A hinting Article

The head cold or "headache" is the most common complaint of the season. It seems to be caught by the head at all times of the year, but is most prevalent in the spring and fall, when the temperature is high or low. The cause of this complaint is not always known. It may be due to a cold, a cold in the head, or a cold in the stomach. It may also be caused by an allergy, or by the use of certain drugs. In any case, it is best to avoid the causes of the complaint, and to consult a physician when the disease is severe. The use of simple remedies such as warm water, rest, and proper diet will also help to relieve the symptoms.
