Among the other signs of spring are persistent reports of trouble in the Balkans.

The Philippines are now to be given all the joys of suffrage and campaign contributions.

That sound, like a vacuum, out Wisconsin way, is Senator LaFollette weeping over Senator Spooner's resignation.

The railroads want the president to say something nice about them. The railroads ought to give him some provocation.

What Senator Foraker would like to establish is that the men who shot up Brownsville are not as black as they have been painted.

In justice to the several families involved, the state of New York might fumigate the Thaw jurors before it sends them home.

Uncle Joe Cannon reports that the only fault he has to find with the Canal Zone is that its quarantine system works too well.

Grover Cleveland says he is still an ardent tariff reformer. That is just what is the matter with all the other tariff reformers too still.

If the railroads are not careful, some of the state legislatures may get out injunctions against their discontinuing their improvements.

We do not know what grave error President Roosevelt may have committed, but the railroad comments are all ominously favorable.

Stuyvesant Fish said all the worst things he could think of and then expressed surprise that people should imagine he was alluding to Mr. Harriman.

Secretary Taft says he expects to live to see congress pass a Philippine free trade bill. The secretary evidently thinks he is a pretty good insurance risk.

Dispatches announce that Missouri is to have an extraordinary session of the legislature. When Missouri has any other sort it will be time to sit up and take notice.

After all the erudition he has displayed, it seems as though District Attorney Jerome had overlooked a bet in not going on the stand himself as an insanity expert.

Senator Stone of Missouri says we ought to give the Philippines to Japan. This is the first pronounced evidence the senator has ever given of anti-Japanese tendencies.

Section "seven-eleven" is giving Binger Herman a lot of trouble in the criminal court. And the same combination has given lots of colored brethren trouble in the police court too.

So many of the papers of the country are conducting "beauty contests" that the contest editors ought to be able to get club rates on accident insurance. And that should help some.

It is just possible that the post-office might delar the free seed division of the agricultural department from the use of the mails on the ground of it being a lottery enterprise. It is rare luck for those seeds to sprout.

One very serious question that arises in connection with the physical situation of the railroads by the government is whether or not they shall be given in the valuation the benefit of the unearned increment. This is a matter that is being seriously considered by the Interstate Commerce Commission though it has not yet said how its decision will go. But the case was brought up sharply in the recent investigation of the Hill lines, where the actual and careful valuation of the property including terminals and right of way at the price of surrounding property totted up a total of about $390,000,000 while the officials of the road themselves confessed that the actual investment was not quite a tenth of that amount. The same question would arise in determining the valuation of a land grant road as compared with a road built entirely by private purchase. The Interstate Commerce Commission expresses a wish to be perfectly fair both to the roads and to the public when the question is finally settled, but it will be very hard to do complete justice to both sides. As appears at first glance, the real value of a road and the amount of money put into it are two very different things. Of course there is compromise line somewhere, but it will take a Daniel to find it.

Corvallis, Ore., Sept. 7, 1906.

Dear Sir: In reply to your letter of the 4th inst. I am glad to be able to report that results obtained from the use of your Phoenix Spray were very satisfactory indeed.

I tested it by diluting one gallon of spray with ten gallons of water, and by diluting one to fifteen. The dilutions were applied thoroughly in February to trees that were simply infested, and even the weaker solution has apparently completely eradicated the pest from sprayed trees.

Final examination made about two weeks ago fails to reveal any living scale upon any fruit or leaves.
