FRENCH OFFICIALS STATE NOTES ALLIES' PROGRESS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—French official sources have released the following statements on Allied progress on the western front during the past five days:

"In the west, the advance of the Allied forces continued, with the French army pushing back the Germans near Amiens. The British and American forces also made significant gains in the area of the Somme River. The German defenses have been weakened, allowing the Allies to make progress in this sector.

"In the south, the French and British armies have continued to advance towards the German positions near Verdun. The fighting has been intense, but the Allies have managed to make some small gains.

"In the east, the fighting has been more static, with both sides attempting to consolidate their positions. However, the Allies have been able to advance in some areas.

"Overall, the situation remains fluid, with both sides still engaged in fierce battles. The Allies have made progress, but the cost has been high, with heavy losses on both sides."
