his newspaper intently. Then he called to the waiter to pay his check.

"This is the driest sandwich I ever saw," he said, "and I've tried 'em everywhere."

Meanwhile the waiter was looking for the check. The sandwich lay untouched on the plate. "The gentleman ate the check," called out the cashier. "I saw him do it while he was reading the paper."

Harrison Allen Has Resigned.

Astoria, Or., Feb. 26.—Harrison Allen, of Portland, was in the city today and confirmed the report that he had filed with Governor Chamberlain his resignation as prosecuting attorney for the Fifth Judicial District, to take effect March 1. He said his resignation was submitted without reservation and he has no knowledge of who his successor will be.

OREGON PIONEER PASSES AWAY

JOHN L. LAUGHLIN DEAD.

Came to Oregon in 1850 from Missouri—Had Lived in This County Fifteen Years.

John Louis Laughlin, pioneer of 1850, in which year he crossed the plains behind an ox-team from Missouri, died at his home in Forest Grove Tuesday morning, aged 67, after being an invalid for two years. He settled at North Yamhill after reaching Oregon and lived near that place until fifteen years ago, when he moved to Forest Grove, where he has resided since. He enlisted in the First Oregon Infantry, Company 3, in 1864, serving until his discharge in July, 1866.

Mr. Laughlin leaves a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Nora Fairchild and Miss Lota Laughlin, both of Forest Grove; also the following brothers and sisters: Washington Laughlin, Carlton; J. D. Laughlin; North Yamhill; Mrs. L. Thomas, Kist, Or.; Mrs. Rebecca Wade, North Yamhill; Mrs. Bertha Murphy, Dolph. He had been a member of the Christian church for 20 years.

The Governor's Ax.

Salem, Or., Feb. 26.—The most important veto the governor has filed since the legislature adjourned was placed on record this afternoon. It puts an end to Senator Johnson's road bill, which provided for state, county and local co-operation in permanent road improvement. It carried an appropriation of $200,000, but Governor Chamberlain expressed the opinion that it would cost the state $400,000 for the year

1908-9. He disapproved it for four reasons: That the county and state officers are given no initiative in the matter; it would very likely result in an accumulation of money in the treasury; the local debt certificates are non-taxable; and this legislature made many large appropriations without bringing any new subjects under taxation.

The governor also vetoed Senator Kay's bill permitting the garnishment of wages of public employees. The governor says such a law has been held unconstitutional and that it is also contrary to sound public policy. If business men extend credit to public employees who are not trustworthy, public officers should not be harassed and annoyed because of such carelessness.
