Mr. and Mrs. Herman Collier of Scholls were in town Tuesday.

Misses Meta and Nellie Wallace were Portland visitors Sunday.

Mrs. John Long, of Portland, visited over Sunday with Mrs. J. W. Sewell.

The "warm baby" is the one that wears Ruben's Shirts, for sale at Baird's.

Miss Minnie Wise of Portland, visited over Sunday with Miss Madge Imbrie.

Go to Webb & Hoover's Feed Store for poultry and stock food, hay, flour and seeds.

Mrs. Frank Wallace of this city, returned Sunday evening from a visit with her husband at Hammond, Ore.

Owen Day of Washington, who is attending school at McMinnville, was visiting friends and schoolmates in this city Sunday.

J. H. Dinkey left Tuesday for Sioux City, Ia. He shipped his household effects and will make that place his home in the future.

Walter Dolan of Corvallis has been appointed assistant station agent at the Hillsboro depot. He entered upon his duties last Monday.

Carl Olsen came home the last of the week for a few days, suffering from a severe attack of asthma, which made him unable to attend to his work in Portland.

Mrs. Bonham of Laurel, who visited with friends in Hillsboro last week, returned to her home Saturday. Her husband, Prof. Bonham, has been re-engaged to teach the Laurel school at an increased salary.

"Christ's Religion; It's Value" will be the morning topic in the Congregational church next Sunday morning. "Faith, a Necessity of Life" will be the evening topic. Evening service at 7:30. All are welcome.

Notice the change in the railway time-table which went into effect last Sunday. The greatest change is made in No. 3, which formerly arrived here from the west at 4:30, but now reaches here at 5:08. The other changes are slight, but enough to make you late, if not heeded.

Those who have carefully examined the bank situation declare that all danger is over and that while some of the banks have gone under and others have been hardly pressed, the trouble is passed, and depositors are again placing their money where it will be safe and subject to check.

On Saturday last J. Holsinger, an employe in the Hillsboro saw-mill, had his foot crushed and a number of bones broken by a heavy timber rolling on him. Dr. A. B. Bailey, who is attending him, says that though his injuries are painful, he will be able to be out again in three or four weeks.

Andrew Chalmers, a prominent capitalist of Olympia, Wash., was this week visiting with Dr. F. A. Bailey. Mr. Chalmers says that the banks of his city paid no attention to the holiday proclamation of Gov. Mead of that state, but continued to do business as usual, receiving deposits and cashing all checks presented, and the result is that confidence has been restored and there is no scare in Olympia.

Marriage licenses were issued this week to Fred F. Lyda, 20, and Meta Ann Staley, 21, both of Forest Grove; to and John F. Baker, 30, of Forest Grove, and Pamela Grace McCoy, 18, of Banks. Yesterday County Clerk Godman issued licenses to the following: Joseph Harrison, 21, and Lulu May Hubbard, 17, both of Cedar Mills; Paul Fisher, 23, and Minnie Sears, 19, both of Hillsboro; W. C. Varney, 23, Portland, and Birdie Gray, 21, of Hillsboro.

Webb & Hoover handles grain as well as all kinds of seeds. When in Hillsboro call and see them.

E. C. Rollins was home for a few days last week and left on Monday for a six weeks' trip to St. Louis.

There will be the regular preaching service at the United Evangelical church on Sunday both morning and evening.

Edward Curran was out from Portland this week and sold his residence property west of the P. R. & N. tracks to Mrs. Campbell who will move in at once.

The stork made a visit to the home of L. A. Long Wednesday night and left a 12-pound daughter, and now the happy parents are receiving congratulations.

Paul Fessler and Miss Minnie Sears, both of this city, were married Wednesday afternoon by Rev. S. J. Lindsay. The friends of both wish them all kinds of happiness.

At the Sunday school convention held in Cornelius last week the following officers were chosen: President, John Boyd; vice-president, Henry Kuratli; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. C. A. Miller.

Thos. Howe is building a six-room house on the corner of Fifth and Fir, and when completed will occupy himself, having sold his old place to J. B. Tamesie.

Capt. Collins received word by wire yesterday that the year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Loomis, of Portland, died that morning of paralysis. The little one had never been well and her death was not unexpected. Her mother is a niece of Capt. Collins.

If someone has a two or three acre tract of land on which there is a good orchard, garden and vines, which he wishes to sell, we can put him next to a buyer who has the spot cash. But he will not pay any fancy price. He is willing to pay all the property is worth, but no more.

Doctors report a great deal of sickness, both in the city and country, the ailment being mostly typhoid fever and pneumonia. Three children of J. A. Messinger, formerly in the grocery business in this city but now living just west of town, have been seriously ill with fever, but are getting better.

On Tuesday C. Rhoades sold to Claud and Roy Greear three lots on the corner of Fir and Sixth streets, the consideration not given. The Greear brothers will commence the erection of two up-to-date dwelling houses at once, one of which will probably be for rent. Not being a mind-reader, we do not know what Roy intends to do with his, but judging from his actions, it will be neither for sale or rent.

The bank situation, so far as this town is concerned, is all right. Depositors, knowing that banks like people, cannot turn their securities into ready cash, have kept their heads and left their money where it belongs—in the bank. By doing this, and making their daily deposits, they have shown their confidence in our banking institutions, a fact bankers are not liable to forget should the shoe slip around to the other foot.

Palmtree's Confectionery has the largest and choicest line of Confections, Cigars, Tobaccos, Nuts, Fruits and anything you wish in the line of Smokers' Articles in the city. Fresh Oysters, Oyster Cocktails, Hot Coffee, Hot Cocoa and other hot drinks with Ham or Cheese Sandwiches, a specialty. Call and see us when in the city.

The management of the Pacific Coast Condensed Milk Co. wish to notify their patrons that within a very few days they will be prepared to meet all demands. Their cash, for the present, is tied up in the Seattle banks, and the banks there, as in other cities, will not loosen up, which under existing circumstances, is the proper caper. The Condenser people have a big roll of clearing house certificates ordered and just as soon as properly signed up will be sent here and at once put into circulation. This paper was ordered some time ago, but the clearing house is unable to keep up with the demand. But it will get here in a day or two, however.

The Haines Bank at Forest Grove suspended payment last Wednesday, which was brought about by the closing of the doors of the Merchants' National at Portland. We have it from a reliable source that Mr. Haines will open his bank again just as soon as he can get another correspondent in Portland. The bank is perfectly reliable, is on a firm financial basis and its suspension was made only as a protection to its depositors. Those having money in the Haines' bank need not worry as their deposits are perfectly safe and business will be resumed in that institution in a few days.

Washington Cabler, a resident of West Portland Heights, was given a hearing Wednesday before Justice Bagley, charged with larceny of some tools belonging to Moritz Gerek. The hearing occupied most of the day and was finally concluded by Deputy District Attorney Wall moving for an order of dismissal. Gerek in his direct examination swore that certain tools found in the possession of Cabler, belonged to him, and had been stolen from his dwelling. On cross-examination, however, he admitted there were no marks of identification and he could not say that the tools were his. Mr. Wall suggested it would be useless to proceed further and moved to dismiss, which motion was allowed. E. B. Tongue appeared for Cabler and claims that he was prepared to prove that Cabler came by the tools rightfully and that they never belonged to Gerek. An action for damages may possibly result.

The Oregon Society of the Sons of the American Revolution offers prizes to the pupils of the public schools of the state of Oregon, for essays on subjects connected with our war for independence. Prizes of $20, $15, $10 and $5 will be awarded for the first, second, third and fourth best essays written on any of the following subjects: "Washington the Great Leader," "The Flag of the United States," "The Boston Tea Party," "The Treason of Benedict Arnold." The essays are limited to three thousand words each, must be written in the student's own handwriting on one side of the paper, and accompanied by a certificate of the writer's teacher, stating that the writer is a pupil in a designated class and that the teacher believes the essay to be the pupil's own unaided work. The essays must be signed by the writer, giving also his or her postoffice address. They should be forwarded to R. I. Eckerson, Chairman of Committee, Room 5, Washington building, Portland, Oregon, and should reach their destination not later than March 31, 1908. In awarding these prizes, the company will be governed by considerations of originality, accuracy of statement, manner of treatment, orthography, syntax and punctuation. These prizes are offered to encourage love of our country and the study of its history. Any additional information which may be desired will be cheerfully furnished on application to the chairman of the committee.

The case of the Ballard Snow Liniment Company against O. W. Hawkins, a merchant at Laurel, has been settled and will not be for trial at the coming term of circuit court. The Liniment company, last January, through Attorney H. T. Bagley commenced action against Hawkins to recover $36, claimed to be due for medicines. Hawkins through Attorney M. B. Bump contested the claim and a trial was had before Judge Greear and the following jury: D. McCamish, William Norton, George T. Ledford, J. J. Weik, W. H. Peers and S. S. Jeffries. Hawkins claimed that the trial that the order which he gave for medicines had been increased from $12 to $36, while Attorney Bagley argued and claimed his position was supported by the evidence, that Hawkins, after giving his order, mutilated his duplicate and reduced the claim from $36 to $12. This was the point in the case and the war waged was bitter. The jury returned a verdict for Hawkins and Attorney Bagley took an appeal to the circuit court where the case is now pending. The case will be dismissed, however, as Hawkins has settled by paying the claim and $19 costs, besides paying the jury fee, making a total of $61, besides his attorney's fee. The medicines were shipped to Portland and sold for storage.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Christian church will hold an egg social on the evening of November 29th. Further announcement will be given next week.

The Den of Sweets is the only store in town where candy is made. Persons desiring candies for birthday parties, weddings, etc., may have it made to their order. We also furnish the materials for the manufacture of candies for taffy pulls and other gatherings to be held by young people.

The editor's family was surprised upon going out to view the berry bushes in his garden to find a row of Cuthbert red raspberry bushes full of blossoms and green berries. If the weather keeps pleasant we expect to get several boxes of the delicious fruit. A great many varieties are now ripe in this community.

Give a position with a $70 salary to a girl with a comfortable home and she will give it up to marry the first galoot that comes along. Give an $8 pension to an old lady who really needs a man around the house and she wouldn't let go of that eight for the best man that ever lived.—Weyauwega Chronicle.

The O. A. C. football team went up to Eugene last Saturday and gave the U. of O. a lesson in playing that college game, returning in the evening victors to the tune of 4 to 0. Over 1100 college students and Corvallis people witnessed the game, and several hundred were picked up at way stations. It was a great game, both sides playing their best. The O. A. C. boys declared they were winners before the game was called and put up a winning game from the start.

The Misses Marie Tunzart and Marie Tinnerstet entertained a number of friends at the Tunzart home Wednesday evening in honor of their birthdays. Music, games and a description contest were the amusements of the evening. Prizes were awarded those giving the best description of those present. Refreshments were served after which they departed wishing the two Marias many more happy birthdays. Those present were the Misses Marie Tunzart, Marie Tinnerstet, Effie Goiman, Gertha Olsen, Jessie Donelson, Bessie Schomberg, Albert Hartmann, Fred Sewell, Ed Luce, Ned Emmott, Philip Maggs, Clay Freeman and Fred Heidel.

The 10-year-old son of Jake Schneider who lives on the Milne farm, met with a serious accident Tuesday which may deprive him of the sight of one eye. His father was driving a steel wedge when a piece of the steel, about the size of a finger nail, though a trifle thicker, struck the lad, entering his right eye at the side of the nose and lodged behind the eye-ball. Dr. Tamesie, assisted by Dr. Wood who administered chloroform, removed the obstruction and he hopes to save the boy's sight, though if much inflammation sets in the task will be a difficult one. The lad stood about ten feet from his father when the steel sliver from the wedge struck him.

Otto Hensky, who is batching in a cabin near Dilley, came to town last Monday and bowed to the extent that when he boarded the train that evening for home he was loaded for bear, and on his way to his bungalow stopped to see an uncle, August Le-gall, with whom he has not been on very friendly terms for some time. The uncle objected to the antics of a man filled with juice of the corn, and closed the door on Otto, who is only 21, though old enough to know that whiskey will not mix with decency, without trouble. Hensky proceeded to cut out the screen doors with his knife, and with an ax knocked in the furniture into kindling wood. The uncle phoned to Sheriff Connell, and with Deputy Kane, he went to the scene of war and gathered in the belligerent Hensky, who was brought up before Justice Bagley on Wednesday, pleaded guilty and was placed under $250 bail to appear for sentence "after the holidays." Not having the wherewith to secure the bond Hensky went back to jail.

A Thanksgiving Appeal.

To those who are acquainted with the methods and the good work accomplished by the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society in rescuing and caring for dependent and delinquent children of the state, it is unnecessary to say anything but that the society needs the assistance of the public at Thanksgiving, but as there may be many who have not studied the work or had occasion to know of some of the good accomplished, it would be well to say that this society is located in the city of Portland and cares for all children throughout the state of Oregon who are in need. The society has never been known to refuse admission to any child provided it is healthy and one that can be placed in a private home. Neither has it refused to accept any boy or girl who through incorrigibility has rendered himself beyond the control of his parents and for whom at an early date the reform school, or worse, the penitentiary, would open its doors. But in order to defend this class and keep them from penal institutions, the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society of Oregon comes along and takes the boy or girl in charge and retains his custody until they have ascertained if there is any chance for reformation, and if so, the child is directed in the right path and so saved from having the disgrace of being committed to a penal institution. But if it is found on the other hand, that the child is a degenerate and its association with other children is hurtful, then it is placed in some institution organized for the purpose of caring for that class of children.

The society has on its files at Portland, 3253 cases that it has handled and cared for during the period of its existence. It is supported by state and county aid and charitable contributions, and at this time of the year it is reaching out and asking every person who is a friend to the institution or to destitute children to put their hands in their pockets and make a small donation of money or to send to the Home at Portland some article of provisions, canned fruit, vegetables, or anything that would be useful in the household.

At every county seat there is an advisory board whose business it is to look after the interests of the society and its wards who are placed out in family homes. In this county Attorney Benton Bowman, of Hillsboro, is the secretary, and any person who has anything to donate can find out where to deliver the same by phoning to him.

The railroad companies and steamboats throughout the state have co-operated with the society so far as to say that they will deadhead all supplies sent to them from any source during Thanksgiving. Therefore it is hoped that this city and county will at least do their share for the good of the little ones who are dependent on charity for support.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Items of Interest to Parents and Pupils from the School Room.

Prof. Barnes, in behalf of the public school of Hillsboro, wishes to publicly thank Mrs. H. V. Gates for valuable donations recently made by her to the public school library.

The announcement is made of a field meet to be held at Forest Grove on Saturday, December 7, by the public schools on the Southern Pacific line in Washington county. All who take an interest in athletics should give encouragement by their presence.

The primary room in our school is so crowded that since the first of the month it has compelled Mrs. Pittenger to have two relays of pupils, one class of 26 attending the morning session, another class of 30 attending the afternoon session.

The school board recently purchased a few new desks which have been placed in some of the lower grades.

Four new pupils from near The Dalles, children of Mr. Cameron, were admitted into the school last week.

Eva and Mabel Gotham were absent from school a couple of days last week on account of the death and burial of their grandfather, E. S. Bramhall of Portland. His death occurred on the 4th inst., and the funeral on the 6th.

Parents who encourage children that have been corrected in school to believe the teacher has a pick at them, would work better to their children's interest by studying their children's actions, correcting their faults and encouraging them to be ladylike and manly in their conduct in school, at home and abroad.

Benediction.

A cordial invitation is extended to all. Services begin promptly at 7:30.

A Rare Opportunity.

The Board of Home Missions of the Methodist Episcopal church will hold their annual meeting in Portland, beginning this evening. About seventy representative men of the church will be present, including all the bishops able to attend. Next Sabbath these representative men will occupy the Methodist pulpits of Portland and vicinity, and the people of Hillsboro will be given an opportunity to hear one of them at the Methodist church at 11 a. m. A cordial invitation is extended.

A fakir selling pins, watch chains and similar brassware that can be bought in Connecticut at the factories for $1.49 a bushel, disposed of about 30 cents worth last night on State street for $30, Salemites digging down in their jeans for the coin to purchase oreide with a vigor that nearly burst the bottoms out of their pants pockets. They bit like trout at a fly, and got exactly what the trout did—landed. From the way the bidders dug up the coin there is no fear of a financial panic hitting Salem, for the coin is abundant, even for "wildcat" investments. —Salem Journal.

The Misses Bertha and Alice Rehberg returned last Friday from a two weeks visit with their sister, Mrs. Chas. Miller of Columbia City.

Born—To the wife of Harry Frewing, November 9th, a son weighing ten pounds. The best pleased couple in Oregon because it is a boy but faintly expresses the feelings of the parents in this case. Dr. S. R. Vincent attending. Roseburg papers please copy.

Now is the time of year for showing big potatoes. The Rehberg boys show two which are eleven inches long and weigh two pounds and 6 ounces each, are smooth and well shaped. John Huslage had 3 1-2 acres from which he dug 550 sacks, and other fields on the mountain are yielding equally as well.

Look out for the cars while the bell rings or the whistle sounds. The Portland-Salem line has its rails laid across the Taylor road and are closing up the gap towards Portland at the rate of 1-2 mile a day. And the clang of the bell and the sound of the whistle are now heard in that neighborhood for the first time by people who have lived there for over 50 years.

Aunt Jimima.

And He's Right, Too.

A Minnesota farmer, becoming tired of the roasts received through his home paper for patronizing mail order houses, hits back, and he tells some wholesome truths as follows:

"If the mail order house gets $1000 out of this county each month that belongs to the home merchants, the fault is with the home merchants themselves. The mail order houses advertise and give us prices on everything they have for sale. They tell us what they have and what they want for it. Of course we get soaked once in a while, and if we do, we can try some other house. Most of the home merchants who advertise at all don't quote prices. They neglect to tell us what we want to know—prices. Of course we can go to the store and ask the price of this article and that, but you know how it is—one doesn't know so well what he wants to buy when he gets in a store as when he is at home. And here is where the mail order houses make their hit. They send us their advertising matter into our homes and we read it when we haven't anything else to do, and every member of the family who reads their stuff usually finds something that he or some other member of the family wants, and many orders are made up and sent out at just such times.

"Right here is where the home merchant falls down. If he talked up his business in our homes the same as the mail order houses do, the people would be in to see him the next time he came to town, and in many cases extra trips would be made to get things at once that they wanted until they were brought to our attention.

"The home merchant can save the expense of getting out a catalogue. We people read the home paper more carefully than we do a catalogue, and if the merchant wants to talk business with us, let him put his talk in the home papers, and put it in so that we know that he means business. The home merchant likely, nine times out of ten, sells his goods as cheap as the mail order houses, and I believe in many things he is much cheaper, but how are we to know if he does not tell us about it?

"A merchant must not think that even his best customers know his goods so well that they can tell what he has without being told."

"It is none of my business how the home merchant runs his business, but I don't like to see these roasts in the papers all the time about us fellows who get a little stuff shipped in once in a while, and never anything said on the other side. There are always two sides to a question, and I have given you mine. If it is anything to you, you can take it."
