

THE ARGUS

THURSDAY, JUNE 13, 1895.

Out of the $81,493.45, taxes for 1894, only in the neighborhood of $9000 yet remains to be collected.

James Burgess was discharged from custody the other day and started for his ranch above Mountaineale, when one Murphy, who was the prosecuting witness when Burgess was placed under arrest, asking that he be made to give bonds to keep the peace.

The excursion to Salem last Sunday was attended by about one hundred of our townspeople. Large crowds from all parts of the state took advantage of the low rate to make a visit to the capital city.

John R. Beagle, of the St. Helen's Mist, was in the city Sunday and Monday, visiting old friends and acquaintances. Mrs. Beagle, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Willis, returned with him.

A tastily printed letter or bill head will do a great deal to advertise your business. When you want letter, note or bill heads, on job work of any kind, come to THE ARGUS office.

The ARGUS office returns thanks to the Rebecas for a very handsome bouquet of roses gleaned from the exhibit at the Rose Fete.

T. B. Perkins spent Sunday in the city with his family and returned to Portland Monday. Mr. Perkins has sold out his business in that city and will probably relocate there or in this city.

L. L. Whitcomb is now residing in the J. A. Campbell residence on Base Line street.

T. S. Weathered is enjoying a vacation and Jessie Stewart is again behind the counter at the Bryan-Laidlaw store.

Henry Hesse's team indulged in a little sprinting on their own account Saturday evening, making a break for home without any driver. They were stopped on Main street before doing any damage, and the "two inseparables" went home serene.

The Evangelical church has been holding a tent camp meeting near the depot for several days, and the exhorters have been honored with very large audiences, so far.

The Independent and ARGUS forces have jointly printed the pasters for the Veterans' Re-union and Fourth of July celebration and they are very neatly and still executed, being run in two colors. Nowhere in the northwest has better workmanship been turned out, and it is a matter of great home pride. The work was done in the Independent office.

John Pitman of this city had the misfortune to badly fracture an arm Friday last.

Mrs. J. B. Wilkes slipped and fell Saturday evening last, dislocating and fracturing her left arm.

Born, Saturday, June 9, 1895 to the wife of T. Fowler, a daughter.

It is reported on good authority that R. H. Mitchell, the editor of the populist paper, the Weekly Sentinel, Pittsburg, will soon wed one of Columbia county's fairest daughters.

If you want the news, step up and subscribe for this paper. It will be one dollar well spent.

The county commissioners adjourned last Friday evening and will now have a rest until the July term when they will transact business and celebrate the Fourth in the interim.

Superintendent Bond and Superintendent elect Craig were on our streets Friday last, from the college city.

School Superintendent Bond has resigned his office, and Austin E. Craig has been appointed his successor to qualify on or after July 1st. That Mr. Craig will enter upon his duties with the proper spirit goes without saying, and if youth and energy go for anything he can drive his paper and superintendency, tandem, without having any wrecks or collisions.

Chas. True, of Middleton, was in the city the last of the week on business before commissioners' court. Of course his bid brought the bridge to him, being the lowest.

J. Q. Johnson will prove up on his homestead on July 19, before County Clerk Goodin, and after that date he will go back to The Dalles to work. As John is a good citizen he should reside in the county, and THE ARGUS offers a protest against his going away.

One of the reputed charges against him is murder.

Completing Details. The committee on arrangements has been working hard the past week on closing up important work for the celebration, and there yet remains much to be done.
