Mrs. IMOGENE G. BATH.

The Father of His Country Saw Strange Things in His Sleep.

(Honolulu Advertiser.)

The subjoined most remarkable production was published in the Polynesian newspaper of this place on the 11th of January, 1862. The article came here from the United States. It was most likely printed in the fall or winter of 1861, when the issue between the North and South in the United States was pretty close. Very few will fail to read closely and think upon this matter:

The following narrative was related by Anthony Sherman, an octogenarian, who heard the account from Washington's own lips:

The darkest period of our Revolution was the year 1777, when Washington, after experiencing many reverses, went into winter quarters at Valley Forge. Often I observed tears course down the cheeks of the beloved commander when he was considering the sufferings of his brave soldiers. Washington was in the habit of praying in secret, and calling upon God for assistance, and it was only by the help of God we passed those days of adversity.

One day Washington spent the whole afternoon in his room alone. When he came out I observed he was much paler than usual, when he related to me the following:

"Whilst I was sitting at my table this afternoon engaged in writing, and my mind was heavy with sorrow, I suddenly observed directly opposite to me a most beautiful female. I was so much surprised, for I had given strict orders not to be disturbed, that I could not find words at the moment to inquire the object of this unexpected visit. Two, three and even four times I repeated the question without receiving an answer, the only effect being that she raised her eyes a little.

"I now experienced a most curious sensation spread over my whole body. I wished to rise from my seat, but the steady gaze of my mysterious visitor kept me spell-bound. I again tried to speak to her but my tongue was tied. An unknown mysterious, irresistible power had taken me prisoner. I could do nothing else but gaze at the apparition. Gradually the room filled with light and the face grew more clear and bright. My feelings were those of a dying man; I could neither think nor act. My steady gaze at the figure was all I was aware of.

"I now heard a voice, which said: 'Son of the Republic, behold and learn.' At the same time the figure stretched out its arms and pointed with the finger toward the east. Light clouds arose in the distance, which dispersed, and revealed, to my eyes a most astonishing picture. Before me all the countries of the earth were spread out—Europe, Asia, Africa and America. Between Europe and America I saw the waves of the Atlantic Ocean toss backward and forward, and between America and Asia the waves of the Pacific Ocean. Again I heard the voice, 'Son of the Republic, behold and learn.'

"Immediately a dark form like that of an angel appeared over the ocean between Europe and America. It then dipped water from the ocean with both hands, and with its right hand sprinkled it over America, and with its left hand over Europe. Immediately dark clouds arose from both these countries, which met in the middle of the ocean; here they remained stationary for a short while, then moved westward and wrapped America in darkness. Lightning flashed through the dark clouds and I heard the groaning and shrieking of the American people.

"Again the angel dipped water from the ocean and sprinkled it as before. The black clouds withdrew and sunk in the sea. For the third time I heard the voice, 'Son of the Republic, behold and learn!'

"I looked toward America and saw populous villages and cities spread out from the Atlantic coast to the Pacific ocean. Again I heard the mysterious voice, 'Son of the Republic, behold and learn.'

"The dark form of the angel then turned toward the south, and, coming from Africa, I observed a horrible phantom make its way to our country. It floated slow and heavy over our towns and the country. The inhabitants rose to make war on each other, and formed in battle array. As I looked at this scene I observed an angel surrounded with light, on his head he wore a beautiful crown, on which was inscribed the word 'Union,' in his hand he held the American Star Spangled Banner, this he planted between the contending armies, crying out, 'Remember, you are my brother!'

"Immediately the nation threw away their arms, became friends again and gathered around the Star Spangled Banner. Again I heard the mysterious voice, 'Son of the Republic, the second danger is past, behold and learn.'

"And I saw villages and cities steadily increase in size and number until the whole country was covered with them, the whole extent, from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean, and the nation had multiplied in as countless numbers as the stars in heaven or the sands on the seashore. Again I heard the voice, 'Son of the Republic, the end of the century is at hand; behold and learn.'

"The dark angel then put a trumpet to his mouth, blew it three times, then dipped out some water from the sea and sprinkled it over Europe, Asia and America.

"My eyes now beheld a most terrible scene. From each of these countries dark, heavy clouds arose and united in one mass; through this mass dark red lightning played. I saw troops of armed men marching and then sail across the sea to America, which was immediately covered by the black cloud. And I saw these immense armies as they desolated the land, and laid towns and villages in ashes. I heard the roar of cannon, the clashing of swords, the cry of the victorious and vanquished millions engaged in deadly strife—when again I heard the mysterious voice proclaim: 'Son of the Republic; behold and learn.'

"The dark angel then again took up the trumpet and gave one long and terrible blow. Suddenly a light broke forth and drove away the dark cloud hovering over America. At the same time I saw the angel with the beautiful crown, on which was inscribed the word 'Union,' descend from Heaven, holding in one hand the Star Spangled banner and in the other a sword, and accompanied by legions of heavenly spirits. These united with the American people, when the latter were almost overpowered, who then took fresh courage and formed in battle array. Again, amid the horrible noise of war, I heard the mysterious voice, 'Son of the Republic, behold and learn.'

"After this voice the dark angel dipped out water for the last time from the sea and sprinkled it over America, and immediately the dark cloud retreated with the armies which it had brought along, leaving the victory to the Americans. I then again saw towns and villages rise in the same places where they had stood before, while the heavenly angel planted the Star Spangled Banner among the people and cried out with a loud voice, 'As long as the dew descends from heaven to earth, so long shall this republic exist.' At the same time he took the beautiful crown from his head, on which was inscribed the word 'Union,' placed it on the Star Spangled Banner, and the people, kneeling down, cried out 'Amen.'

"The apparition then gradually began to dissolve, and at last the mysterious female was all that remained before me in my room, and again I heard the voice: 'Son of the Republic, what you have seen is explained as follows: Three dangers will come over this Republic; the second is the most to be dreaded; when this one is passed, the whole world cannot conquer her. Let every child of the Republic learn to serve his God, his country, and the Union.' With these words the form vanished.

"I arose from my chair with the firm conviction that the birth, progress and fate of the United States of America had been revealed to me."

These words, says Mr. Sherman, I heard myself from General Washington's own lips.
