Besides paying for the license, which is $3, and answering the usual list of questions, the applicants must give the place of marriage, the person who is to officiate, place of birth, name of birthplace of father, and maiden name and birthplace of mother of both bride and groom.

H. E. Davis, formerly manager of the Ladd-Reed farm at Reedville, but now a successful market gardner near Gresham, won a $100 farm wagon at the fair held in that city last week for the best collection of farm products on exhibition. He was also given a gold medal for the best cream and three prizes on potatoes. Mr. Davis had his exhibits all in one booth and they consisted of sixty-five varieties of vegetables, grains and fruit.

Harvey Baldwin, a well known young business man of Forest Grove, surprised his friends last Sunday by returning from Portland with a wife, says a correspondent of that city. The bride is Miss Bird James, who came from Oxford, Neb., to visit with friends at the Grove. She started home Sunday and Mr. Baldwin went with her as far as Portland, and during the trip convinced her that Oregon is a pretty good place to live in and Baldwin the right kind of a man to tie, so they were married and returned to the college city.

Purchase your ticket before Monday night.

'The Cow-Puncher' to be seen at the Crescent on Monday, October 28. Hal Reid has written a stirring and adventurous tale, though differing widely in atmosphere to any of his previous plays, the scene being laid in southwest Arizona at the time of wealthy cattle kings.

Geraldine Graham, a young romantic girl, who has taken up the study of medicine as a profession, but through the death of her brother, one of the cattle kings, is called west to take entire charge of thousands of head of cattle and a bunch of rough, daring cowboys! A hilarious and enthusiastic welcome is perpetrated upon this supposedly tenderfoot in true western style by the cowboys belonging to the ranch. The cool and deliberate manner in which Geraldine meets these rough fellows and their antics, is wonderfully interesting. Tom Lawson, the foreman of the ranch is ring leader in all exhibitions of rough riding and lariat throwing, but is finally captivated by Miss Graham.

The Honolulu girls have come and gone. They arrived here from Forest Grove last Friday on the 9:03 morning train and remained until 4:30, when, with their chaperon, Mrs. Edyth-Tozier Weathered, they departed for Portland and Astoria. The girls were met at the depot here with carriages, given a delightful ride about the city, taken to the public school, where the pupils were gathered to meet their Hawaiian cousins, and given a banquet at Hotel Bigelow. At 1:30 a public reception was given the girls at the Crescent theatre, at which time Mrs. Weathered told briefly that the object of the trip to this coast country was purely an educational one, and to meet and become acquainted with the people here. An hour was passed in singing by the girls, a number by Miss Florence Tongue and another by Mrs. Layton, when an opportunity was given to shake hands with our island neighbors and bid them welcome, which was done with a will. The girls enjoyed every minute of the time spent in Hillsboro, and just before leaving for the train promised The Independent a letter for publication after reaching their home. They will go to Tacoma and Seattle, and from the latter city take the steamer for San Francisco, leaving there for the Islands.

E. E. Wickerson, of Vernonia, was in town Thursday with a load of Northern Spy apples. You can talk about your Hood River apples, the Nehalem fruit is just as good, with this difference, at Hood River they have to spray while here they do not. Mr. Wickerson says there is any amount of fine fruit going to waste that in another year can be brought to market on the P. R. & N. Ry.

W. P. Dyke of Dallas, has taken office room with Attorney O. F. Sheldon, and will solicit insurance for the Oregon Fire Relief Association, of McMinnville, having been appointed agent for Washington county. He is also studying law at the University of Oregon at Portland, and three days each week will be spent in the university. Mr. Dyke is a hustler and a good man to do business with.

Hillsboro school district promises to be the first to have a test case under the new truant law. A couple of lads who will not go to school, but prefer to loaf on the streets, smoke cigarettes and prepare themselves for the penitentiary, will be given an opportunity to turn over a new leaf or go where they will have to be good.

The meeting at the Christian church will close Sunday evening with an illustrated lecture on the subject of 'Ghosts.' Everyone is requested to take an offering. The subjects for Friday and Saturday evenings will be 'What Shall the End Be?' and 'Almost.' Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings Mr. and Mrs. Webb will give stereopticon views in connection with the sermons. A cordial invitation to everybody.

Married.

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Imbrie, of this city, on Saturday, October 19th, by Rev. L. F. Belknap, F. M. Zilly, of Portland, and Miss Edna May Imbrie, of Hillsboro. The bride's gown was elusa cloth over white silk, trimmed with real lace. She wore a tulle veil and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. The matron of honor, Mrs. Ida Goodin McNutt, aunt of the bride, wore a white crepe de chine gown and carried pink bride roses. The bridesmaids, Lucile and Letitia Imbrie, were attired in pink batiste and carried pink carnations. The house was beautifully decorated with Oregon grape, smilax, chrisanthemums and cosmos. Miss Mary A. Simpson caught the bride's bouquet. A buffet lunch was served to the 125 guests. 75 of whom were from out-of-town, coming from Portland, Salem, Astoria, Heppner, St. Helens, Seattle and Vancouver, Wash. The bride and groom left by carriage for Portland and departed Monday morning for Sait Lake City. The gifts to the bride were numerous and very beautiful. They will be home to their friends after December 1, at their home on Portland Heights.

On Sunday, October 20th, at the bride's residence, by Rev. L. F. Belknap, Arthur W. Stewart of Portland, and Minnie E. Mohr of Jobs Crossing.
