Alfalfa for Hogs.

At the Kansas Experiment Station hogs were fed on a ration of alfalfa hay and Kaffir corn meal. The gains were 73 per cent more on this ration than upon a ration of Kaffir corn meal alone. For every bushel of Kaffir corn meal and 7.83 pounds of alfalfa hay, the gain was 10.88 pounds, while upon Kaffir corn meal alone the gain was 7.48 pounds per bushel. It is shown that the hay gave better results when cut early and that the chief nutriment was in the leaves, which should be carefully saved during the process of harvesting. An earlier experiment at the same station was tried to determine the value of alfalfa pasture for hogs. The hogs were allowed to run upon the alfalfa during the summer and were fed a light ration of grain. After deducting the probable gain for the corn it was found that during the summer each acre of alfalfa pasture produced 770 pounds of pork.

WHAT CAUSES HEADACHE

From October to May, colds are the most frequent cause of headache. LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE removes cause. E. W. Grove on box. 25c.

Utter Antagonism.

"Why don't those angry statesmen settle their old-time differences with a fight to a finish?" asked one congressman.
"No use suggesting it," answered the other. "They couldn't be sufficiently harmonious even to agree on the conditions of a fight."—Washington Star.

A Concerted Broadside.

When those twenty-six pianola pianos on board the big steamer are banging away at the same time it will take a nifty enemy to stand up and face the concerted broadside.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Height of Majesty.

"And so she is very queenly? I suppose she's the kind of woman who is never afraid to enter the grandest drawing room."
"Oh, more majestic than that! She's the kind of woman who's never afraid to enter her own kitchen."—Brooklyn Life.

Serenity and Stiffness.

Over exertion, too long continued exercise, sitting in draft for example, cooling off when overheated, indeed anything that tends to check suddenly the surface circulation, will produce that wearied, sore feeling recognized as serenity and stiffness. The best treatment and quickest is to start up circulation by rubbing the sore or stiff part with a soft but reasonably rough substance, like a crash or Turkish towel, and apply St. Jacobs Oil freely with gentle friction.

Might Make a Hit.

The Manager—I've got a new idea for a melodrama that ought to make a hit.
The Writer—What is it?
The Manager—The idea is to introduce a cyclone in the first act that will kill all the actors.—Harper's Weekly.

Side Lights on Literature.

Walter Scott had just written "Kenilworth."
"I've a great mind to immortalize Winifred," he said. "Evanston and Vilmette, of course, are impossible."
"Perhaps—who knows?—the great novelist had been hailed before magistrates in those two towns and fined for exceeding the speed limit."—Chicago Tribune.

Cleaning Drinking Vessels.

Unclean drinking vessels are doubtless the immediate means of spreading some of our contagious diseases, such as roup. Roup is a disease in which slime accumulates in the mouths of the fowls and strings out of their mouths when they open them to drink. Nothing is easier than for such a fowl to leave slime in the drinking water, which is then partitioned off by the other fowls. This leads to the fowls all becoming quickly affected. As roup comes on in the fall very often when we get the changes in temperature at night, it is necessary that the drinking vessels be kept clean and every fowl that shows signs of a cold should be taken at once from the house so that it will not be possible for her to spread the disease.

Returned to Use of Oxen.

A Missouri farmer has returned to the use of oxen on his farm. He says he finds them cheaper and better than horses and mules. In addition to having oxen for general farm work, he has trained a bull to run a treadmill that pumps water, churns butter and does all of that kind of work. This animal beats a windmill or gasoline engine "all to pieces," and the work keeps his temper sweet and prevents him from doing damage with his horns. Other farmers are watching the experiment, and "horseless farms" may soon be all the rage.

Keep Corn Dry.

Experiments have shown that corn which is thoroughly dry will not be injured by any degree of cold. This, while interesting, is not as comforting as it would appear to be, for the reason that some confusion may result in deciding when corn is thoroughly dry; and further, corn once dry does not necessarily mean always dry. If left subject to a moisture-laden atmosphere it will very likely take up enough moisture to render it liable to injury from severe freezing.

Good Care of the Saddle.

A manufacturer of saddles is credited with the statement that one of the best of polishes for riding saddles and bridles is new milk. This should not be rubbed in the leather, however, until the latter has been cleaned with slightly warm water and soap. Hard-wearing stock saddles can be kept in good condition by thoroughly rubbing with three parts of palm oil and one of neatfoot after first washing with soap and water. For the leather lining of saddles that comes next to the horse there is nothing so good as neatfoot oil. The seat which adds to the animal's body is very hard on the leather. Vigorous and protracted rubbing of the leather is essential, whatever dressing is used.

Using Commercial Fertilizers.

The pure nitrate of soda, muriate of potash, super-phosphate or ground bone, can be used in the garden, but unless a person has had experience in handling these very carefully, results are apt to be disappointing or disastrous. Plants of which the leaf or stalk are the edible portions must have plenty of nitrogen, which is available in the guano and animal manure. When the roots or fruits are to be eaten, phosphoric acid should be added in the shape of wood ashes or super-phosphate. Ground bone is too slow in becoming available.

Early Layers.

Frequently a pullet starts laying before the others and continues to lay well all the year; such a one should be carefully watched and her eggs saved, providing sufficient space was attained before she began laying. Other pullets will lay a few eggs in the autumn and then cease until spring; these should, of course, be discarded. Those that begin laying prematurely are not desirable, as they should attain the size characteristic of their breed before commencing, and then lay continuously during the rest of the fall and winter.

An Acre of Land.

To measure an acre tie a ring at each end of a rope, the distance being just 66 feet between them; tie a piece of colored cloth exactly in the middle of this. One acre of ground will be four times the length and two and one-half times the width, or the equal of 10 rods one way and 10 rods the other, making the full acre 100 square rods. Keep the rope dry, so it will not stretch. A rod is 16 1/2 lineal feet. An acre is 4,840 square yards or 43,560 square feet.

A Good Condition Powder.

Dr. Smead advises the following condition powder for live stock: Two pounds of ground flaxseed as a base, in which mix 5 ounces powdered gentian, 4 ounces ginger, 4 ounces powdered sulphate of iron, 4 ounces powdered nitrate of potash. To this add 2 ounces powdered charcoal and 1 pound of common salt. Mix all well together. Give at first two tablespoonfuls in feed of grain twice a day. After two weeks give half the quantity.

Purple-Top Turnip-Rags.

Prof. Raue of the New Hampshire station recommends the American purple top rutabaga for the following reasons: It is a fine market sort, often selling in the markets for double the price of the early white turnip. It is also a splendid keeper and is usually free from all sponginess. While it cannot be planted as late as the early turnip, it can be used as a follow crop after early peas, provided the seed is sown not later than July 10.

Angle Iron for Posts.

Angle iron is being used for making fence posts with great success. One of the valuable features is that a post of this description may be driven in place by a heavy mallet, and digging is, therefore, unnecessary. A non-climbable fence is made by bending the post so that there is an overhang of twelve or eighteen inches, with the wires strung regularly in the very top. The difficulty of climbing such a fence will be apparent at a glance.

Cows Differ.

In their milk producing power cows differ all the way from 3,000 pounds of milk per year to 12,000 pounds a year. That being true, why should farmers be satisfied to keep a cow that will produce but ten pounds of milk (about five quarts) per day for 300 days?

Avoid This Kind of Fall.

The use of the strainer in a pail where the dirt which falls into the opening is likely to be driven through by the succeeding streams of milk is not desirable. Its use tends to increase the germ contents of the milk and injure its keeping quality.

Get Some New Roosters.

The outlay attending the purchase of new breeding males will be well repaid by results. Do not practice inbreeding if you want your stock to do well.

Notes of the Farm.

The feed problem is getting harder. There is no excuse for the filthy hog pen.

The more succulent the feed the better it is for sheep.

Be a good farmer if you are going to be a farmer at all.

Clean and sort your seeds and thus insure larger and better crops.

Water, pure and plenty of it, should be provided for the dairy cows.

Young stock should be thrifty to return a profit. Keep them growing.

Teach the boys to be gentle with the cows. It is better for the cows, and the boys, too.

Life is too short and feed too high to be squandering either making dairy beef instead of gilt-edge butter.

The finer the soil is pulverized the better it will retain moisture, which is one of the necessary elements in the garden.

Cows compelled to drink from a water trough coated with lime will show the effects in the feed bill and the milk pail.

The average farmer will find raising draft horses more profitable than raising roosters. It takes a born horse lover to successfully raise the latter.

The Usual Way.

The doctor had told one of his best, the professor did not crack a smile. "You and that story have met before, perchance," he said.
"Yes," answered the professor; "per Chaucer's M. Depew."

Good Intentions.

"So," said the banker, severely, "you are hoarding these new gold pieces?"
"No," said the common citizen, "I am not exactly hoarding them. But I feel that their artistic influence is so bad that it is my duty to keep as many of them as possible out of the hands of the public."—Washington Star.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; and cases of deafness caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Etiquette Not Involved.

Mrs. Hendricks (the landlady)—Can I help you to some more soup, Mr. Dumley?

In the morning mail, the busy editor found the following letter written on a postal card: "Dear Sir: I have just graduated from a correspondence school of journalism. Would you like to have me write for your paper? J. Alexander McNutt."
