OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

This paper is not forced upon anyone. It is not our practice to stop papers until ordered to do so.

Farmers are warned by a county exchange against a set of swindlers who are going through the country selling barbed wire fencing.

We are sorry to say it, but it is a fact nevertheless, that there are in Washington county a large number of republicans fashioned after the Multnomah county breed of republicans.

Mr. Devlin was beaten because Republicans, or those who choose to call themselves Republicans, would not vote the Republican ticket.

June 14th is "Flag Day," and the 130th birthday of the Star Spangled Banner, a day when every home, office and store should fly Old Glory.

On the 14th day of June, 1777, congress enacted a law that the flag of the United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be thirteen stars, white, in a blue field, representing a new constellation.

Matter of the guardianship of Louis and Everett Dillatoy, minors; receipts filed and bondmen relieved from further liability; guardian discharged and guardianship closed of record.

Guardianship of Rufus E. Norman, deceased; W. N. Barrett appointed guardian ad litem.

A schoolmaster once said to his pupils that to the boy who would make the best piece of composition in five minutes on "How to Overcome Habit" he would give a prize.

The weather. A few small showers fell Saturday at scattered places in the eastern counties, but no rain of consequence was reported elsewhere and the soil is getting very dry.

David B. Ogden, of Portland, chairman of the Committee on Publication for Oregon, requests The Independent to publish the following: "Portland, Ore., May 31.—To the Editor: In a recent issue of The Independent editorial comment is made upon the decision of the Texas judge who advised in a suit for damages brought by a woman who had been benefited by Christian Science, that her belief in the power of God to deliver in time of trouble should be taken as evidence in the estimation of damages.

At 12:26 Wednesday morning San Francisco and the cities about the bay were shaken by a severe earthquake. The shock was the severest since the disastrous tremor of April, 1906. The shock was not violent enough to sever electrical connections and, although the entire fire department was placed in readiness to fight any fires that might follow, there was no hint of any consequence. As far as can be learned the damage was limited to the breaking of dishes on the shelves and the destruction of a few tottering walls in the burned district. In the residence district a number of people ran out into the streets in their night clothes. Along Golden Gate avenue a genuine panic prevailed. Several hundred women rushed to the street in their night clothes. Three women were treated for nervous shock, but no one suffered injury, as far as reported.

For Sale. One upright Piano almost new, cheap for cash or will trade for, J. F. Moore, Beaverton.

Sherwood.

Riley Hays, an Oswego farmer was out Sunday visiting his son, Gay and family of this place.

Born, May 31, to Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Cutting, of Sherwood, a son.

Mrs. Della Hall, of Portland, has been visiting for several days past at the home of her sister Mrs. Chas. Hall of this place.

E. W. Johnson, local merchant, has painted at work decorating his business house. Owing to the monstrous size of the building the cost will be heavy, however the appearance afterwards fully compensates the expense.

Sherwood Camp, Woodmen of the World, will unveil the handsome monument erected in memory of Fred Olds, at Middleton cemetery assisted by the Newberg Camp on June 8, with appropriate ceremonies of the order.

A case of whooping cough has been developed in the family of W. H. Furr, at Middleton depot. The child has been attending public school there and in consequence other children have become exposed to the disease.

Isaac Hardin and wife returned from Falls City, Saturday, where they have been employed in a lumber camp for several months past, and will probably locate in this section of the country again permanently.

That delayed letter, too late for a prior issue, was mailed Wednesday evening in time for the north-bound train and should have been received promptly on time, that is provided, etc., there had been no "cup and a lip" apparently figuring in the transaction, Mr. Editor.

Miss Laura Cowman and Miss Lizzie Smith of the Sherwood public school comprised the graduating class that succeeded in passing the examination for diplomas recently. Other scholars of the class were less fortunate, several missing by a few points.

Jos. Cowman, the city gardener, is supplying the town with early strawberries but reports the crop will be short this season, especially in this vicinity. One or two other farmers have berries for sale but not in abundant quantities as formerly.

Summer has arrived too soon this year, so say the farmers, and the moisture now lacking will sadly interfere with the growing crops. Hay will be a total failure, except raised upon new ground, and grain and gardens are suffering in consequence, unless a change intervenes soon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Cutting, of upper Tualatin, and Mr. and Mrs. Stein, of Middleton, returned home Saturday from a session of the State Grange held at Hood River last week well pleased with the outing as well as the proceedings of the order during the session.

F. A. Vincent the sawmill man, dispatched a car load of lumber last week by rail to Ely, Nevada, the great copper mining camp of that state. Oregon lumber is well known and appreciated other than at home.

The Beaverton Literary Society closed a very successful series of meetings with a banquet in the grange hall last Saturday night.

The M. E. parsonage has been treated to a new coat of paint which has greatly improved its looks.

Miss Cora Tefft and Miss Myrtle Gas kill gave a party in the hall last Thursday evening to a number of their friends.

Jno. Frohnaer has commenced the erection of a greenhouse on his property here in town and upon completion will again engage in supplying the Portland market with lettuce and cucumbers out of season. Wm. Maste is also building a greenhouse with the same intentions.

A man and woman employed at one of the sawmills north of town, became intoxicated last Tuesday evening and it required two sessions of the recorder's court to adjust matters.

Mrs. M. Anderson has purchased the building formerly known as the Morris house, of Mrs. Henry and has had it moved to her lots adjoining Ward Robinson's place, and will have it fitted for renting.

Nearly all the younger children around town have the measles. Eighteen cases reported in one day.

Progress. Mr. Bentz had the misfortune to lose a very fine colt one day last week.

The railroad men are now camped near the VanCleck place. They are making great headway, as there are about forty of them.

Mrs. German, of Portland, is spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Rachel McKay.

Miss Eva Norman, of Portland, and Miss Ethel Norman, of Hillsboro, spent the day at the cemetery on Decoration Day. Among other Hillsboro people who were there were Thomas Tucker and Mr. and Mrs. Gardner.

Denny, who is attending school there.

C. F. Tiggel, of Tigardville, put up a nice monument last week, in memory of his son, Willie Tiggel, who was drowned about a year ago.

The Woodmen lodge of Portland will dedicate the monument of Mr. Sammons in Crescent Grove cemetery on next Sunday. Mr. Sammons was the husband of Miss Ethel Graves who lived in this neighborhood at one time.

Howard Bingley spent Decoration Day with his sister, Mrs. Geo. Blaser.

Among the Portland people who were out decorating on Thursday were Mr. and Mrs. Burroughs, Mrs. German, Mrs. McKernan, Miss Lettie McKay, Mrs. A. J. Fanno, Cyrus McKay and Mrs. Anderson.

Along Route One. Alfalfa thrives wonderfully in the state of Colorado. In our own Oregon a field of alfalfa, is a rare sight. Joe Connell has a field of alfalfa. It is indeed a rare sight.

Miss Anna Bishop is making arrangements for a trip to Europe and is industriously reviewing her "parlous francs" and "apreken zso ditsh mine herr" already yet.

Crops growing on land where Cal Ogden subsided last fall illustrate the benefits following that system of plowing.

I. V. Trullinger, the sawmill man, is getting ready to move to town.

Preston Berry, Emil Zink, Bill Batchelder and Joseph Connell all live on the same road and are excellent neighbors and of pacific temper, especially some eight weeks ago when each carried an arm in a sling, and would have been model delegates to the Hague peace conference. The slings have all been removed, permanently perhaps, and anyone thinking them to be in favor of disarmament would be quickly disillusioned which would hurt.

Grouchy and disgruntled with the "Blasted English drizzle," Tommy Atkins prays to be "Taken somewhere East of Suez, where the best is like the worst, Where there ain't no no commandments, and a man can raise a thirst." However, there is no need of such a far voyage when we have weather like last Thursday. Messrs. Beggs and John Hensley, sales out in the country working the rade, raised several distinct varieties of; their only regret being that they are where they were.

The coming hay crop looks modest. Many a God-fearing farmer wishes the time would pass so fast that he could see his acre and see his sheep tares on his acre while he reposed in peaceful slumber.

James Batchelder, Frank Connell and several other lads will soon arrive from Corvallis to spend their vacation. Incidentally they'll give gratuitous exhibitions of scientific farming, as taught at the O. A. C.

Under the mentorship and guidance of his uncle Ross, little John Dierdorff is getting to be quite an expert Juggler. He doesn't ride over into everybody he meets; far from it. He selects his man with nice precision and has a predilection for the milkcarrier, his bosom friend.

Bill Cash, genial old soul, advised the famous Swattenhammer to go to work, but Swat wouldn't. Instead, he got in to a fracas with several editors upon whom in his own inimitable way, he had bestowed some of his choicest and most sincere efforts. The swats with which these obdurate brethren deal him are calculated to turn green even his celebrated Ahkoonid of Swat, deceased.

The story of the prodigal son's capers is written in no plus ultra style. As for the prodigal chap himself, our American lads are sky-high above him. Take George for instance. Like the prod. he went into a far country where the latter foolishly squandered his mezzima while George, circumspect and thrifty, invests his shekels in stock. The prodigal ate hucks, swill and other porcine delicacies; George prefers horseflesh. The prodigal returns, hoping to be his dad's hired man. George returns determined to be a married man. The prod. on his return found a sulky, envious brother; George is met by a strapping American youth called Lee, delighted to be a brother to him forever after. Bleak February induced the Oriental lad to hike for home, while George is charmed back by lovely May. Seeing that all the odium attaches to the other fellow; could the most odious comparison possibly cause "Paine?"

Bill Josse and his hired help were busy unloading hay Monday morning when one of the ropes guiding the hay-fork became tangled, causing the entire fork to drop from the top of the lofty barn, striking Josse and felling him to the floor with terrific force. A man of less stalwart frame would have been obliterated, and even Bill, robust and pithy though he is, feels sore all over and preambulates with painful and laborious effort.

Long gloves in large and small sizes, in Mercierized Lisle. Come and see them, they will out wear two pairs of silk gloves that you will have to pay twice the price for. At Mrs. Bath's, one door East of the Tualatin Hotel.
