A French conjurer many years ago during a performance at the court of Madagascar asked the queen through an interpreter if she would taste a giass of wine. On her refusal the conjurer, with simulated anger, emptied the glass over her, and the contents dropped in the shape of a rose into her majesty's lap. The court functionaries were so indignant at this proceeding that they jumped up from their seats, insisted upon the queen leaving the apartment and charged the performer with high treason. The unfortunate man had to be protected by the native troops from the fury of the populace and was compelled to leave the capital before daybreak.

The Publisher's Claims Sustained

UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS The Publishers of Webster's international Dictionary allege that ip "is, in fact, the popular Unabridged thoroughly re-edited in every detail, and vastly enriched in every part, with the purpose of adapting it to meet the larger and severor requirements of another genera-and severer requirements of another generation."

We are of the opinion that this allegation most clearly and accurately describes the work that has been accomplished and the result that has been reached. The Dictionary, as it now stands, has been thoroughly reedited in every detail, has been corrected in every part, and is admirably adapted to most the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular philological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained.

It is perhaps needless to add that we refer to the dictionary in our judicial work as of the highest suthority in accuracy of definition; and that in the future as in the past it will be the source of constant reference.
